Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

"Sitting alone on a Christmas Eve has quite a melancholy affect on me," wrote the former Susan Harris of Tecumseh, now Mrs. Robert Gillespie of Los Angeles.

"So I decided to think cheerfully of 'home,' sing merrily along with carols on the radio and read the evening papers."

It was while skimming over the sports page in the Los Angeles Times that Susan found the column on Marda Gene Duncan by Jim Murray.

"Suddenly I felt goose pimples over my arms, shoulders and neck as I read, 'Her forest in Evans Creek glade is white and silent now save for an occasional lost snow bunting'."

Susan said her thoughts returned to high school days when she passed the spot many times to visit Diane Fuller's home. (Diane is now Mrs. Rodney Bradish.)

The completely unexpected flashback helped make Susan's Christmas extra warm and cheerful — as she and her husband shared their 18-pound turkey with nine of his fellow students from a Los Angeles electronics school.

OUT OF Wilmington, Del., came a note from George Scheffler (no, he never lived in Tecumseh), who spied Mr. Murray's syndicated piece in the Philadelphia Inquirer.

"Does her column (Marda Gene's) appear in any eastern paper? We are interested in a very courageous person such as Marda Gene and would like to obtain some of her writings and would appreciate pertinent biographical data."

★

THE TELEPHONE call was from Middletown, Conn., and the voice belonged to Nancy Malone of the Wesleyan University Press.

A clip of the Murray column had crossed her desk and several articles about Marda Gene were already "in the works" at the Connecticut publishing firm.

Nancy needed more data, a picture, some copies of Miss Duncan's columns. She said University Press plans a piece for The Weekly Reader, which goes to junior high students all over the nation, plus another in a science magazine it puts out with the emphasis on bird-watching.

★

IN THE MAIL from South Gate, Calif., was a note from Tom Naser, former Tecumsehite and now manager of a loan office, to Marda, to tell her about the Murray article.

The Marda Gene Duncan story is certainly fascinating.

The Herald ran a feature Nov. 28, 1957, telling about her and how she takes expert color pictures with an unique automatic camera arrangement, fashioned by Argus Camera Co. of Ann Arbor, and trained on her bird feeder.

Equipped with a motor, the camera has a long cable which ends at a switch pinned to her bed. A flick of Marda's elbow against it and a picture is taken by the 35mm camera, which is pre-focused at six feet on the feeder, through her picture window at an angle to avoid reflections. To insure uniform lighting, the rig is in sync with an electronic strobe light that illuminates the scene.

Marda then bangs the switch a second time and the motor advances the film to the next frame and cocks the camera's shutter.

In gathering data for that long-ago story, it was suggested that Marda do a piece herself on bird-watching, which she did and this ran in the same issue.

★

NOW, ENTER Eddie Hanna—Mrs. H. H. Hanna, to be formal.

She popped into the office a few weeks later and said how about a column every week by Marda Gene?

"Certainly," was the ready reply.

Marda could dictate the copy to Eddie and she'd type it up.

So on Jan. 30, 1958, "Through My Window" made its debut.

It has been part and parcel of The Herald ever since.

Pickup Leaves N. Evans, Rams into Large Tree

Robert A. Bristle, 22, Clinton, was seriously injured about 2:30 a.m. Dec. 27 when his pickup left N. Evans St., just north of Macon Rd., and hit a large tree head-on.

A charge of reckless driving was made by the Tecumseh police against the youth who was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor.

The pickup is regarded as a total loss.

Raisin Gets 25-Year Control of GM Sewer

A long battle by city officials with Raisin Township ended Tuesday night when township officials signed an agreement and gave their approval for construction of the Fisher Body Plant sewer.

Council reluctantly signed the proposal Monday night and thereby gave control of the sewer to Raisin Township for the next 25 years.

Control of the sewer will continue even if it is eventually located inside the city limits. This fact was the basis for most of Council's arguments against signing the agreement.

James Mitchell, township supervisor, said his board met Tuesday night in order to give Judge Rex Martin of Circuit Court time to re-schedule his work.

Trial proceedings set for next Tuesday will be dropped.

The Raisin Township Board opposed construction of the eight-inch sewer, saying it opened the door to annexation. Tecumseh officials have refuted this supposition.

If Raisin Township property owners seek annexation, new sewers and lift stations would have to be built as the GM sewer is not large enough to handle much more waste than predicted by GM engineers.

★

A SIX-INCH LINE from the plant was originally planned for sanitary wastes only, but when GM requested handling process or industrial wastes too, the city changed to an eight-inch line.

Raisin officials felt the six-inch sewer was adequate, although engineers say the capacity of the eight-inch line will just handle the Fisher Body Plant, and perhaps a small industry.

●

Well, Anyway, It's All Installed

Installation of the eight-inch pressure sewer to Tecumseh's Fisher Body Plant on Occidental Rd. was completed last Thursday by Selders Excavating.

Union Construction of Manchester expects the lift station to arrive here Jan. 15 from the factory and installation at the plant site will then be made, probably in two or three days.

General Motors had requested an operable sewer by Feb. 1.

Raisin Township tried to stop construction of the sewer last month but Judge Rex Martin ruled against a temporary injunction in Circuit Court.

Township officials first agreed to participate with Tecumseh to build the sewer, then reneged. They later requested that GM own the sewer, and recently demanded complete control of the sewer for a 25-year period.

Fear that the city will annex portions of Raisin Township has been given as the basis for opposition to Tecumseh building the sewer. According to law, the township must approve the sewer construction.

GREAT TOURNAMENT — At this point, Tecumseh fortunes weren't too great, as the Indians trailed Blissfield, 44-41, and Terry Alcock (41) goes for a rebound. But things brightened and THS stopped the Royals, 53-49, then clipped Adrian, 37-30, in the finale. This gave Vic Lawson's Indians a clean sweep of three ABHT tilts and has the crew 6 and 0 going into Friday's home game with Grosse Ile. Crowds for the three nights of action totaled 4,132 with gross receipts hitting $2,834.75. Each school netted $611.94 after expenses. In this photo, other THS players (in dark uniforms), from left, Gregg Allen, Jim Lawson, Jeff Osburn and David Tilton. More pictures and basketball stories on page seven of this section.

'64 Construction Tops $1 Million

There was more than $1 million in construction work started in Tecumseh during 1964, reports Lynn Noble, building inspector.

Biggest projects was the $400,000 addition at Tecumseh High School. A $20,000 kitchen was begun at St. Elizabeth's.

Four industrial permits totaled $103,400 and seven commercial projects hit $153,000.

House permits numbered 21 with costs totaling $307,500.

Garages and carports were erected at 24 locations and hit $28,215.

Home additions and alterations were made in 120 places with a value of $130,706.

The 178 building permits issued by the city in '64 combined for a $1,142,821 total worth.

Outside the city limits — but in Tecumsehland — is considerable additional construction, capped by the new Tecumseh Fisher Body plant and the Stauffer Chemical Co. complex, which will end up worth about $27 million.

Day Light Robbery Nets $88

Two men, about 30 each and fairly well dressed, pilfered the Hite Hardware safe here Tuesday morning and escaped with $88 in cash.

The strangers appeared nervous as Mike Hite, owner, was showing one of the men a color paint chart at the front of the store. Mrs. Hite at the time was putting merchandise in a display window.

One of the men walked back to the middle of the store, opened the safe hidden from the front, and stole the cash.

Ten minutes later when Mrs. Hite prepared the store's banking, the missing cash was discovered.

Lillian Got Her Wish

By DOROTRY GRIGG

Mrs. Lillian Hoagland, 216 Ottawa St., accomplished her mission.

She wanted to work until she was 75. She did — and more, too.

New Year's Eve found her on duty at Herrick Memorial Hospital, as usual, on the night shift as a nurses' aide.

New Year's morning at 7:30, she retired from the many services which she so quietly and capably performed for patients more than a dozen years.

Her birthday anniversary is Nov. 11, but this gal believes in "a baker's dozen" and she wanted the job done right.

When questioned about her work and retirement, she remarked with dry wit, "Well, it isn't the length of time I've been here, it's the age of the beast."

In a more serious vein, Mrs. Hoagland said, "It's the good Lord's doing that I have been given a body to continue full-time work until 75. I know there aren't many who are able to work until that age but occasionally you read of some who are even older."

Night workers at the hospital made arrangements for a tea to honor Mrs. Hoagland Thursday afternoon in the hospital dining room. Seventy-two employees greeted the honored guest, who was much abashed at the compliment.

About 105 co-workers provided a corsage, a money gift and a standard for the bird cage which is the home of a new canary, "Singing Sam," which Mrs. Hoagland's daughter, Mrs. Robert Beebe, of Ypsilanti gave her mother in recognition of her accomplishment.

The standard was decked out with pretty green dollar bills, making it appear like a real money tree.

Now that she has retired, Mrs. Hoagland will have more time for her three grandchildren, her church, the First Baptist, which she loves and her multitude of friends.

Land, Grader Tab $40,000

By JIM LINCOLN

Authorization to purchase two pieces of property and advertise for bids for a new street grader could amount to expenditure of about $40,000, Council learned Monday night.

Harry Creger's property, about five and a half acres adjacent to Brookside Cemetery, was bought for $10,300. Council acted on the recommendation of the Cemetery Board.

Financing of the new cemetery property will be through sale of grave lots.

Second property purchased was 10,444 square feet on the southwest corner of N. Ottawa and Logan St., known as the Seitz property.

Although a house is now standing on the property and rented, Council bought the land for future off-street parking in the downtown's northeast business block.

After reviewing repairs and estimated costs to fix the city's 11-year-old grader, Council authorized advertising for bids for a new piece of equipment.

Cost may exceed $20,000.

T. J. Wagner is a sly one. In the used car business, he is passing out ball point pens on which are inscribed, "Buy where overhead is low. No radio, television or vacation added in purchase price". NIFTY SHOT — Senior center Gregg Allen, 6'4", pulled a nifty fake here against Blissfield for an underhand bunny and two of his 15 points. Tecumseh, a 53-49 winner over the Royals in the ABHT Tournament, still faces Blissfield twice in regular season play — and maybe again in the District Tournament in March.

Fans Yawn in THS Win Over Adrian

Undefeated Tecumseh capped the annual ABHT Tournament Wednesday of last week with a boring 37-30 victory over Adrian.

The deliberate, dull game nearly lulled some fans to sleep as the two teams played "keep-away" most of the time.

In all respect to the Indians, who tried to play basketball early in the game, the deliberate and control style of the Maples is the rule this season, instead of the exception.

Tecumseh joined the fiasco after the half, dribbling and holding the ball for minutes while fans yawned.

The local cagers, vastly superior to the Maples, proved they could also play Adrian's game — and play it better.

Tecumseh wrapped up the game in the first half when the Indians tallied 23 points to Adrian's 16. The Maples closed the gap by two in the third quarter.

The fourth quarter was a wild scoring affair with Tecumseh collecting six points — two more than Adrian!

★

GREGG ALLEN was top scorer with 15 points, while teammate, Jeff Osburn, tallied eight. Gary Krouse picked up 12 points for the losers.

The victory gave Tecumseh the ABHT championship, but more than that, it hurdled its only game with Adrian. Another exhibition with the Maples would just about kill basketball for Tecumseh fans.

Grosse Ile Flyers Come to Tecumseh

Tecumseh will be big favorites here Friday night when Grosse Ile invades the high school gym.

The Jayvees start their game at 6:30 with the varsity tilt slated for about 8 o'clock.

Coach Vic Lawson and his team closed the first portion of this season's schedule undefeated and although inconsistent, appear to have one of the better teams in the area.

Airport and Blissfield, however, will push the Indians for the Huron League title. The Royals nearly upset Tecumseh in last week's ABHT tournament at Adrian.

The Jets are undefeated and will probably enter their game with the Indians on Jan. 15 without a loss. The game will be played in Airport's boxy gym, which may be a factor in this crucial league tilt.

Dr. Coak To Speak

The Ridgeway-Macon Area PTA meeting will be held Wednesday, Jan. 13 at 8 p.m. at the Macon School.

The school rooms will be open for the parents to inspect.

Speaker for the evening will be Dr. Richard Coak, his topic being "Meeting Children's Emotional Needs."

The first grade of Ridgeway School will be in charge of refreshments.

JERRY HEBB

Ex-Star of THS Draws Plaudits on Hillsdale Court

Jerry Hebb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hebb, 516 W. Chicago Blvd., is playing his first season of varsity basketball at Hillsdale College.

A freshman, Jerry was second team All-State, All-Conference, All-County and set a school scoring record last year at Tecumseh, as well as leading the league in scoring.

He has played forward and the high-pivot this year for Hillsdale. Coach Rod Halstad expects Hebb to move into a starting spot by next year.

He has a good scoring touch and is learning quickly how to play defense and rebound in the "college style."

At 6'4" and 185 pounds, Jerry has a good future in Hillsdale basketball.

Mrs. Dick Wells will supervise the womens' club and Tom Fagan, the mens'. Both are coaches and physical education instructors at Tecumseh High School.

BEGINNERS BRIDGE CLASS

Bridge lessons for beginners will start next Monday, Jan. 11, at the Community Center.

The 10 week class will meet each Monday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the center's Glass Room, under the instruction of Mrs. Luther Kemp.

All persons interested will be charged a class fee of $2.50 for the entire 10 lessons.

Registration and class fee may be paid at the first lesson on Monday or at the City Hall.

BURNING OF THE GREENS

The mild weather has made it impossible to place any of the Christmas trees and greens on the Athletic Field for the burning, so we will have to cancel the ceremonial planned for the Twelfth-Night Burning.

I am sure everyone can understand what a mess this would be and also what damages it would do to the athletic field.

Trees are still being picked up however, and taken to the dump by city trucks, providing they have been placed near the curb in front of the home.

PULLS IT IN — A first look and you'd think that Blissfield grabbed this rebound. Another glance and you'll find Terry Alcock, No. 41, with his hands wrapped around the ball. The 6'6" Alcock was tough on the boards against the Royals, particularly on defense. Other Indians here are Jim Lawson (33) and Gregg Allen (55).

Buck Maynard Now Operating Service Station

Ivan "Buck" Maynard, tank wagon salesman and station attendant for Beach Bros., Inc., for the past 12 years, has taken over the management of the Fleet-Wing service station at the corner of N. Pearl and Logan.

He purchased the business from Don Clark, operator since 1955 of the station leased from Beach Bros., Inc.

Mr. Clark is indefinite about his future plans.

Ray Dollison, general manager for the local petroleum distributors, says Victor Paine, Jr., has replaced Maynard as a delivery driver.

He, along with Charles Staples, Jr., will operate the trucks and Charles Manley will manage the office.

New Suburban, Rural Directory Planned Here

A new suburban and rural directory for Tecumseh land will be started shortly under the direction of Robinson Directories, Inc. of Hillsdale.

Local canvassers will soon contact families for vital data.

Information to be gathered includes family name, given name, wife's name, and the names and ages of children under 18 years of age, employment or employer.

Other facts include: homes and acreage owned or tenanted, street or road address, mailing address, telephone numbers and names of others living with the family.

The Master Directory will, in addition to the alphabetical name index, include a street and road guide listing the name of each family according to relative location along each street or road.

Crossroads or streets will be shown in order. Landmarks, such as schools, churches, cemeteries, and others will be shown in sequence along each road. A detailed city map will complete the contents.

A paper bound home edition will be available to families placing orders through canvassers.

VOICE of THE HERALD

A Blinker Is Needed

In the past week, three accidents occured where Macon Rd. meets Tecumseh-Clinton Rd., near the Airport Bowl and Meyers Aircraft.

This intersection has a notorious past of traffic mishaps and it's apparent something should be done to protect the lives of drivers who use these roadways.

A long-time resident, Jack Smith, who lives just south of the bowling lanes, noted, "I can't begin to count all the accidents that have happened there in the last five years. We'll have another good one (if conditions remain as they are now.)"

Mr. Smith points out that many drivers, including truckers, exceed the 50-mile-per-hour speed limit along that stretch of Tecumseh-Clinton Rd., many apparently not realizing traffic is filtering in from the east between the bowling establishment and airplane factory. Casual parking practices at both spots further complicates the situation.

What is needed immediately, feels Mr. Smith, is a blinker light overhead, warning north-south drivers with a yellow light and ordering stops by those on the Macon Rd. with a red light. We agree.

Going one step further, we think that city officials should make an analysis of that area with the eye to improving conditions and removing as much as possible the accident-proneness of this intersection.

What Does Dean Burch Want?

Ever since the debacle, laughingly called a presidential election, the cry has gone up to dump Dean Burch as chairman of the Republican party.

Usually, the leader of an unsuccessful political campaign is willing to step down of his own accord. Not so with Mr. Burch. The way he is kicking and sputtering, one would guess if he loses this job the welfare rolls of Washington will swell by another family.

What does Dean Burch want?

Like the bulldog with a death grip on the leg of the postman, Dean imagines he must hold on, come hell or high water, fully realizing at the same time that many want him to let go. A pat on the back from Barry Goldwater only serves to increase his tenacity.

Barry and Dean were losers — overwhelmingly so. But you'd never know it the way they talk.

The GOP needs brand new leadership and let's hope come Jan. 23, after the National Committee meets in Chicago, that the Republicans get it.

Dirty Movies Could Ruin Industry

Scan the amusement section of any metropolitan newspaper these days and you'll find ads for one filthy film after another.

The field of movie-making seems to be polluted with producers, directors and performers who seem driven to outdo one another in the race to see who can top whom in scum. Eventually they will kill off themselves and their industry.

This Goldfarb business is a capper. Not only have a writer and producer come up with the usual racey theme, but they delight in dragging an innocent party, a mid-western university, through the slime with them.

It matters not who the institution was. It could have been Michigan or Michigan State. Reaction of administration at our two state universities would likely have been the same as that of Notre Dame had one of them been depicted.

But our beef is not with just this film, it's with the whole covey of men and women who insist on making filthy films. As long as they can turn a buck — and keep the masses thinking this is entertainment — they'll go right on grinding out the pollution.

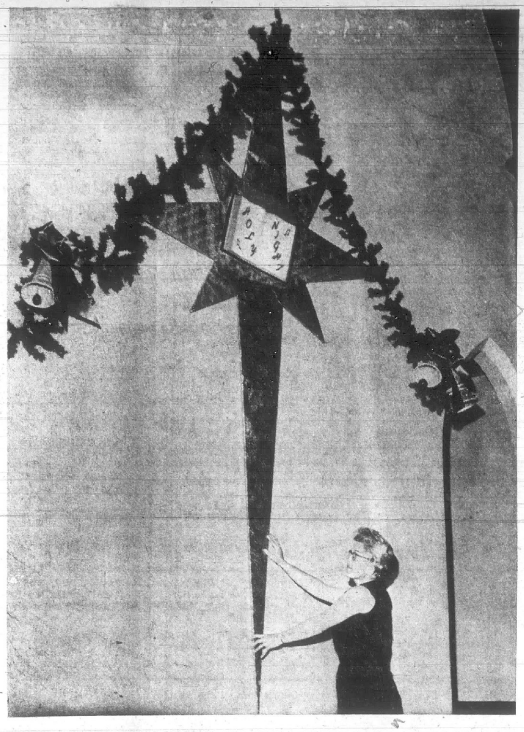
Economic reprisals wouldn't work and censorship in Hollywood is skiddish at best.

The real answer lies within the industry itself and the people in it who have pride in their craft, folks like Walt Disney, the most successful of them all — thanks to wholesome, entertaining films.

Another fellow who we hope will be heard from more often is Dick Van-Dyke, the comic who refuses to take roles in smutty stories. Dick put the blast on these pictures recently and we applaud him for standing up and saying how he thinks.

A few words from him and fellow performers, who feel that films must maintain a decorum of good taste, will do more to preserve their industry from devouring itself than a million words on editorial pages.

We hope that Mr. VanDyke and others in the business will continue to speak frankly and publicly.



CHURCH GLORIFIED AT YULE SEASON — Mrs. Ernest Lamkin straightens the star in the decor of one side of the Presbyterian Church chancel. She and her husband gave generously of their time and talent to make the church beautiful through the holiday season.

Decoration Expert

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven. St. Matthew 5:16.

Mrs. Ernest Lamkin, 505 Parkway Ct., with the help of her husband fulfilled the scripture with her holiday decorating of the Presbyterian Church.

Following the theme, "Star of Bethlehem," Mrs. Lamkin used 12 foot stars, cut from fiberboard by her husband, on the two front walls of the sanctuary.

Greenery, bells and red ribbon added color and the giant stars were centered with styrofoam Bibles initialed with the words, "Holy Night" on one and "Silent Night" on the other.

Mr. Lamkin made these two impressive pieces with hinged parts so they may be easily stored.

It took four hours to cover them with gold foil and about 45 minutes each to cover seven smaller stars for the side walls.

★

THE ARRANGEMENTS are large and in some ways quite stark.

Because she likes always to work with a theme, Mrs. Lamkin continued the wording for the familiar carol with "All is calm, all is bright" at the rear of the sanctuary on white styrofoam scrolls with red lettering.

In the vestibule the last of the stanza, "Christ, the Savior is Born," is lettered on blue sky above the Holy City.

Also in the vestibule, and placed on red velvet, is a big Bible open to the Christmas story and red candle encircled with large green boughs and cones.

It took the couple six weeks "off and on" to complete the beautiful decorating, an estimated 30 hours with nearly 10 spent on the bulletin board.

★

MRS. LAMKIN remarked, that she enjoyed every minute of it. "I don't like to be idle. I like calling on shut-ins and I've enjoyed helping the youngsters at the Lenawee Institute."

She assisted 30 students make Christmas gifts for their folks from detergent bottles and tuna fish cans and made chalk murals for the blackboards at the Institute. She has never had any lessons but enjoys using her talent to please others.

She said she remembered when she was a little girl her mother told her "if the Lord gives you a talent, He means for you to share it."

MRS. LAMKIN was elected chairman of the church decorating committee in October and plans are already in progress for an India theme for the spring banquets.

The Lamkins have one son, David, who resides in California with his wife, Marcia and two little folks, and another son, Barry, 15, at home. The California Lamkins arrived in Tecumseh Dec. 26 to spend until Jan. 3 with his parents.

Mr. Lamkin is employed at the Tecumseh Products Company.

Our Readers Write

TO THE EDITORS:

Just when I began to feel sorry for myself during the Christmas Season of '64 the nicest things started to happen to pull me out of the mire and here are a few of them.

I read about the art exhibit at the library, not only of the Japanese talents, but also of our own students. So to the library I hustled and found it well worth my time. Also it was a privilege to chat with people there, some of whom I had not seen in weeks. Of course, we whispered.

Early that evening some of my good high school friends, plus their friends, appeared on my front porch to sing carols for me allowing me to make a choice. What a lift! That is an experience I'll never forget.

Later on that same evening, it was my pleasure by invitation to hear the program presented by the Spanish classes in the high school gym. Yes, I sat on the front row of the bleachers. Another treat was to witness the work of the Spanish dancers and especially Raphael Heimerdinger.

What art, music, the dance and communication with people can do for the weary soul is unbelievable until one experiences it. While that started out to be a low day it certainly ended on a high note through the efforts of youth.

Some time I will write how other ages have affected my thinking. However, beginning that night I allowed other people's happiness to be mine throughout the holiday and as a result here I am ready to begin 1965 with a forward look and scanning the papers to see when the first reservations to the moon are available.

Wishing all an enjoyable New Year, I am

Sincerely,
Ruth V. Rentschler (Mrs. T.)

'Music Man' Tryouts Draw Big Turnout

Each year, the Tecumseh Players put on three stage productions — a comedy in the fall, a drama in the spring and a musical in the winter. Without question, the singing, dancing happy musicals are the most popular with audiences and actors alike. Next month, the Players' version of "The Music Man" will hit the boards for two weeks. Tryouts produced oodles of talent, all vying for coveted roles. For Director Bill McAnallan it was a tough job picking the cast, from the Music Man and Marion the Librarian through the nearly 40 other parts. He got plenty of help from his staff of assistants — and it takes a flock to help smooth out all facets of a musical.

Tecumseh physician Richard Hammel has been picked to be the rakish Prof. Harold Hill and Mrs. Donald Geiger of Clinton the librarian. Old favorites and a flock of newcomers will be seen in other roles.

Rehearsals started this week at Odd Fellows Hall on Green Hwy. Director McAnallan said that he doesn't mind if visitors attend, so long as they sit quietly. Children are most appreciated by their absence.

Employment Reaches High

Employment in Lenawee County during 1964 was the best for the past 10 years.

This fact is pointed up by the $542,063 paid out in unemployment checks for the 12-month period.

It was a drop from $940,000 in 1963, states Clifford Rice, manager of the Adrian office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

In 1960, the figure topped $2½ million.

Last year unemployed individuals filed 2,534 new claims for unemployment compensation and claimed 17,350 weeks of idleness, for which the Adrian Office issued 14,832 benefit checks. Checks averaged $36.20 for a full week of unemployment.

Since 1950 the Adrian Office has paid $19½ million to Lenawee County unemployed individuals, Mr. Rice stated.

★

DURING THE year, 252 different non-agricultural employers placed job orders with the Adrian Office for 1,946 workers, exclusive of odd jobs. The local office supplied 1,560 applicants, who these employers hired.

In addition, 213 odd job workers were hired by other employers through the Office. Included in the 1,946 full time jobs filled by the Branch Office were 179 sales and clerical positions, 82 skilled workmen and 541 in semi-skilled occupations.

A total of 917 of the job applicants were hired for Lenawee County manufacturing establishments.

In the same period, 140 agricultural employers used the local employment service and hired 1,027 workers for local jobs.

Carl Hammerstrom, Farm Placement representative in the Adrian Office, also sent 368 workers to other counties in the State to assist in crop harvesting.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thumser and family of Birmingham and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bandemer and family of Rochester were overnight Christmas guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bowen.

Peace Corps Test Will Be This Saturday

Peace Corps Placement Test will be given at the Adrian post office Saturday at 8:30 a.m.

Applicants should bring along a completed Questionnaire, unless one has already been sent in to Washington.

These forms are available at most post offices.

There are two parts to the Peace Corps Placement Test: a general aptitude test and a modern language aptitude test — for which knowledge of a foreign language is not necessary.

Applicants should figure on about one and a half hours at the testing center, unless they wish to take the Spanish or French achievement test. For this optional test, another hour should be added.

No passing or failing marks are given out.

Peace Corps applicants must be American citizens at least 18 years old. Married couples are eligible if they have no dependents under 18.

Bill Whiting has now earned his star award and Life Scout awards were presented to Paul Burns and David Laidlaw.

All the boys in the group were then presented special six color neckerchiefs and slides, the same as worn by the Boy Scouts color guards at the recent Olympics in Tokyo.

The scouts presented Scoutmaster Dr. Robert Laidlaw with a scoutmasters uniform which they purchased with money earned this fall, picking corn.

The evening was concluded with skits presented by each patrol followed by a colored movie of the Troop No. 4 canoe trip on the Manistee River last summer.

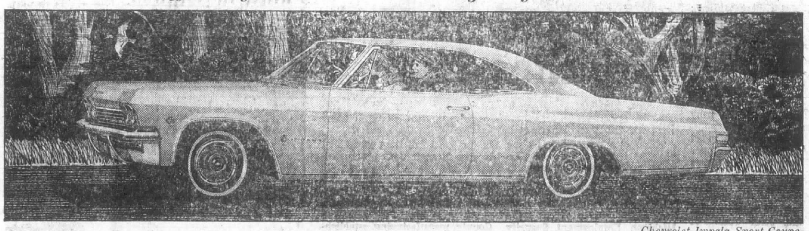
Discover the difference in the '65 Chevrolets
(As different from other cars as they are from each other)

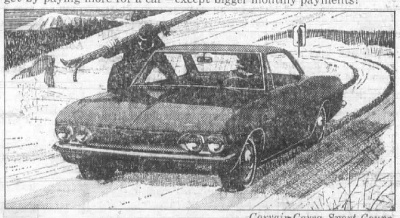


Chevrolet Impala Sport Coupe

CHEVROLET—As roomy a car as Chevrolet's ever built.
When you take in everything, there's more room inside this car than in any Chevrolet as far back as they go. More room for shoulders and feet. So, besides the way a '65 Chevrolet looks and rides and is powered, we now have one more reason to ask you: What do you get by paying more for a car—except bigger monthly payments?

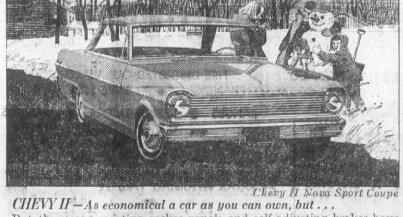
Chevelle Malibu Super Sport Coupe

CHEVELLE—The most popular intermediate-sized car you can buy.
Of all the cars its size, Chevelle is the biggest seller. Why? Because of its Full Coil suspension ride. Because many models come with thick carpeting, vinyl interiors. Because you get so much for your money.



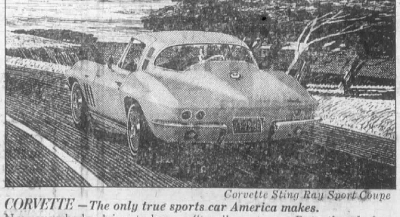
Corvair-Corsa Sport Coupe

CORVAIR—The only rear engine American car made.
You should read what the car magazines say. They think there's nothing else this side of the Atlantic that can touch Corvair's styling and ride. They say that a Corsa with 180-hp just has to be tried.



Chevy II Nova Sport Coupe

CHEVY II—As economical a car as you can own, but . . .
But those rust-resisting rocker panels and self-adjusting brakes have never been in more beautiful surroundings. Come see what expensive looking styling and yards of luxurious upholstery can do.



Corvette Sting Ray Sport Coupe

CORVETTE—The only true sports car America makes.
Now everybody claims to have a "true" sports car. But other dealers can't say they have one available with a fuel-injected V8, as Corvette does. Or with 4-wheel disc brakes. Or with a clear conscience.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

(Editor's note — This article was submitted just before Christmas by the governor.)

As we approach Christmas and the close of another year, we find that many changes have occurred in the world since a year ago at this time. There were times during the year when major events seemed fairly to tumble one upon another. The news often broke fast, permitting little time to weigh and assess one event when another, hard on its heels, occurred.

Christmas should not become merely one more event in a crowded year. This day of Christmas, and the meaning of Christmas, is too important to consider simply "Just one more holiday", different from the others because the exchange of gifts is involved and because so much advertising and publicity is centered on the artificial aspects of Christmas.

THE COMMERCIALIZATION that is so much a part of Christmas every year is much criticized and probably rightly so. Now, even the criticism of the commercialism of Christmas is a part of the Christmas Season.

We sing the songs of Christmas and we go through the motions of proper observance but in the frenzied activity of this Season, the Message of Christmas is, nevertheless, often overlooked.

The Message of Christmas is hope. The birth of Christ, God's Son, was intended to give men hope.

The Message of Christmas is love. Christ preached love for one's fellowman continually during his life on earth. The angels attendant at Christ's birth sang hopefully of "peace on earth, good will toward men". And until peace on earth becomes reality, we can hope for peace and work to achieve peace.

At year's end we assess and evaluate what we have done and where we are going. Did we keep the peace? Did we extend the boundaries of human rights to include all citizens, regardless of skin color, religion or national origin? Did we face, honestly and squarely, the needs of people?

★

IT IS WITH HOPE that we face the future, with all its problems and with all the demands the future will make. And it is with hope that we enter the future's unfamiliar territory, those landscapes dotted with question marks.

Christmas is a time to humbly praise God for his blessings and to give thanks to God for the Gift Eternal.

If any sincere person fears that the true meaning of Christmas has been lost, he need not look far to find it. It is in his heart.

What Christmas really is . . . to any person . . . is what is in his heart on that day.

It is a pleasure for me to send Holiday best wishes to all the citizens of Michigan. May each of you enjoy a most Merry Christmas and a prosperous and Happy New Year.

NOTE CITY LIMIT SIGN — Dr. Carlos Knisely was tickled when he spied this cartoon feature in the Michigan Trucking magazine. It showed what 100 new jobs means to a community, which happens to be one nearest and dearest to the veterinarian's heart, and for which he serves as Chamber of Commerce president.

1964 IN REVIEW — PART II

June is a favorite month. It has lots of everything that is good. Bird-wise it is the time for babies. We were happy at the many speckle-breasted robin youngsters and hoped they foretold a population build-up.

We also enjoyed the many visits made by baby cardinals, woodpeckers and flickers—a big thrill was the nuthatch family. Four of them dined together at the feeder.

Great interest was focused on the creek when Gertie's mallards started swimming by with their family of gold-drop ducklings.

Wrens serenaded us daily, but the wrenhouse remained vacant.

An oddity was the five-day visit of a white tailed squirrel. He was so pretty, his tail big, bushy and snowy white. The other squirrels, however, did not extend a warm welcome and after repeated chasings, the white-tailed one left.

Four baby squirrels proved entertaining, such crazy actions, and on June 27, two young woodchucks started what turned out to be a whole summer of good looking.

AS USUAL, July picked up when June quit — humming birds, a yellow warbler on the corn tree, six blue jays lunching together and three flickers in the wren-tree.

We were sad to see that the baby mallards were not surviving, by the first week only four were left. The Fourth of July month bowed out with a 15 day sweltering hot spell — 90 degrees and over.

The heat only accelerated the good looking — rabbits, a pair of quail, papa cardinal and two kids, noisy young kingfishers and a squirrel, who insisted upon stretching flat on the feeder, kept us busy.

August being vacation preparing month, much time was spent pouring over maps, mileage charts, tour-books and the like.

We did look out often enough to puzzle over 22 robins congregating in the backyard, laugh at the unsightly bald-headed blue jays, thrill over the young heron wading in the creek and be surprised at the 20-plus flock of red-wing blackbirds.

DURING THE first of September our window pictures seemed full of warblers, flickers, kingfishers, robins, goldfinches, hundreds of sparrows and thousands of grackles.

One Sunday we received a call from friends who reported a clan gathering of more than 20 flickers — what a sight that must have been. The last three weeks of September I know not what happened around here — we were in Colorado. A marvelous vacation, but that was adequately described several months ago.

October's weather hopscotched between Indian summer and winter — 90 degrees Saturday, snow flurries Monday, back to 65 by Friday and so it went. Even the birds were confused — we had robins and grackles, but we also had chick-a-dees and juncos.

Cocky little tufted titmice and the pretty down woodpeckers came back in force. A "first" was recorded when dickcissels made a short visit.

★

NOVEMBER WAS another month which started in an oven and ended in the deep freeze. The bird calendar shows nothing spectacular — a few laughs though.

For example, the belligerent sparrow who kept chasing poor Mrs. D. Woodpecker from the feeder and the misguided kingfisher who apparently forgot to go south. We saw him on a snowy day, so cold even his rattling call shivered.

December — well, having just ended the year, there is hardly a need for too much reviewing. It was a busy month, both inside and out. The heavy snows which we so hoped would last until Christmas, but didn't, did their usual job of bringing old friends to the feeding station.

So it is that 1964 turned out to be a good bird year. Now we anxiously wonder what the new year has in store.

Paying your bills isn't just a matter of dollars and cents
Making purchases these days can become a pretty complicated bookkeeping affair, what with payments going to such a wide variety of places and people. Many of the items and services you get are tax deductible, so an accurate system of recording these payments is important. Probably the best solution to the whole situation is to pay by checks. Your checkbook stubs carry all the pertinent record data and your cancelled checks serve as proof of payment. Sometimes, when you pay by cash, there's a mixup and you aren't sure a month later if the debt was taken care of. If you aren't going the check-paying way, how about dropping by to see us and find out how simple and efficient it is?

Program Different

BRITTON—The annual Christmas program of the Bethel Baptist Church was held Dec. 20 at 7:30 p.m. More than 200 persons saw, "The Heart of Christmas."

The setting was a home scene with a grandfather played by Mike Kelley and his granddaughter played by Sandra McNeil. As they discussed the Christmas program, seen at their own church that evening, the boys and girls of the Sunday school portrayed the parts they talked about.

Included also was a one-act play by the young people concerning the events in the inn.

During the program there was a trumpet duet by John Mann and Barbara Kempf.

A men's trio sang, "There is a green hill far away."

Every child was given a box of candy after the program. Many of the boys and girls exchanged gifts with each other and their Sunday school teachers.

Would you like to save money when purchasing medicine?

When your doctor selects special medication for you, the first thing you think of usually is not "How much will it cost me?" No, your thought is, "Let's get going and get the prescription filled so that it will begin work on the illness." At this point, you may then wonder about the cost. We are here to serve you on both counts — to immediately fill the orders of your doctor, with the exact drugs he has called for — and to help you save money. We can do this by operating on a cash and carry basis, eliminating bookkeeping and handling charges. Secondly, we can also help you save since we are able to buy directly from pharmaceutical manufacturers, such as Upjohn, Parke-Davis & Co., Abbott Laboratories, Pfizer Laboratories and others, in conjunction with our two large stores in the Detroit area. This eliminates the wholesale house commission — a saving passed on to the buyer. In this way, it is our estimate that you will save from 10 to 50% on medicine purchased in our store.

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

This may get a little confused (so what else is new) and primarily is directed at the male audience.

Subjects at hand are barbers and Boy Scouts, which touch almost all manner of man, based on the fact most fellows were Scouts or have fathered one and almost all have had a haircut at one time or another.

Going alphabetically, those darlings with the shears and funny stories come first and thereby embarassment is showing. Not that they have so little to work with when I plop into the chair. The red-faced bit will be explained later.

But like the barons of steel and shipping cartels, there comes a time when more compensation for materials or services seem in order and there is a friendly meeting and all hands agree — to raise prices.

Last week a local barber was on hand Wednesday to announce the joyous decision and wondered if this were news or advertising folder.

"Strictly advertising," was the rejoinder.

Some fast calculations were in order so the next question was how many barbers in Tecumseh and Clinton combined on the deal. The number came up seven and so the suggestion was made, "A buck a man gives you a $7 ad to tell the world."

The clip industry representative said to go ahead, but in the meantime, he'd step down the block and get an OK from his fellows.

★

WHILE HE'S up to that, let's ring in the Scouts for a moment and did you ever run in a Klondike Derby?

A lot of lads around Tecumseh-land have, as Scouts and later as dads of Scouts and even an occasional dad-photographer combination.

This is an annual mid-winter event, which gets plenty of preparation, and the date this year was last Saturday.

Perhaps you don't recall right away about what the Kindly Ole Weatherman treated us to the past weekend.

For Friday, there was a record high of 60 degrees and not a snip of snow was left on the ground, nor a topcoat on a shoulder.

Airlines were announcing special vacation runs from chilly Miami into summer-like Tecumseh. But these were suddenly cancelled about 2 a.m. Saturday when a wicked cold front whipped into town.

VAST IMPROVEMENT—Here's the new Tecumseh High School chemistry lab and lecture room, a vast improvement over the old facilities, with Instructor Peter Kalom conducting a class. This and other rooms in the new addition can be viewed by parents and interested citizens when Open House is held at THS Thursday evening from 7:30 to 9 p.m. The general public is welcome, states principal Neville Hart. Student guides will conduct visitors through the addition and refreshments will be served in the cafeteria at the conclusion of the evening.

$400,000 Addition Will Be Unveiled with Open House

Guests will tour the $400,000 additions to Tecumseh High School Thursday evening, meeting in the gymnasium at 7:30 for a short concert by the THS band, followed with a brief dedication talk by school board president Aden Mead. At 7:55, parents of high school students will follow a miniature "class day," the same their youngsters do, only in compact size, concluding with a swing through the new math-science wing and the new library-study hall. Refreshments, being served in the cafeteria, will cap the open house. The general public is cordially invited for the music, dedication and a look at the new quarters.

If it were not for the THS addition, now in full operation, "we would be on half days," states principal Neville Hart.

So instead of struggling to find space for a variety of classes, juggling noon hours and starting times, Mr. Hart can go about with optimistic calm the task of administering his 39-member faculty, who instruct 905 students.

The days of jammed corridors, cut-up schedules and ordering head-ache tablets by the gross are only a memory — at least for a few years anyway.

With the addition, capacity of THS now stands at 1,200.

Of course, there are still some problems, but they pale by comparison with what the high school administration has had to battle in the past half dozen years.

Thanks to four science labs, sections in biology, general science, physics and chemistry have been jumped from eight to 14. In the past, two labs had to handle the four subjects, with room for only 24 youngsters.

Each new lab has stand-up space for 32 students, each of whom has a locked drawer in which to store materials and equipment. The labs are at one end of the long rooms, with lecture areas at the other. They range in size from 24'x56' to 24'x50' plus 10'x24' work rooms.

At present, there are four sections of chemistry, averaging 25 students each, four sections of biology (29), four sections of general science (24) and two sections of physics (20).

The new wing also contains five classrooms, each 24x24'. Four of these can be combined to form two double-size areas, 24x48', for large lectures, via sliding doors.

Two specialty labs are located in the wing, one 25x25' for a new course in electronics and electricity and another 40x30' for metal fabrication.

In the other new portion, the 4,800-square-feet library-study hall can handle 150 students, has rooms for the librarian's office, storage and repair and pocket-book sales.

The boys' physical education department got a 25x30' locker room as part of the $400,000 addition, all of which was made possible through the gift of a Tecumseh man.

3 Brothers Sent to Jail for Assault

Three E. Valley Rd. residents, all brothers, were handed $100 fines and 60 days in the county jail by Justice of Peace Ernie Oliver Saturday after assault and battery charges were filed by Raymond Earls, 27, of 4508 Macon Rd.

Confined at Adrian are Beaufort Barnett, 34; Harry C. Barnett, 24; and J. B. Barnett, 28. An additional 30 days in jail was tacked on the sentences if the men fail to pay their fines.

The three brothers reportedly jumped Earls and Elmer Abshire, 212 S. Union St., after the two men had left a local tavern Friday night.

Earls was hit by a brick and suffered head injuries. He was treated at Herrick Hospital and released.

Exchangites Hear of Trip To Rose Bowl

President John Saling introduced Rudolph Hasselback, Michigan State Exchange Club President, to 25 members of the local club at the meeting Jan. 11.

Mr. Hesselback of Temperance urged admission of new members for the local group to add more strength to Exchange.

He gave a resume of the trip he and Mrs. Hesselback took to the recent Rosebowl Game in Pasadena. He was a guest of the Pasadena Exchange Club at a banquet honoring the Rose Queen.

Announcement was made of the mid-winter conference Jan. 17 at the Jack Tar Hotel, Lansing, and the Exchange State Convention at Boyne Mt. Ski Lodge June 20-22.

Trip Is Planned for Girl Scouts

Thirty members and four senior leaders of the Senior Girl Scout Planning Board met Jan. 4.

A trip to Detroit and a carnival Jan. 23 in Jackson were discussed. It was decided to purchase a movie of the Senior Girl Scout Round-Up making it available for use by all troops. It is hoped that a precedent will be set by this purchase.

The meeting closed with a surprise birthday party for the recording secretary from Jackson.

Good Citizens Are Selected

The Abi Evans Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution has announced the girls selected as good citizens to represent their respective high schools in the area. They are Susan Bottorff, Tecumseh High School; Denice Anderson, Clinton High School, and Ginger Frazier, Britton High School.

Retiring senior warden Glenn Driscoll was chairman when four new vestry members were elected by the congregation.

They are J. Richard Gates, Lewis Venske, Harry Currier and Mrs. Jack Curtiss.

Others besides Mr. Driscoll who are retiring by the rotation system are Keith Bailey, James Osburn and Mrs. Philip G. Colgrove.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs Barber, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cheever, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Merrill and Mrs. Colgrove were elected as delegates to the convention of the Southwest Convocation.

Reports were presented by the several organizations of the church and the rector, the Rev. Frank Hawthorne.

YMCA Tops Fund Mark

With a $150,000 gift from a friend of the county, the drive to raise $500,000 for a new Lenawee County YMCA Building has been reached. News of obtaining the goal was made public at a meeting Tuesday night in Adrian. Ground breaking is tentatively scheduled for May 1.

Visit Wilsons

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Moore returned Tuesday from Sun City, Ariz., where they visited Mr. and Mrs. M. W. (Red) Wilson. They went to the Rose Bowl game and parade during the three-week vacation.

School Milk Price Fixers in Quandary

Its beginning to look like a crystal ball is necessary if school officials are to operate the high school cafeteria and the elementary school milk program on a break-even basis.

Federal funds, channeled through Lansing, have dropped twice during the past six weeks without advance warning.

On Nov. 27, officials here learned the subsidy of 6c per lunch had been cut to 5c for October. Last week, they were notified that Decembers allowance had been reduced to 4c.

Tacked onto the November notice was a slash of 5% from the milk allowance.

Problem facing administrators is that a profit from providing lunches and milk to youngsters is prohibited. A half-pint of milk costs the schools three cents and is sold to pupils for six cents.

★

THE FEDERAL subsidy is supposed to raise the schools income per milk carton to seven cents, giving the schools a penny profit, out of which to pay for straws and handling.

The cut in federal funds is now costing the school district between $50 and $75 a month. At this rate, the $200 in the cafeteria treasury will soon be depleted and not available in the spring months, when cafeterias income is considerably less.

Alternatives suggested are raising the cost of lunches from 35c, possibly to 40c, or having the Board of Education subsidize the program.

The school board already is on record that the cafeteria, not allowed to make money, also shall not operate in the red.

MONEY-MAKER? — Will oil add to Tecumsehland's already booming economy? Gustave Brenke of 6217 Rogers Hwy., is hoping so. Besko Enterprises of Ovid is financing the drilling of a well on the Brenke farm. Clarence Gardner, driller for Bell and Gault Drilling, Inc., of Concord, said it will be another three weeks before it is known whether the attempt will be successful. The drill is now some 1100 feet down with about 1900 feet yet to go into the top of the Trenton formation where oil is usually found in Southeastern Michigan. Working the day shift with Mr. Gardner is Bernard D. Smith of Reading.

BEHIND PAGE ONE

That cartoon from Michigan Trucking Industry publication, showing what 100 new jobs can do for a town and having "Tecumseh City Limits" in it, brought a note from Jack Dyer, editor of the Consumers Power Co. magazine. Said Jack, "You owe us $25 plus taxes and penalties of $1,842. This (the cartoon) was borrowed from us originally." Jack agreed to a pay-off in Heralds, so this week we're sending him 18,867 copies.

Pictures of tryouts for "Music Man" gave the paper "quite a tone" reported Mrs. Tom Corkery.

A reader in Britton wants an application to work at new Fisher Body plant. Sorry, we don't have any. Headquarters of the firm is at the GM Technical Center in Warren. In spring, Fisher Body plans to open an information center in Tecumseh. We'll tell when and where as soon as we know.

A handful of men in white shirts were seen pacing off distances on the old Kuhlman Potato Farm Saturday. Wonder if they're setting up a running track?

LONG & SHORT

As the gallant band of Scouts and their dad-drivers made a pre-dawn departure from downtown, heading west for Camp Kanesatake on Washington Lake and the Klondike run, the big thermometers blinked from 22 to 21 degrees and after that some pops didn't want to look anymore.

But the whole deal turned out to be an exhilerating, if exhausting, experience.

The bitter weather, a complete lack of snow and a norwester of about 15 miles an hour, didn't faze the younger set, already eager to try their hands at a run of nearly five miles.

The adult spectators, for some reason, didn't seem to share this enthusiasm.

Running this race is a team effort. Each patrol, including at least five, pulling and pushing one of those Arctic dog sleds, only it's all boy power. The teams are required to carry a variety of items on the sleds, including sack lunches, which my lucky patrol forgot in the excitement.

En route, the patrols hit a dozen stations at each of which they stop to perform survival skills, judged by Scout leaders on a time-and-result basis.

When viewed by draft-driven dads, who chanced a scamper over the course, the boys' efforts brought grins and mental "well dones."

The kids had to erect a shelter in 10 minutes, on a bald, windswept hill, they had to cut a timber into chunks with a two-man cross-cut saw, they had to tie a variety of knots.

One of the most delightful feats was the lashing together of four long poles, the one on the end having a hook. With this ungainly gimmick, the youngsters had to reach across an imaginary rapids to the "other bank," snag a No. 10 can, which contained a secret note.

It turned out the note read, "Replace can in original position," but not too many patrols got a chance to read it, having a deuce of a time getting the poles together in the alloted 10 minutes.

When the lads completed the circuit, there were cups of hot chocolate and steaming tomato soup to go with their sandwiches, which by then were icy.

"There's nothing like frozen Twinkies," grinned 11-year-old Pete Speerstra as he munched his dessert while lolling on the tundra with fellow Otter Patrol members.

★

BUT WE'D BETTER put the lid on the Klondike opus and here comes the barber to announce, "The fellows say we're being taken. We don't want an ad."

What would be the first thing to come to your mind in a case like this, when you eat by the ad space sold, maybe, 'OK, but if the boys don't think it's important enough to tell it in an ad, we don't think it's important enough to run as news."

Out he bolted, but not before announcing, "We'll take it to the (name withheld)." (But it's a county daily, so you won't be wondering.)

The inward chuckle warmed me all over.

Next day, there had to be a careful check of the daily's issue and it wasn't short in the finding.

There in the center of the front page, in bold face type, no less, was a report that Tecumseh and Clinton barbers had all decided to jump their prices by two bits.

It's going to take nerve for me to get that next haircut.

Could be a real trimming — like the one from the county seat paper.

'Think Method'

Rehearsals for the Tecumseh Players' presentation of "The Music Man" are in full swing at the Odd Fellows Hall on Green Hwy.

The musical will be seen there Feb. 10, 11, 12, 13, 17, 18, 19 and 20.

When Professor Harold Hill (Dr. Dick Hammel) steps off the train at River City little do those "neck-bowed Hawkeyes" know what a shaking up they are in for.

He has come prepared to romp through the town selling everything from uniforms to split valve flugel horns, collect his money and leave.

In order to do this he has to guarantee to teach the children to play the instruments and no musician is Harold. So he uses the Think Method — if you can think the "Minuet in G," don't worry about the notes.

★

MARIAN PAROO (Peg Geiger), the town librarian, also a piano teacher, is not impressed with the "Professor" and does some checking on his background, discovers that his alma mater was not built at the time he claims attendance there.

Marian's job as librarian is rather a sinecure, for though the town owns the library she owns all the books.

Harold develops an interest in Marian's little brother Winthrop (Jeff Gentry) who seldom speaks because of a lisp, and her attitude toward him softens.

Mayor Shinn (Tom Riordan) would like to forcibly eject Harold from River City, but his wife Eulalie (Judy Vanzo) and daughters Zaneeta (Carol Riordan) and Gracie (Marcia Gilbert) are all involved in Harold's plans for a big musical production.

★

THROUGH HAROLD'S influence, bad boy Tommy Dijales (Ted Tiede), becomes acceptable to the mayor as a beau for daughter Zaneeta, little Winthrop not only talks but sings to the delight of Amaryllis (Patty Maunino) and the townspeople are transformed.

When Charlie Cowell (Howard Gentry) comes to town prepared to blow the whistle on the "Professor," Marian trickily prevents this.

Mrs. Paroo (Helen Sisson) uses the Think Method on her daughter and Harold and the professor remains in River City because as he says, "for the first time in my life I got my foot caught in the door!"

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG

That old caterpiller crawling along the railroad track was right. We certainly are having an open winter or didn't you know what a "dark on each end" caterpillier signifies? The light spot in the center of the worm means that it will be an open winter, no snow nor much ice underfoot.

What are the kids supposed to do with those new sleds and skates, too? Ice hasn't been too safe in most places.

If your ice fishing shanty has n't fallen in already, you're all right. I'm told that cars are being kept off from the ice even at Houghton Lake.

This doesn't sound like the best weather for Tip-Up Town this weekend at Houghton.

John Surratt is improving daily at Herrick Memorial Hospital and is now allowed two visitors five minutes a day. It's so important that they don't stay any longer. All his friends want him to get well as fast as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Surratt and Nancy of Ann Arbor have been frequent visitors at the hospital and the residence the last several weeks. They were here for the observance of his sister, Ann's, birthday anniversary Jan. 8, when Inara Roberts was a guest and Paul and George were both at home. Ann is a student at Cleary College, Ypsilanti.

Russell Carey is also improving each day at the hospital and his wife, Catherine, who has been recuperating from a broken leg, was able to visit him Sunday and again Wednesday.

The new baby born Christmas eve in Woman's Hospital, Ann Arbor, to Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Walper was named John Jason Walper, Jr. He weighed 7 lbs., 14 oz.

Kendra Ringman of Washington, D. C. arrived Christmas eve at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ringman. Jane Dillon accompanied Kendra home to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dillon, and returned to the capitol city Dec. 27.

Jim Hartsell was in Pontiac Friday to call on Larry Hartsell, a patient at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital suffering from mononeucleosis.

Mrs. Jule Fosbender entertained Mrs. Jerry Dickinson and children, Gerrie, Jackie, Jill and Julia of Kalamazoo over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. James Fielder, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Whiting and Mrs. Roy Whiting attended the funeral service in Adrian of Gertrude Bowen Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Heath and daughter, Linda, of Chicago, and son, Brian, of Decatur, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Heath of Ypsilanti also attended.

Attend Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Eisenminger and sons attended the officers' meeting Saturday night of the Monroe Organic Garden Club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Englehart of Temperance. Mr. Eisenminger is the new treasurer and Mrs. Eisenminger, corresponding secretary.

'4 Dads' on Program

The Four Dads quartet of Tecumseh will participate in the "Barbershop Blast" at the First Methodist Church in Adrian, Jan. 24. The Irish Hills Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc., are sponsors of the event which will benefit the building fund of the YMCA of Lenawee County.

The Four Dads quartet was organized two years ago for the Tecumseh Players production of "Girl Crazy." The quartet composed of Dr. Carleton Cook, Gordon Comfort, Davis Woods and Gene Earling, has been singing regularly since.

★

OTHER groups contributing their talent are:

The Hudson Chapter SPEBSQSA, directed by Norman Vance.

The Seaway Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc., Toledo, O. featuring Mary Ann LaPointe and Flo Frisbie Palm, soloists.

The Meadow Larks, in the top ten in 1964 international competition with Mrs. Arthur Vandenbusche of Blissfield singing lead.

The For-Tune Tellers quartet of Jackson with master of ceremonies, Chuck Sherwood.

The Irish Hills Chapter, directed by Mrs. Robert Henry, will also take part in the program.

Adrian Mayor Walter Bohn will make opening comments.

Loren Clemes will lead community singing with Louis Prang at the piano.

The Hobby Club works on cancer pads when they meet Thursday, Jan. 1, at the home of Mrs. Richard Eisenminger.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. LaFerriere and sons, Tom and Mark, have returned after attending the burial of Mr. LaFerriere's brother, Donald LaFerriere, in Arlington National Cemetery at Washington, D. C. Mrs. Ida LaFerriere of Burlington, Vt., and Mrs. Florence Dixon of Adrian, mother and sister of the deceased, accompanied them.

Methodist Women Hear Mrs. Hadsell

"What is the chief cornerstone of our faith?" was the challenging question asked by Mrs. Paul Hadsell, who led the program for the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church on January 6.

Mrs. Hadsell pointed out the need for "morality and wholesome living to strengthen us in time of crisis. Man has not conquered himself; so we find there is a definite need to find God and then power for the living and crisis."

Summing up, the leader asked, "Do I really want to know Christ, realizing the changes in our way of life and thinking that it will bring?" The theme, "We Would See Jesus," was carried through the devotions led by Mrs. Maynard Lucas.

MRS. DONALD RODEHAVER reported on "Women In The New Nations," stressing the organization and unity of the Methodist Church Women throughout the world, especially in Asia and Africa. This was an introductory report for the study class to be held in February, entitled "The Church's Mission Among New Nations."

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Vaynard Close, the Society voted to continue the Fall Festival for another year. Mrs. William M. Steele Jr. was named general chairman.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Glenn Rupp, Mrs. Robert Wood, and Mrs. William Schooley. Greeters were Mrs. Vira Bancroft and Mrs. Clifford Adams.

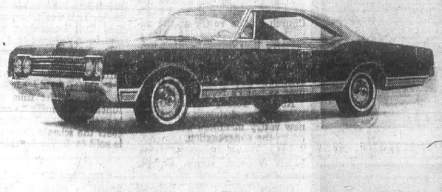
You might find another car as new as the Delta 88.



But not this year.

This is Oldsmobile's Delta 88. It's unique. Unique because it's new. New clear through.

Styling is new. So new, not a line nor a highlight was borrowed from last year.

Power plant is new. Super Rocket V-8 is the biggest in Olds history: 425-cubic-inches big, up to 370-horses strong.

Transmission is new, too. Turbo Hydra-Matic, available on any Delta 88, provides up to 40% more torque from a standing start, superlative performance at all speeds.

New styling. New engine. New transmission. This year, only Delta 88 lets you have all three, all new. Other cars have a lot of catching up to do.

Indians Whip Grosse Ile, 69-47, for Seventh Straight Victory

After the first thre minutes of play against Grosse Ile Friday night, the Tecumseh Indians toyed with the visitors while en route to an easy 69-47 victory.

In the opening minutes, Coach Vic Lawson's club poured 13 points through the hoop while the Red Devils were collecting only two.

The win, third straight in the Huron League loop, gave Tecumseh its seventh consecutive victory of the 1964-65 season.

Win String Threatened

A big game for the Tecumseh Indians and a threat to their winning streak looms ahead Friday night when they travel to Airport for a decisive game with the Jets.

Although upset by a rallying Blissfield five last week, Airport has the potential to whip any club in the Huron League, including Tecumseh.

The Indians will have to come up with one of their better games as the boxy gym at Airport will give the host team a big advantage.

The Jets had the Royals on the ropes, leading by seven points at the end of three quarters, and then crumbled. In comparison, Tecumseh never did lead Blissfield by seven points and had to rally in the final minutes for a 53-49 victory.

The Jayvees are scheduled to get underway at 6:30 and the varsity about eight o'clock.

Jayvees Make It 4 in Row

Coach Jim Hoffman's undefeated Jayvees Friday night nipped a second half rally here by Grosse Ile for a 46-37 victory, their fourth straight of the season.

Sparking the Indians after GI had tied the score and gone ahead in the third quarter was forward John Goodman.

Goodman tallied 11 of his 15 points in the second half and was the game's top scorer. Teammate Dean Hebb hit five goals for 10 points.

The easy win over GI was surprising as the visitors were only one point losers to a red hot Airport five, Tecumseh's opponent this Friday night.

★

THE INDIANS cooled off after a 24-point first period, but still outscored GI over the next three quarters. A rout was evident at the half when Tecumseh led by 17 points.

Terry Alcock, 6'3" junior forward, was a demon on the boards, out rebounding John Knoch, GI's 6'5" center, and he also paced his teammates with 17 points before fouling out late in the fourth quarter.

Foul trouble plagued the Indians again and at half time, created the only doubt that Tecumseh might have some opposition in the remaining two periods.

At the intermission, Gregg Allen had four fouls, and Jim Lawson and Alcock, three each.

Tuesday's AP ranking of Class B teams in Michigan placed Tecumseh's undefeated cagers in the 3rd spot, with only River Rouge and Fenton rated ahead of the Indians.

The new ranking is the highest in many years for the local basketball team. The Indians were on the 10th rung last week.

A stern test awaits Tecumseh Friday night when the Indians travel to play once-beaten Airport on the Jets' floor.

Altar Society Offers Big Food Bargain

Families of St. Elizabeth parish are looking forward to a Penny Supper to be served Jan. 21.

Last year, the Altar Society-sponsored event was such a success that, the affair is being repeated again this year and perhaps may become an annual activity.

At the Altar Society meeting Jan. 6, over 50 women were present to hear Fr. Thomas Collins explain changes in the people's participation of Holy Mass.

They were led to a deeper appreciation of the beauties of some of the ancient music and liturgy of the Mass.

Fr. Collins directed the singing of some of the old, but new to those present, music.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Edward O'Neill, chairman, Mrs. Edward DeLisle, Mrs. Paul Velandra, Mrs. Thomas Neill and Mrs. Louis Caterina.

Dinner Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Blue and family of Britton were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Whelan and family on Sunday.

Teens Speak Out on Dating, Driving

By MAXINE CALHOUN

CLINTON — A panel discussion on "Dating and Driving" by four Clinton High School seniors, provided many enlightening suggestions for parents at the meeting of the Methodist Joy Circle.

The circle met Monday evening at the church. Audrey Wight, Paula McKenna, George Lancaster and Dave Papsdorf comprised the panel. Mrs. Martin Scott, as moderator, asked the panel's opinions on teen dating and the use of the family car.

The panel was agreed that seventh and eighth graders should not be dating in couples, but should participate in larger social parties at school and church.

They thought parents should begin by setting hours to come home but should gradually trust their young people to come in at a reasonable hour. The youths insisted that parents should "listen to, not laugh at" teen problems.

★

ABOUT DRIVING, panel members said that while high school youths should not expect to drive the family car every night, they thought there should be no arbitrary limit. If the car is not being used, they felt young people should be permitted to use it.

The practice of "grounding" the youth is effective if used in moderation, they agreed.

Children should be trusted by parents as persons, not as an extension of self, the panel suggested.

Mrs. Paul Hawkins and Mrs. Richard Dixon presented the worship program and served refreshments.

St. Elizabeth Students Eager About Science Fair

It may seem quite early to be announcing the March Science Fair, but not to science-minded students at St. Elizabeth's who realize that the fair is actually the last step of their projects.

Their real work comes many weeks before the date of the fair with choosing and then investigating and experimenting during the many phases of their projects.

St. Elizabeth students are anxious to capture some of those coveted first, second and third place awards as they did last year.

She Slangs Classics

By DELAPHENE SHELTON

TIPTON — "If you can't beat 'em, join 'em!"

Mrs. Glenn Jones of Tipton, an Adrian College teacher, made that decision some years ago. In this month's issue of "The Clearing House," a professional education journal, told of her experience in using slang to teach Shakespeare to a class of teen-agers.

Mrs. Jones, then Patricia Cameron, was beginning her career in Milan High School, struggling dismally to interest her sophomores in what Shakespeare had in mind when he wrote "As You Like It."

She asked a student for a synopsis of the play.

"Well, it was this way. The hero, Orlando, has to get out of his brother's house because his brother is making it too hot for him. He's trying to bump off Orlando, so Orlando beats it to this Forest of Arden."

The teacher — who took herself and her mission pretty seriously — was aghast. But the class was beginning to show some interest in what most of them had thought a dull subject.

And she decided "if that's the way they like it, they can have it."

In "The Clearing House" article she wrote, "Why not slang Shakespeare? If slanging a classic makes it more understandable to high school students, the 'sacrilege' would seem justified."

And so she and her students developed a procedure, which made use of the language familiar to the teen-ager. Phrases were "translated" and became understandable.

Some of the better students rewrote Scene 2 of Act 3 and Scene 1 of Act 4 for a skit, which they presented in an assembly. When it was given before the student body, even pupils who had never read Shakespeare understood and enjoyed this version. They were perhaps persuaded away from the traditional student belief that "Shakespeare is dry stuff that you can't understand."

★

MRS. JONES, who is making the skit available to teachers for use in their classrooms, closed her "Clearing House" article by stating:

'The main value of 'slanging Shakespeare' however, is to be found in having the students in each class express the action of the play in their own words. Such a paraphrase, informal though it is, helps the whole class understand the play and reassures the teacher that her students are 'in the know'."

Mrs. Jones has been interested in writing since she and a friend published the "Hip Pocket News" while she was a Wayne High School student. She worked on the Wayne Dispatch and was one of the editors of the Michigan Daily, while a student at the University of Michigan where she was a member of Mortar Board. She received her BA and MA degrees from the University.

★

AFTER LEAVING Milan she married. Subsequently she has taught at Onsted and Adrian High Schools. This is her third year at Adrian College.

She and her husband are parents of four children, Norman, 14, a Tecumseh High School freshman; Gary, 12, a seventh grader in the Tecumseh school; Wesley, 9, a fourth grader in the Tipton School and Sharon, 5, a kindergarten pupil in Tecumseh.

Mr. Jones is employed at the Tecumseh Products Co. in Tecumseh.

Mercury, year's most successful car, awarded year's top honor

CAR LIFE 1965

Receives Car Life's Annual Award for Engineering Excellence.
The car you see on this page is the proud recipient of the hardest won award in the automobile business.

In selecting Mercury for 1965, Car Life Magazine stated, "Mercury shows a quality of concept, design and engineering far above the ordinary."

Wide press acclaim.
The New York Times called Mercury "the surprise hit of 1965 in the medium-price field." Automotive News says it's "probably the most changed car in years." Life Magazine, the Miami News, the Pittsburgh Post Gazette have echoed these sentiments.

But what counts most, really, is customers — people who come in and say, "I like" — and then buy. Right now, the 1965 Mercury is getting its greatest customer acceptance ever.

Production up 83%.
To assure meeting the increased demand, production schedules for Mercury have been increased 83%.

Credit, of course, goes to the car itself. A new kind of Mercury—built in the Lincoln Continental tradition. Beautifully proportioned, and with luxury features and options once reserved only for the most expensive cars. No medium-price car has ever come so close in luxury to the high-price class.

Come see what all the talk is about. Drive the new Mercury — today.

Ridgeway, Alaskan Pupils Correspond

RIDGEWAY — Letters received from Fort. Yukon Alaska school children have been very exciting to Ridgeway Fourth Graders. Fort Yukon lies eight miles within the Arctic Circle.

The Fourth Grade students have received many interesting momentos from the Yukon including mastodon ivory fossils, stones, leaves, rose petals, moose horn, willow ptmaragin claw, caribou hide and Indian beads. They sent also fur from the snowshoe rabbit, wolf, beaver, wolverine ,squirrel and fox.

The children write that it is now about 36 degrees below zero and will get as low as 60 degrees below zero where they live. Darkness falls about 2:30 p.m.

When the Alaskans wrote about the fishing wheel the Fourth Grade became curious as to its use. A fishing wheel is placed in a narrow part of the river, where it catches fish as it rotates. Jimmy Thomas wrote he catches king salmon, jack fish, she fish, and trout.

Several fathers are not at home during the season since they are trapping.

★

GORDON LUKE wrote that the willow ptmaragin was chosen by the Alaskan school children to be the state bird.

Norman Henry has a husky dog named Macaroni and enjoys participating in dog sled races.

The teacher of this class in Alaska is Ben Frampton, who has been teaching in Alaska twenty-six years. He says this makes him a real "sourdough." He uses the SRA Reading Program which is a progressive reading curriculum.

Since they had never seen whole grain Ridgeway children sent corn, oats and popcorn, but are finding it difficult to match the rich materials that they have received.

Attention — Prescription Customers

A "Pig in a Poke", a popular cliche of the past, when applied to prescriptions is dangerous. How do you know what is in a prescription bottle? Chances are you don't . . . but your pharmacist does. A word of advice, CHOOSE YOUR PHARMACIST LIKE YOU CHOOSE YOUR DOCTAR. If you have a price problem, come in and talk to us. You might be surprised.

DOLLAR and SENSE FARMING

FARM RECORDS need to be brought up to date now. You'll need the information for filing your income tax and making a cash flow sheet for the year. In figuring income tax, be sure all machinery purchases are included for investment credit. Remember, buildings such as grain bins are eligible too. Examine last year's cash flow records for weak spots. Adjust the new budget for more even income distribution over the year or coordinate it with your high expense periods.

FARM FEED GRINDING CAN PAY If you grind 50 tons of grain yearly. At this volume, which is enough to feed about 25 head of cattle, a tractor-powered mill will pay for itself, says a North Dakota extension engineer. Where 85 tons of grain is annually an electric-powered mixer-grinder will pay. Some advantages of farm grinding saves labor, assures fresh feed, reduces possibility of disease being brought to the farm by trucks.

HOG PRODUCTION COSTS are highly dependent on management. In a study of 67 Ohio farms, cost of producing 100 pounds of hog among the upper third was $13.50; the middle third, $15.90; and the lower third, $18.80. The low cost group produced 100 pounds with 30% less labor and 20% less feed than the highest group. They also raised two more slaughter hogs or replacement gilts per sow.

SOFTENING SOYBEAN PRICES are inherent in current market conditions. Final government production report of 700 million bushels was higher than many traders expected. Also, no long term price stimulating factors appear to be in the picture.

DICK HALE

Dick Hale Merits Eagle

Fourteen-year-old Dick Hale is Tecumseh's newest Eagle Scout.

Few youths ever attain this rank, highest in the Boy Scouting program.

Dick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hale of 103 Evans Creek Rd., is a four-year veteran in Scouting and is a member of Troop 73, which is headed up by Don Brees.

To attain an Eagle, Dick had to earn 21 Merit Badges, of which 11 are required — including first aid, swimming, conservation, citizenship, nature, safety, camping, life saving — and cooking.

All told, Scouting offers youths 110 different Merit Badges, each requiring considerable study and skill.

Dick said he was particularly impressed with the conservation phase of Scouting.

What impresses the Tecumseh High freshman most about Scouting?

"Just being around the guys in the troop," he states, "They're pretty good to hang around with."

Dick and four others will be making the jump into Explorer Scouts, which is the program for young men of high school age.

With Troop 73, Dick served as a patrol leader and troop quartermaster.

Shower Given for Mrs. Heeman

A personal shower for Mrs. George Heeman was given Dec. 29 by Letty Ringman, assisted by Barbara Colgrove and Terry Clark.

About 15 guests, friends and their mothers, of the bride, attended the event at the Ringman home.

Chief Tecumseh Is Shown in 1812 War Collection

In observance of the sesquicentennial of the War of 1812, particularly of the Treaty of Ghent, signed on Christmas Eve, The University of Michigan Clements Library has placed on display some of its resources for the study of this period of history.

One print in the collection depicts an engagement with Indians commanded by Chief Tecumseh in Ontario Oct. 5, 1813. British hopes for an Indian buffer state between the U. S. and Canada were based on the intelligent, savage statesman Tecumseh. With his defeat at the battle of the Thames, British hopes were destroyed.

The actual details of Tecumseh's death remain a mystery.

★

PROBABLY one of the most sloganized wars in American history — "Free Trade and Sailors' Rights", "Remember the Raisin", "Don't Give Up the Ship", "We Have Met the Enemy and They Are Ours" — the War of 1812 was at the same time one of the most frustrating and bitter wars of our past, according to Howard H. Peckham, director of the library.

Though the holdings of the Clements Library relating to the War of 1812 in manuscripts, maps, music, prints, pamphlets, broadsides and books do not completely cover the war, their significance is in their uniqueness, their authenticity and their quality as representative parts suggesting the whole, Mr. Peckham says.

The final peace settlement was signed on Christmas Eve, 1814. The Commissioners and their aides worked all day to ready the copies. The copy on display is one of six originals and was executed by Henry Clay.

★

THE DRAB opening of the war on land was starkly contrasted by some brilliant successes at sea. Isaac Hull, nephew of the ill-fated commander at Detroit, turned in a stunning performance as captain of the U. S. Constitution in its classic battel with the Guerriere. A fine colored print in the exhibit depicts the final coup as the powder magazines of the Guerriere explode.

In January, 1813, Gen. Winchester led a relief column of Kentucky volunteers to protect settlers in southern Michigan from the forays of the British and their Indian allies. Encamped at the Raisin River, at modern Monroe, Winchester was captured and his wounded men were left to the scalping knife. No other known copy of this print depicting the massacre is known to exist.

Andrew Jackson, who commanded the American troops at New Orleans, emerged from the war with a national reputation. Part of his fame and political fortune was owing to such colored views as that of Seymour and Steel's "Battle of New Orleans" also part of the library's display.

Highway Slaughter Continues

Michigan's traffic toll for 1964 — an estimated 2,125 at final count — is destined to be at least the third worst in the state's history. New annual records of 145,000 injured and 285,000 accidents are forecast, according to provisional figures in the year's summary of State Police activities reported by Commissioner Joseph A. Childs.

Involved in the worsened traffic situation are estimated new highs of 37.9 billion miles of travel, 4,400,000 licensed drivers and 3,860,791 registered motor vehicles.

The death toll — exceeded only by 2,175 in 1937 and 2,133 in 1941 — is resulting in a death rate of 5.6 per 100 million vehicle miles, up nearly six per cent from last year, while the cost of accidents, estimated at $380 million or more than a million dollars a day, was increased 12 per cent.

Previous highs of 126,896 injured and 261,794 accidents were recorded last year, when deaths numbered 1,885.

★

IN SPECIAL traffic activity, the State Police increased freeway patrols, with 50 troopers operating out of 25 posts. This reestablished a regularity which had been curtailed by the work week reduction required by Civil Service order in mid-1963. Additional personnel permitted resumption of the schedule.

Troopers made 217,000 arrests, of which 199,800 were for traffic offenses and 17,200 on criminal complaints. In addition 6,400 juvenile traffic offenders and 6,100 delinquent minors were apprehended.

Officers assisted 63,400 motorists, issued 275,000 oral warnings to drivers, investigated 106,000 cars and made 168,000 property and 31,500 liquor inspections.

Meanwhile, crime continued its rise in the state. There were 1,238.7 major offenses per 100,000 population in 1963 compared with 1,208 for 1962.

IN THE FOUR years of 1960 to 1963, crime in Michigan increased 8.6 per cent, which was two and a third times faster than the 3.7 percent population gain in the same period, according to the fifth annual "Michigan Law Enforcement Officials Report on Crime for 1963". The report is compiled by the State Police from data provided by state and local police and sheriff departments.

The report's section on juvenile delinquency pointed out that more than half, or 55.8 per cent, of the persons apprehended for major offenses in the state in 1963 were under 17 years of age. This percentage was the same in 1962 which showed a sharp increase from 38.5 per cent in 1951.

Three persons were killed and 419 injured in 569 rural school bus and related type traffic accidents in 1963, according to the department's annual report. Compared with the year before, deaths increased by one, injuries by 73 and accidents by 15. Two of those killed were drivers of vehicles which collided with school buses. One urban death was recorded when a school girl was run over by a bus she had just left.

★

PROVISIONAL water toll figures for 1964 show 288 drownings and 228 injured in 603 accidents. This is the worst death count since 325 in 1959 while accidents surpass the old mark of 560 in 1961, which also was the high year for injured with 231.

Michigan also had record highs of 86,845 fires and 273 deaths, according to the 1963 fire loss summary compiled by the fire marshal division of the State Police on information provided by 343 local departments. The deaths included 188 adults and 85 minors but no firemen.

The property loss by fire was $59,152,969, exceeded only by the record $78,126,591 damage in 1953. The per capita loss was $7.51.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

DO YOU KNOW?

To have a conscience such as mine is a terrible thing. It is not always strong enough to prevent me from doing a thing but powerful enough to nag and make me decidedly uncomfortable while I am doing it. Books are among the worst offenders — I love them and once inside the front cover of a good one, I don't know when to stop.

Time loses all meaning. Today presents a particularly difficult dilemma. The deadline for this week's article is approaching fast and there is a large pile of Christmas books just begging to be looked at. What to do?

The only solution appears to be a rather sneaky one which will perhaps let me do both things. I shall grovse through a book or two and perhaps come up with a few facts which may be of interest.

How is this for a starter? Did you know that most birds have three eyelids? Actually I am not sure that this bit of earthshaking knowledge will add much sparkle to the dinner conversation; it really isn't the type of thing which is too useful except, of course, to the birds. By the way, isn't it nice they are not prone to sties?

★

ANOTHER LITTLE gem which can be filed under useless but interesting information — birds' feathers grow fast, sometimes as much as a quarter inch a day. And have you ever wondered how many feathers a bird has? Well, not surprisingly, it varies with the size of the bird and also the season. They estimate that one of our tiny ruby-throated hummingbirds has something like 940 feathers whereas a big whistling swan may have as many as 25,000. Wow, think of the counting!

One researcher who must have had lots of fingers and toes—no, Marda, that is not kind. It must have been a very dedicated person to check a gold finch in winter and find he had 2,368 feathers and then in June, count the feather coat of another one and find it a skimpy 1,439.

If you are like me you have probably never spent much time pondering over a bird's temperature. Someone has, though; a sparrow runs the thermometer up to 108 degrees F and a wood pewee a scorching 112 degrees. There will be no discussion or even speculation in this article about how one would go about taking a bird's temperature.

Flying from the birds to the bees, have you any idea how much work goes into making honey? Only two pounds of the sweet syrup represent over 8 million visits to flowers. We grumble and complain about our lives being regimented but consider the unexciting routine of a poor bee. They are scheduled to the zenith.

★

AS AN EXAMPLE: On the 21st day of the bee hatches, the first three days it cleans the cell and performs air conditioning duties; on the fourth day it starts feeding older larvae, from the sixth to the 12th day it is responsible for feeding and grooming the queen.

At the glands which produce the royal jelly become inactive, wax producing ones take over and our bee becomes a cell builder. The 18th to 20th day is spent at the entrance of the hive guarding against intruders and finally, after all of this, the bee is ready to venture forth — with good luck it might have another two weeks of life during which it bubbes from flower to flower gathering pollen. Dullsville!

★

THE ABOVE tidbits about bees are from a beautiful nature book printed in Switzerland. The photographic reproductions are truly outstanding. ("The Wonders of Wildlife" is the title.) Just one last statistic, to keep up with the die off of the worker bees a healthy queen represents two to three thousand youngsters coming into the labor force each day.

So it is that my reading time for today is ending and look, we are out of space too — next week I will get back to work and it will be business as usual, I hope.

Next Week:
The Brown Creepers

ACTIVE IN CONFERENCE — Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Grimes organized and managed the field service department for the convention of Jehovah's Witness last weekend in Dundee. The department directed the convention advertising and door-to-door visitation by more than 1,000 delegates. Twenty-six persons were baptized into the faith following a talk by district minister, J. W. Filson. A movie showing the world-wide work of the denomination and a lecture by Dr. Filson were highlights of the conference.

Tax Hardship Cases Sought by Legionnaire

The Michigan Department of the American Legion is attempting to get concrete evidence from pensioners or widows of veterans concerning hardship suffered due to the changes in the veteran's homestead tax exemption law.

Anyone wishing to assist the department in an attempt for better legislation may do so by filling out the form printed in the January issue of the Michigan Legionnaire, a Department publication, or contacting Robert Gillespie, Underwood-Orr Post service officer.

Facts concerning income and property taxes paid in the last two years is the information needed by the Department Headquarters at 422 Veterans Memorial Building, Detroit 26, Mich.

Clinton Post Will Give 22 Flags

CLINTON — Mrs. Robert Gillespie of Tecumseh was hostess Jan. 5 to members of the Frederick E. Pieper Post, American Legion Auxiliary.

The group voted to sponsor a girl for Girls' State.

Card games completed the social evening. Mrs. Maurice Heath and Mrs. Dorothy Frolich assisted the hostess.

Mrs. Ray Newton will be the Feb. 2 hostess.

Simply stone and iron! Our photographer called this "Strength."

Stone and iron are unyielding. But the greatest strength this world has known is a STRENGTH that yields:

God possesses a resolute Will . . . yet He gives man freedom of will.

God embodies all Power . . . but He hears and answers prayer.

God breathes Holiness . . . yet He forgives men's sin.

For God is Love . . . and love is a living Strength . . . that reaches, inspires, guides, protects, promises, fulfills.

He was a descendant of the Ages of Stone and of Iron — that earnest seeker who cried, The Lord is the strength of my life.

At church, next Sunday, you'll rub shoulders with countless others who look beyond walls and chains to find STRENGTH.

It's for the Birds

CLINTON — Thirty-one exhibitors of the Maple City and Ypsilanti Racing Pigeon Clubs presented 189 birds in competition Sunday afternoon in the first such show held in Clinton.

An estimated 600 visitors filed through the community center to see the show and to watch the judging of the birds. Exhibitors came from Petersburg, Tecumseh, Adrian, Britton, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Taylorville and Clinton.

Five trophies, 24 ribbons, 27 merchandise prizes from pigeon supply houses, and 15 door prizes of 4 turkeys and a ham were awarded.

★

LOCAL PIGEON fanciers fared well. Mrs. Marion Middlebrook of Clinton won the first place trophy and four ribbons in the young hen class.

A bird owned by Wardell Hagens of Petersburg, a member of the local Maple City Club, won the best of show in the old hen's class.

Larry Becky of Tecumseh, showing for the first time, placed second in the young cock class.

The judges were Don Previch of Melvindale and Andre Gobert of Mt. Clemens.

Ben Mahrle, II, president of the host club, said, "We are certainly pleased with the public response to the show and are planning to show in Clinton again next year."

CLINTON — The Clinton Village Council rejected the proposal for a 400-unit mobile home development at a meeting Wednesday evening.

John Nuding of Toledo made the proposal to the council, Dec. 2. He said he had an option on the 60 acres on US-12 at the northeastern edge of Clinton. The council was asked for estimates on the cost of storm and sanitary sewers, water and other improvements.

After studying the proposal for a month, the council adopted a resolution denying mobile home and trailer park developments within the village.

Special meetings were held on Dec. 8 and Dec. 15 when the matter was discussed at length.

Their study of the benefits versus the cost led to the decision, councilmen said.

Aged Driver Loses Control, 4 Hospitalized

CLINTON — State Police investigated an accident at 5:30 p.m. Sunday in which four persons were injured.

The car swerved right, then across the highway into a ditch on the left. Mrs. Smith and three passengers were taken to the Foote Hospital, Jackson, were Velera Barr, 79, and Jessie Williams, 80, both of Homer and Emma Allen, 83, of Hillsdale.

Escaping Mission Family Welcomed

CLINTON — Mr. and Mrs. James Meeks were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. James Wolcott of Sturgis. The occasion welcomed home Mr. and Mrs. Merton Wolcott, who were the last missionary family to be flown out of the Belgian Congo in Africa last month.

The missionary family will now be assigned to Kalamazoo College.

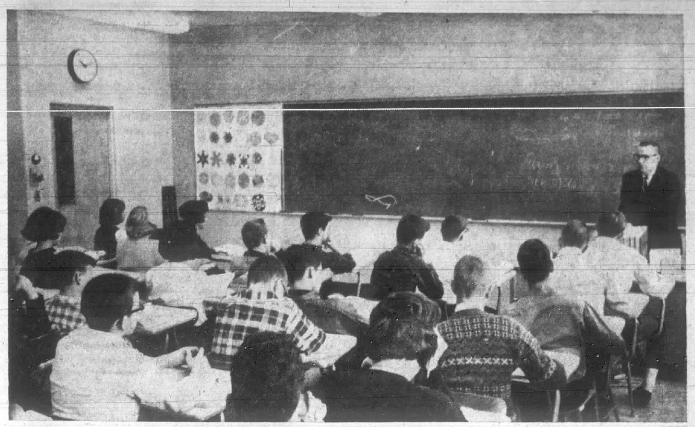
ABOVE—THS senior Paul Speer strolls down second-floor corridor of new wing, where 195 lockers are now available. For the first time in many years, fourth-year students each have their own locker, while juniors, sophomores and freshmen are two-to-a-locker. In the "olden days" close to half the enrollment went three-to-one and the balance two-to-one.



ABOVE — Instructor Carl Hale notes in teaching math there is a need for "plenty of chalk board and the new wing has provided for ample board space to meet this need." All the wing's rooms offer excellent illumination with continuous rows of fluorescent lights, bright colored walls and ceilings, plus plenty of windows.

RIGHT—In a separate wing, the new library-study hall offers 4,800-square-feet of floor space. The main room includes seating for 150 with 15 round and 14 rectangular tables, each handling four scholars, plus one study carrel table which seats six. A browsing area provides places for 10. There is also an office for the librarian, Mrs. Kenneth Suydam; a room for storage and repair of books; and a pocketbook store. The library presently contains 6,000 volumes.

'Environment for Learning'

There's a bright, new atmosphere at Tecumseh High School, where a $400,000 addition now gives ample room for science and math instruction, plus a king-size combination library-study hall. The entire project was made possible as the result of a donation by a Tecumseh resident.

Of most significant importance is the science setup, which includes lecture and laboratory facilities for chemistry, physics, biology and general science, allowing 14 sections of pupils to take these subjects — an impossibility under previous inadequate conditions in which two labs handled a maximum of eight sections in elbow-cramming sessions.

As general science instructor Ray Newton observes, "I find it a real pleasure to teach in a situation where all my materials are at hand and I can set up experiments for the whole day without having to worry about disturbing another class. In the old building we had biology and general science in the same room which was, at best, very inconvenient. The amount of storage space is an especially welcome addition."

Sophomore Lee Ann Ward expresses her feelings, "In the new lab you feel at ease. The rooms are bright and roomy, which gives you a feeling of freedom. With all the modern equipment, it gives an excellent environment for learning."

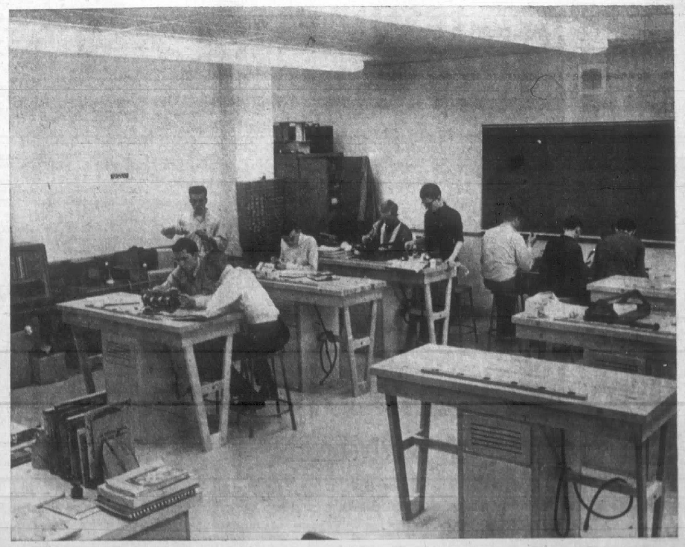
ABOVE — A math class is underway in one of the double-rooms, which can be cut in two by a sliding door and result in a pair of 24 x 24' areas. Bill Raeburn, the instructor, points out that "The new addition is much better equipped for teaching mathematics than the older section. There is more board space and screens have been provided for use with the new overhead projector."



RIGHT — For senior boys THS now offers a course in electronics and electricity in this 25 x 25' laboratory under the direction of Charles Gross. Next to it is another room of slightly larger size for metal fabricating classes, under the direction of Paul Burns and Tim Bortels. The old industrial arts section has been divided into two rooms, one for woodworking and the other for auto mechanics.

Monday Club Women Hear Ag Agent

Reminiscences of the day when ladies wore at least three petticoats beneath their floor-length skirts were presented by Mrs. Floyd Bryan for the Monday Club program Jan. 11 in the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Roscoe Hewlett, program leader, spoke briefly of the present and introduced Mrs. Frances Snow, Lenawee County Extension Agent, Home Economics, who spoke on the "fabulous future."

She mentioned that in the pushbutton age quick frozen foods will be placed in the oven with one hand and taken out with the other.

The theme of the program was "The American Home, Past, Present and Future."

Mrs. R. C. Pennington was welcomed as a new member.

Refreshments were served to 46 members and guests by Mrs. Lynn Hubbard and her committee with Mrs. Arch Wray and Mrs. Lillian Hoagland presiding at the tea table.

PHYSICS LAB—As senior Ron Clark works on a physics experiment, instructor Richard Chatters confers with Jeff Osburn. In former years, physics and chemistry had to share one lab, making for poor learning atmosphere and teaching impact.

Entertain Friends with Party

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stockinger entertained at a party New Year's Eve. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Becker, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Munger, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Feldkamp of Ann Arbor, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Buss of Pleasant Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Buss of Chelsea, Mr. and Mrs. Malcomb Stockinger of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. Max Radke and Mrs. Gertrude Stockinger of Manchester. A buffet lunch was served.

Instructors and Students Agree

They Think Addition Is Great

Tecumseh High School teachers and instructors are uniform in their praise for the new $400,000 addition.

Here are comments which they made when asked about the facilities opened this year.

Gerald Nelson, head of biology department — "The new facilities for teaching biology in the high school offer the students a better opportunity to do individual experimental investigations.

"The flexible nature of the student table and chair arrangements make the laboratory a pleasant and convenient environment for the teaching of the lecture phases of the course, as well as the laboratory phases.

"The additional space provided by the laboratory and preparation room has done much to eliminate the problems encountered in the old environment."

Mrs. Kenneth Suydam, librarian — "The new library is a great improvement over the old one. There is sufficient shelving, new furniture, draperies, and pictures on the walls. All these things create a correct library atmosphere."

Peter Kalom, chemistry instructor — "The new chemistry lab facilities provide space for individual experimenting, the most advantageous aspect of the chemistry course."

Richard Chatters, physics instructor — "The new lab is a tremendous improvement over the room we used last year. The students are now able to use the equipment at anytime during the day because it can be left standing in the new lab as it is stored close at hand."

Jeff Barritt, sophomore — "The facilities and equipment in the new lab are really quite good and we are fortunate to have them. I like working in it and enjoy using the equipment."

Cindy Calhoun, sophomore — "I think that the sophomores of Tecumseh are extremely fortunate in having a new lab. I feel that the laboratory enriches our knowledge and enables us to have a more thorough understanding of the environment we live in.

"If everyone uses the facilities and laboratory equipment to the best of his or her ability, we should have a world of good scientists for the future."

Michael Haeussler, sophomore — "We are very fortunate to have the wonderful facilities of the new biology lab in the wing of the Tecumseh High School. I enjoy the equipment that has also been presented to the lab."

Sheri Johnston, sophomore — "All the new rooms are really great. They offer much better facilities and more room in which to place them like in the biology lab. Also we now have better lab tables and comfortable chairs."

Susan Leighton, senior — "I feel that the new science and math wing of our school gives a definite advantage to the student. The equipment we have been using in previous years seems make-shift to the fine new equipment we now have.

"Before we had the new labs, the equipment we had to use was disorganized and jammed in anywhere. Now, everything is organized and has a place. The tables we used before were worn through by use of all the sciences courses.

"By having separate labs for each science course we may leave experiments out without worrying about them being touched by other students. Each lab is adapted to that specific science course which is certainly an advantage over previous years of studying in a lab, which had to serve all purposes. I enjoy studying in these new labs as I'm sure all other students do."

Tim Dickinson, junior — "The new chemistry lab has completely eliminated the problem most complained about last year — two people per set of equipment. This year every chemistry student has his own locked drawer, containing a complete set of apparatus."

Ron Packard, sophomore — "In the new biology lab, there is plenty of elbow room to do lab work in. There are also more facilities in the lab, which enable the teacher to display things that help the students see what they have to learn."

Out of Hospital

Richard Eisenminger returned home Friday after spending one week at Herrick Hospital in Tecumseh. Kenneth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eisenminger, entered the hospital Sunday for surgery Monday.

Recreation Activities

By DON MOFFATT, Superintendent

Indoor golf classes will begin next Tuesday and Wednesday, January 19 and 20. These classes will be held in the basement of the Community Center, starting at 7 p.m., and will meet each week for the entire six-week course. Those interested in taking these golf lessons, may choose either of the two evenings for their lesson night, when they register and pay the $5.00 class fee.

Registration may be at City Hall, to assure choice of time and evening preference. Instruction will be handled by Ormond (Ded) Eldredge, a well known Tecumsehland golf instructor. The necessary equipment: golf clubs, practice balls, etc. will be furnished by the Parks and Recreation Dept.

MEN'S ATHLETIC CLUB

Because of Tecumseh High School "open-house" scheduled this Thursday, the Men's Athletic Club will not start its program series until next week. This club will meet from 7-10 p.m. each Thursday in the High School Gym, where such sports as basketball, volleyball, etc. will be offered under the supervision of Tom Fagan.

Women's Athletic Club meets in the gym each Tuesday evening, with Mrs. Dick Wells in charge. Members are being accepted for both clubs, and those who are interested may register at Eggleston's Jewelry, Wright's Pharmacy, City Hall, or at Tecumseh Products Personnel Office. Cost of membership—$5.00.

SENIOR CITIZENS GET-TOGETHER

Tecumseh senior citizens have their "planned program" this Thursday, 2-4 p.m. at the Community Center. The committee for this month's program has planned a real fun-having time for those attending. Shorter meeting and more playing, which will include for the first time, a shuffle-board tourney, as well as checkers, cards and other table games. Refreshments of coffee, tea, doughnuts and cookies will be served.

ART CLASS DEADLINE

Beginners art lessons, being sponsored by the City, are going to be discontinued unless there is more interest shown toward this recreation class. Do we want an art class or not? That's what we must find out by tonight, or we will lose our art instructor and forget the class. It's rough I know, especially when we would like to attend the high school open-house tonight. But at least stop at the Community Center to complete registration if you are interested in keeping this class going. You may sign up for the class at City Hall, but it still must be done by Jan. 14.

JUNIOR RIFLE COURE

Tecumsehland boys and girls, age 12 thru 16, are offered a nine week rifle class, starting Thursday, Jan. 21, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the basement of the Community Center. This course is sponsored by the "National Rifle Association" and "The Tecumseh Rifle and Pistol Club," with an NRA Certified Instructor in charge, to promote safe marksmanship, hunting and gun handling, and also to foster shooting as a sport to be enjoyed by all. Students will be charged a $4 class fee and may register at The Tecumseh Police Dept.

DANCE LESSONS

Don't forget, Saturday morning will start the tap and ballet dance lessons at the Community Center in the Teen Club Room. Beginner ballet for 7 to 10 year-olds start at 9 a.m.; beginner ballet for 11 years and up, start at 9:30; beginner tap for 3 to 5 year olds, at 10 a.m.; beginner tap for 6-10 year olds, at 10:30 a.m. and tap for 11 year olds at 11 a.m.

The 10-week course, costs the student $9, will be under the direction of Mrs. Ed. G. Roesch.

What's Going on at BOYSVILLE

By MARTIN WHITAKER

Jan. 3, the student body returned from the Christmas vacation which extended over a 12 day period. After the eight p.m. check-in, the boys preceeded to the gym to see a movie.

The next home vacation will be at the end of the first semester, Jan. 29.

►

The Boysville Fighting Knights dropped a heart breaker to the Britton Tories, 74-72. Boysville matched the Tories basket for basket through the first quarter, but time found Boysville at the short end of the stick as the buzzer announced the close of the first period with Britton leading 14-12. During the second quarter Britton began gradually to pull away. The half time score favored the Tories 38-23.

Both teams fought an even match in the third quarter, as the score stood 55-41 with Britton still well on top. In the fourth quarter, however, an awakening Knight defense held Britton to 19 points while the capable Knight offense, led by senior Ron Klos, found the hoop for 31. The final period came to a dramatic close as Britton squeezed out its first victory of the season in a two-point decision over Boysville.

Thus Boysville dropped its second straight and third total loss of the season. The Britton game was lost on the foul line, for the Knights scored 33 field goals compared to the Tories' 27. Ron Klos with 25 points was high point man, followed by Moe Jacobs with 18. Klos now boasts a 21-point average per game.

The Boysville Junior Varsity rolled over the Junior Tories 55-19.

►

Sunday, Jan. 10, the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus from the Notre Dame Assembly of Wayne, made a flag presentation at Boysville. The Knights garbed in their formal attire, formed an honor guard in the chapel as new American and papal flags were blessed. After the ceremonies and Mass, the Knights were served breakfast in the dining hall along with their families and dignitaries who attended.

►

The efforts of those who made the first quarter honor roll were rewarded last week by an evening out. They had dinner in Ann Arbor and saw a movie in Ypsilanti.

►

Sunday the staff members of the Campus Info attended a Youth Night at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Adrian. The boys, accompanied by their moderator, Brother Robert Fillmore, CSC, and the Boysville director, Brother Philip Armstrong, CSC, had a most enjoyable evening and to express their thanks to those who made the trip possible.

Flourishing 'Spa'

PAUL MURPHY

(Editor's note — This is another in the series of articles by Clara Waldron on the History of Raisin Township.)

By CLARA WALDRON

That southwest corner of Raisin Township, known as Raisin Valley, produced so many things that were not only high-minded and idealistic, but practical as well that it seems almost incredible it could have been responsible for anything as fantastic as the "Water Cure".

Yet, during the early 1850's Raisin had a flourishing "Spa," a sanitorium where nearly all the ills to which the flesh is heir could be treated by the application of pure water.

The term pure water is used advisedly for there seems to have been no claim to any medicinal qualities for the spring which gushed up on the Elmer Green farm, a little west of Green Hwy.

Perhaps it would be more accurate, however, to say that the community had a spa for, if items in the local press are to be believed regarding those who were "taking the waters," people from a considerable distance, as well as those from Adrian and Tecumseh patronized this institution.

In its heyday — which apparently was not a very long one — the sanitorium had at least one fairly large building, built either beside or over the spring.

Now, that building, the spring, are gone.

★

ALL THAT remains to say it ever existed, are some lengthy advertisements in The Tecumseh Herald of 1852, advertisements that if they did not claim curative properties for the spring water itself, claimed nearly every thing else for its application.

These advertisements, in turn are backed up by the reminiscences of two former citizens. Although he did not remember The Spa itself, Elmer Green knew of its existence and was acutely aware of its location for, when plowing, he had to avoid a "sinkhole" where the spring had been.

Richard Mead, whose boyhood home had been almost directly across the road from The Cure, had vivid recollections of the arrival of carriages bringing invalids, their luggage and paraphernalia to the sanitorium.

The idea of the water cure was evidently not a local one. A magazine, "The Water Cure Journal," published in New York City, seems to have paved the way with information regarding "Hydropathy Unfolded," with the message to invalids that "no matter what the disease" the cure may be "safely applied."

★

WHEN THE Cure was opened in March of 1852 the owner, George Carpenter, and the "resident physician," Dr. J. B. Gully were both listed as having been associated with Oberlin College.

Since several teachers at "Aunt Laura" Haviland's Raisin Institute were from Oberlin this no doubt explains the location of The Spa.

Announcements in The Herald describe the Cure as "beautifully located between Adrian and Tecuseh" and "affording a rare chance for people of the western country who wish to avail themselves of the inestimable benefits of Hydropatic treatment."

Then follows a list of diseases that must be read to be appreciated, It included "dyspepsia, gout, rheum, scrofula, chill, fever and all liver complaints besides all troubles resulting from drug medication, all nervous disorders such as St. Vitus Dance, epilepsy, tetanus and Trisimus Hydrophobia."

Patients are assured that cancer and consumption are not hopeless and that "water, properly applied will cure all curable diseases."

★

APPARENTLY THE line between medicine and quackery was very thin a century ago and nothing could illustrate more graphically how brief has been our knowledge of bacteriology. Another rather startling feature of the advertisements is the absence of prudishness usually associated with an earlier period.

Perhaps this was not yet the Victorian era for some details would not be published in a modern paper.

Patients were instructed as to the number of linen sheets, blankets, etc. they were expected to bring and rates were quoted as $5 to $8 a week.

Perhaps many benefited, for the merits of hydrotherapy are unquestioned. For those in need of a rest it must have been a pleasant experience — unless they contracted a real disease from a fellow patient.

★

IN THE FALL of 1852 the Cure changed hands, with a new slogan "Wash and be healed," and in 1856 there is a notice that it had been purchased by a Mr. Coryell of Tecumseh.

This seems to mark the end, although there is record that the main building was moved at that time to become part of the Raisin Institute.

When, in turn, that institution was dismantled it was moved back to another location on the Green farm where it served as a barn.

When it was torn down a few years ago only tradition and some faded newsprint were left to record that Raisin had once had a "Spa."

Paul Murphy Named V-P

H. W. Tuttle & Co. announces the election of Paul C. "Pat" Murphy to vice-president of the corporation.

Mr. Murphy has been with the company for seven years as controller. His election to V-P by the board of directors represents an enlargement of his responsibilities from that position required by the expansion of the company and its entry into several new markets.

Until recent years, the company was primarily a supplier of heating elements to the appliance industry.

It now is one of the largest manufacturers of electric duct heaters for use with all kinds of forced air systems, particularly heat pumps and central air conditioners.

Prior to his connection with H. W. Tuttle & Co. Mr. Murphy had spent 18 years with Gerity in Adrian, leaving his position with them at the time the company was purchased.

READERS WRITE

TO THE EDITORS:

Through Jim Murray's column in the sports page of The Los Angeles Times for Dec. 25 we have learned that your paper sometimes prints articles or stories about birds and perhaps wild animals also, written by a girl named Marda Gene. She and the articles sounded so interesting that we should like to have some of them.

I do not know the price of a copy of your paper but herewith I am sending 30 cents in stamps and a stamped self-addressed envelope, hoping that you may be able to send me one or more copies of the paper which contain some of the articles about what this young girl has seen through her window.

It does not matter what date the papers are, just so they contain articles which this girl has written. Thank you so much.

Common Sense vs. Nonsense

The common law of business balance prohibits paying a little and getting a lot. IT CAN'T BE DONE!!

You pay too much, you lose a little money . . . you pay too little, you sometimes lose everything — because the thing you bought was not capable of doing the thing it was bought to do.

REMEMBER, if you deal with the lowest bidder, add something for risk. AND, if you do that, you will have enough to pay for something better.

"Caviat emptor" . . . let the buyer beware !

Long and Short

When the Meadows family moved to Ann Arbor from Canada about 45 years ago, little Wayne was forever getting into scuffles with the bigger neighborhood boys.

A kindly, next-door Irish neighbor expounded one day, "A boy who gets in as many fights as he does should be called 'Pat'."

And "Pat" it has been ever since.

Bet there isn't more than a handful of folks around Tecumseh and who could identify J. Wayne Meadows.

But, ask 'em if they know "Pat" Meadows and there'll be an army nodding their heads and saying nice things about the guy.

"Pat" stopped battling his playmates once he proved that a little newcomer to the neighborhood could be just as tough as members of the old gang.

By the time he was 13 he decided there was a new world to conquer, the banking business.

That's when he got a job at the Ann Arbor National Bank and Trust, lowest rung on the ladder, clean-up and errand boy, working afternoons and weekends while finishing his formal education.

As he climbed, step by step, he took the famed School of Banking program at the University of Wisconsin, studied eight years at the American Institute of Banking.

This training was invaluable, of course, but the real key was the Philosophy of Banking that Pat developed within himself — simply stated, "The customer is king".

At age 52, with an amazing string of 41 years of service at the Ann Arbor financial institution, a vice-president's title and a record of civic accomplishments as long as your arm, if anyone seemed wedded to a community it was J. Wayne Meadows.

★

THEN ONE DAY, there came a tap on his shoulder and Pat was invited to tear up all roots and take over as president of United Savings Bank in Tecumseh.

It was a massive decision to make, but Pat saw a challenge and he decided to jump.

Next time you meet someone from Ann Arbor, ask if they know Pat. Chances are good they'll respond, "He was my banker and your town took him. I really miss Pat when I walk into our bank."

In less than three years, Pat has made an indelible mark on Tecumseh and.

When a person steps into United Savings you'd think he was a king. (Well, isn't that the name of the game as far as Pat

Burglars Take $200, Cigarets

Tourists — the undesirable type — made their rounds of Tecumseh Tuesday night, or early Wednesday morning, breaking into four different Tecumseh businesses.

The burglars netted about $200 and an undetermined number of cigarettes.

Hooton's Cities Service at N. Evans and Logan St., was entered by breaking a window in the wash-rack section.

Gale Hooton, owner, says approximately $150 in cash was taken, mostly from a cigarette machine, and some money from a cash register. Amount of cigarettes taken has not been determined.

Wilson Motor Sales, at the west end of Chicago Blvd., was entered by jimmying a rear door.

Harvey Wilson reports losing between $30 and $35 plus some cigarettes. Office desks also were opened, and an attempt was made to break into a candy machine.

Glass was broken in the front door of the Val-U gas station at S. Maumee and Russell Rd.

Jack Osburn, owner, estimates the loss in cash between $8 and $10. Apparently nothing else was taken.

Another door window provided access at Kuhlman Concrete, south of Tecumseh on N. Raisin Center Hwy., but officials there report no loss.

Downing Is President

Merlyn Downing was elected president of the board of trustees of the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation Inc. at its annual meeting Jan. 12.

Named to other offices were: vice president — Robert French; treasurer — Douglas Dunn; secretary — Mrs. Truman Rentschler.

Mrs. Joseph Galazzi and Mills Swick were elected to three-year terms as members of the board. Mr. Downing was re-elected to a similar term.

★

IN OTHER BUSINESS the board voted to make the first quarterly payment of $8,743 to member agencies.

A gift of $1,000 was voted to the Tecumseh Public Library to be used for the purchase of new books. The library was built in 1962 with funds provided by the Foundation.

Kenneth Conway, chairman for the annual drive, reported some contacts are still to be made. His tentative report indicated $51,152 had been raised in cash and pledges.

★

THE BOARD EXPECTS within the next few weeks to meet with Tecumesh city officials in an effort to co-ordinate its plans for developing the park at the Pit which is being purchased out of foundation funds.

Other members of the board of trustees are Vern Manwaring, Hugh Walters, and Allan Seager.

Paper 'Girl' Averts Flood

Mrs. Gloria Jadwin and her son, David, 207 W. Brown St., averted what could have been an expensive catastrophe for the Tecumseh Public School system Sunday morning.

Though ill with a cold, Mrs. Jadwin rose at 4 a.m. to take her boy on his paper route because of the extreme low temperature.

After completing the route they stopped at Tecumseh Acres School, where Mrs. Jadwin teaches, to pick up some work so that she might finish it at home.

As she stepped into the dark hall, her feet landed in an inch or two of water.

Hesitant to use the electricity, she and David drove to the home of Wayne Kaiser, principal, to report their findings.

Mr. and Mrs. Kaiser went to school and summoned Harold Warren who located a separated joint in a copper pipe.

Water had not reached the gym floor but covered floors in the fifth and sixth grade rooms, one fourth and one third grade room.

Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Warren, Norval Bovee, William Marks, George Derby and Robert Glascock used shovels and squeegees to send the water down drains and completed the job with a vacuum pickup.

FUN IN THE SUN — AND WIND — Skating has been excellent at "The Pit" with ice a sturdy five inches thick. Despite bitter winds, the kids were out and having fun, even ready to make a sail out of a jacket, like Tom Corkery, Jr., is doing here. Teen agers have been playing some furious hockey games, using regulation goals as fashioned by Nick Hebert.

Lewis Lamm Is Manager of GM Plant

Lewis J. Lamm has been named manager of the Tecumseh Fisher Body upholstery trim plant.

Until his appointment Friday, Mr. Lamm was production manager of a Fisher Body Plant in Cleveland, where both upholstery trim items and metal body stampings are produced.

Announcement of the selection was made by Robert H. Gathman, vice-president of General Motors and general manager of Fisher Body.

Born in Canton, Ill., in 1912, Mr. Lamm is a graduate of General Motors Institute in Flint, where he majored in automotive and industrial engineering.

He studied electronics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and also has a master's degree in Physics from Harvard and a Juris Doctor of Law degree from George Washington University.

★

HE STARTED his General Motors career in 1933 as a cooperative engineering student at the Cadillac plant in Detroit.

After graduation from General Motors Institute in 1937, he joined the Corporation's Patent Section in Detroit as a clerk. Later that same year he was transferred to the GM patent office in Washington, D. C.

From 1941 to 1946, Mr. Lamm served in the Navy and attained the rank of Lieutenant Commander. During his service career, he attended the Naval Academy Post-Graduate School where he graduated in Ordnance Engineering.

After military service, he returned to the GM Patent Section in Detroit as a patent attorney. In 1950 he was again transferred to the Washington Patent Section and was appointed later that year as attorney in charge.

Mr. Lamm joined Fisher Body in 1952 when he transferred from Washington to Detroit where he became a staff engineer in the plastic development activity.

He was appointed plant superintendent of Fisher Body's plastics development plant in January, 1954.

★

SHORTLY AFTERWARDS, he was transferred to Fisher trim fabrication plants in Livonia and Grand Rapids, where he served in top managerial assignments and gained experience in upholstery operations such as those to be performed at Tecumseh. Mr. Lamm has been production manager at the Cleveland plant since 1959.

As a member of the Cleveland Engineering Society, he was one of 12 industrialists who went to Russia in 1962 to study manufacturing facilities and production methods there.

Mr. Lamm also has continued his interest in the military and is a member of the Naval Reserve with the rank of commander.

He will be moving to the area in the near future with his wife, Ruth, to assume his new responsibilities.

★

AS PLANT manager of the Tecumseh installation, Mr. Lamm will supervise all of the operations which are necessary to produce upholstery items such as seat covers, door trim pads, headlinings and sun visors for the interiors of General Motors cars.

This is an operation which will ultimately require the employment of approximately 1,000 people and the expenditure of about $9 million annually for payroll and local purchases.

Now more than 60% complete, the 332,000 square foot plant is being constructed on a 200-acre site two miles south of Tecumseh on the northwest corner of Occidental Hwy. and Gady Rd.

12-Musician Orchestra Plays for 'Music Man'

By EVE BOWEN

A rumor that the Tecumseh Players will have to present their musical director, Miles Cowdrey, with a toupee for the opening of "The Music Man" is a gross exaggeration.

Miles says that musically the show is shaping up beautifully, with a minimum of rough spots. One of them is the lack of a solo violinist. Anyone interested?

Miles, who is music instructor in the Tecumseh Public Schools, received his bachelor and master's degrees at the University of Michigan, where he is now working on his doctorate.

He was a musician in the Air Force in Washington, D. C. where he was stationed four years. The band he has formed for the show has considerable experience.

Playing baritone sax, clarinet and bass clarinet in the "The Music Man" orchestra is a Tecumseh newcomer, David Schoonover, who is now Auto Club agent for this area. Formerly of Monroe, David majored in music education at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, Texas and was high school band director there before coming to Michigan.

He was a board member and ex-president of the Monroe Community Players and helped stage the Meredith Willson musical there last winter. David is assisting Miles with the woodwinds.

★

OTHER BAND members:

► Terry Haughn, Tecumseh High School graduate and freshman at Adrian College, is playing trumpet, which he also plays in the Adrian College Band.

► Tim Dickinson, who won the Tecumseh Band Boosters' scholarship to Interlochen and is first trombonist in the THS band, is playing the slip horn. Tim is a junior. He also played in "Pajama Game" orchestra.

► Jeannette Mannino, a THS junior, is first clarinet in school orchestra and in "Pajama Game" played first clarinet.

► Vicki Hannah, flutist, is also proficient on the piano, a junior, was in "Pajama Game".

► Fran Cooper, senior, and first oboist in the THS band, will play clarinet.

► Phil Browne, junior, will play baritone horn.

► Gary Stretch, senior, who has first chair in the trumpet section of the THS band, will play trumpet.

Tim, Jeanette, Vicki, Fran, Phil and Gary are all entering the Solo and Ensemble Musical Festival, which will be held in Jackson in February and includes musicians from the entire state.

► Carl Collingsworth, bass clarinetist for THS band will play that instrument and Allen Belcher, senior, will play tenor and baritone sax.

► Helen Bendes, who is a music teacher in the elementary schools and received her degree from Central Michigan University, where she majored in instrumental music, will be the accompanist.

★

TALENTED LORAYNE PIHL, who did the choreography for "Girl Crazy" and "Pajama Game" is back in the same job for "Music Man". The cast hopes to see her on stage, as she did in the other shows.

Lorayne, who attended University of Nebraska and graduated from Knox College in Galesburg, Ill., is no newcomer to show biz.

She got her start in a kiddies comedy series at Columbia Studios some years ago.

After leaving college she announced and wrote continuity for Radio Station WGIL in Galesburg.

Lorayne is being assisted by Mary Myers of Adrian. Mary attended the University of Tennessee in Knoxville and then went to California, where she danced professionally and also taught at both the Arthur Murry and Totten-Linklater Studios.

The popular Four Dads quartette, comprised of Gene Earling, David Woods, Dr. Carlton Cook and Gordon Comfort, are contributing their harmony.

MUSIC "MEN" FOR THE MUSIC MAN — This talented group will give that "extra something" to audiences of the Tecumseh Player's "Music Man". Members of the orchestra are: (back row) Gary Stretch, trumpet; Tim Dickinson, trombone; and Bob Williamson, drums; (second row) Carl Collingsworth, bass clarinet; Allen Belcher, sax; David Schoonover, assistant director and clarinet; Fran Cooper and Jeannette Mannino, clarinets; (front row) Terry Haughn, trumpet; Phil Browne, trombone; Helen Bendes, accompanist, and Vicki Hannah, flute.

Indians Still Rank Third

For the third straight week, the AP poll of Class B basketball teams in the state have ranked Tecumseh Indians third.

Coach Vic Lawson's cagers have won eight straight games without a loss. A big challenge to the streak is Blissfield, which plays here Friday night.

Another poll, conducted by a Detroit newspaper, has failed to mention the Indians in the top 10 this season.

There Are Changes Already for Sitters

Some changes have been made in plans for the Baby Sitting Clinic sponsored by the Jaycee Auxiliary.

Sessions will be held in Room 38 of the Junior High School rather than in the Senior High School Cafeteria.

This is the third year that the clinic has been offered to teen agers of the community.

Mrs. Robert Laidlaw, a registered nurse, will be the speaker Jan. 27 followed by Dr. Carlton Cook on Jan. 28.

The classes are held from three to four o'clock for five different days.

Chief of Police Murell Clark and a representative of the Lenawee Sheriff's Department will present a demonstration on resuscitation for the Feb. 3 class.

Reviews will be held Feb. 4 and exams Feb. 10.

An afternoon graduation ceremony with refreshments following will be held Feb. 11.

Mrs. Steve Kruger, chairman, reminds students that they must attend all sessions to receive a diploma. She will be glad to offer any additional information. Her phone number is 423-4114.

St. Elizabeth School students have been invited to participate in the course.

Promotions Given Four

Four promotions were announced this week for United Savings Bank employees.

Cashier Merlyn Downing was named a vice-president.

Mrs. Robert Bowers and Mrs. Curtis Wright were promoted from assistant cashiers to assistant vice-presidents.

Arnold Sayler has been lifted from teller to assistant loan cashier.

BEHIND PAGE ONE

Has anyone ever heard of The International Platform Association, headquartered in Cleveland. Please phone The Herald, 423-2174, if you can help?

The huge Alaskan Brown Bear shot in 1958 by Jens Touborg is presently arousing interest in more young people. Taken from Tecumseh High School's study hall because of a space problem, it now presides with it's 1200 pounds over the main lobby of the Michigan State University Museum in East Lansing. Among the largest of carnivorous land animals, the 9-foot bear was killed in the Alaskan Peninsula, about 400 miles southwest of Anchorage.

If good health is your objective, try the rule of "Dr." Dorothy Grigg. Drink large glasses of water several times daily. That's all.

A doctor from Farmington, Mo., read about Marda Gene Duncan in the St. Louis Globe Democrat, wants to know "if her writings are available in collected form." Not yet, but one day they might be.

Despite the way we said it in an ad last week, Meadowridge Dairy will not open its doors at 6 a.m. Our numerals got twisted and the place is ready for business at 9 a.m., closing at 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday, then going 9 to 9 on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

A scientific readership survey is presently underway with selected families being checked from The Herald's nearly 90-square-mile circulation range, which corresponds roughly with the Tecumseh School District. Statistics will appear on the findings.

The Michigan State University Band, led the Michigan delegation in inaugural day ceremonies in Washington, D.C. Tom Dickinson was among the band, quartered on a train that returned the students Thursday morning.

Pearl has done it again. To hasten service at Pearl's Cafe, she has installed a self-serve rail along her counter for use during the noon hour. Must have increased her business, too. How can anyone stay on a diet when those luscious salads and homemade pies are right there staring one in the face.

Coming up: total jobs and payroll facts for the past year in Tecumseh. The 1963 salaries topped $24,700,000, which were surpassed by '64.

Scout Bus was proudly proclaimed on the front of an old school bus some scoutmaster drove to the Klondike Derby recently. The Scout Handbook may not have anything to say about its members being ingenious but they are!

Mrs. R. G. B. Marsh and her family have salvaged a red wagon and a pair of hockey skates from Evans Creek which runs behind the Marsh home at 610 W. Logan St. Their owners, who apparently left them on the ice, may have them by identifying same.

At first they sneered and threatened. Dave Wilkerson had agonizing hours of doubt and fear, then the miracle happened. The tough gangmembers in New York City watched as their leaders knelt in a street and prayed. Dave will be in Tecumseh March 14 to tell about his soul searching experiences.

Tim Neill is sporting an engraved wrist watch, which refrs to him as "Forecaster of 1964". His friends around Tecumseh Products are now trying to find out "forecaster of what?"

Did the United Savings Bank of Tecumseh contribute to the welfare of the community during 1964? You bet, to the tune of more than half-a-million dollars, including a payroll of $135,000, savings interest of $277,000 and stock dividends of $125,000.

Calvin Zorn Is Appointed to Planning Commission

The seven-member county planning commission, appointed Jan. 13 by the Lenawee County Board of Supervisors has scheduled an organizational meeting for 4 p.m., Jan. 27.

Named recently to three-year terms on the commission are: Calvin Zorn, C. R. Miles and Dallas Zonkers, city managers of Tecumseh, Adrian, and Hudson, respectively; for two-year terms, Carl Van Valkenburg of Morenci and Maynard Minier of Onsted; and one-year terms, Guy Roberts of Deerfield and Amos R. Anderson of Adrian.

Board chairman, Lowell Hammontree, made the appointments which were confirmed by the board.

★

WHEN IT WAS learned that no construction was scheduled on the state trunkline system in Lenawee County, at least until 1975, the need for a planning commission became evident to the Supervisors.

Some adjustment in the construction plans might be made, a State Highway Department spokesman said, if an official body was established in the county to relate needs to his department.

The specific duty of the new planning commission will be to study and make known state highway needs, and it will also study future needs of the county.

Chopin Is Studied by Club

Mrs. Perry Hayden was the hostess for the Tecumseh Music Club Jan. 12 when 12 members spent an evening learning about Polish Composer Frederick Chopin.

Mrs. Wilfred Waldron, program chairman, presented Mrs. Fred Oberlin who played on the piano two of Chopin's Preludes and one of his Nocturnes.

Mrs. Owen Merrill played a Chopin Nocturne, and Mrs. Paul Brantingham, a Mazurka, which means a Polish dance.

Mrs. Waldron played Chopin's famous "Funeral March", which was the one heard at the time of President Kennedy's funeral.

★

MRS. MAYNARD MULVANEY told the group about Chopin. He was born in Warsaw, Poland, and while his mother was Polish, his father was French.

Because Chopin's father was a teacher in a gymnasium (school) he thought it necessary that his children receive as good instruction as he could find for them.

Chopin had some of his compositions published when he was 16 years old, and at 18 he began traveling and concertizing, both on the Continent, and in Great Britain.

He was especially adept at translating into music the feelings inspired by his native country of Poland.

Chopin's wide range of friends included such famous personalities of Franz Lizst, Felix Mendelssohn, the Rothschilds, and the controversial French author, George Sand.

Chopin died at the age of 40, having suffered from tuberculosis most of his adult life.

★

MRS. NINA HEATH was cohostess for the evening, and assisted in serving refreshments. While enjoying their food, the group listened to a recording of Chopin's "Les Sylphides".

The February meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Mulvaney, and Mrs. Harry Venman, state president of the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs, will attend. The Tecumseh Music Club is a member of this federation.

Long and Short

is concerned?) There are smiles all around and when a guy wants to get a few thousand to buy a car or fix up his house, Pat and his gang let you know right away they think you're tops — and doing the bank a real favor.

Pat wants to melt into the background when credit is showered his way. He counters with the fact that everybody on the payroll at United Savings is doing a great job — and they are — but they reflect that guy's grin.

Does this sort of banking pay off?

Well, the institution's shareholders held their annual meeting Tuesday afternoon at the Country Club to review 1964. As one director noted, it was a real zinger.

Operating earnings took a jump over 1963 (Pat's first full one) of more than $34,000 to the $250,000 mark.

At the same time, the surplus and capital accounts — that's what keeps a bank liquid — increased $125,000 to $1,625,000.

Pat noted that the bank follows "Sound conservative policies laid down by your directors."

For stockholders, there were dividends of $3.65 per share.

As last week's United Savings Bank ad in The Herald pointed out, its total resources grew over a 10-year period from $16,333,819 to $25,274,713.

A lot of folks deserve credit for this, including Pat's predecessor, John Thompson, who pumped his life blood into the bank for nearly 30 years.

★

BUT THE PAST is done and Pat Meadows has got his eye on the future, which seems so exciting that we could ring in that old cliche, "Ceiling unlimited".

Tops on the agenda for United Savings in '65 will be the erection of a drive-in branch across from the new Fisher Body plant. It's slated for spring.

A guy needs a white cane and leader dog if he can't see a tremendous growth and development all through this area. It's appropriate that the bank should be leading the way.

"And the customer will be king."

One-Time Rector Visits St. Peter's

The Rev. Edward Green and his wife, Fannie, were guests during the morning worship service of St. Peter's Episcopal Church Sunday in observance of the 30th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood.

The Rev. Green is rector of Christ Episcopal Church in Dearborn and celebrated the Eucharist there before attending services at St. Peter's.

He came to Tecumseh Jan. 17, 1935 as a deacon and was ordained here by the Rt. Rev. Herman Page, bishop of Michigan at the time.

Though the visit was a surprise one, a reception in the parish hall was held following the service when the congregation greeted the Greens.

Lester Rogers, a parishioner when Mr. Green was here, spoke. Mr. Green responded recounting some interesting events which happened while he was rector here.

One was the Halloween parade when he appeared in a red devil's costume riding the hood of a Model T Ford.

Gibbs Barber showed pictures of the old church and also of a celebration for the Greens five years ago on the 25th anniversary of Rev. Green's ordination.

Gloria Dei Choirs Have New Books

More and more Lutheran Churches accept and use the new hymnals published for the unity of the Lutheran faith in this country and Canada according to Dr. Laszlo Gero, pastor.

The Gloria Dei Lutheran Church as a growing mission congregation, is starting to change the old hymnals and the service orders for the new ones.

To keep step with other Lutheran congregations the LCW, the ladies group of the Gloria Dei Church, made a survey and as a result members and friends purchased more than 100 new books and the adult Luther League choirs started to study the worship order and the musical parts.

Next they invited Jack Tonneberger, a talented organist and choir director to introduce the music and to instruct the choirs to use it.

Mr. Tonneberger, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tonneberger, will be in the church Thursday, Jan. 21, at 7:30 p.m. to give personal and taped introduction to the choirs and the members.

Mrs. Gabe J. French, adult choir director; Nancy Ehlert, organist, and Dr. Gero invite members and friends to this study-hour and practice.

Week's Events Are Scheduled for Methodists

Basing his message on the "impossible task" facing Nehemiah when he came to Jerusalem to rebuild the walls of that city, the Rev. Donald Porteous will speak on the subject, "Everyone Had A Mind To Work," at the morning worship service at the Methodist Church.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

"Man was not meant to be a cringing being, eaten up by anxiety, a prisoner in silent loneliness, living in blind cruelty. He was meant for great adventure.

"In his quest for the best in others, he will discover something in himself, not guessed before.

★

"For each of us, though we may not be clever or commanding but only average, an unknown life can be a winged and wonderful thing.

"It can be full of faith, meaning and music, if we have faith to live and love and learn."

This bit doesn't come from ancient tomes or from a philosopher of a by-gone era, but from a Tecumseh homemaker of 1965, Mrs. James E. McLain, 116 N. Maumee St.

Could be that she took some time to think about the important things in life and has set a good example for the rest of us.

✓

A family gathering honoring Glenn Driscoll's birthday was held Sunday at the Driscoll residence. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Crosby and Rae Lynne Crosby, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Driscoll and sons, Phillip and Dale, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Siwick and son, Steve, of Ann Arbor.

✓

Mrs. Carlos Jones returned home Jan. 13 from a month's stay with Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Twyford of Mather, Pa.

✓

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Green of Oxford are spending two weeks with Mrs. George Green, a recent patient at Herrick Memorial Hospital. Jan. 14 Mrs. Allan Ramsay, Mrs. Larry Edwards, nee Priscilla Ramsay and Lorrie, the great grandson of Mrs. Green, were her dinner guests. Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. George Green, Jr. of Three Rivers were visitors in the home of his mother.

✓

Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Bryan and two children, Todd and Lisa, have returned to Tecumseh from Virginia Beach, Va., for a 30-day leave with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bryan, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Beattie. Mr. Bryan will go to aviation electricians school in Jacksonville, Fla., for six months, taking his family with him. He has been in service for six years.

600 Attend Open House at School

Nearly 600 guests attended the open house, Thursday night, at the Tecumseh High School. They enjoyed a concert by the Tecumseh High School band. School board president, Aden Mead, spoke briefly in dedication of the new $400,000 addition.

The visitors followed a "class day" in miniature, with a walk through the new library-study hall and math-science wing. They were served refreshments in the cafeteria at the end of the tour.

The following visitors' comments were heard:

Mrs. William Frownfelder, 809 River Acres Drive — "My daughter has several classes in the new part. I like particularly the foreign language lab and classroom set-up. They can learn much more with the head set. I was impressed with the teaching staff too. They are very capable. I was quite relieved when my daughter's freshman English teacher said that all of her class were doing well. The teacher further remarked that her hat is off to teachers in the junior high because the students had been very well prepared in grammar. I think the new addition tremendous and combining the library with the study hall is a marvelous idea."

✓

Harold Black, Occidential Hwy. —"The addition and open house are very nice. Attendance must have doubled that of last year. I think the money was spent wisely. My daughter has biology in the new room and she says they have a lot of stuff to work with. It's a lot better than when I went to school. Besides we had good coffee and daughnuts."

✓

Mrs. Walter Wiemer, 7395 Smith Rd. — "My husband went and he was real pleased. He said it's very nice and conducive to much better classroom work."

✓

Mrs. Charles M. Manley, 611 Murray Drive — "We were very impressed both with the addition and with the teachers. We can see quite a jump in education from the time we went to school. Their attitude is to prepare the students for college and the new facilities give them a lot more opportunity. When we went to school a high school education was all most hoped for."

✓

Ted Pihl, 513 Seminole — "Oh, it's so light and airy, cheerful and roomy. It's real, real nice. The desks are roomy and there are lots of blackboards and more room for equipment. I don't know how they ever held two lab classes in one room."

Dr. Coak Speaks to Parent Group

By FERN PURPLE

RIDGEWAY — Dr. R. D. Coak spoke on "Meeting the Emotional Needs of Children" when members of the Ridgeway-Macon Area PTA met Jan. 13 in the Macon School.

The program included also an article on PTA Founders Day, read by Mrs. William Osburn, and a brief talk by R. T. Gillam, principal, who told how much new library books are needed at Macon School.

At the business meeting preceding the program a nominating committee was named. They include Fred Long, Mrs. Donald Abersold and Mrs. Harley Slick. The election is March 10.

It was decided to purchase a record player, to donate $5 to the state PTA for Founders Day and contribute toward the purchase of a set of dictionaries for Macon School.

The second grade won the attendance award.

Refreshments were served to the 45 persons attending. They were provided by the first grade.

Slick Streets Cause Crashes

Slippery streets contributed to five of eight accidents investigated here during the past week by the Tecumseh police.

Clair E. Maynard, 17, of 3048 Pleasant Dr., was cited for violation of the basic speed law Friday after running into the rear of a car driven by Charles P. Ebbert, 18, Brooklyn, on N. Evans St.

Failure to stop within an assured clear distance was charged to James R. Ward, 23, Adrian, in an accident involving Gwendolyn Short, 51, of 511 S. Pearl.

The minor mishap occurred Saturday on Herrick Park Dr.

Bernice G. Meyers, 224 Herrick Park Dr., was cited for failure to stop within an assured clear distance after running into the rear of an auto operated by William H. Damon, Jr., 47, of 817 Outer Dr.

Mr. Damon had stopped to pick up a passenger near the bridge on N. Maumee St.

Another rear-end accident occurred Monday on W. Chicago Blvd., when Frank Popelar, 44, Britton, hit a car driven by Virgil Van Dyke, 34, Britton.

No citation has yet been filed.

Edwin P. Clauda, 20, Adrian, slid into the intersection of Maumee and E. Chicago, striking a car driven by William J. Walker, 38, of 746 S. Union.

Both vehicles were hauled away, and Clauda was cited for violation of the basic speed law.

An improper lane usage was cited against Maxine D. Close, 46, of 3667 Russell Rd., Friday, in a minor accident in downtown Tecumseh with Amelia G. Beach, 45, Ridgeway.

Paul R. Vollmar, 17, rural Clinton, was charged with improper backing on S. Maumee St. Friday in a mishap with William P. Mitchell, 23, Manitou Beach.

A minor accident Monday involved Jane Mitchell, 509 Stacy St., and a truck driven by Lynn H. Bailey, Manchester.

The truck, in making a turn at Occidental and W. Russell Rd., clipped the front left headlight of the Mitchell car.

Left Turns May Be Out

Driving habits of Tecumsehites may soon undergo some changes if plans to eliminate left turns at Chicago Blvd. and Evans St. in downtown Tecumseh are finalized.

Police Chief Murell Clark approached councilmen Monday night regarding the busy intersection, and pointed out that it was the major scene of accidents in the city for last year.

Police report shows 19 property damage mishaps occurred at the intersection and seven personal injury.

Left turns off both Chicago and Evans would be prohibited in order to give more space to vehicles making right turns, and to provide better traffic flow.

A request for approval from the State Highway Department is being made. The department's approval must be given before eliminating the left turns.

Residents also may expect some other traffic changes in the near future, such as one-way streets. Officials are waiting for a traffic survey from the state before taking any action.

Board To Meet

School officials Monday night approved changing the next regular board meeting from Feb. 15 to Thursday, Feb. 11.

The board will meet on Feb. 8 with the TEA, secretarial and maintenance and custodial salary committees.

Interest Up in Cubbing, Master Says

"Interest in Cub Scouting is definitely increasing in Tecumseh," said Wendel Disbrow, cub master of Pack 4. The Pack this year is made up of eight dens with a combined total of 64 boys between the ages of eight and 11.

In addition, there is a waiting list of boys who want to get into Cub Scouting when den mothers are available. "Boys who will be eight during the year will be taken in as their birthdays occur and when den openings are available," continued Mr. Disbrow.

The traditional Blue and Gold Banquet for the Cub Scouts of Pack 4 will be held in February and the boys will be taken on their annual Mystery Trip later in the year.

In order to cover expenses for this banquet and for their other yearly expenses, the dens in Pack 4 are sponsoring a bake sale at Baldwin's Hardware Saturday, Jan. 30, beginning at 9 a.m.

Proceeds will be used for Cub Scout functions.

Mrs. Elroy Johnston, the hostess, was assisted by Mrs. Douglas Tate and Mrs. Marvin Higgins.

Recreation Activities

By DON MOFFATT, Superintendent

Just thought it might be a good idea to list all the various recreation activities that are being offered during the next few weeks.

At the Community Center, where most of the activities occur, we find the following schedule:

Sunday — 7:30 to 10 p.m. Square dance lessons (offered by The Shawnee Squares at a fee of $1.50 per couple).

Monday — 7:30 to 10 p.m. Bridge lessons, taught by Mrs. Luther Kemp. Entire course fee for 10 weeks is $2.50 per person.

Tuesday — 7 to 8 and 8 to 9 p.m. golf instruction, taught by Ermond Eldredge. Six weeks of lessons cost $5 per person. Golf clubs and balls are furnished.

Wednesday — Golf instruction. (Same as on Tuesday evenings).

Thursday — 7 to 9 p.m. Art class instruction, taught by Howell Poucher. 10 weeks of beginning art offered for $9 per person.

Junior Rifle Class Instruction, taught by N.R.A. approved instructors. This class offered to all area boys and girls, 12 to 16 years of age, is sponsored by the N.R.A. and Tecumseh Pistol and Rifle Club. Class fee is $4 for 10 weeks, and registration can be handled at the Police Dept.

Saturday — Beginners ballet and tap dancing lessons, taught by Mrs. Edward Roesch. Ten weeks of lessons cost $9 per student. Deadline to sign up is this week Saturday, January 23.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Don't forget that each Thursday 2 to 4 p.m. at the Center, our Senior Citizens are always welcome to take part in their own activities and fun. It's a good place to make new and old acquaintances, while enjoying themselves during their leisure-time recreation activities.

ATHLETIC CLUBS

The Women's Athletic Club is meeting at the High School gym each Tuesday from 7 to 10 p.m., for a little physical exercise. Why not plan to become a member of this club and join in the activities. The cost is 50c per night, and well worth it.

The Men's Athletic Club meets at the High School gym for their physical exercise each Thursday evening from 7 to 10 p.m. The cost is the same to become a member, and the benefits derived from this program is worth far more. For our health's sake, we should keep in good physical condition year 'round, not just in the summer.

ICE SKATING

Ice skating is another recreation activity offered during the winter months, when the weather permits. There are four artificial rinks located in different parts of the city: behind City Hall, at Nelson Field on S. Union St., in the 100 block on Maple St. and in the 600 block on Brook St. One of these may be right in your neighborhood.

Or if you like, "The Pit" is now open for ice skating enjoyment, with good ice over eight inches thick. We also have a warming house at the pit location in the 400 block off S. Adrian St.

Damage Minor in Two Blazes

The Tecumseh Fire Department answered two calls within the past week. In both instances fire damage was minor.

A short in the wiring caused a blaze in a 1957 Ford station wagon at 11 p.m. Monday. The car, owned by Jack Polly of 7408 Holloway Rd., was parked at the rear of the Corrugated Box Co. Damage was estimated by the department at $150.

An overheated stovepipe caused about $50 damage to a house owned by Paul Yoder at 5583 Bihlmeyer Rd., at 10:15 a.m. Saturday.

The house is occupied by Brandon Waynick.

School Lunch Costs Increase

An increase in cost of High School cafeteria lunches was approved by the School Board Monday night.

The five-cent hike raises the cost per lunch from 35c to 40c.

A cut in Federal funds necessitated the increase. If more funds are available in the spring, lunches are then expected to return to 35c.

Board Makes Big Payment on Bond Debt

A payment of $195,000 was authorized by the Tecumseh School Board Monday night on the 1957 $1.9 million bond issue.

The payment, to be made April 1, will leave $860,000 of the bond issue left.

At the present rate of payment, the entire issue will be retired in 1968. April's payment includes 105 of the 1965 bonds due, and 90 of the 1973 series.

The School Board levies 6.32 mills, although allowed to levy up to 8.5 mills. Monies collected from taxes for the bond issue can be used only to retire the bonds.

Last year's interest on the bond payment monies gave the schools an extra $4,846 in interest.

An exciting movie, "History of Racing . . . The Golden Years," is shown several times daily in the Museum theater. Open daily until 11 p.m. the show continues through Feb. 7.

Indians Clip Jets, 63-59, for 8th Straight Victory

A couple of big tests were passed Friday night by the Tecumseh Indians — first was a 63-58 victory over a tough Airport five, and the second was poise when down by nine points and the Jets appeared on their way to a rout.

Ball-hawking and team work enabled the undefeated Indians to rally in the second half and keep their eight-game winning streak intact.

The sharp-shooting Jets nearly swamped Tecumseh in the opening quarter when the Indians faltered from the floor and failed to hit on several easy shots.

Airport continued their hot shooting well into the second quarter and usually led by six or seven points.

Tecumseh suffered a big loss with 2:24 left on the clock when 6'4" Gregg Allen slipped after a drive, banged his head on the floor, knocking himself cold.

Local physician, Dr. Merwin Blanden, attended the lanky center who returned to the bench in the second half but was unable to play.

Don Hughes, 6'6", replaced Allen and tossed in two goals in the fourth quarter when the Indians were scrapping to hold off the Jets after gaining the lead.

Tecumseh's first lead in the game came at the 4:52 mark in the third quarter when Jeff Osburn stole the ball from Airport's Denny Dicks for an easy bunny.

In a matter of seconds, Osburn, along with Jim Lawson, pilfered the ball three times to tally six quick points, and give Tecumseh a lead it never relinquished.

The Jets, who lost previously to Blissfield in the final quarter, faded again in the final stanza and two goals in the final 30 seconds only closed a nine-point margin to five.

Coach Vic Lawson twice had to rely on his bench and each time the players came through.

Hughes gave 6'3" Terry Alcock help on the boards, and when Alcock fouled out with a couple of minutes remaining, Steve Derby picked up the slack.

Derby, only 6'1", can go above the basket and twice pulled down rebounds when the Jets were threatening and still very much in the game.

Alcock and Lawson shared scoring honors with 18 points each. Osborn collected 13.

Airport's outside shooting was just short of being phenomenal and the Jets tallied most of their points from far out on the floor.

Despite the blustery weather, many Tecumseh fans braved the trip, and many had to stand as the small Airport gym was filled before seven o'clock.

Jayvees Nip Airport in 2nd Overtime, 57-55

Tecumseh Jayvees scored a double-overtime win over Airport Friday night, 57-55, after blowing a 10-point lead in the fourth quarter.

Leading 45-35 with 4:20 left in the game, the young Indians failed to tally another point and lost the ball repeatedly to the Airport press.

In the first overtime, the Jayvees jumped off to a four-point lead and then held on for a tie at 51-51.

Tecumseh dominated the second overtime and kept the Jayvees five-game winning streak intact.

John Goodman and Dean Hebb scored 18 and 17 points respectively to top all scorers. Lee Hannibal tallied 14.

700 Boy Scouts Run in Klondike Derby

The Screaming Eagle and the Hawk patrols of Tecumseh Troop 4 were among the top 30% at the Klondike Derby at Camp Kanesatake on Washington Lake Jan. 9. They will receive Klondike Awards of Merit.

Other Tecumseh patrols, the Otters, Wapiti and Beaver of Troop 73 and the Iroquois and Blind Bat patrols of Troop 4 all receive Klondike award ribbons.

Two patrols from Hudson, one from Monroe and one from Manitou Beach were among the top winners in proficiency.

Despite a lack of snow, the course was run in excellent fashion by the Scouts, who didn't seem to notice the temperature was not far from zero. Ninety sleds, hustled by 700 boys took part with 200 adult leaders judging their abilities in various survival skills.

WOW, WAS IT COLD — Arctic blasts whipped the shore along Washington Lake as Klondike Derby sled heads for String-a-Ling, station No. 6, where they had to start fire from flint and rock, get flames to burn string a foot above ground, boil a can of water with their fires.

OUR READERS WRITE

TO THE EDITORS:

I want to add my two cents' worth to your editorial about dirty movies.

The Walt Disney movies are so wonderful I think we should have a national "Honor Walt Disney Week".

But just take your family to one of these really nice, safe movies and settle down to enjoy it. Wham!

On comes the advertisement for the next week's movie chock full of sex, dirty words, racy situations, etc. It's happened so often you think twice about going to a nice movie just because of the ad for a movie you wouldn't go to.

If you stay home and things on the TV get a little out of line, you can snap it off or turn the dial.

Young people today have a good chance to learn many worthwhile things; and it's sickening how many adults are filling their minds with junk just for the almighty buck — or stupidity.

St. Elizabeth Cubs played their second game of the season against Chelsea and were downed by a score of 46-35.

After a 26-13 half in favor of Chelsea, the Cubs came back and almost overtook their opponents 36-30 with three minutes left to play. However, David Laidlaw fouled out in the last quarter and the Cubs had to finish the game with only four players.

The first graders, used a tape recorder, to record their pronunciation and reading.

Second graders had the chance to demonstrate their favorite Christmas gifts from Santa to the rest of their classmates.

Last Thursday, the third graders received a chance to record their voices — this time in Spanish.

Pen pals are keeping many fourth graders occupied writing letters. Through their correspondence, they are becoming acquainted with many new and foreign customs.

Fifth graders joined in chorus with the sixth, seventh and eighth grades to sing Christmas carols for Sunday's Mass, the Feast of the Holy Family.

New officers were elected in the sixth grade. They are president, Mark Roberts, and vice-president, Thomas Burns.

In the seventh grade art class Friday, the students were involved in making mirror name designs. Their finished products were very ornate drawings.

Special sports Buick comfort, Buick style and traditional Buick quality. The price tag? We saved the best for last.

$2343.00 Manufacturer's suggested retail price for Special V-6 2-dr. coupe. Price includes Federal Excise Tax and suggested dealer delivery and handling charge (transportation charges, accessories, other optional equipment, state and local taxes additional).

What's Going on at BOYSVILLE

By MARTIN WHITAKER

Jan. 12, the Fighting Knights of Boysville fell to their third straight loss of the season as the Bulldogs of Summerfield humbled them by a 63-55 score. Both teams proved equal throughout the first quarter, which was dominated by defensive play, as was the second quarter. At the end of the half the score stood at 27-24, Summerfield.

The third quarter saw Summerfield begin its forward surge, strengthening its lead and leaving Boysville trailing, 52-40. The fourth quarter, however, witnessed the Knights launch a brilliant counter-offensive, as they narrowed the Summerfield lead to two points. But the Boysville offense stalled, and Summerfield went on to win, 63-55.

Scoring honors went to Moe Jacobs and Ron Klos with 17 and 16 markers respectively.

▶

The Boysville Knights, looking promising after a hopeful start, continued their losing ways Friday night, dropping their fourth straight game in the Sand Creek gym, 77-58. The "under the weather" Knights trailed the Aggies throughout the game. By half time the Aggies were enjoying a comfortable 40-22 margin. Boysville never was able to recover, and went on to be trounced, 77-58. Boysville's scoring king, Ron Klos, took honors for the evening with 24 points. Moe Jacobs followed with 16.

▶

On the other side of the coin the Junior Knights, under Coach Pat Connors, continued on their victorious rampage, as they posted victories over the reserves from Summerfield and Sand Creek.

Sand Creek's JV threatened to turn the tables early in the first quarter, as they possessed a nine-point lead, going into the second frame, 11-2. But the Junior Knights, spirit unbroken, regained their poise and self-confidence and went on to win, 50-31.

The same fate awaited the Summerfield squad as an overpowering fast break assured the Junior Knights of an easy victory, by a score of 61-31. The Junior Boysville Knights now boast a 7-6-1 season, dropping a game only to Adrian C. C.'s reserves.

▶

Boysville has again had a change of chaplains, but this most recent change probably will be the last for a while. Replacing the Reverend James J. Murphy is Father Francis Juras. Older residents of the Clinton-Tecumseh area may recognize Father Juras, as he was associated with the missions in Tecumseh when he was pastor of St. Dominic's Parish in Clinton from 1945-49.

▶

Four washer-dryer units have been procured for Cardinal Mooney Dormitory to relieve much of the congestion in the laundry and to make the problem of laundering an easier one for the upperclassmen.

▶

Friday night members of Boys-ville's Eighth Grade watched the University of Michigan's hockey team lose to the University of North Dakota by a score of 4-2. The Wolverines held the lead until the third period when North Dakota lunged ahead.

▶

The Freshman Class, under the direction of their moderator, Brother Gerald Liston, CSC, journeyed to Detroit for its first class trip of the year. The boys were a bit disappointed at first because the museum was closed that day. So they took a trip to Belle Isle and on the way home stopped at Northland for supper.

▶

In response to a request issued by Brother Philip Armstrong, CSC, Drum and Bugle Corps director, 15 new buglers have auditioned for the organization. Brother Philip hopes that by the time the spring marching season begins some of these boys might be ready to help fill the ranks of the Corps.

SOCIAL SECURITY Questions and Answers

QUESTION: My father, who was receiving monthly social security checks, died on the 28th of the month. May I keep the next social security check which will come on the third of the month?

ANSWER: No, since your father did not live until the first of the month, he would not be eligible for the check and it must be returned to the Treasury Department or your social security office.

√

QUESTION: I am going to be 72 in April of next year and expect to earn over $3,000. Can I qualify for social security benefits for the entire year?

ANSWER: Whether or not you are eligible for benefits for the entire year will be determined by the amount of your earnings and work which you did in the months before you became 72. However, beginning with the month in which you are 72, you will collect social security benefits for that month and every month thereafter, regardless of how much you earn.

√

QUESTION: My mother is receiving widow's benefits. She is no longer able to handle her money because of her mental condition. What should I do about her checks?

ANSWER: You should get in touch with your social security office. A representative there will look into this matter and, if necessary, help you make arrangements to have the checks sent to someone (yourself, perhaps) on her behalf.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

THE BROWN CREEPERS

What is small, only about 5½ inches long, brownish in color and has a slightly downward curving bill? What else but a brown creeper! These funny little birds are almost the only things which kept our window pictures busy during that long hot spell the first part of the month. Day after day we had rain or fog but no birds.

Our winter time regulars snubbed us completely and ignored the beautiful banquet boards we had laid for them. (Perhaps they reasoned that with so many nice things being said about me in the papers I did not need nice things to look at outside, too.) Two little creepers, however, kept working on the tree trunks in Marshes yard and so all was not lost.

If ever a bird were accurately named, this is it. Hunching up a tree, usually in a spiral path, the bird's progress can only be described as creeping. Appearancewise he is a spotted and streaked brown which blends so well with the color of the tree that the brown creeper is an almost classic example of protective coloration. At the slightest hint of danger, he hugs tightly to the tree and freezes — about the only way one notices a brown creeper is by seeing him move.

★

HIS BREAST and stomach are off white or tan but actually are seldom noticed. The feature that is very noticeable and very distinctive is his bill. Quite long, curved and needle-like, it is the perfect tool for probing into cracks and crevices. Whereas woodpeckers drill or bore when searching for their dinners, the creepers bill is rather weak and is good only for "poking". The birds complement each other nicely and we owe them both great debts of thanks for keeping our trees as insect free as they are. They, of course, don't do a perfect job but just think of the havoc were the insects to go completely unchecked.

Although creepers range through much of the Northern Hemisphere, we see them most often during the winter months. In spring they hie themselves off to a wood lot, preferably one containing big old or dead trees, and set about the serious business of raising a family. Occasionally a used woodpecker's chiseled-out home is used but the ideal homesite is not too far above ground, against the trunk of a tree and beneath a loose strip of bark. Shredded bark, feathers, small twigs and moss are used in the construction of the almost hammock-like nest. These little birds have fairly large families; a clutch of eggs numbers four to seven. They are, of course, small and are marked with a fine sifting of brown spots.

But getting back to that phase of brown creeper life which we know — these tiny mites have a characteristic movement peculiar to themselves and, incidentally, fun for us. When searching for a snack they start at the bottom of a tree and work upward and around. Circling around and around they really are not playing hide and seek but, for the world, it often looks as if they were.

MANY BOOKS go so far as to say that a brown creeper never comes down a tree or hangs upside down nuthatch fashion. Well, over the years, some of the creepers whom we have entertained apparently never read books. At the suet fastened to the tree by the back door they seem quite happy to hang head down and nibble.

And this brings up a slightly aggravating situation — these characters dearly love suet and have always come readily to that tree out in back. Never, though, have we succeeded in coaxing them away from the trees to sample the suet on our feeder. Woodpeckers and nuthatches are daily visitors but, as yet, no brown creepers.

So it is that just one thing remains to be done — congratulations to Marda for not once exclaiming, "Jeepers Creepers" and this is hard to do when one is talking about the little brown creepers.

THE STRANGE TACTICS OF EXTREMISM by Harry Overstreet. The Overstreets, who have written widely praised studies of contemporary Communism, now turn their attention to the other end of the spectrum; the extreme right. They name names and times and places, but their emphasis is on methods and results rather than on personalities or motives. The Overstreets' thesis is that extremism, whether of the left or right, because of the methods employed, threatens both the security and the integrity of our nation.

Gilbert Tells of Hospital Needs

Orrie Gilbert, Herrick Hospital administrator, was guest speaker at the meeting of the Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary Jan. 12 at Fellowship Center.

His informative talk was on "The Needs and Plans of the Hospital." He expressed the need for more facilities and room for X-ray service and emergency treatment. He showed figures which pointed out the increase in patient days in the past 10 years from 13,118 to 25,704 in 1964.

The admissions in the past year were 3,750 with the number of births 399. Among the figures a high could be noted in the births with 621 in 1956. A question and answer period followed.

★

AMONG THE immediate events ahead for the Auxiliary is the "Membership Dues Week" which will be held the week of January 25.

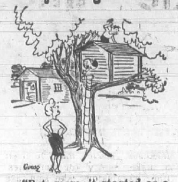
An auxiliary member will be stationed in the United Savings Bank during banking hours Monday through Saturday. In Britton the members may pay their dues during that week to Mrs. W. T. Claxton at Dr. Claxton's office.

Dues are raised to $2 for regular members and $5 for associate members.

A class for volunteer work at the hospital was resumed Jan. 18 with Supervisor of Nurses Norma Moll as instructor.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Howard Furry, Mrs. Robert Manchester and Mrs. Pat Meadows.

My Neighbors



"But, mom, it started as a bird house and got away from us."

Stage Set for Crucial Game with Blissfield

Second big test in a week faces Coach Vic Lawson's undefeated Indians who will tangle here with Blissfield Friday night.

After whipping Airport last week in the Jets' boxy gym, Tecumseh faces the Royals in a game which will give the winners the lead in the Huron League.

Which club wins here could well cop or cinch a tie for the championship, as the closest contender is Airport with two losses.

Although Tecumseh downed Blissfield in the ABHT tournament at Adrian during the holidays, the game did not count in league standings.

In that fray, Tecumseh rallied in the final quarter to win, 53-49.

Fans expecting to sit for the game are urged to shop up early. Blissfield is expected to bring a good crowd and seats will be scarce.

The Jayvee game is scheduled to start at 6:30, and the varsity about 8. If the crowd at the Airport game is indicative of what will happen here, most of the seats will be gone by 7.

Girl Scout Cookie Time Again!

The Irish Hills Girl Scout Council's annual cookie sale opened Saturday and continues through Jan. 29. Net proceeds will be used to help pay costs of operating Camp O' the Hills, the 109-acre Girl Scout camping area on Wamplers Lake. Mrs. Stanley Kruse is neighborhood cookie chairman for the Tecumseh area.

An elaborate sales system has been set up to take care of the event which has for years been a popular one in Scouting circles.

Members of the North Jackson Lions Club will deliver cartons containing 12 packages to neighborhood cookie captains Feb. 13 and 14. These will be turned over to leaders or troop cookie chairmen for delivery by the girls between Feb. 15 and March 6.

"Cookie cupboards," operated by Cadettes and seniors will be set up in public places Feb. 26 and 27 for sales to the general public.

This year cookies come in five varieties.

Recipes for their use have been made available by council headquarters and may be obtained from Mrs. Kruse or from The Herald office.

Mrs. Kruse has pointed out that the "butter flavored shorties" variety and the vanilla and chocolate cookies may be used to make nasty for soft pies. Other suggestions, she said, are to use the cookies to line molds for gelatine desserts or to top them with marshmallow and butter and broil.

The Irish Hills Council includes all of Jackson, Lenawee and Hillsdale counties and the city of Albion. Approximately 4 000 girls are on its membership rolls.

Attend Funeral

Mrs. Yale Kerby returned by train Jan. 12 from Buffalo, N. Y., where she was called Sunday by the death of her brother's wife, Mrs. Ercile Bias. She was accompanied by her sisters, Mrs. Walter Keeton of Adrian and Mrs. Harry Mondie of Detroit.

MRS. ADELBERT CAMPBELL PLAYS FOR VISITORS

She Plays Piano Like Teen Ager

CLINTON — Mrs. Adelbert Campbell observed her 90th birthday anniversary, Tuesday.

She has lived alone at 317 W. Franklin St. here since the death of her husband several years ago.

Despite her failing eyesight, "Libby," as she is known to her friends, is able to take care of herself and her home.

Friends see that she gets out occasionally to the Golden Age club meetings and last week she attended the meeting of the Clinton Woman's Club.

SHE FREQUENTLY entertains callers by playing the piano for them.

Failing eyesight has made it impossible for Mrs. Campbell to read music, but a lifetime of playing the piano is still apparent as her fingers flash over the keys with the agility usually associated with that of a teen-age girl.

She often plays her own compositions and those she learned long ago during 20 years of teaching the piano.

★

FOR THE last three years, Mrs. Campbell has been the only representative of the oldest graduating class, 1892, at annual Clinton High School Alumni Reunions.

Mrs. Simpson Brings Charm of Japan to Tecumsehland

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Mrs. David Simpson, 4200 Allen Rd., is taking it upon her dainty shoulders to preserve a part of the dress, customs and tradition of her native Japan, for her family and others here in America.

Her mother in Japan sends her material and dolls as well as glass cases in which to display them. Masako paints the faces and dresses the figures in the colorful kimonos and obi sashes of Tokyo, her home until 1960, when she came to the United States with her husband.

★

NEVER HAVING done any sewing until schools for war brides were set up in Japan, Masako learned with other friends in classes held twice each week about eight months before they boarded ship for America.

Masako met her soldier husband in Tokyo. He arranged for her employment with his first sergeant's wife, Mrs. E. Reidling, now of Detroit. They were located at the Shiroi Air Force Base, about 15 miles from Tokyo.

After their marriage in 1957, Mr. Simpson was not allowed to work in the security office and was transferred to another branch of service.

★

IN 1960 the couple went to Detroit with their six-weeks-old daughter, Sandra, who now attends a Clinton kindergarten class.

A son, Robert, was born three years ago to the Simpsons while they were residents of Detroit, where his people live.

Soon afterward the family came to Tecumseh. Mr. Simpson is employed by Bendix Systems Division in Ann Arbor.

"I like the country better than any place else and it's so good for raising the children," remarked the little Japanese woman.

She said, "Tokyo is so crowded with people, bicycles and cars that there is no room to stretch out. Downtown Detroit is like Tokyo, too. When I first came to the states, it surprised me, it's so big."

★

IN DRESSING the dolls with their dainty features, Masako starts by gluing the hair to the head in the front and then combs it like real hair, arranging it as she combs.

Beautiful silks, nylons and rayons are used for the lovely kimonos and the tiny obi sashes which are placed at the back waistline.

The placing of combs and other hair ornaments completes the attire of the oriental figure.

Five years ago materials for this work were purchased at a cost of about $30 per doll. Mrs. Simpson isn't sure just how much they would be now but she knows prices are higher.

She would like to take orders if anyone is interested in purchasing her dolls.

Girls' Day, March 3, in Japan is celebrated by each little girl placing her own collection of dolls on display in her home. Each doll has a special meaning.

Masako had a summer princess and prince and a flower dancing doll on display at the library as well as little Kokeshi dolls made of wood. Pictures, sandals and other Japanese articles were also in the display case.

Mrs. Billy L. (Kiyoko) Freshcorn, of Pocklington Rd., a friend of Mrs. Simpson, who has recently been to Japan, assisted with the library display offering for the exhibit miniature replicas of a Samurai headdress and sword.

These items she brought back for her little boys because they are used by boys in Japan on Boys Day, May 5, each year.

PRESERVES TRADITION — Masako Simpson, attired in her native Japanese kimono, displays a doll which she has dressed at her home at 4200 Allen Rd. Masako met her husband, David Simpson, in Tokyo and came with him to Detroit in 1960 with their six-weeks-old-daughter, Sandra. The couple now have a three-year-old-son, Robert too. By making Japanese dolls, Mrs. Simpson helps preserve the traditions of her native land.

PATTERSON SCHOOL PATTER

By SHERRIE HART

Semester tests are the big thing at Patterson School right now. Everyone is working, worrying, and wondering if they are doing OK. The teachers have planned lots of interesting art work to keep us busy between tests. I believe the art work is supposed to take our minds off the tests, and help us relax so we can do better on the tests. Does that sound logical? Well, anyway, it's lots of fun!

THIRD GRADE

Mrs. Frank Lasky's third grade room made snowmen in art class. They made them out of white and colored paper.

They are learning geometry in Math class. They have studied lines, line segments, rays, endpoints and angles. They are learning about the same thing as the fifth grade learned in their first chapter.

In science class they are studying about the sun and planets. The other day they saw a movie on the sun, showing how the sun helps the earth and the gas explosions on the sun.

FOURTH GRADE

In Mrs. Lillian Buttolph's room in art class pupils drew pictures of winter scenes on dark blue paper with white chalk. Each pupil wrote a poem about his own drawing.

In mathematics they are learning long division, are doing very well and having a good time.

In social studies class they are studying about India. Last Friday in gym they started to learn the rules of playing kick-ball.

FIFTH GRADE

Boys and girls in Mrs. Russell Raymond's room are not too happy over the tests. "All those terrible tests," they say. I guess everybody will be happy when they're over.

Boys and girls are doing a little perspective drawing. They have been making street corners.

In art class last Friday the boys and girls made modernistic designs, using a half sheet of colored paper and a whole sheet of white paper.

In social studies class the boys and girls are making a booklet on the Midwestern States and the Southern States.

The class is studying fractions. The next chapter will be on geometry.

Farmers Are Alarmed at Property Tax Raise

By MAXINE CALHOUN

Michigan farmers this month are being presented with eye-opening statistics which support the suspicion that many had upon receiving recent tax bills.

Farmers have long felt that farm property taxes have been rising much too fast, while farm incomes are dropping at an even faster pace.

Farm Bureau groups throughout the state are discussing some cold, hard facts of the tax situation facing farmers.

"In 1950, farmers of Michigan paid $15 million in property taxes. This was 4.9% of their net incomes, figured before taxes.

"By 1963, real and personal property taxes took $44.4 million of farmers' net incomes. This is two to three times the shock to income faced by any other group," Farm Bureau members are told by their Education and Research Department.

This trend is taking place while farm incomes are at 75% of parity — based on 1914 cost-price averages.

Lenawee County, one of the nation's most productive, now seeing a vast industrial development, offers immediate alternative employment for young farm people and their not-so-young parents.

An estimated 11% of the nation's agriculture population left the farms in 1963, government reports show.

If this exodus continues, it could take less than 10 years to disperse the entire farm population.

This is happening at a time when the unprecedented food production of American farmers is looked upon with envy by a near-starving, population-swollen world.

City-oriented legislatures in state government must be informed of these facts. Citizens of areas, once agriculture in nature, but now industrialized, should become aware of the tax problem forcing farmers off their farms.

★

FOR THREE YEARS, the Farm Bureau in Michigan, has urged a flat-rate income tax to relieve the pressure of farm property taxes.

On Jan. 11, the State Democratic Party's agriculture committee, decided to press for immediate fiscal reforms. The committee said, fiscal reform should include an income tax, but eliminate the personal property tax and cut real property taxes.

The Michigan Farmers' Union has taken a similar stand.

Lenawee Goes Over 1963 Total in Seal Sales

Lenawee County is one of 61 in the state reported to have gone "over the top" in the 1964 Christmas Seal campaign.

Contributions from residents in the county have reached the sum of $11,530, compared with total giving of $10,572 last year.

Statewide Christmas Seal giving has reached $1,130,000.

Archie O. Gillman Goes into Army

Archie O. Gillman, son of Mrs. Alma Jenkins, 11660 Carson Hwy., joined the army Jan. 8.

He will take basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and then take advanced airborne training.

He attended Clinton High School.

HITE HARDWARE Tecumseh

The Story of a Prescription

In Tecumseh, there are four drug stores, all licensed by the Michigan Board of Pharmacy to issue prescriptions as ordered by physicians.

Each of the four must meet complete specifications as set down by strict Federal and state laws. There are no compromises in any aspect of purity and the handling of drugs — right down to the common aspirin.

What this means to you is that you can always be certain when your doctor orders specific medication for you, his wishes will be followed to the letter at all four of Tecumseh's drug stores.

If you were to have the same prescription filled at each of the four Tecumseh drug stores, you would end up with four bottles of exactly the same drugs. United States and Michigan regulations insure this.

Before a drug store is allowed to open its doors, stringent regulations must be met from A to Z. None stays in operation if these are violated.

It's just that simple.

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Hardly a town in America — worth its salt — would be without an industrial development committee.

There must be several thousand in Michigan alone. Each tells the same story, "Here's a wonderful community in which to locate, or re-locate your plant."

Tecumseh's group probably has produced as many tangible results as any — directly and indirectly. When one industry picks a town, others are looking over their shoulder and asking themselves, "Maybe that's where we should be going."

But as we applaud the Faradays, the Tuttles, the Corrugated Boxes, the Fisher Bodies and the Stauffers for settling in the area, we would be smart to keep track of our long-time industrial residents.

Which brings up a question. Did you realize that Sault Ste. Marie is trying its darndest to lure our Meyers Aircraft to the UP?

One thing going for the Far North is that being a depressed area, it draws great favor in the eyes of Washington when an industry, any industry, can be enticed into the Upper Peninsula.

There are fat loans available, even "unlimited operating capital" as Meyers has been told.

But there are things working against the UP, namely its location, so far off the beaten path.

Meyers' customers fly in from all over the world and there's nothing like Willow Run or Detroit Metro on which to touch down and be met by Tecumseh folks.

On top of that, Al Meyers likes Tecumseh and doesn't cotton to the idea of pulling up stakes and moving all his tools and machines. However, if enough of the green is waved around, sometimes a guy can change his thinking.

★

IT WOULD be a real loss if the aircraft firm did exit — not the end of the world maybe — but certainly a serious blow to our economy and reputation as a town that is good for all industry.

Meyers employs 60 and has a payroll well over the quarter million mark. Annual sales flirt with $1 million.

Besides the $30,000 luxury executive aircraft, of which about one a month is marketed, the firm builds upwards of 3,000 Jeep tops a season and about 2,500 aluminum boats.

The boat division dovetails the water craft and jeep-top deals neatly, one going in the summer and the other during the cold months.

Sears Roebuck handles sales of the boats, which retail from $100 to $350 under the All-State brand name.

Before we get away from the planes, the final price varies with the amount of extra gear. One Chicago customer is going to pay $40,000 for his craft, which has everything, including a 4x4" screen television set, because the fellow likes to watch the White Sox play as he hops about on business junkets.

Ray Retzoldt, long-time Meyers' test pilot and jack-of-all-trades, reveals that the company is considering a new plane — a four-seat turbo-jet, with a cruising speed of about 300.

Finding the right engine is the major task right now.

At present, Meyers has 16,000-square-feet of manufacturing area and needs about twice as much to expand its operations and production.

There is more than enough property adjacent to the present layout for more building.

It's primarily a matter of working out a construction deal and getting some more operating cash.

Tennis, anyone?

New Chief Tours Plant

Fisher Body's Tecumseh plant is 65% complete and its newly-appointed manager is "anxious to get started".

Lewis Lamm, until two weeks ago, production manager of a Fisher Body plant in Cleveland and now No. 1 man here, got his first look at the Tecumseh layout Tuesday afternoon.

"Very, very good," he grinned, adding he was anxious to begin his newest assignment in a General Motors career that goes back to 1933.

He was delighted with everything he saw, including an old GM friend, Joe Reeson, of the Argonaut Real Estate Division who now lives at 413 W. Chicago Blvd.

Joe has been resident field engineer for Argonaut since ground was broken and the pair's paths have crossed many times over the years.

After a visit in the Argonaut construction shanty, the two were joined by Richard Mason of Jackson, who is Fisher Body's resident field engineer.

They piled into Joe's blue F-85 Olds and made a swing around the plant site, the two engineers filling in Mr. Lamm on various features.

En route they stopped so that Mr. Lamm could meet Phil Scannell, a vice-president of Harlan Electric Co., who was overseeing a nasty job in the biting cold.

Conduit lines had to be driven under a roadway to connect well No. 4 with the boilers, which are scheduled to go on next Monday.

"We said we'd have the job done by tonight and we will," Mr. Scannell shouted over the winds. "We may be cold and wet, but it will be in."

This spirit has prevailed all along on the project and is one of the reasons the work speeds right on schedule, with June 1 the date set for the start of operations.

Mr. Reeson pointed out the 135x250' storm sewer retaining basin, which is 600' northwest of the building. It will collect surface water and channel it under the DT&I line and into Cook Drain.

They talked about the spur line from the same railroad, which can turn freight cars around so they'll have the correct side along the unloading dock. Spurs run into both north and south ends of the plant, one for receiving and the other for shipping.

THE MEN discussed the fire protection system, which includes three wells that will pump water into two giant storage tanks with nearly a quarter-million gallon

INDIAN SENSATION — Tecumseh's undefeated basketball team was sparked to a 67-53 victory over Blissfield here Friday night by the all-around play and scoring of Jim Lawson. The 5'11" senior tallied 22 points, twice scoring on plays which left fans shaking their heads. In Tecumseh's nine-game winning stretch, every starter has enjoyed a hot streak. Account of the Blissfield game is on page 8.

St. Elizabeth Classroom TV Costs $1,500

Educational television is coming to St. Elizabeth's Catholic School in two weeks.

The Rev. Fr. Thomas Collins made the announcement to his parishioners Sunday, stating that installation would be made within a week.

"Two parabolic dish antennas will be mounted on a tower 20 feet above the school roof level," the pastor said.

All eight rooms in the school are being tied into a network, as well as a coaxial cable to the nun's convent, where programs can be monitored.

★

THE TWIN ANTENNA will allow exceellent reception from both WDTR in Detroit and the Purdue University high-fidelity station, which transmits five hours daily from a DC-3 plane flying a circle-eight pattern over Lafayette, Ind.

St. Elizabeth's installation will cost $1,500 and is being handled by K-L-A Laboratories of Detroit, which has done many of the Motor City's educational TV hookups.

The engineer who will handle the job here was responsible for 300 Detroit school installations.

Fr. Collins explained that all the system will need now are television sets and he is asking for parishioners to donate eight.

★

"FOUR LENAWEE County Schools — Onsted, Hudson, Morenci and Deerfield — are using television in their systems now," Lynn Marvin, Lenawee County Special Education Supervisor said Monday.

"Madison will soon have it in operation and Britton is considering it," Mr. Marvin added.

He said the science area has been especially interesting to Onsted students. With the use of a portable laboratory, they do the demonstrations preceding or immediately following the programs.

The new math method and foreign language programs are also extensively used in Onsted, Mr. Marvin said. He doesn't know, he said, what courses other schools are using.

Hidden Lake Gardens Gets $250,000 Building

A reception - orientation center will be built at Michigan State University's Hidden Lake Gardens, thanks to a $250,000 gift from Mr. and Mrs. Ray Herrick.

The gift has been formally accepted by the MSU Board of Trustees.

Hidden Lake Gardens consist of a wide variety of trees, shrubs and flowers arrayed over 407 acres in the scenic Irish Hills, a few miles west of Tecumseh.

About 150,000 persons visit the Gardens annually. The reception-orientation center will include a 100-seat lecture hall and other facilities for informal instruction of garden clubs, youth groups, horticulturists, landscape architects, bird-watchers and others who tour the gardens.

The center will be located against the hillside to the south of Hidden Lake and will include a naturalistic garden leading to an observation point overlooking the lake.

It is scheduled for completion by late fall.

★

MR. HERRICK, Tecumseh Products Co. board chairman, is well-known for many contributions to the betterment of the Tecumseh area, as well as other Michigan communities.

Hidden Lake Gardens were started in 1926 by the late Harry A. Fee of Adrian. Mr. and Mrs. Fee gave the gardens to MSU in 1945 and set up trust funds to insure future maintenance and development.

Mr. Fee's sister, Jessie T. Fee, has also contributed generously. Her gifts have permitted additions including a 120-acre arboretum section now under development.

"Mr. Fee established the gardens to enable people to see and learn about beautiful landscape composition and new plants, and —in his own words—'to stimulate the demand for beautiful surroundings,'" noted Milton Baron, MSU landscape architect.

"Mr. Herrick has shown continuing faith in Mr. Fee's philosophy," Professor Baron added.

In addition to their benefits for the public, the gardens also provide research opportunities for students in botany, horticulture and landscape architecture.

The various collections of trees, shrubs and flowers are situated in scenic natural formations created by ice age glaciers. Several walking trails and six miles of improved roads connect points of interest.

An artist's rendering of the new building appears on page 2.

Lawyer To Speak at Annual Banquet, Brotherhood Week

Professor Carl Hawkins of the University of Michigan School of Law will be the guest speaker for the sixth annual Churchmen's Banquet to be held during Brotherhood Week.

Also appearing on the program will be soloist, William Matteson, an engineer with the Johns-Manville Corp. of Wayne.

This year's event will be held at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 25, at the First Baptist Church Youth House. A roast beef dinner will be served by the Ladies Missionary Society of the church.

Ticket chairman Jim Meade said, "Tickets will be available through interested laymen from the participating churches in the Tecumseh area starting Feb. 1."

PAT GEIGER

Then, a Break!

Soprano Peg Geiger of Clinton was thrilled to be chosen for the role of Marian, the Librarian, in the coming Tecumseh Players' production of "The Music Man". It was a big break. Then, Monday afternoon came another — a fractured left ankle — and she had to retire from the cast. Director Bill McAnallen and his assistants reached into the chorus and gave the job to Mary Ann Buzzard of Adrian, who now faces a frenzied two weeks learning the role. More on the show, page one of the second section.

Mothers March Set for Feb. 2

The Mothers March, originally set for last Tuesday, Jan. 26, has been postponed until 6 p.m. Feb. 2.

Persons doing the collecting for the March of Dimes will meet at the Hall-Slater Post of the VFW.

Volunteers come from the VFW and its Auxiliary, the American Legion and Auxiliary, the Jaycees and Auxiliary and Kiwanis.

John Hamilton is chairman.

Ex-Convicts Captured

A bit of sleuthing paid off about 9:45 a.m. Saturday when Tecumseh Police Chief Murell Clark and other officers arrested Joe Williams and Omer L. Vereeke at 12510 Burmeister Rd., Manchester.

Williams, 21, and Vereeke, 20, both ex-convicts, have confessed to breaking and entering charges at nine Tecumseh businesses last week.

They were early suspects in the burglaries when it became known they were associating.

They slipped by the law for a couple of days, since Williams had changed cars recently, and police unknowingly were looking for the wrong vehicle.

After their arrest at Williams' home, Mrs. Williams gave permission to search the house. Officers found practically all the stolen goods. Money taken from vending machines had been spent.

Local places hit by the two last Tuesday and Wednesday were Wilson Motor Sales, Purkey's Garage, Rusty's Drive-in, Tecumseh Motors, Hooton's Cities Service, Hayden Mill, Kuhlman Concrete, Osburn's gas station and Beach's bulk plant.

Examination before the local justice of peace was waived, and both are now scheduled for arraignment Friday in Circuit Court.

Confessions were obtained Monday by Chief Clark after an hour and a half session in the Lenawee County jail, where they are now being held.

Methodists To Build

A proposed new Methodist Church will be built on a new site — if a suitable one can be found — it was decided by a unanimous vote of the church conference last week. The building committe had made such a recommendation. The Rev. Joseph Edwards, superintendent of the Ann Arbor District, presided.

Presenting the committee's report was Lynn Noble, chairman, who called on several members of the committee to discuss special problems.

Harry Stanifer, church school superintendent, discussed the condition and utilization of the present site. F. Huston Colvin, an architect with Colvin, Robinson and Wright of Ann Arbor gave the results of a study of the existing site and William M. Steele, Jr., presented the merits of building on the present site versus the advantage of developing a new site.

★

THE REV. JESSE DeWITT, executive secretary of the Board of Missions and Church Extension of the Detroit Conference, also was in attendance.

Members of the Building Committee who have worked many months to prepare the recommendation are: Clarence Beach, Robert Bonner, Arthur Crawford, William Davis, Merlyn Downing, Carl Hale, Willis Hazelwood, Maynard Lucas, Don Martin, Aden Mead, Lynn Noble, William Powell, Max Skinner, Harry Stanifer and William M. Steele, Jr.

The Fourth Quarterly Conference of the church will be held Feb. 10 at which time it is hoped a report will be available regarding possible sites.

Phone Rates Reduced by General Telephone

General Telephone customers will save approximately $337,000 annually.

Rate reductions for long distance calls within Michigan are the reasons.

Here's how they'll work:

Station evening rates (formerly called night rates) will apply Monday through Friday from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. and from 4:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Saturdays and holidays.

The present late night or "after 9" rate for long distance calls will become a night rate and will be effective from 8 p.m. to 4:30 a.m. Monday through Friday and continuously from 8 p.m. Saturday to 4:30 a.m. Monday.

Essentially, these revisions will advance the effective time for the lowest rate schedule by one hour, from 9 to 8 p.m., give Saturday daytime calls the benefit of the reduced evening rate now given to Sunday calls, and give both day and night Sunday calls the benefit of the lowest rate schedule.

As example, a 3-minute station to station call from Tecumseh to Manistique, which would cost $1 from 4:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., may be made for 70 cents during the following two hours and for 50 cents after 8 p.m. and all day Sunday.

Ice, Snow Cause Only 2 Accidents

Only five accidents were investigated by Tecumseh police during the past week despite snow and ice which covered many of the streets.

Three of the accidents were due to the weather.

Both Mable F. Dowling, 27, Adrian, and John W. Davis, 17, of 507 W. Brown St., were cited for driving too fast after they collided in the intersection of W. Pottawatamie and Van Buren Sts.

Neither were able to stop for the other on the ice-covered pavement.

Lena Smith, Cummins St., slid off Comfort Rd., and struck a tree Friday. Local police assisted, but turned the investigation over to the county sheriff's department.

Gerald R. Moore, 19, Monroe, also slid off the road just west of Rogers Hwy on E. Chicago Blvd. His vehicle sustained front end damages and was towed away.

Richard A. Henry, 27, Adrian, was cited for violation of the basic speed law Friday after running into the rear of an auto driven by Carmaleen Dee Bozeman, 29, of 202 E. Cummins.

Sharon Lee Cooper of Jackson reported her car damaged while parked in the Tecumseh Products parking lot. Other driver is unknown.

Police are waiting for identification from Lansing on a car which struck the parked auto belonging to Austin A. Partridge in downtown Tecumseh.

Mrs. Partridge was in the car at the time and took the license number of the other vehicle, which struck the Partridge car after pulling out of a parking spot.

Fisher Body Names 2 New Executives

Two more appointments for the Tecumseh Fisher Body plant have been announced.

► Frans W. vanWestrenen will be comptroller.

► The plant's director of industrial relations will be Harvey C. Vogt.

The appointments were revealed Tuesday night by Lewis J. Lamm, recently-appointed manager of the new plant, during a Fisher Body reception at the Tecumseh Country Club for 75 local area industrialists and civic leaders.

Mr. Vogt, like Mr. Lamm, is being transferred to the Tecumseh operation from Fisher's plant in Cleveland. He has been assistant plant director of industrial relations there since 1955.

Born in Erie, Pa., in 1916, Mr. Vogt graduated from high school there and then attended the University of Pittsburgh where he majored in accounting and graduated in 1938 with a bachelor of arts degree.

He started with Fisher Body as a payroll auditor at the Cleveland plant in 1940. Promotions in the accounting department to senior clerk and then accountant led to his transfer in 1952 to the plant's industrial relations department.

There he progressed through staff representative, industrial relations supervisor, and assistant plant director of industrial relations, the position from which he is now promoted.

As plant director of industrial relations at Tecumseh, Mr. Vogt will be responsible for employment, training, safety, plant protection, administration of salaried and hourly-rate procedures, and other areas of personnel work.

Mr. Vogt will move to the Tecumseh area in the near future with his wife, Rachel. The couple has three daughters ranging in age from 15 to 21.

★

MR. VANWESTRENEN will be transferred to Tecumseh from the Fisher Body upholstery trim plant at Livonia where he has been general supervisor of cost accounting since June 1963.

A graduate of South High School in Grand Rapids, Mr. vanWestrenen attended Grand Rapids Junior College, where he studied Business Administration.

He received over two years of specialized training in accounting at LaSalle Extension and the Davenport McLachlan Institute.

He started his Fisher Body career in 1937 as a payroll auditor at the Grand Rapids No. 1 plant.

Promotions through senior clerk, cost accountant, assistant general supervisor, junior analyst and senior accountant led to his transfer in 1952 to the Grand Rapids No. 2 plant where he was appointed general supervisor of cost accounting.

The Grand Rapids No. 2 plant produces automobile body upholstery and its operations are similar to those to be performed at Tecumseh.

As comptroller at Fisher Body-Tecumseh, Mr. vanWestrenen will be responsible for activities such as cost accounting, general accounting, cost analysis, payroll and data processing.

He is 52 years old, married, and has three grown children.

Nursery School Hours Expanded

Extra sessions are being added to the nursery school operated by Mrs. Warren Puffer, assisted by Mrs. Claude Sebring.

Classes will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 until 11:15 a.m. in the nursery rooms of the Presbyterian Church. These are in addition to those being held the other three days of the week.

A large waiting list prompted the qualified teachers to make the addition to the non-denominational school which is licensed by the state of Michigan.

The school for tots has been in existence for three years offering a varied program of self directed activities, art, music, science, rhythms, games, a story period, snack and rest time.

Anyone interested in enrolling a child in the new sessions may do so by calling Mrs. Puffer 423-4018 or Mrs. Sebring 423-3873 or by simply attending one of the Tuesday or Thursday morning classes.

capacity.

Within the ranks of the maintenance people are trained fire fighters, who are the first line of protection, to be supplemented by community departments.

The trio watched two Dunbar Drilling workers install 40-horsepower motor on No. 3 well shaft, which has a pumping capacity of 500 gallons per minute.

Consumers Power's complete sub-station, which will step down 13,200-volt circuits to 480, was viewed. The trio saw workers installing the lift station, which will provide the pressure for the sewage link between Fisher Body and the Tecumseh wastewater treatment plant.

Mr. Mason then took Mr. Lamm for a stroll through the huge 290,000-square-foot layout.

★

MR. LAMM'S day was capped with a reception at Tecumseh Country Club where he met several hundred Tecumseh industrial, civic and business leaders.

For the present, Mr. Lamm said he'll be working out of Fisher Body's headquarters in Warren, popping in and out of Tecumseh over the next few weeks.

The gift of the day was won by Mrs. Ernest Gleason.

Plans were made for the annual "family night" to be Feb. 18 in the K. of P. Hall. A pot-luck dinner will be served at 7 p.m.

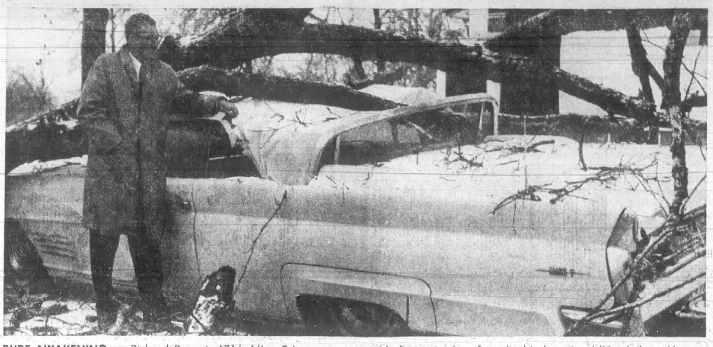
Porteous Film To Be Shown Sunday Night

The showing of a TV film in which the Rev. Donald Porteous participated last October in Dallas, Texas will be shown at 7 p.m. Sunday in the Methodist Church.

The film, entitled "The Story" is a portion of a series concerning the life of a former alcoholic, Ford Philpott, who is now a minister and evangelist. The Rev. Porteous was one of the men who had a part in the conversion of the Rev. Philpott and in the film he speaks of his contact with the alcoholic during the difficult days of decision.

Members of the church will attend an all-church potluck supper at 6 p.m. prior to the showing of the film. Persons attending are to bring their own table service and a dish to pass.



RUDE AWAKENING — Richard Bryant, 6716 Allen Rd., wondered why he bothered to crawl out of bed Saturday morning. Outside the house was his beautiful Continental convertible with the top and roof crushed in by a tumbling timber. Heavy ice had brought down an overhanging tree limb during one of the wind storms the area "enjoyed" the past few days.

YOU TOLD US by Dorothy Grigg

Hold it, watch just everything, especially those kids on bicycles. They are unconcerned and they don't break as easy as we grandmothers do but one child clattered in a pile right at the main intersection Monday. Fortunately no cars were there.

Recreation Activities

By DON MOFFATT, Superintendent

GOLF CLASSES

Many questions have been asked about this new program, so I will answer some of them. The classes are held at the Community Center at 7 p.m. each Tuesday and Wednesday. The instructor is Ermond "Ded" Eldredge.

Clubs and balls are furnished. Cost of the six-week course is $5 and the next session will start Mar. 2 and 3. Registration for the next session is now being handled at City Hall. When registering, be sure to sign up for the day and time you desire — either Tuesdays or Wednesdays, 7 to 8 or 8 to 9 p.m.

Thursday at 7 p.m., JJan. 28, there will be a special golf clinic, sponsored by WABJ radio station of Adrian in the main room of the Community Center. Golf pro Don White will demonstrate various shots following instructional films and highlights of the 1964 Buick Open. This free golf clinic is open to all Tecumseh-land residents.

ATHLETIC CLUBS

The Women's Athletic Club meets at the High School gym from 7 to 10 p.m. each Tuesday. The men's club meets Thursdays, same time. Plan to join the club and enjoy the physical exercise of the many activities offered.

ART CLASS

There is still room for three more art students in the class which meets in the glass room of the Community Center at 7 p.m. each Thursday. The two hour lessons are taught by Howell Poucher, and the class fee is $9. Why not come down and enjoy this relaxing pasttime? This recreational class is for the non-professional artist who is interested in beginning art appreciation.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Each Thursday afternoon the Community Center is the meeting place for senior citizens to drop-in and take part in their own activities and fun.

The second Thursday of each month a planned get-together is the offering. Coming up Feb. 11, the planned program will carry the theme for St. Valentine's Day. Plan now to attend and bring along a friend.

Father Collins To Take Cruise

The Rev. Fr. Thomas J. Collins, pastor of St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church, will leave Feb. 2 for a West Indies cruise.

He'll sail aboard the SS Hamseatic of the Hamburg-Atlantic Line with a fellow priest from Indiana.

When the ship reaches the island of Curacao, the two priests will have a special welcoming committee, relatives of a new St. Elizabeth Church member, Dr. Nicolas DeWitt, who works for Stauffer Chemical Co.

Mrs. DeWitt's brother-in-law is a doctor there, and he and his wife will escort the priests about the island.

Two Appointed

Two appointments were made by Council Monday, Jan. 18 for two approaching observances.

Richard Beasley was named marshal of the day for Decoration Day, and Dike Helms was picked to be chairman for Michigan Week.

Growing OLD GRACEFULLY

It isn't automatic — this growing old gracefully. Worries seem to accumulate with the years. And there is often the gnawing sense that opportunities once brimming with promise lie empty where we tossed them . . . along a road without return.

But these later years are not meant to be a burden. There is much to suggest that God intended them to bring reward.

He gave us the blessing of memories, so precious moments of joy may be lived again and again.

He gave us the gift of love, so we can experience anew the adventures of youth, the achievements of maturity, in the lives of our children and grandchildren.

And He gave us a Way of Life, revealed in the teachings of Christ. So that every today . . . when it has become yesterday . . . will be another graceful stone in the arch of Tomorrow.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Undefeated Indians Rip Blissfield Cagers, 67-53

A giant stride toward the Huron League championship was taken Friday night when the undefeated Tecumseh Indians bumped visiting Blissfield, 6-53.

dians bumped visiting Blissfield, 67-53.

The victory, much closer than the score indicates, gives Tecumseh a 5-0 mark in the league and an overall season record of 9-0.

Blissfield holds second place in the loop with a 4-1 record, and the Royals' only chance of catching the Indians appears to be their rematch on Feb. 26 at Blissfield.

The Royals, gambling in the final minutes here Friday night with a full court press, failed to close a four-point deficit as the Indians cashed in on a rash of fouls committed by Blissfield in the waning seconds.

★

COACH VIC LAWSON'S team appeared on its way to an easy win in the first half when Tecumseh opened up a six-point lead at the end of eight minutes.

Tecumseh once built the margin to 13 points before leaving at the half with a 10-point bulge. Blissfield narrowed the gap to six points in the third quarter, and then came on in a rush in the final period.

Three times in the fourth quarter, the Royals pulled to within one point, but never managed to gain a lead.

With the Indians leading 53-49, Blissfield went into a full court press with nearly three minutes left in the game. The slower Blissfield team never had a chance as the quicker Tecumseh cagers took advantage of late fouling.

★

IN THE FINAL period, mostly in the final three minutes, Tecumseh cashed in on 14 of 18 free throw attempts.

Until then, both teams were about even in goals and free throws in the foul-ridden contest.

The Indians had 20 fouls called against them and lost two players by the foul route. Blissfield, due to the full court press when numerous infractions were called, completed the game with 28 fouls and lost three players on fouls.

The well-balanced Tecumseh club, which seems to have a sparkplug on different nights, was led by Jim Lawson and Terry Alcock.

Lawson turned in a sensational performance, particularly in the second half, and topped all scorers with 23 points. Offensively, his output in points was far short of the school record, but his ball handling was the best seen here in many, many years.

The 6'3" Alcock gave away four and a half inches to Blissfield's Bill McDowell and another inch to 6'4" Jim Gibbons, but still controlled the bankboards plus holding McDowell to 12 points.

★

GREGG ALLEN played most of the game with a bandaged head — resulting from a fall in the Airport game — and scored 17 points, second to Lawson. Eleven of his points came in the second half.

The other Indian starters, Jeff Osburn and Dave Tilton, had their moments. Tilton sank two long ones from the side in the first half, once to tie the count at 7-7 and another time to boost Tecumseh's lead to 19-11.

Osburn connected for six points in Tecumseh's big fourth period. One goal iced the game for the Indians, upping their lead to nine points with about a minute remaining, and another goal as the buzzer sounded made the victory more convincing.

Top performer for Blissfield was Gibbons who hit for 22 points, nine in the fourth quarter.

Cage Fever High for 2nd Rated '5'

Cage fever has hit Tecumseh —and for several reasons.

The Indians are 9-0 for the season, lead the Huron League with a 5-0 mark, and are now ranked second in the state by the AP for Class B schools.

Cage fever was apparent here Friday night at the Tecumseh-Blissfield game when for the first time in the history of the schools, the doors were closed to fans.

At 7:05, over an hour before the varsity game started, school officials ordered the doors closed since the gym was filled and people were standing at the ends of the basketball floor in the gym exits.

Don Brazee, assistant high school principal, estimated the crowd at 1,500. Although the gym is supposed to handle 1,600, officials say not nearly that many can be seated.

Next home game is with Milan on Feb. 5, and with the Indians winning, another capacity crowd is expected.

Tecumseh has seven games left on its schedule in order to have a chance to overtake River Rouge for the No. 1 spot in the polls.

The District Tournament at Chelsea is scheduled to start on March 2, with the Regionals at Eastern Michigan University at Ypsilanti to follow.

A large number of fans who have followed Tecumseh this season are expected to make the trip to Flat Rock this Friday night.

On Dec. 12 the Indians trimmed the Rams here 65-53. A home court advantage this week may tighten the margin and give Flat Rock some hopes for an upset.

Tecumseh cannot afford a letdown after whipping Blissfield. Any loss would drop the Indians into a tie for first place in the league, and a lower state rating —if prestige means anything.

Jayvees Win Big, 52-32

Tecumseh Jayvees completely outclassed their Blissfield opponents Friday night, 52-32, for their sixth straight win.

Dean Hebb paced all scorers with 22 points. Teammate Lee Hannibal netted 12.

Coach Jim Hoffman's team routed the Royals in the first half, scoring 29 points to Blissfield's nine.

Back Stage Crew Handles Many Jobs

By EVE BOWEN

Duane Steele, used to starring on stage, will be playing "the biggest role of his career" in the Tecumseh Players' production of "The Music Man".

As technical director, he will be in charge of the largest crew ever used by the Players and although all of his activities will be back-stage, his talents will be much in evidence. He'll probably be singing right along with the cast.

Duane is being assisted by old timers and newcomers. It takes a lot of doing to put 40 people out in front of an audience.

Working on the set with Duane are Lou Hardesty, Ed Mengerink and Mike Brose. Bill Frownfelder is in charge of lighting and helping him is Gary Schmitz.

Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson of Clinton are doing props and working with them are Mrs. Charles Parker and Don Geiger, also of Clinton.

Don is husband of Peg Geiger, who originally was cast as Miss Marian, the Librarian. Also helping is our Mrs. Julie Fosbender, a real librarian.

Mrs. Dick Hammel and Mrs. Orrie Gilbert head up costumes as co-chairmen and are having a ball.

"A ball?" ask the girls.

Well, anyway, it is a challenge. Busily sewing are Mrs. Carlton Cook, Mrs. Bill Adams, Mrs. Norm Bailey, Mrs. Howard Furry, Mrs. Wilbur Andrews, Mrs. Earl Baldwin.

Mrs. Baldwin, whose own chapeaux are always so chic, is redesigning many hats that are in the Players' costume collection and perhaps a new career is in the offing.

There are over 40 persons in the cast and all of them require at least two changes of costume and the principals even more. Although many of the cast helps by doing their own sewing, this still leaves a tremendous load of work.

JEAN SAYS they could use men's suits from the era of 1912. This might be just the excuse some people could use to hunt through their attics and old trunks.

Serving as dressers will be Mrs. Preston Caswell, Mrs. Tom Riordan and Mrs. David Woods.

Tickets for this production are available at United Savings Bank, Wright's Drug store, Drs. Murray and Laidlaw's office and Wegner's Market. Also by calling Joy Dalton at 423-4281.

There are still good seats for most performances. The show opens Feb. 10.

Dr. Richard Hammel will star in "The Music Man" as the con artist who finds "trouble" in River City. Originally, Mrs. Donald Geiger of Clinton was cast to play opposite him as Marian the Librarian, but a broken ankle forced her out of the show. She has been replaced by Mrs. Arnold Buzzard of Adrian.

'Take it Easy' Surgeons Warn Beginning Skiers

ANN ARBOR — If you didn't learn to ski at an early age, University of Michigan orthopedic surgeons advise: "Take it easy".

They caution older beginners not to try to master too many new tricks at once.

Beginners, and out-of-condition skiers, suffer the majority of injuries on the slopes.

Legs, ankles, and knees are apt to be involved in minor ski mishaps. Broken ankles and torn ligaments in the ankle and knee, which result from twisting, will probably be seen more frequently this winter because of increased interest in the sport, they note.

Less common skiing injuries seen in hospitals and doctors' offices involve the hands, arms, hips and back. And broken toes are rare because of the good protection provided by most ski boots.

Michigan Prospering

Economic expansion in Michigan reached an all-time high during 1964, according to a year-end report issued by B. M. Conboy, Director of the Michigan Department of Economic Expansion.

The Big Three automobile manufacturers led the list of companies announcing growth plans for 1964 in Michigan. General Motors unveiled a three-year expansion program which will improve existing plants and provide some 7,6000,000 sq. feet of additional floor space in Michigan at a cost of more than $700 million. GM's plans include new plants at Tecumseh and Kalamazoo, cities in which the company will have manufacturing operations for the first time.

Ford Motor Company announced an ambitious expansion and modernization program, including a new 2,500,000-square-foot stamping plant at Woodhaven and additions totaling over 1,500,000 square feet in other Michigan plants, providing prospective employment for about 7,800 additional workers in Michigan.

★

CHRYSLER CORPORATION'S 1964 expansion program included a $40 million stamping plant in Sterling Township, just north of Detroit; a new tool and die facility; major expansion of the Plymouth assembly plant and a new 700,000-square-foot foundry.

One of the year's significant developments was the dedication of the new U. S. Plywood particle board manufacturing plant at Gaylord, giving direct employment to some 200 workers in the northern part of the Lower Peninsula and utilizes the forest resources of that area.

Personal income of Michigan residents rose $1.8 billion during 1964, or 8.8 per cent over 1963.

Capital expenditures announced by Michigan industries in 1964 total an astonishing $1.6 billion.

This should result in an increase of 50,000 direct manufacturing jobs, based on required investment of $20,000 for each job, and stimulating an increase of approximately 75,000 non-manufacturing jobs through out the state.

What's Going on at BOYSVILLE

By MARTIN WHITAKER

Jan. 19, the Fighting Knights of Boysville at last pulled out of a four-game losing streak as they downed the Minutemen of Deerfield by a score of 56-50. The Knights sprang to an early 6-0 lead and proved consistent in their scoring attack, thus attaining a 10-point 17-7 first quarter lead. The second period saw the Minutemen cast a wary eye at Boysville's margin as they outscored the Knights, 18-13, and brought the halftime score up to 30-25.

During the third quarter the Knights saw their margin begin to dwindle even further as Deerfield again outscored them 14-12. At the end of the third quarter the Knights were clutching a 42-39 lead. Again the Knight offense proved reliable as they found the hoop in the fourth quarter for 14 points as compared to Deerfield's 11.

Boysville's scoring assault was led by Ron Klos and Moe Jacobs with 19 and 17 respectively. Deerfield's loss was due primarily to Boysville's accuracy at the foul line, as both teams found the hoop for 18 field goals. Both teams had 30 foul shot attempts, but Boysville made good on 20 of these while Deerfield capitalized on only 14.

►

Boysville's basketball hopes for a good start in the second half of the season were felled Jan. 22, as they dropped to their sixth defeat at the hands of Whiteford by a score of 98-67. The Bobcats took a substantial lead early in the game as they boasted a 23-9 lead at the end of the first quarter. The second frame saw the Whiteford team still consistent in its scoring barrage. The halftime score stood at 47-27, an assuring lead for Whiteford. Both teams matched each other, point for point, throughout the third quarter, but in the fourth period the Bobcats again proved relentless in their scoring attack as they went on to smother the Knights, 98-67.

Scoring honors went to Moe Jacobs with 31 points and to Ron Klos with 24. Ron now boasts a 21.5 average per game, and Moe has a 16.5 average.

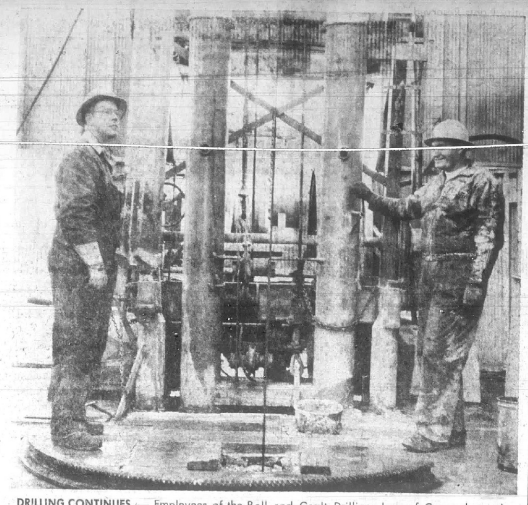
►

Meanwhile, the Junior Varsity has been giving a good account of itself. Jan. 19, it put to rout the Minûtemen of Deerfield by a score of 62-29. By half time the reserves had already achieved a 33-11 lead. At the end of the third quarter, they boasted a 53-21 lead. And from there they went on to win, 62-29.

Jan. 22, however, the Junior Knights suffered the same fate as did their counterparts, the varsity, as they bowed to Whiteford's hustling team, 46-42.

►

Semester examinations were held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Thursday, Jan. 28, the boys left for a weekend holiday that will extend through Sunday.



DRILLING CONTINUES — Employees of the Bell and Gault Drilling, Inc., of Concord, watch as specimens of rock are being raised to the surface from the oil well being drilled on the farm of Gustav Brenke of 617 Rogers Hwy. Samples are saved about every five to seven feet for examination by a geologist. Clarence Gardner of Hillsdale (left) is the driller on the day shift; Bernard D. Smith of Reading, the tool dresser.

God Is Love

The vital nature of love as a power that can reshape human lives will be brought out in Christian Science churches this Sunday.

The subject is "Love," and the Golden Text from 1 John (4:7,8) underlies the theme: "Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God . . . He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love."

Mother of Year — Is She Here?

Did you know that the search for the Michigan State Mother of 1965 has begun?

Primary objective of the American Mother's Committee, Inc., is to develop and strengthen the moral and spiritual foundations of the American Home.

First — that she be a successful mother, as evidenced by the character and achievements of her individual children.

Second — that she be an active member of a religious body.

Third — that she embody those traits highly regarded in mothers: courage, cheerfulness, patience, affection, kindness, understanding and a homemaking ability.

Fourth—that she exemplify in her life and conduct the precepts of the Golden Rule.

Fifth — that she have a sense of responsibility in civic affairs and that she be active in service for public benefit.

Sixth — that she be qualified to represent the Mothers of America in all responsibilities attached to her role as the National Mother.

Other qualifying conditions require that the youngest child should not be less than 15 years of age. No divorced mother may qualify.

Our chosen State Mother will be especially honored at a luncheon sponsored by Northland Center Chamber of Commerce. Later she will be sent to New York by Northland Center to be considered with the State Mothers selected by all the other states for the honor of being the American Mother.

Anyone may send in the name of a candidate if they have the recommendation by a recognized organization.

Nomination blanks are obtainable from

Mrs. Charles F. Kuhn
Post Office Box 861

Here and There

By DELAPHENE SHELTON

Editor's note: Mrs. Shelton's column, "Smorgasbord", will be appearing henceforth under the title "Here and There." The change is being made at the request of Mrs. Shelton who has never been happy with the "Smorgasboard" heading.

My husband and I spent a recent week in Baltimore, Md. En route we traveled the Ohio and Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Being the type of persons who, when time permits, stop at every historical sign along the road, we, of course, read the plaques posted in the two plazas we stopped in along the highway.

"Towpath" and "Wyandotte."

The first told of the old Ohio-Erie canal which once traversed Eastern Ohio. The second mentioned the Wyandotte Indians who once inhabited the area and who were finally moved through treaty in the 1840s to the Western Lands.

★

AS WE SPED along at 65 miles an hour I thought of my great-great grandparents who had traveled this same land in 1832, making slow progress with their ox-drawn covered wagons loaded with children and household goods and driving their cattle and hogs.

They were en route from Lake County, O. hoping to make a fortune in the new lands opening up in the West. The long trek took three weeks before they finally reached the end of their journey near what is now Oakshade in Chesterfield Twp., Fulton County, O.

They didn't make the hoped-for fortune but they did become prosperous leaders in their community. In fact the township was named after its earliest white settler, my grandfather Chesterfield Clements.

Now the trip which they found so arduous can be made in less than four hours. Grandpa's old farm is but a few miles from the Wauseon, O. exit of the Ohio Turnpike.

★

THE "WYANDOTTE" sign reminded me of the young boy who grew up to become the husband of one of Mr. Clements' daughters and another community leader.

He too came in the early 1830s out of York State by way of Lake County, O. making the overland trip with a Mr. Briggs who planned to open a store in the same general region to which the Clements moved.

Young John Butler proved to be a handy boy to have around. He helped in the trading post and when he was 13 became the mail carrier between Sylvania, O. and what is now Angola, Ind. He made his trips on horseback, sometimes guiding new settlers through the almost trackless forests.

He became adept at speaking the Indian languages and when the government was "palavering" with the Indians and attempting to persuade them to sell their lands for white settlement he was one of the interpreters who assisted in arranging the treaties.

The engagement of Kay Wagoner to A/2c Joseph H. Guy is being announced by Mr. and Mrs. James E. Danforth of 804 Outer Dr. The bride-elect is a 1961 graduate of Tecumseh High School and a 1964 graduate of Bronson Methodist Hospital School of Nursing, where she was affiliated with Kappa Chi Iota. She is presently a Registered Nurse at Herrick Memorial Hospital. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Guy, Sr., of 804 Washburn St., Kalamazoo. A/2c Guy is a 1961 graduate of Flat Rock High School. He is now serving a tour of duty on a USAF Radar site near Kaiserslaughtern, Germany. A summer wedding is planned.

★

MRS. ROBISON presented a program entitled, "Like Father, Like Daughter."

She told of the life of Anne Huchison, one of the early founders of Massachusetts who because of her religious beliefs was driven from the state.

She went to assist Roger Williams in Rhode Island where they could practice their religion in freedom.

A letter from the National Chapter, DAR was read nominating Mrs. Caroline Harrison to the Hall of Fame, New York City. She was the first president general of DAR and wife of President Benjamin Harrison.

Refreshments were served from a lace covered table with Mrs. Louis Schneider and Mrs. Lindsley pouring beverages assisted by Edith Ingersol.

BOOST EARLY CROP GROWTH by having nitrogen available in a form easily absorbed by the plant and within the early rooting area. Early spring soil temperatures are usually too cold to release adequate amounts of soil nitrogen already there for growth during this period. Thus, a starter nitrogen helps. Optimum soil temperature for germination of corn is 68° to 90° F.; minimum 40° to 50° F.

THROW UREA ON ICY WALKS, ramps and driveways instead of rock salt. Urea is more expensive but it won't corrode metal like liquefied rock salt. In livestock areas, much of its value will be saved since it will mix with manure for field spreading. To improve traction mix 2½ to 3 pounds urea with 100 pounds of sharp sand and spread 50 pounds per 1,000 square feet.

BREED DAIRY COWS 60 to 90 days after calving. Conception rates are highest between two and three months after calving. It takes that long for a cow's reproductive tract to return to normal. But delaying breeding longer than 80 days after calving costs the dairyman $1 to $2 per day in reduced milk production. A longer calving interval may also interfere with culling and making replacements.

BUY MACHINERY NOW. It might pay, even if its a combine you won't need until summer. Many large manufacturers offer winter specials on large items such as tractors and combines that can save you several hundred dollars. Also, dealers are anxious to reduce inventory.

Our Readers Write

TO THE EDITORS:

When the Jan. 14 edition of The Herald arrived in my mailbox, I read it with the usual interest. However, I was surprised and I must say, disappointed, with the lengthy article dedicated to Mrs. Glenn Jones.

This article, I am sure, was intended to honor Mrs. Jones upon her accomplishment of "slanging the classics". I am not objecting to the article which was, itself, well written.

My objection is to the principle which Mrs. Jones exemplifies.

My own experiences with the classics and especially with Shakespeare have been most rewarding. I feel slanging of the classics in this way is an example of the modern view toward literature.

It seems the writings of the past have to be diluted and disguised before they can be accepted by modern readers. Why is this necessary?

Could it be because many readers either lack the background for reading and understanding the classics or they refuse to take the time and thought necessary to enjoy any type of writing different from their everyday speech?

If this is the case, I feel Mrs. Jones is doing an injustice by corrupting with slang something as unique and perfect in itself as Shakespeare's writing.

★

TO UNDERSTAND and enjoy Shakespeare, the reader must be exposed to many different subjects, all of which I feel can be explained and effectively taught.

First the reader must place Shakespeare in his own time and environment. An understanding of the Elizabethian stage, which is certainly unique, is necessary as is an understanding of the language Shakespeare uses, typifying 16th century England.

The reader must have a basic idea of the principles of tragic and comic playwriting. A reader's background and exposure to these various subjects determines his acceptance or rejection of Shakespeare.

Nothing will be accomplished by bringing Shakespeare down to the "man on the street" except corrupting the grandeur of Elizabethian plays and a degrading of the English language in general.

★

AS A SENIOR at Michigan State University, majoring in English, I have no intention of paraphrasing Shakespeare by the use of slang for my high school students when I begin teaching.

Rather I shall give them an awareness of England at the time Shakespeare wrote, an awareness of Elizabethian staging and also basic principles of playwriting.

While my students are reading Shakespeare, I shall help them to understand and appreciate the language. Then and only then would I feel them in any position to reject Shakespeare on the grounds of "being dull".

Many fine recordings of Shakespeare's plays are now available as well as visual aid material which can make Shakespeare "real" to students without sacrificing the true art.

Slang in itself serves an important part in our lives. It is a means of communication and a means of associating with our peer groups. However, slang has no place in the classics, as lowering the English standard for the average will only result in the standard becoming meaningless.

Might I suggest in conclusion, that instead of "slanging the classics" for students, we might give some thought to a more effective way of teaching Shakespeare and of giving high school and college students this necessary background and appreciation of this great writer?

I thank you for allowing me this space in The Herald.

Sincerely yours,
Barbara Jo Damon

Thru My Window

WE LOOKED INSTEAD OF WORKED

Monday we carefully laid the ground-work for a highly-organized, extremely efficient, very productive Tuesday. The topic of today's article was to be red squirrels and so reference books were pulled out and marked, an old magazine containing a pertinent article was searched for and found, and I started thinking "little reds". Everything was in readiness. I should have known better. A surprise visitor arrived Tuesday morning and so our tirade against the storm-trooping red squirrels must wait — more exciting things are now on the docket.

All winter a most infrequent fly-through our window pictures has been a ragged yellow bellied sapsucker. Therefore when we saw him swoop out of a nearby tree, take a quick look at the feeder and then veer away, we were not too excited. A few minutes later however, he was back and this time settled himself down for what turned out to be a long suet snack. Ida and I were spellbound — there was Mr. Grubby himself just a few short feet from the window. Who wants to talk about red squirrels?

★

THERE IS JUST no getting away from the fact that a yellow bellied sapsucker is a funny looking bird. A bunch of ragged feathers loosely tied together and oh, what dirty colors. Being used to the trim tufted titmouse, the sleek little black capped chic a dee and the brilliant red male cardinal made the poor sapsucker seem pitifully dowdy and ill-groomed.

Let's take his feathers first — they appear to be — well, what can we say? "Soft, long, almost fringy and with no body" is almost a description. They do not look soft to the touch, just soft to the point of not hanging together. That they are colored a motley assortment of dull black, dirty white and a pale, pale yellow-tan is no great help.

Actually, of course, our visitor had some things going for him; his very unsightliness was fascinating. He looked like a character and, much to our pleasure, acted like one. On his head was a dark, dirty red beret with a wide black band but instead of wearing it respectably on top or to the back, it was pushed forward and slouched down till it covered his forehead and rested on the bridge of his bill. And speaking of his bill, it was very long, very sharp, but surprisingly thin. Now, most other birds are happy to have their bills set straight, but not this non-conformist. His was cocked up — I think he must be a Dizzy Gillespie fan for his bill tilted at about the same angle as does the end of that fabulous horn.

ANOTHER INTERESTING facet of his appearance was his tail. It was short but quite pretty and almost dainty. The two outer feathers were thin and pointed whereas the inner were shorter thus making a very decided fork or V-shape. Under his chin was tied a black bib similar to a flicker's crescent.

Although we may have missed a visit at noon and perhaps more near the end of the afternoon, we can verify at least 14 times he came to the feeder. Quite a Tuesday! His favorite food was suet but also some nibbling was done at the pile of scratch feed. He soon became accustomed to the movement inside the room and showed no fear, just slight aggravation at the sparrows who sometimes crowded a bit close.

★

OUR FINGERS are crossed in hopes that the pictures of Mr. Grubby turn out well. He was a fine model, posing this way and that, and not even blinking an eye when the flash went off. Since that Tuesday, memorable because we not only saw our bird so often but were able to photograph him too, the sapsucker has been a faithful visitor; in fact, there are two in the neighborhood — never being satisfied, I cannot help but think how exciting it would be to have a picture of both sapsuckers feasting at the feeder together.

So it is that our Tuesday's work plan went out the window — we looked instead of worked!

Redskins Share Top

CLINTON — Coach Dick Content's team shares with Ann Arbor's University High Cubs, the lead in the Lakeland C Conference, as a result of Saturday's game at Clinton. The game with U High ended with a score of 62-58 for the home team.

Forwards Roger Mann and Dave Papsdorf, at 6-1, out-positioned their taller opponents on the boards, a factor in the win.

The unbeaten Ann Arbor team entered the game without center Dave Pearson who had a sprained ankle. In spite of missing the first five shots the Cubs took a 4-3 lead. This was soon squelched by guards Hugh Miller and John Basinger and by accurate out-court shooting by Dick Jedele.

A technical foul was assessed on the Cubs when they came through the door after the buzzer sounded. To make matters worse, their cheerleaders were waiting at another door, and greeted the Clinton team by mistake.

Freshman Butch Hoelzer was Clinton's hero when he notched his third fielder and seventh point with 30 seconds left to play.

Clinton's traditional rivals, the Manchester team, will play at Clinton Friday. Manchester is tied for second place in the league. The Redskins have to beat them to stay in first place. They defeated Manchester the first time around.

This was Clinton's fourth win in five starts in league games, setting up Clinton for the showdown game Friday with Ann Arbor's U. High.

John Basinger made a fine 16-point score for Clinton with Bill Jedele racking up 14. Bob DeFillipo was high scorer for Whitmore Lake with 17.

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Should you happen to meet her at a bridge party down the street some evening, she's look like most other gals of 46.

Short, with her blond hair pulled back in a bun, she'd be a pleasant conversationalist.

But if you happened to bring up world affairs, Dickey Chapelle would suddenly register as someone quite different.

Dickey has a million-to-one career — maybe a billion-to-one — for woman or man.

Since 1942, she has lived on the "edge of the sword" as a war correspondent.

War for 22 years, you may ask?

That's right, from the Marine landing on Iwo Jima through the end of World War II, the Hungarian revolt, Algeria, Indochina, Korea, Cuba and for the last 14 months, Viet Nam.

Miss Chapelle was the headline speaker at last weekend's Michigan Press Association convention.

Freshly returned to the States, she brought back a report which was chilling.

Saigon is the city we know about, but how savvy are we when it comes to those tiny rice-paddy towns, with names westerners can't pronounce — and where the Viet Cong creep in at night and silently slit a dozen throats?

Practically not at all.

Dickey was there, taking pictures on assignment for National Geographic magazine and collecting material about the nasty little war that isn't a war — or little in impact.

★

"WE'VE GOT to win in Viet Nam," she pleaded with editors and publishers of the state's daily and weekly papers.

She warned that if we pull out, it will mean "a new Viet Nam" in the months to come. Dickey predicted that the Philippines would be the next battle ground.

A logical question for Dickey seemed, how can we win in Viet Nam? She had a ready answer: "We must kill more of them than they kill of us."

When that happens, the remaining Viet Congs will become discouraged and gradually the conflict would fizzle.

"But right now we're losing," says Dickey, who has seen this mess first hand, like the time she tagged along on a no-man's-land reconnaisance patrol.

"Tagged" isn't the right verb, actually.

She was right in the middle of the 40 men, four of whom were GI "advisors." Dickey was armed with an automatic rifle, in addition to her two trusty 35mm Leica cameras.

It happened to be Christmas morning and after the patrol got caught in machine gun and rifle fire, then blasted its way out and headed for home, she asked a burly first sergeant,

"Tops, what present do you want for Christmas?"

He looked around at his band of Viet Nam troops, now out of danger, laughing and joking.

Then like a pleased pop, turned to Miss Chappelle,

"I already got mine."

Herald Captures 2 First Places

The Herald captured two first-place awards in the annual Michigan Press Association weekly newspaper contest.

The Tecumseh weekly was judged best, among papers of 2,500 to 4,000 circulation, in both typography and use of pictures.

In the general excellence catagory, The Herald rated No. 3 in the state, behind The East Lansing Towne Courier and The Charlevoix Courier.

Awards were presented during the annual MPA convention, held last Friday and Saturday on the Michigan State University campus.

The judge in the typography division, Howard King of Fairchild-Intertype Corp., said in his report, "Congratulations, for you have the courage to produce a newspaper that is not cluttered-up with a lot of unnecessary gadgets."

He referred to the page preparation and layout, the way stories and pictures are arranged. Good typography or layout means that stories are easy-to-read and the most important ones are placed with larger head type and in multi-column width.

Placement of pictures is an important factor in both layout and reader interest. Their use naturally dovetails with general appearance.

Judging use of pictures was Bill McIlwrath, a member of the MSU journalism staff who teaches photography. He cited subject matter, impact, cropping and captions as important factors in selecting the winner.

The Blissfield Advance was the only other Lenawee County weekly to score in the contest, winning a third in editorials in the open class, competing against all Michigan weeklies, regardless of circulation.

STAUFFER CHEMICAL GENERAL OFFICE IS RESTORED SUTTON PLACE

Vote Coming for $560,000 Bond Issue

By JIM LINCOLN

A $560,000 general obligation bond issue for expansion of the Tecumseh waste water disposal plant will be placed on the April 5 ballot.

The bond issue, largest in the community's history for municipal improvements, was approved by Council Monday night.

Estimated costs for the expansion are high, as is the proposed tax increase of 1.4 mills for 20 years.

City officials do not anticipate the expansion costs, which include the cost for the Tecumseh Fisher Body Plant sewer, to reach the $560,000 total.

Cal Zorn, city manager, points out that a Federal grant of $130,000 is possible. Also, since engineering estimates for expansion costs at the plant are high, bids should lower the actual expenditure further.

★

INCLUDED in the $560,000 bond issue is $110,000 for the Fisher Body sewer. Mr. Zorn says the actual cost will come close to $98,000, which would lop $12,000 off the bond issue figure.

GM has agreed to pay the city for costs of the sewer and lift station over a 20-year period.

All of these factors — high estimates, GM payments and low construction bids — could well cost the tax payer less than one mill a year, according to the city manager.

He says the city will not collect more tax money than needed to meet its bond payments, and growth of the city would lessen costs even more.

Cost per tax payer at 1.4 mills is now based on the present number of property owners and on local assessed values.

★

THE STATE Health Dept. has demanded that Tecumseh increase its capacity at the waste water plant, and officials here agreed.

Plans are to be finalized and bids advertised by June 1. Construction is supposed to start by July 1, with a completion deadline of July 1, 1966.

The expansion would nearly double the present capacity and handle a community of about 15,000.

If the voters turn the bond issue down, it is possible for the State Health Dept. to force the project on the city through court action.

Indian Five Win Streak Threatened

A chance for an upset could occur here Friday night if the undefeated Tecumseh Indians are caught looking ahead to Hillsdale on Saturday night.

The Indians should not have too much trouble here Friday with the Big Reds, a team they defeated easily at Milan in December. However, if Tecumseh points for Hillsdale, Milan with high scoring Rex Plasters could make the upset.

Fans are again reminded that seats may be at a premium, and those hoping to catch the Indians in action should come early. At the last home game, school officials closed the doors at 7:05, about an hour before the varsity game was scheduled to start.

Saturday night, Tecumseh will bump up against what may be the Indians' toughest opponent of the season.

Hillsdale has lost only twice, once to a very strong Albion five. The Hornets have four of their starting five back from the 1963-64 season.

Service to God, Country Brings Youths Honors

The presentation of the Boy Scouts' God and Country Award will be made Scout Sunday, this week, at the Methodist Church during the morning worship service.

The recipients are Richard Hale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hale; Daniel Rodehaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rodehaver; and Reed Skinner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Skinner.

They have worked on this award for about a year and a half under the guidance of their minister, the Rev. Donald Porteous.

To receive this honor it is required that the boys work in five areas which include Christian faith, witness, world outreach, citizenship, and fellowship. Two service projects must be completed during the work period of each stage.

Here to make the presentation will be Walter McCallum, scout executive of the Wolverine Council, and Donald Brees, Scoutmaster of Troop 73.

In attendance will be members of Cub Pack 72 with Richard Lask as Cubmaster. He is assisted by Weblo leader Robert Hyde, and Den Mothers, Mrs. Howard Kronberg, Mrs. William Macbeth and Mrs. Thomas Smith.

The Rev. Porteous will deliver the message entitled "Service" in keeping with Scout Week, February 7 to 13.

Work Speeds at Stauffer's

Progress speeds along at the $20 million research and manufacturing complex of Stauffer Chemical Co. along Sutton Rd.

There is activity over much of the firm's 270 acres.

Refurbished and remodeled is the century-old Sutton Place, a fabled, three-story brick farm house, which at one time was a show place of rural Tecumseh-land.

This serves as general offices and headquarters for the engineering and construction divisions.

★

INITIALLY, the farm was to be torn down and an administration building erected on the site.

When an historically-minded neighbor, Miss Edith Haviland, retired Adrian grade school teacher, pled by letter that it be saved, Amos Anderson, vice-president of the Stauffer Division which bears his name did some investigating.

After carefully looking over the old home's basic and sturdy construction, he recommended to New York headquarters that the tear-down order be rescinded.

Now its huge rooms are paneled and papered, its halls sanded and varnished, giving ample places for general offices personnel.

The designation, "Sutton Place," lettered in Old English on the facing of the front porch, proudly introduces the home to visitors as they enter.

Behind the office is the silicon plant proper, which includes several buildings and manufacturing devices covering 40 acres. It becomes operational in April and will be "fairly well automated" according to Bob Chandler, construction engineer.

To the east several hundred yards is the technical center, which was finished in mid-December and already has 60 people hard at work on research projects.

Still another structure, the administration center, is being built, as is the divisional corporate office, which will house both the Anderson and Silicon Divisions.

Mr. Chandler points out that there will probably be another research building in a few years and this "Could go on and on," he states, adding, "We hope it does."

Hans Stauffer, head man of the New York chemical company, became "very impressed" with Lenawee County after seeing it and meeting area people. He was sold on putting the complex in Michigan by Mr. Anderson, who started his own firm and recently sold out to Stauffer.

An abundance of water was the major requirement and intensive test drilling indicated there was plenty along Sutton Rd.

Professional people for the complex have been recruited from all over the nation and some are already working here and at the enlarged Weston plant, just south of Adrian.

Several have acquired residences in Tecumseh. Others will probably settle here in the future.

Mr. Chandler, who is a Blissfield resident and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Worthy Chandler of Tecumseh, said relationships between his firm and all of the Lenawee has been excellent.

He describes Tecumseh Mayor Harold Easton as "one of the finest gentlemen I have ever met."

★

MR. CHANDLER smiles when the subject of plant location is brought up, this which comes from all directions.

He has developed a pat answer, which seems to satisfy everyone, "We're on Sutton Rd."

Cupid Flips Arrow Over 250 Miles

By TOM RIORDAN

This is a love story.

Cupid was played by John Day, manager of Woolworth's, who hasn't the slightest idea of his role.

It began in March of 1960, when Mr. Day presided over the grand opening of the then-new Tecumseh Woolworth's.

As part of the celebration, helium-filled balloons were given to youngsters who visited the store.

One girl thought it might be fun to attach a card with her name and address, let the balloon float away and see how far it would go.

She watched as the balloon sailed southeast and quickly disappeared in the sky over Tecumseh.

★

A FEW DAYS LATER she received a letter from a boy in Lewisville, O., a tiny town about 250 miles from Tecumseh. He had been fishing at a neighbor's pond and on the way home spotted the balloon in a field.

The two began to correspond, exchanging letters almost weekly ever since. They each graduated from high school — she from Tecumseh in 1964 and he in 1963 from Wooster, O., where he lived for six months at the home of a sister.

The young man joined the navy and was sent to electronics specialty school in Memphis, Tenn. Last summer his parents invited the Tecumseh girl to spend a week with them, even though their son was in Memphis.

It was a fun-filled vacation; they climbed the hills, had a cook-out and saw the spot where the balloon landed —but she never saw her pen pal.

He graduated from his 33-week course in late January, was given a 15-day leave, with orders to report Feb. 8 to his new station at Glynco, Ga., for a two-year stay.

The 19-year-old sailor invited the Tecumseh girl to spend a few days at his home during the leave, but at the last minute she couldn't because of her job as a baby-sitter for a family in which both mother and father work.

So, the sailor said how about him whizzing to Tecumseh for a visit? He came by bus, arriving last Thursday night in Toledo where his pen-pal and a girl chum met him.

The days since then have been fun-filled and Saturday evening there is going to be a wedding.

★

BEVERLY MILLER, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Miller, 207 W. Russell Rd., will exchange vows with Leonard Lendon, Jr., son of Mrs. Guy Shaub of Lewisville, O., and the late Leonard Lendon.

The ceremony will be in the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Blair Bashore officiating.

Aviation Electronic Technician Airman Lendon has asked for a leave extension before reporting to Glynco, where his first job will be to find housing on the base.

Ah, love.

As far as Harold Meads of 1209 Murray Dr. is concerned a sour note has been struck by the Tecumseh Players even before their production of "The Music Man" gets underway.

In the Players ad the phone number of the Francis Dalton residence — 423-4281 — read 423-4218, the phone number of Mr. Meade.

Wrong numbers and all there are only 250 seats left out of 1280 offered for the show. They are available for Feb. 11, 12, 17 and 18.

✓

Popular book in the city just now is entitled "The Cross and the Switch Blade". Author Dave Wilkerson will be in Tecumseh March 14 to speak of his exciting experiences among the teen-age gangs of New York City. The Tecumseh Ministerial Association has 200 copies of his book in circulation now. Get yours by calling a local pastor.

✓

Does anyone have extra rooms which could be rented from now through spring to the 30 men who are putting in the heating system at the new Fisher Body plant? These fellows would like spots around Tecumseh in which they might be able to get themselves a meal now and then. The foreman told Mrs. Mel Wegner at Wegner's Market about their wants and she has volunteered to act as a "clearing house" on this project. Call her at 423-3720.

✓

Unexpectedly, Dr. Robert Bowers found himself a part of the enthusiastic preparations for "The Music Man." He had a set of glasses fashioned, circa 1912, for one of the cast, jotting down the cost under the "Government project" column of his ledger. (For the unknowing, that means "charity.")

✓

Delaphene Shelton's hopes for "PA" and "MA" license plates for the family cars were blasted last week when husband Hollis bought a new car equipped with XL license plates.

✓

It wouldn't hurt any of us to learn some of the phraseology of the chemical profession what with Stauffer's complex so close by. So here's a starter, "Go on stream." This means, to begin an operation in the trade. So when someone asks you if you know when Stauffer begins production here, look casual and reply, "Hmmm, yes, they're going on stream about April."

✓

Turns out Lewis Lamm, new Fisher Body head man, is a camera bug. Maybe we could get him to moonlight some for The Herald on some of our southwestern Tecumsehland assignments. His wife is a fan of little theatre and at last report the Lamms will be seeing "The Music Man" as presented by the Tecumseh Players.

✓

Vic Lawson wishes he had a balcony with about 1,000 seats in Tecumseh High's gym. With an undefeated basketball team every spot now is worth its weight in gold. But most of all, he'd like the state tournament committee to send the Indians west instead of east for district and regional play. Yes, Virginia, there is a River Rouge and Vic would enjoy meeting them on the Jenison Fieldhouse floor, say about March 13.

Council Ponders Tuttle's Need for Water, Sewer

City Council Monday night agreed to investigate other avenues for assisting H. W. Tuttle Co. in expanding operations in the William Mackey building on E. Russell Rd.

Harold Tuttle, company president, sought the assistance from Council and asked that some action be taken soon. He stated the company had been delayed in its planning and operations and wanted to utilize the building as soon as possible.

Attorney James Beardsley said the Municipal League might be able to solve the problem of constructing sewer and water mains to the building, which is several hundred feet east of S. Maumee St. on Russell.

The attorney at the last January meeting said it was not legal to assess a property more than 25% of its assessed value. Two Russell property owners, Otto Beaubien and Jack Osburn, are known to oppose the costs involved.

Estimated costs have run high since the city can tax only on the north side of the road. City officials do not feel that Raisin Township, south side of the road, would share in the expense.

Possible solution is construction of a sewer only and let the company drill its own well.

BPW Hears Laura Seager Talk on Father's Book

Laura Seager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Seager, was the speaker at the meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club recently at the Pythian Hall. With the poise and expression beyond her years, according to President Mrs. Robert King, Miss Seager told of her life as the author's daughter.

She told of having breakfast with "Ulysses S. Grant" every day and then after breakfast, her father would become her father again.

Miss Seager reviewed a part of her father's recent book, "Prieze of Girls", remarking that it was the "prettiest" book he has ever published with a beautiful magenta and yellow cover with lollypop wheel.

She said that the portion of the book that refers to Tecumseh is really true but her father feels that the public would sooner read fiction than non-fiction.

Here and There

By DELAPHENE SHELTON

In spite of having to drive many miles daily, lots of us are hoping this beautiful snow will stay awhile.

My husband and I figure we are too old to renew an early interest in skiing, but we have laid out some hard cash for a new toboggan and are hoping the white stuff will last at least through the weekend.

Interest in winter sports is booming in Michigan, as anyone who travels the north-bound highways during weekends can attest.

But not all motorists who venture into the north country are sportsmen. Some go merely to see the beauty.

★

WE TRY at least once each winter to get into the "far north" after a heavy snowfall. It's a trip we recommend, even to the motorist who dreads winter driving.

Most limited access highways are cleared within hours of a snowfall and one can quickly reach scenic areas even without leaving the main roads.

But the most beautiful sights are reached on the secondary roads and even though they may be snow-covered they need not necessarily be dangerous.

Picture the trees at Hartwick Pines or Interlochen State Parks loaded with snow, the trails soft underfoot and the wind singing high in the boughs overhead.

★

WINTERTIME Cheboygan, with snow stacked as high as six feet in the center of the streets, is a sight not soon forgotten.

While one is that far north a drive out to Wilderness State Park is rewarding. The quiet, the loveliness and the cold—which doesn't penetrate like that in the southern part of the state—will bring peace and pleasure to anyone.

The drive home by way of Cross Village and Harbor Springs is fascinating.

Milosh-Van Neste Vows Solemnized

After a delay of one hour the wedding of Ruth Ann Milosh and Dean Van Neste was performed Jan. 30 at the Methodist Church by the Rev. Donald Porteous.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Van Neste, of rural Britton, en route to the wedding, was involved in an auto accident on Rogers Hwy. His car was demolished, but he escaped with cuts and bruises.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Milosh, 502 Mohawk St.

Leonard Stark of Ypsilanti was the soloist.

The bride, on the arm of her father, approached the altar in a floor-length gown of bombazine silk and Chantilly lace with Sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves.

Sequins and pearls accented the neckline and front lace panel of the skirt while four laced-edged tiers fell into a sweeping chapel train.

Her scalloped double-tiered veil of illusion, trimmed with pearls and sequins, was attached to a full-blossomed rose, the creation of Maude Bell.

She wore a double drop pearl necklace, gift of the groom, and carried white butterfly roses centered with red rosebuds.

Mrs. Connie Ferguson was matron of honor and Joan Patterson and Marjorie Pleva were the bridesmaids. Judy Milosh, sister of the bride, was the junior attendant.

All were attired in floor-length sheath dresses of white brocade with red velvet bodices featuring long sleeves and boat necklines. Their circlet hats were of matching red velvet trimmed with white fur and red veils.

Mrs. Ferguson carried a white heart-shaped fur muff, fronted with a dainty cluster of miniature peppermint carnations and rosebuds.

Red carnations and white gypsophelia topped the muffs of the other attendants.

Richard Cox, cousin of the groom, served as best man.

Brothers of the bride, Richard, Leland and Phillip Milosh, and William Kopka and Jerry De Mille seated the 400 guests.

Red and white colors and white wedding bells were used in decorating the Tecumseh Products Union Hall for the reception.

A four-tiered cake, made by Mrs. Emma Dinius, featured the traditional bride and groom topping.

The bride is a graduate of Tecumseh High School and Cleary College, Ypsilanti. She is employed by Aget Manufacturing Co., Adrian.

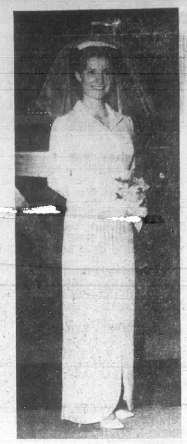
Her husband is a graduate of Tecumseh High School and is employed by the Ford Motor Co. in Ypsilanti.

Following a honeymoon to Miami Beach, Fla. the couple will make its home at 4902 Palmer Hwy., Britton after Feb. 5.

They used an automobile belonging to the groom's parents for the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Neste were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at their home.

MRS. DEAN VAN NESTE



MRS. RAYMOND MILLER

Virginia Hodges Bride of Ray Miller

Virginia Ann Hodges became the bride of Raymond T. Miller in a ceremony at 11 a.m., Saturday in St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Hodges of 125 Park St., and Mr. Miller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard MacKenzie of Route 1, Brooklyn.

The Rev. Fr. Thomas J. Collins officiated. Music was provided by Mrs. Donald Johnson, organist, and the children's choir of the church.

The bride, who was given away by her father, chose for her wedding an alabaster white floor-length steron gown fashioned with a Chanel jacket detailed with large jeweled buttons.

Her matching bowed plateau hat was encircled with a French illusion veil. She wore a locket, a gift from the groom.

She carried a nosegay of white hybrid orchids interspersed with miniature ivy and white velvet pearlized leaves.

Mrs. C. J. Locker, of Tecumseh, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of Paris Red fashioned with Empire bodice and soft A-line skirt. As a ... piece she wore a matching velvet bow with a bird-cage veil. She carried a single shell pink Princess rose.

Harold Weakley of Tecumseh was best man. Ushers were Gale Miller of Brooklyn and Ken Miller of Ann Arbor, brothers of the groom, and C. J. Locker, of Tecumseh.

Shell pink, red and white were used throughout the reception room at the Tecumseh Country Club, where luncheon was served to the 100 wedding guests.

The tiered wedding cake, topped with a white heart encircled with tiny pink and red rosettes and ivy, was served from a table draped with white taffeta, edged with smilax and with a cluster of flowers at the front.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller will live at 312 S. Michigan Ave., Big Rapids, where he is a junior at Ferris State College.

The bride is a 1962 graduate of Tecumseh High School and has attended Ferris State College and Siena Heights College at Adrian. Mr. Miller graduated from Tecumseh High School in 1958.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents Friday night at Roumell's in Clinton.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Goller, 805 River Acres Dr., announce the engagement of their daughter, Karen Aileen, to Terry L. Haughn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haughn, of 701 Center Dr. Both are 1964 graduates of Tecumseh High School. Miss Goller is a student at Cleary College, Ypsilanti. Mr. Haughn is attending Adrian College. No definite date for the wedding has been set.

SOCIAL SECURITY Questions and Answers

Today, most farm workers are covered by social security. Raymond C. Backus, social security district manager in Jackson, emphasized today that farm workers build credit for retirement, disability, and survivors benefits during their working years in the same way that city workers build their credits under social security.

Any farm employee is covered under the social security law if his employer pays him $150 or more in cash wages during a year or if he works for a farm employer on 20 or more days a year for cash pay figured on a time basis. Furthermore, according to Backus, these cash wages do not have to be earned during one continuous period. They may be earned any time during the year.

Backus pointed out that the farm employer must keep a record of each farm worker who meets or is expected to meet the $150 cash wage test or the 20-day work test. The record must show the workers social security account number, his name, and the amount of wages paid to the worker. "This is the way social security protection is a joint project of employee and employer," he said.

★

IN JANUARY of each year the employer must file a tax return with the District Director of Internal Revenue showing all the information about his employees, so that each worker may receive credit for his earnings for the year. The farm employer makes the report on Form 493, which may be obtained from the Internal Revenue Service. When this tax return is filed, the social security tax must be paid on each worker's earnings — 3¾% by the employer and 3¾% which has been withheld from the employee's wages over the year.

Any further information regarding social security benefits for farm workers may be secured from the social security district office at 536 North Jackson St., Jackson.

Sounds of munching accompanied the others as they voiced their agreement. (Recipe for the goodie is available at the office.)

Back into the storm went Gin, seeking other snowbanks to conquer with her Jeep, which is noted for the assistance given to many a stuck Tecumsehite.

Godzina-Carr Nuptials Solemnized

BRITTON — The altar of the Immanuel Lutheran Church in Palmyra was lighted with large 15-branched candelabra for the double ring ceremony uniting Connie Elaine Godzina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chet Godzina of Britton, and Michael Carr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carr of Johnstown, O.

The wedding took place at 5 p.m. last Friday with the Rev. Daniel Mathes officiating.

The gold altar vases held pyramid arrangements of white mums and pompons. A single candelabra faced with white mums, greens and white satin bows enhanced the white carpeted center aisle, while candles and greenery beautified the windows in the church.

The organist, Mrs. Don Dickerson, cousin of the bride, accompanied Mrs. Lee Spohr as she sang five selections: "I Take Thee, Dear," "O Day of Golden Promise," "Whither Thou Goest," "The Wedding Prayer," and "The Lord's Prayer."

★

THE BRIDE on the arm of her father approached the altar in a floor length white satin faille gown. The gown had a bateau neckline, long sleeves ending in points over her wrists, a chapel train, and a pearl embroidered midriff. Her only jewelry was a gold locket worn by her mother as a wedding gift from her father. Her veil of sheer French illusion attached with a double strand of pearls was hand-rolled with a scalloped edge embroidered with pearls. She carried a modern cascade arrangement of white roses and miniature ivy centered with gardenias.

Mrs. Ed Lewis of Britton, cousin of the bride, was the matron-of-honor. She was gowned in a floor length, brilliant blue satin dress with long sleeves, a bell skirt and a large bow of romance blue with streamers to the floor accenting the back. She wore a matching open pillbox with contrasting bow in the back and carried a bouquet of white fuji mums centered with white elegance carnations, outlined with spiral eucalyptus.

Her bridesmaids were Sandra Beal of Britton, Lenore Ostrowski of Trenton, cousin of the bride, Nancy Martinus of Tecumseh, also a cousin of the bride, Janice Grube of Millersport, O. and Jane Gillespie of Arlington, O. Their gowns were the same as the matron of honor and so were their bouquets with the omission of the white carnations. The junior attendants, Debbie and Paula Filter, cousins of the bride, were gowned like the others only the colors were reversed.

★

DAVID EBERHARD of Columbus, O., served as best man for the groom. The ushers were Terry Godzina, brother of the bride, Stan Larkin of Marion, O., Lynn Fettrow of Columbus, O., Rick Karas of Sharon, Penn., and Ted Dorsey of Johnstown, O. Mark Cleveland, of Johnstown, O., nephew of the groom, was ringbearer.

A reception dinner for 500 guests was held following the ceremony at the Britton High School Cafeteria. A reception and dancing for 650 guests was given at the Tecumseh Union Hall after the dinner.

Storm Sewer Assessment in Indian Hills

A resolution to establish a special assessment for construction of a storm sewer in the Indian Hills subdivision was approved Monday night by Council.

Four property owners — Regional Investment Co., C. K. Larned Co., ERB Restrick Lumber Co., Waskin Development Co., and Robert and June Stone — are involved in the assessment of $4,286.

A hearing before Council is scheduled on March 2.

City officials have ordered a storm sewer constructed before allowing further construction in the area. Court Larned, of Detroit, plans to build more homes in the subdivision this spring.

The Waskin Development Co. owns approximately 40 of the remaining 50 lots. The Larned company is the second biggest holder.

Snow Delays Career Start

BRITTON — Anne DeCamp of Mason received two days of unexpected vacation last week when she was supposed to start her new job of teaching Home Economics here at the beginning of the second semester, Jan. 25.

When she finally got a chance to teach, she said the classes were interesting, and enjoyable and that the students are friendly.

"The Home Ec. Room is nice. I haven't been here long enough to find out what's missing and what isn't," she commented.

Miss DeCamp, living with the Fermans in Britton, lived on a farm near Mason. Her father farms and her mother teaches fifth grade. She has a brother who is a freshman at Michigan State and a sister who is in the 9th grade in Eaton Rapids.

Miss DeCamp, who will also be the FHA advisor, is 21 years old and a 1964 graduate of Michigan State with a BS degree in Home Economics.

What Happened to Sir Rudyard?

Thomas Rohrer, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Rohrer of 604 Center Dr., enjoys writing mystery stories. This one of Sir Rudyard Newman is his latest effort. Thomas, 13, is an 8th grader at St. Elizabeth Catholic School.

The Case Of Sir Rudyard

Captain Haskens and Lieutenant Morgan of the Denver Police force were taking an off-duty drive out to the illustrous estate of Sir Rudyard Newman. The seven-mile drive from the city was interrupted when a man flagged them down. He staggered toward the car.

"He's dead," he cried gasping for breath. "Sir Rudyard is dead!" Then he collapsed from exhaustion. As the car sped toward the mansion the man recovered and told his story.

★

"I'M THE GARDENER, Ed Shipley. Sir Rudyard had given all the servants the day off but I stayed to do some touch up work on the flower beds. I quit at 4 o'clock and went to put my tools away. I saw Sir Rudyard walking out to the garage. I thought nothing of it because he had told me he would drive into town sometime in the afternoon.

Then all of a sudden a man appeared and fired two shots point blank at Sir Rudyard. When he saw me coming he slashed the telephone wires and fled in the car. The only thing I could do was run for help."

Some distance from the estate could be seen the English flag floating in the gentle breeze. Above the gate the Newman Coat of Arms proudly caught the last rays of the late afternoon sun. The drive was lined with English roses.

★

"NO WONDER they call this place Little England," murmured the lieutenant.

After checking out Shipley's story, the captain told Morgan to take him to the police station and place him under arrest for murder.

What slip up in Shipley's story led the Captain to his guilt????

Tecumseh Residents on Board

Persons newly elected to the board of directors of Goodwill Industries of Southeastern Michigan include Perry Satterthwaite and Mrs. W. N. Winfield of Tecumseh and Mrs. Clifford Collins of Dundee.

Robert Sage of Tecumseh continues as a member.

Mrs. E. C. Boss of Tecumseh, secretary foh the past year, is retiring from the board and, with others, received a "Good Willie" trophy at the seventh annual meeting held recently in Richie Hall, Adrian College.

Lenape District Boy Scouts were given an award for distributing Goodwill bags throughout the county. Through their efforts there was no layoff in the clothing department of the agency during 1964.

The annual report showed 97 persons on the payroll received $110,248.

First financed by the Detroit Goodwill Industries, the agency is now independent and is remodelling the recently purchased Stearns plant on E. Beecher St., Adrian, to be used as its headquarters. Funds are still needed to provide a special elevator for persons using wheelchairs.

Chamber Elects Officers, Reports Year's Activities

Three new members were elected to the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce board recently.

Harold Green, Don Martin Jr., and Dr. Donald Phelan succeed Paul Clauda, Dwight Helms and Dr. Carlos Knisely.

Jack Osburn has been elected president and Mr. Martin, secretary-treasurer. Other members of the 1965 board are Clarence Beach, Alton Snyder, James Robideau and Keith Bailey.

At a meeting last week, Dr. Knisely, '64 president, presented a resume of the Chamber's activities for the year.

★

PARTICIPATION and sponsorship included the GM groundbreaking and welcome, July 4th celebration, high school career day with the school's guidance personnel, and two downtown business promotions, Christmas and pancake supper.

The Chamber also made provisions for four temporary signs and posts for advertising and civic functions at the city limits, distributed 8,000 Tecumseh brochures, including 2,500 to the Michigan State Highway Dept. and 3,000 in the Irish Hills lake area, and send information and welcome letters to every newcomer.

New downtown signs designating off-street parking lots also were purchased by the Chamber.

Records show that the Chamber answers, on the average, about 20 inquiries monthly.

★

FUTURE PLANS call for participation in the dedication of the new post office — if and when it is ever completed — construction of an information shelter at the Community Center, and distribution of Tecumseh information-type place mats.

Both brochures and place mats are available at the Chamber office.

Local membership last year totalled 70. The board is hoping for over 100 members for 1965 and will give members wall plaques and cards.

A 3.5 average is necessary to be named to the Dean's List. Grades are computed on a scale of 4 points for an "A", 3 for a "B", etc., according to Dean Meese.

Dick is a sophomore electrical engineering major.

Limited Free Parking Looms

Council Monday night approved a second reading of the two-hour parking ordinance for downtown offstreet parking lots.

Unless there are objections at the Feb. 15 meeting, the final reading will probably be approved and the ordinance adopted.

It is aimed to restrict those who use free parking stalls for an entire day. Over 50 free parking stalls were approved last year by Council after merchants paid off some parking meter bonds.

Since, some merchants and their employees have taken the free parking stalls which were planned for customers of the downtown district.

Kiwanis Club Pledges $1,700 in Services

The Kiwanis Club at its meeting last Thursday pledged to Mayor Harold Easton that the organization would provide at least $1,700 in services and assistance to the community during the coming year.

The pledge, made by Harlan Dicks, president, was made in the form of a "check" presented to the mayor who had commended the organization on its contributions to the community.

Thursday's program was in recognition of the 50th anniversary of the founding of Kiwanis International. The mayor, in observance of that occasion has proclaimed the week of May 9 as Kiwanis Week in Tecumseh.

Indians Edge Flat Rock '5' in 54-49 Win

State-ranked Tecumseh looked more like an also-ran Friday night in a narrow five-point victory, 54-49, over a mediocre Flat Rock team.

The Indians jelled in the first half for a 12-point lead at the intermission, but the final two quarters were the poorest of the season.

A better team could easily have handed Tecumseh its first loss of the year.

In the first two periods, the Indians rolled as expected and nearly routed Flat Rock in the second half behind the shooting of Dave Tilton and Jeff Osburn.

★

TILTON canned three swishers from the side to add six points to a six-point output in the initial stanza. He tallied 12 markers for the evening — all in the first half.

Osburn stole the ball twice, scoring once and feeding a teammate for another, and collected 10 of his 14 points in the first half.

Tecumseh led, 33-21, going into the third quarter when the Indians suffered a letdown — scoring just five points while allowing their opponents to put 13 on the board.

★

MIDWAY IN the fourth quarter, Tecumseh boosted its lead to 10 points only to have FR close the gap to five at the final buzzer.

Although the final margin was just five points, Tecumseh controlled the ball game and was never in real danger of blowing the victory. The Indians were simply flat after enjoying a fairly good first half.

Whiteford Flays Tory Five, 95-62

BRITTON — One cannot tell the story of a ball game by just hearing the score. That was the case in Friday night's loss to Whiteford by a score of 95-62. A margin of 43 points wasn't indicative in the game played, as a rather small crowd cheered from start to finish.

A very fast first period was all Whiteford needed as they pulled away, leading at one point, 22-3. However, the Tories played well in the second period and were soon behind only six points.

But the bubble burst and the Tories' attack fell to pieces. The Tories had played their hearts out in two periods, and had simply run out of gas. This period saw them slip to a disappointing score and the Bobcats were still going strong.

The fourth stanza was even more devastating with Whiteford hitting from all over the court. As the Bobcats were hitting, the Tories found the going even harder and at the end had fallen, 95-62.

Walt Korican was once again the high scorer with 19 points, Ray Vershum was a close second with 18.

Tecumseh GAA Downs Napoleon in Easy Victory

The first team scored an easy victory over Napoleon Jan. 28 in the Tecumseh gym.

The final score, 50-10, was the highest win of any this season for the Tecumseh squad.

Napoleon was forced to shoot the long shots from outside the key when Tecumseh held a tight zone.

Emily Manwaring was again high scorer with 19 points while teammate Mary Jo Mensing tipped in 18.

Mary Ann Allen boosted the score with 13 points in the first half.

Cora Murphy and Carol Purple were outstanding on defense for Tecumseh.

The Jayvees upset Napoleon, 30-9, the same evening. Beverly Eggleston put in nine points and Kathy Hall and Debbie Goldsberry tallied seven points each.

PACES INDIANS — Guard Dave Tilton turned in his best game of the year Friday night with 12 points against a scrappy Flat Rock team. His outside shooting the first half gave Tecumseh a 33-21 lead at the end of two quarters.

GAA Team Beats Britton

The first six defeated Britton Club, 45-17, Jan. 21, at Britton.

Tecumseh gals took the lead with 11 points in the first quarter against Britton's three. Britton was unable to close the gap the rest of the game.

Mary Jo Mensing, one of Tecumseh's starting six, was unable to play due to illness.

Emily Manwaring was high scorer for Tecumseh with 18 points, eight in the first quarter and eight in the last.

Mary Ann Allen, star rebounder for Tecumseh, who was injured in practice recently, entered the game in the third quarter and made 10 of her 13 points before being replaced.

Three Britton players fouled out in the fourth quarter.

Tecumseh Jayvees scored 33 to 3 against Britton the same evening. Beverly Eggleston was high scorer with 13 points.

January 8 Tecumseh defeated St. Joseph's Academy, Adrian.

Indians 2nd In Latest Poll

The Tecumseh Indians dropped into a second place tie with Fenton in the state Class B basketball ratings by the AP this week.

Last week, the Indians were rated second and just out of first place, held by River Rouge.

A dismal showing against Flat Rock apparently caused a lack of enthusiasm for the local team.

WOLF'S TIRE and APPLIANCE

'Chub' Bailey in Star Role at Sun Valley

Mr. and Mrs. George Bailey, 7204 Blood Rd., are pondering the interesting news received recently from their son, "Chub", more formally known as Walter.

After not hearing from him for some time, the Baileys received a news clipping from the "Idaho Sunday Statesman", a newspaper published in Boise, Idaho.

With a group of former U. S. sailors, he is booked to play with a steel band in the new Boiler Room at Sun Valley for the next three months.

The group was originally scheduled for two weeks with the stipulation that they would stay three months if well received.

The navy boys were stationed in Puerto Rico when "Chub" became acquainted with a young Jamaican who taught him how to hammer old oil drums into musical instruments like those invented in Jamaica years ago.

Soon "Chub" and his mates had organized the Tenth Naval District Steel Band.

According to the news clip, after discharge from service, a few of the band members formed a combo which they called The Hi Lifes and appeared on TV shows, at big fairs and hotels and on foreign tours.

★

NOW THE YOUNG musicians call themselves "The Destitutes" because they started for Sun Valley from Los Angeles and ran out of money in Las Vegas. They had to phone home for more "moo-la".

"The Destitutes" are five musicians who play the usual jazz on the usual instruments but who also have half a dozen big oil drums pounded and dented and tuned up in the newest musical fashion.

Their big drums stand flat on the floor — their half-drums are strung up with crude plastic ropes. The names of the notes (F sharp, B flat, etc.) are painted on the various bumps and dents in the barrel heads and the music is made by whanging away with sticks, steel and whatever.

But what comes out is "way out", according to the picture story featured in the Idaho Sunday Statesman.

The bass player has five deep-throated drums; the melody comes from a high-pitched half-drum and the harmony is sounded from the others.

★

(ANYONE IN THE Tecumseh area who has had the privilege of seeing pictures taken by the John McCoils on the island of Tobago will remember seeing instruments of this kind played by the natives.)

"Chub", who makes the drums, will make one for anyone who has three days and $75, plus $4 for the used oil barrel, the Statesman story said.

George Hammill, the leader of the band, and his brother, Roland, are from San Fernando, Calif., Hyland Miller, who plays the flute, a popular jazz instrument, is a native of Indianapolis, Ind., Bill Smylie comes from Reseda, Calif., and Tecumseh's "Chub" make up the unique organization.

Pictures of the band, the Art Linkletters, Idaho's first lady, Mrs. Robert Smylie — no relation to the drummer; Ann Sothern, Martha Lear of The New York Times, and Ed Bailey, new president of the Union Pacific, were also used in the feature story in the Statesman's article.

"Chub" graduated from Tecumseh High School in 1956. He played the sousaphone in the band here.

Lately he has been attending classes at San Fernando Valley State College majoring in music.

He completed four years with the navy.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

This is the first of a number of articles in which I would like to discuss the various aspects and problems of traffic safety. Michigan's traffic accident record during this past year was tragic.

The demanding and foreboding reasons that prompted my Special Message on Traffic Safety last year still haunt us today.

My grave concern over our worsening traffic accident situation prompts me to emphasize this problem to you again this year and to urge immediate and decisive action.

★

LIVES SNUFFED out in traffic accidents during 1964 are estimated now at 2,125 — the third worst highway death toll in our state's history. Not since 1941, when 2,133 persons lost their lives in Michigan traffic, have we seen such carnage on our highways; and delayed returns may well make last year our second worst year, surpassing even 1941.

These deaths represent the sad "Michigan Massacre" on our highways — yet traffic has taken other deplorable, frightening tolls on our roads. A new high of 145,000 injuries and 285,000 reported accidents are predicted for last year when all counts are completed.

Moreover, these traffic mishaps represent an estimated economic cost of at least $200 million to Michigan and its citizens.

★

NOW, We look back upon a year that represents the second consecutive year in which our record shows drastic increases in all classes of traffic accidents. The facts are these:

Traffic deaths in 1964 increased 13% over 1963 . . . and they increased 35% over 1962!

Traffic injuries up 14% over 1963 . . . up 34% over 1962!

Property damage only accidents, an increase of 9% over 1963 . . . and an increase of 22% over 1962.

Our economic losses increased 12% over 1963 . . . and 33% over 1962.

★

THE SIGNIFICANCE of these figures is both real and inescapable. The traffic toll in Michigan — as represented by our increases in deaths, injuries, accidents and economic costs — has risen at a pace almost three times faster than has exposure represented by the increases in motor vehicles, licensed drivers and miles driven!

These sharp increases are a continuation of upward trends that began to show themselves in certain areas of our traffic record four years ago.

We must find new ways to reverse these disastrous trends — to stem the tide before our traffic toll surges even higher.

All of this is in spite of modest gains in increased enforcement and driver improvement — and in spite of an aggressive superhighway building program that is a national pacesetter.

It's obvious that our past efforts have not been enough!

★

WE HAVE FAILED to keep pace with increased numbers of cars and drivers on our streets and highways. During 1964, 4,400,000 licensed drivers in 3,800,000 registered vehicles drove a record 26 billion miles.

Immediate and decisive action is needed.

I hope that in the next couple of weeks we will have an opportunity to discuss this action specifically.

THEY KNOW SCORE — Miles Cowdrey, music director, and Helen Bendes, accompanist, study music of "Music Man" to be presented by the Tecumseh Players. The popular musical will be presented in the Odd Fellow Hall Feb. 10, 11, 12 and 13 and Feb. 17, 18, 19 and 20, and in Dawson Auditorium, Adrian College, Feb. 27.

The Food Was Tasty

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Hot chicken salad, cold apricot salad, banana nut bread, strawberry molded dessert with fresh strawberries and goodies, goodies, goodies, many too numerous to mention, were beautifully displayed Jan. 25 at the Monday Club "tasting party."

Twenty six attended the annual event though icy walks and drives offered hazardous driving and walking.

A display of cook books, both old and new, were featured carrying out the theme of the program, "Foods, Plain and Fancy."

Mrs. Enna Whaley presented several including one she received as a free gift with a $1 subscription to The Tecumseh Herald many years ago.

Mrs. Roland Mohr showed one that belonged to her parents, printed in 1892, and another with recipes used in the White House, printed in 1904.

Mrs. Joe Rice displayed a number collected on her round-the-world travels.

One entitled "Birches, Beaches and Belches," by Phil De Graff with photos by Tecumseh's late Hal Kelso was shown by Mrs. Clifford Knudson.

★

BESS LIVINGSTONE made an apron which was won by Mrs. Roland Mohr as a mystery gift.

Mrs. Mohr, program chairman, presented Mrs. Perry Hayden who gave interesting excerpts from a book by Betty Wason telling of foods from a time before Christ until the present.

Mrs. Wilfred Waldron at the piano accompanied Mrs. Truman Rentschler who gave a musical reading, "Some Day, Some Little Bug is Going to Get You."

Mrs. Knudson was general chairman of the event, assisted by Mrs. Fred Bryan, Mrs. Walter Prill and Mrs. Louise Bauman.

Cub Scouts See Skits Portraying American Heroes

"America's Trailblazers" was the theme when Cub Scouts, Pack 4, met Jan. 25, at St. Elizabeth School.

Skits were presented by each den telling of such heroes of America as Alexander Graham Bell, Paul Revere, "Pecos Bill", Alan Shepherd, John Glenn, Gordon Cooper, General George A. Custer, Abraham Lincoln and Davy Crockett.

Bobcat pins were presented to Rex Chastain and Daniel Gruber.

Wolff badge recipients were Tom Tilton, David Frayer, Francis Anderson, Bob Lawson and Jack Powell.

Peter Grua and Gene Frayer were awarded lion barges.

Jeff Berry received a gold arrow under bear badge. Fred Cottrell received his denner stripe and Cal Roll, his assistant denner stripe.

Tommy Laidlaw earned a silver arrow under the wolf badge.

Den 12 won the Cubby award for the best attendance.

The annual Blue and Gold banquet scheduled for February 22, at 6:30 p.m. will be held in the Products Union Hall.

The opening and closing ceremonies were conducted by Den 4.

A minor mishap was reported. Someone wore Cub Scout Jack Myers coat home by mistake and his mother, Mrs. Richard Myers was quoted as saying "Jack is a wee bit snug in the coat that was left.

"If your child looks a little different and you can't put your finger on the reason why, call 423-7136," Mrs. Myers continued.

ICE STORM, 1965 STYLE

If our mind is changed much more, I am going to stop announcing in one article what the next one will be. Last week, for example, we were to discuss red squirrels but the marvelous fun of being visited by the ragged yellow-bellied sapsucker seemed more important. Today's topic was to have been a few of the wonderful gadgets which make my life more active, so along comes the ice storm. Another change of plans.

Friday, the all-night tattoo of a heavy rain on the flat roof of our room had us, more or less, prepared. (By the way, with the possible exception of waves gently slapping a lake's shore, is there a nicer sound to drift to sleep with than a steady rain beating down on a flat roof?) Well, anyway, when the drapes were opened Saturday morning we looked out on an ice coated world.

Sometimes, after an all night freezing rain, the day dawns crisp and clear and everything the bright sunshine touches is instantly transformed into fairy-like, crystal. We were blessed with no such magic this time — Saturday morning was dull and dreary. The sky was low, lead gray and dripping. Most of the day there was a steady downpour of rain, sleet, sugar snow and what have you.

★

THIS IS THE TYPE of weather which is dreadfully hard on birds. Their normal supplies of food are all iced over and, if well stocked feeding stations are not found, it will be a hungry day. Another danger from freezing rain was vividly exemplified by our flock of mourning doves.

They were in sorry straits. Apparently their night's roosting spot did not provide adequate shelter, for when the poor things flew in for breakfast, many had tails loaded with ice and several were completely tailless. Normally a dove spreads its tail when taking off or landing; it is quite a handicap when they are frozen shut — but it also makes for some funny watching. The ice added weight too, and really, although it was sad, it was laughable to watch them working to get air borne.

We chuckled at a blue jay without feeling the slightest twinge of guilt. I do not know what the story behind his icing-up was, but he had a regular headdress of ice. The long feathers on the top of his head which form his top knot were decorated with frozen drops. Heap big Indian Chief!

An ice storm can be so dangerous and damaging but, when one is safely inside a nice warm room, it can also provide much good looking. When the perky little tufted titmice swoop down to the feeder, they like to perch on the top of the suet post before hopping down to the food tray. Saturday, of course, the flat top of the post was covered with ice — a slippery landing field, many a titmouse slid off. They simply skated off the edge — how embarrassing.

THE GROUND was a regular glare of hard slippery ice. The diners at the feeding station and on the corn tree were dropping enough food so that the birds preferring to eat from the ground found plenty of goodies. Picking them up, however, was a different matter. Fat round juncos who chicken scratch with both feet had just oceans of trouble. Even the squirrels were treading carefully, their long claws could not hook into the ice and, with no traction, they slipped and skidded just as everyone else did.

Sometime during the night, or perhaps early in the morning, the temperature rose and the rain started washing the ice away. In loud crashes and bangs it fell from the trees. Not all left and our Sunday looking was almost a repetition of Saturday.

So it is that a brief description will perhaps give a little idea of what went on during the ice storm, 1965 style.

Teachers to Hear Humorist, Kessinger

Some 1,000 area teachers attending the Lenawee County Teachers' Institute, Friday, Feb. 5, at Adrian High School, will hear Judge Harold "Sam" Kessinger of New Jersey, a humorist and analyst.

Judge Kessinger in 1954 was named "Honorary Citizen" of New Hampshire along with Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Arthur Godfrey.

Talks by the homespun, Quaker judge were described by Ben Gross on TV as "palatable combination of corn, platitudes, nostalgia and common sense."

The Clinton High School band, directed by Karl Wirt, will play during the morning program.

William Saxton, superintendent of the Britton-Macon Schools and Bradley Henson are making the arrangements for the discussion of "Teacher Responsibility to Student Attitudes."

Other subjects for discussion during the afternoon are: "Reading — Whose Responsibility?", "Audio-Visual", "Change — Secondary Schools in Michigan," "Educational Television," "Comparative Education — Russia and the United States," "Team Teaching," "Books and Reading — A Matter of Taste" and "Salary Planning Conference."

An exhibit, the first of its kind, of 467 outstanding new Science library books for readers of all ages, will be on display in the Adrian High School library during the Teachers' Institute. The exhibit will be open from 8:30 a.m to 3:15 p.m.

Church Women Pledge $1,000 to Debt Fund

CLINTON — The Women's Fellowship of the United Church of Christ made a pledge to pay $1,000 to the church parsonage debt fund by March 1 this year. The action was taken Thursday night at a meeting attended by 17 members.

It was voted also to raise the pledge to world missions to $15 each month.

The Fellowship will be hosts for the community World Day of Prayer service, March 5. Mrs. Robert Vogel and Mrs. Linn Weaver will work with representatives of the other Clinton churches to make the arrangements.

★

MRS. EDWIN BIHLMEYER was named general chairman of the dinner which the group will serve at the school, Feb. 20, for the Production Credit Association.

Mrs. Weaver, Mrs. Bihlmeyer and Mrs. Robert King will prepare a new constitution for the Fellowship. Mrs. Weaver will also represent the Fellowship on the local church constitution committee.

Mrs. Vogel was named as an acting member of the nominating committee to serve in the absence of Mrs. Frank Ashton. The elected members of the committee, Mrs. Roy Porter, chairman and Mrs. Bihlmeyer and Mrs. Vogel will present a slate of officers for election at the March meeting.

★

MRS. LINN WEAVER, material aid chairman, presented the program. She described the places where material aid gifts are sent from the church. The program included a brief skit about the areas of social concern with which church women must become familiar. Several members took part in the skit. Mrs. Vogel and Mrs. William Shelley led the devotional service.

CLINTON — The Redskins' 98-78 win over Manchester, Friday night, was sweet revenge for the home team's only league loss to Manchester earlier in the season.

Clinton went into the match tied with Ann Arbor U High for the Lakeland Conference, and came out in the lead. U. High was playing a non-conference game.

The Redskins hit 53 per cent of their field goal attempts, led by Dick Jedele's 28 and John Basinger's 25 points.

'64 Wages in City Hit $29,276,630

There's no question that 1964 was a benner year in Tecumseh — and '65 seems destined to be even bigger.

Total employment of industries and retail outlets in the city averaged 3,160 jobs for the 12 months of last year.

Combined salaries paid by Tecumseh employers reached $29,276,630 — probably an all-time high for the community.

These figures compare to 4,385 jobs the previous year and a payroll of $24,725,867. (Not included for 1963 were jobs and salaries of approximately 90 persons employed in small retail stores, who accounted for approximately $45,000 of the wages reported for 1964.

Totals in The Herald's annual employment roundup were obtained from questionnaires sent to leading employers of the city shortly after the close of 1964.

Heads of industries are invited to comment on the past year and predict what they feel the future holds.

★

GEORGE SACKETT, owner of the G&J Wood Products, reported that his gross sales jumped 40% last year and should do the same in '65. His firm employed 37 in '64.

Louis Schneider, who operated the city's Chevrolet and Buick agency, pointed out his enlarged service section, which will more than double his repair area, will shortly be in use.

Postmaster Jack Metcalf, noted that receipts for '64 hit $155,715 as compared to $142,313 the previous year. The office increased its routes from three to five during 1964 and added one more regular clerk. Total post office employment is 18 with a $125,000 payroll.

Don Smith, who owns the expanding Don's Beef Buffet, paid $31,000 to his staff of 15 last year and expects this will reach $35,000 with 17 to 18 workers in '65.

Two of the city's newest industries, Tecumseh Corrugated Box and Gray Mfg. Co. account for more than $2,500,000 in payroll between them, the Box company having 75 on its payroll and Gray 300.

W. J. Rumpf, owner of the city's truck line, said his firm is looking for a better year than ever" in 1965. His employees number 70. They drew $477,059 last year.

City Manager Cal Zorn anticipates "little or no change" in his lineup of workers, which includes 25 full-time and 60 part-time with salaries of $203,000.

At H. W. Tuttle & Co., employment averaged 115 for '64, up 15 from '63. This should grow during '65 to 125, states President H. W. Tuttle.

★

A QUESTIONNAIRE for Herrick Memorial Hospital, Administrator Orrie Gilbert included some interesting statistics.

The 102-bed hospital has a staff full-time of 130 and 68 part-time people, with pay checks reaching $580,000. Other hospital facts:

Admissions	3,750
Patient days	25,794
Births	399
Total expenses	$866,000
Total assets	$1,100,000

Only one dip was reported, this from a farm implement business, which reported a 10% drop in business, apparently caused by drought and local farm conditions.

However, the same firm expects an improved '65.

'Music Man' Is Sell-Out

It's Lucky 13 for the Tecumseh Players.

The group's 13th production, "The Music Man," which opens this week, is a complete sell-out.

Ticket chairman Mrs. Frank Dalton reported Tuesday that every one of the 1,182 seats for the seven reserve-seat performances was gone. Wednesday's student special, with all seats on sale at the door, was also expected to be a full-house performance.

This is the first time in Player history that a show was sold-out before the first performance.

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Show biz is tough.

If you run into someone with eyes that look like two burned holes in a blanket, chances are there's a member of "The Music Mau" cast.

Tecumseh Football Coach Tom Fagan tells his gridders at the start of each season, if they want to be great, they'll have to be ready to sacrifice

Well, these grid kids have nothing on the guys and dolls who say "I do" to a part in a Bill McAnallen-directed musical.

"Music Man" went into pre-show training right after the first of the year and about 100 in cast and crew have been working long hours ever since.

As this is read, the annual Tecumseh Players' winter offering will be front and center on stage at the Odd Fellows Hall.

A few large yaks from the audience will probably make Bill's gang forget those near-midnight rehearsals night after night.

A resounding round or two of applause should balm memory's wound of crawling out of bed for work or school at the usual time despite vastly un-regular sack time.

Mac isn't a slave-driver. He doesn't snap a bull-whip.

No, he's more the Knute Rockne type, demanding and getting as close to perfection as possible with a stare or wave of the hand.

There's never any question that what he says goes and goes and goes, usually the rehearsal times. Mothers of kids in the cast are sent reeling with a glare when they plea, "Couldn't junior come home early tonight?"

★

WHETHER THE cast member is nine, as is Jeff Gentry who plays Winthrop, or 50 as is — well, we'll skip that one—each was required to be prompt for rehearsal and stay until excused.

A guy would think these folks were being paid a fabulous stipend for the show, but the only compensation is the hambone thrill the Players get from being in front of an audience.

Fellows like Dr. Carlton Cook admits being in show business is an expensive thing. He agreed to be a players patron for the season—at $25—then when he signed on for "Music Man" discovered there were all sorts of relatives who insisted on seeing the show and he ended up being ticket agent, at $2 a head.

The good medico probably will avoid figuring up his net loss—in both lost hours of sleep and dollars.

So it goes with most folks in the show.

But, if they were asked to trade back, chances are you'd get nary a taker. Stardust in a fellow's eye can blind him pretty easily.

When the Players complete their eight-performance run locally, there will be a one-week pause and then comes a shot in Dawson Auditorium on the Adrian College campus, Saturday, Feb. 27.

It's being sponsored by the Tau Delta Sorority of the Maple City with proceeds going to the group's pledge towards the new YMCA building.

The gal behind the gun there, Mrs. Hugh Heffron, reported at the start of this week that 500 tickets have already been sold and the sorority anticipates a full house.

Incidentally, The Herald's review of the Show will be done by talented Gretchen 'Brogran of The Blade in Toledo, who happens to be an Iowa girl and once played in a band directed by Meredith Willson.

CROWDS THRONG FISHER BODY EMPLOYMENT OFFICE

1,000 Seek Jobs

Over 1,000 applications have been received by Fisher Body officials at their employment and information center in the Adrian Federal Savings and Loan Building in downtown Tecumseh.

The office, opened since Monday morning, has been swamped by both men and women seeking jobs in Tecumseh's new plant on Occidental Rd.

Fisher Body officials will continue working out of the Adrian Federal building until their offices are available in the new plant.

The office is opened daily, Monday through Friday, from 8:30 to 11:30 in the morning, and from 1 to 4:30 in the afternoon.

The lineup of job hopefuls has often wound around inside the building and out into the street.

Bruce Blast Loss $2,000

Damage estimated at $2,000 was done Tuesday afternoon when an explosion erupted in the furnace room of the Bruce Foundry.

There were no injuries.

The blow-up occurred when the drop from the cupola, made about 4 p.m., came in contact with wet ground. Force of the blast blew a light-weight tin covered fire door some 45 feet over on a section of the foundry, where shortly before employees had been working.

The Tecumseh Fire Department was called, but there was no blaze to put out.

Work was progressing as usual Wednesday morning, according to William Bruce, foundry owner, who said damage was confined to a ruptured cement roof and broken windows.

Surgery Patient

Percy Bowen underwent major surgery Friday at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor, where he has been a patient since Jan. 31. His room number is 6003.

Jaycees Seek Outstanding Young Man

The Jaycees will present the annual distinguished service award at their March meeting.

Anyone wishing to nominate a young man between the ages of 21 and 35 may call John Wilt 423-3878 or Jerry Miller 423-4906.

Seeks Permission for Restaurant

TIPTON — Tom Corkery of Tecumseh appeared at last week's meeting of the Franklin Township board, requesting permission to erect a restaurant on the west side of Billington's Corners, where M-50 and M-52 cssos.

No action was taken by the board.

McDowell To Retire in June of Next Year

James McDowell, superintendent of the Tecumseh schools since 1951, has announced his retirement at the end of the 1965-66 school year.

His retirement next year will end 38 years in the public school education field, and 20 years here in Tecumseh.

"I want to do some things that I've never had time to do before," explained the local school head, who will attain the age of 60 next year, making himself eligible for a pension.

Travel appears to be high on the list after retirement.

★

HE STARTED teaching at the age of 20 in Bloomingdale, returned to college to finish his undergraduate work, and then started teaching at Plainwell.

He later spent six years teaching at Berkley. For two years he was high school principal at Leslie.

In 1945, he came to Tecumseh as high school principal, a position he relinquished in 1951 to become superintendent.

He holds two degrees, including a master's, from the University of Michigan.

During his superintendency here, the schools have grown in size, from a Class C to a large Class B, and have made tremendous progress in broadening education programs and services for students.

★

IN THE MID 1950s, the Tecumseh schools started a huge building program, one which included new elementary schools at Ridgeway, Macon and Tipton, and, here in the city, Herrick Park, Patterson and Tecumseh Acres.

Due to anticipated growth in the area, his last contract, given to him Monday night by the School Board, will carry his administration to the threshold of another school building program.

Crowded classrooms, possibly half-day sessions in the elementary sections, are a distinct probability for the 1965-66 term.

SUPERINTENDENT JAMES McDOWELL

Grosse Ile Next Target for Indians

Grosse Ile, winless and riddled with disciplinary action, will host Tecumseh this Friday night with hopes of a big upset.

Chances of GI upsetting the Indians are slim, but a home floor advantage should give the Red Devils a better chance than when they were shellacked here, 69-47, on Jan. 8.

GI lost two players last week from its starting five. It's not known whether the coach has reinstated them.

The Indians also might help GI, as Tecumseh has gained a reputation of easing off after building up a slight lead. Many times this season, the Indians have rolled up a lead and then let it slip through their hands.

Failure to hold or continue building up a lead has often been due to lack of hustle. Twice this year, against Blissfield in the ABHT tournament and Saturday night against Hillsdale, the Indians have come back, mainly on hustle, and regained leads which they had lost.

Personnel of Schools Seeks Raises

Salary raises for school teachers and secretaries and an adjustment in working hours for maintenance and custodial employees were sought at Monday night's School Board session.

The teachers' salary committee sought a hike in the base pay, additional pay for department heads, $10 a month for health insurance, and more credit for previous teaching experience, outside the Tecumseh system.

Custodial and maintenance employees have asked for a shorter work week, 40 hours instead of 45, at the same wages.

Higher salaries were sought for limited and full time secretaries.

An opening for a full time secretary will be available at the end of the present school term. Interviews for the job, either men or women, will start in May.

No action was taken on any of the requests.

Contracts OKed by School Board

Teachers with only one or two years in the system are considered on probation. Tenure qualifications start with the third year.

A special board meeting will be held this Thursday evening for the probationary teachers.

Visits Here

Charlene Sowers was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Topps Sunday.

BEHIND PAGE ONE

Mrs. Glen Driscoll of 107 W. Brown St. reported last Wednesday she saw two pair of robins on trees in her yard.

Rehearsals of "Music Man" presented this week and next by the Tecumseh Players weren't interrupted except for major events, but this was major. Gordon Comfort was called away the evening of Feb. 2 and the following morning his wife presented him with a playmate for Beth, a little girl.

A used car listing in this week's George Underwood Fordland ad has us wondering. The tag line says, ". . . local banker's car. Real sharp." The question is, to whom do they refer to with that "sharp?"

Herald want ads seem to start movement, even before they get into print. Mrs. Alvin Witt of Sand Lake wanted to rent her two-bedroom cottage and naturally signed up for three weeks on The Herald liner page. But she had to cancel before the first one ran — the place had been snapped up. Apparently just the notion it was coming up turned the wheels of commerce.

"This is Boy Scout Week, isn't it?" asked Mrs. George Wright, 820 Outer Dr. When told it was, she went on to explain about a Cub pack of which she was once a den mother 20 years ago and how proud she is of the lads, all of whom "turned out real well." Included are J. J. Walper, Jim Bowser, Jim Freckleton, Don and Dean Shelton and her son, Chuck DesErmia.

Dave Wilkerson, known throughout the country for his phenomenal work with dope addicts and alcoholics in New York City, will tell of these experiences March 14 in the high school gym. He is sponsored here by the Tecumseh Ministerial Association.

A couple of heart patients at Herrick Memorial Hospital proved they can still chuckle. John Surratt, manager of Adrian Federal Savings and Loan, spent two months in Room No. 125, following a severe attack, then was discharged Saturday and is convalescing at home. As he left, another ticker-tuneup patient, Al Tonneberger, was assigned to the same room. John said 125 had cured him and now Al was next.

Never let it be said that Tecumseh is not prepared. But purely by circumstance this time. It seems that the Country Club borrowed a red carpet for the New Year's Eve dance from the National Carpet Co. When Mrs. Ralph Dabe took it back, the carpet company had folded its tent and silently moved away. Result — one red carpet in case the president ever comes to "Hesmucet."

Mrs. Arlie Haviland Beaubien, former Tecumsehite and social studies teacher in the Adrian Junior High School, has distinguished herself by writing a term paper on the "phenominal growth of Goodwill Industries of Southeastern Michigan" for an education and guidance course at Siena Heights College. Her paper was entitled "The Successful Experiment". She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter Haviland.

Gambles presented a 25-year pin to Don Martin the other night — but neglected to give his wife, Lottie, one. So she just pretended she was honored, too. After all, Mrs. Martin has served the full stint in stores the couple has owned, first in Chelsea and now Tecumseh.

Fred Brighton, 713 S. Union St., has a new bounce in his step, all because of a present his wife, Frieda, has given him — a nine-pound boy. Fred has waited 22 years for the little guy to arrive.

It would seem that half of Main Street will be minus shop owners as they catch vacations in the climes of Florida. February seems about the only time of year they can get away. Have fun, guys and dolls, you deserve the rest.

Guys in the valve plate room at Tecumseh Products Co. are getting their fill of coffee and donuts — for free, too — these days, as first one and then another of the fellows celebrate 30 years with the firm. Frank Glenn started the tradition, then Bill Butler jumped on the bandwagon a few weeks later, to be followed by Henry Kempf. The boys are considering champagne and caviar when they turn the 40-year mark.

Zero to 50, tundra to goo, isn't our weather grand?

Did you get a free magazine last week? Maybe it was really one that belonged to your neighbor. Mind checking the address? Mrs. Laine Holden is missing some and perhaps there are others who did not receive their current issues.

Seen those khaki uniforms dotting the landscape this week? Boy Scouts of Troops 4 and 73 are wearing theirs in observance of Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7 to 13. Emphasis is placed on how the scout program strengthens America's heritage.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Clair Martin, 305 E. Logan St. and Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Creger of Occidental Hwy.

A fourteen branch candelabra centered the chancel with large urn arrangements of magnolia foliage in front of it.

Garlands of white satin roping joined the four aisle posts holding arrangements of palm foliage, white gladioli and chrysanthemums.

Her double tiered veil of bridal illusion was secured to a crown of lace and seed pearls. She wore a single strand of pearls at her throat.

Her bouquet was of white petite carnations, Snow Song and Garnet roses in cascades design.

Marjorie Martin was her sister's maid of honor and Carol Bassett and Audrey Vander Kaay were the bridesmaids.

If you're going to enter something like the Pure Oil Performance Trials, you might as well do it to win.

So We did. Class IV—won by Buick Special.

Down at Daytona Beach, we gave everyone another look at Buick's "Win Policy". A V-8 Buick Special won over stiff competition (sorry, boys!) in Class IV—in the 1965 Pure Oil Performance Trials. The winning Special was equipped with our 300 cubic inch Wildcat 310 V-8 and Super Turbine Transmission.

Remember that the drivers in the Performance Trials are skilled professionals, and the cars finely tuned standard production models. (If it can be said that the Special is "Standard" anything.) Also remember that the trials are an exhausting, carefully graded test of a car's all-around ability. In economy, acceleration and braking. Small wonder the Special came out on top. Handsomely.

(The specific detail? Our hero averaged 20.689 mpg in economy, to score second among 10 cars. It accomplished the acceleration test—from 25 to 70 mph—in 9.315 seconds, for a fifth. And took another second in braking from 65 to 0 mph in 172.0 feet. The cumulative result: we won all the marbles in Class IV.)

Now then. If you're going to enter something—like a car—you might as well do it to win, too. Your Buick dealer can introduce you to the driver's seat of a Buick Special.

Jayvees Drop Hillsdale Game

A fourth quarter rally fell short for the Tecumseh Jayvees Saturday night as the Indians dropped their first game of the season, losing 58-53 to Hillsdale.

One of the few times this season, the Jayvees gave up considerable heighth to an opponent, who capitalized on the advantage.

Failure to hit from the free throw line contributed directly to the loss. Tecumseh made only 17 of 35 attempts, and several misses came on one-and-one situations.

Top scorer for Tecumseh was John Goodman with 20 points. Dean Hebb tallied 13 and Scott Edwards 11.

Other local scorers were Lee Hannibal with 7 and Dave Kennel, 2.

Law Enforcement Officers Address Club Members

Richard Germond, Lenawee County sheriff, and Murell Clark, Tecumseh chief of police, Monday told Exchange Club members it will take the efforts of every citizen of Tecumseh to hold the line on the rising percent of crime.

The sheriff pointed out that current juvenile delinquency problems are minor to what they will be in the next few years. He spoke on the relationship between juvenile problems and the troubled home and told of some of the criminal cases processed by the department.

Russ Garno was program chairman and the birthday of "Honest John" Wagner was noted.

The Feb. 22 program will concern the Jack Miner bird sanctuary at Kingsville, Ont.

TO THE EDITORS:

Thanks to you and please convey to the merchants who sponsor the church page our deep appreciation.

The "Keister Service" is very well done and certainly contributes appreciably to the paper.

We hope the considerable expense will be justified and reflected in an increasing number of church people helping to raise the moral and ethical tone of our community.

Sincerely,
Paul Brantingham

Arson Suspected in Automobile Fire

Arson is suspected in the fire that gutted a 1959 car near the Top Hat restaurant on N. Evans St. early Saturday morning.

The automobile, owned by Gerald Creger, 708 S. Occidental Rd., flared into flames about 15 minutes after the owner had entered the resaturant.

The inside of the car was completely destroyed before the Tecumseh fire department arrived. After the blaze was extinguished, it was towed to the police department's parking lot.

A detective from the State Fire Marshal's office in Jackson and Wallace MacGeorge, local fire chief, inspected the car Tuesday afternoon for clues to the fire.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our son and brother, RICKY FRANK HORTON, who would have been 16 Saturday, Feb. 13. 1965.

His friends think we have forgotten
When they see us smile;
Little do they know the heartache
That's with us all the while.
Gone but not forgotten,
When the evening shades are falling,
And we're sitting all alone,
In our hearts there comes a longing,
If our RICK could only come home.

Greatly missed by his Mother, Dad, and Brother.

She continued, "We begin to love by letting God love us. Are we lounging on the altar? Do we help others every day? God is concerned with everyone of us each day."

School Orders Transformers To Save Money

Purchase of four transformers at the high school, one on the athletic field, was approved by the School Board Monday night.

The sale will allow the schools to save about $1,000 in running a line to welding equipment in the shop.

Another $800 may be saved through a lower rate.

Consumer Power, which sold the transformers, allows only one hookup to a building. A second hookup may now be made directly to the shop department from a transformer, instead of running a new line from the present attachment on the south side of the building.

No window post.
No floor hump.
No radiator.
No power steering.
No power brakes.

Some of the things you don't get in a Corvair are among your best reasons for buying it.

'65 Corvair Monza Sport Sedan

Corvair by Chevrolet

The beauty of it, of course, goes deeper than the things you don't get. There's the other side of the coin—what you do get in their place.

Take the no window post, for example. What you do get is hardtop styling—with curved frameless side windows—in every Corvair closed model.

The transmission and driveline hump you don't get means more foot room. Thanks to Corvair's rear engine, the floor is practically flat.

No radiator—the engine's air-cooled—also means no water, no antifreeze and no hose leaks to worry about. All of which add up to some more important pluses.

Power steering? Power brakes? Corvair needs them like a centipede needs crutches. With most of the engine weight on the rear wheels, the front ones are free to steer easily. And stops are quick and sure—with no nosediving.

MUELLERS HAS GROWN INTO ONE OF BRITTON'S MAJOR INDUSTRIES, OVER RECENT YEARS, A TRIBUTE TO CONFIDENCE OF CUSTOMERS

People's Faith Built Company

BRITTON — "Our growth is attributed only to the confidence the people of the community have shown us," said Oliver Mueller, secretary-treasurer of Muellers, Inc. of Britton. "We are offering quality products at reasonable prices."

What is now known to many people in Lenawee and Monroe Counties as Muellers', Inc. began March 1, 1947 as a farming partnership. Leslie, Robert, and Oliver Mueller started with 600 acres of rented land. Now the firm farms over 1,200 acres.

In 1955 the company installed an anhydrous ammonia tank at Britton. The business was incorporated Aug. 1, 1958.

In 1958, grain handling facilities of 60,000 bushels were built. In the meantime, fertilizer sales have been increasing from 25 to 30 per cent per year since 1955.

Leslie Mueller died in 1960. He had been in a coma since he was struck by lightning in April, 1959.

Dry Fertilizer facilities were completed in Britton in March of 1963 and the following year the partners installed a mixing plant increasing the storage to an 1,800 ton capacity. The plant makes it possible to add any additional micronutrients (trace elements) that field tests show a need for.

Muellers' now bag their own fertilizer at the Britton plant and they package with their own trade name, High-Phos Grow-Power.

Robert Mueller is the president of the corporation; Merrill Amsler, an inactive member, the vice-president, and Oliver Mueller the secretary-treasurer.

Tories Win After Four Overtimes

BRITTON — It took four overtime periods but Britton finally overcame Deerfield Friday night and won 73-69.

At halftime the score stood at 24-20 with Deerfield ahead, the third quarter saw them gain even more ground, at the end of the quarter they led 39-33. Britton came back in the final stanza to tie the game at the final buzzer.

In the first three minutes the Tories just managed to quell the Minutemen in time and the game went into double overtime, 59-59. A foul shot by Terry Godzina with eight seconds left tied the second overtime, 64-64.

Both teams could manage only three points in the third overtime. Two of Britton's came with only one second left on two clutch foul shots by Doug Fairbanks.

The fourth overtime was all Britton as they scored six to Deerfield's two. The final score after four overtimes was 73-69.

VOICE of THE HERALD

A Lucky Town

Hardly a month goes by and up pops the name of Ray Herrick making another contribution to humanity.

In between, there are probably dozens of other gifts which the general public never hears about.

Now, people learn that Mr. Herrick is making possible the building of a reception-orientation center at Hidden Lake Gardens.

For so many years now, Tecumseh has been blessed with the thoughtfulness of our No. 1 citizen we tend to take the fellow for granted — this is both good and bad.

It's good from the standpoint that Ray Herrick likes to be thought of as one of the family and shies from ostentatious displays. Like many a dutiful husband, he'll stroll into the A&P on the way home for lunch to pick up a loaf of bread and a can of soup.

The sad part is that we are so willing to accept all the wonderful things our community has received as if it were our birthright.

Like when the new library was in the blue-print stage, which was to be built with Tecumseh Fund Foundation money, the major part being gifts from the Herrick Foundation.

There were a few comments that the old library was adequate — which it wasn't — and that the operating costs would be higher. Luckily only a handful felt this way. Sure, there have been higher bills, but comparing them to the tremendous benefits for residents, the argument turns out to be actually laughable.

The vast majority of us are sincere in appreciation for the many kindnesses Mr. Herrick has bestowed on our community.

There's no question that he's truly Mr. Tecumseh.

Travel around the state and mention the name of your home town. As often as not, the name of Ray Herrick will soon pop into the conversation, usually followed with the comment, "You people are certainly fortunate to have such a benevolent fellow living in your town."

That we are.

Crackdown on Smut Ads

One of the nation's largest metropolitan newspapers, The Los Angeles Times, recently issued a "screen code" to control and avoid lewd advertising in entertainment material submitted for publication.

The Times action came as a result of "many thoughtful letters (from readers) pointing to abuse of our franchise and obviously yours in their homes," it said in a letter to 300 stage and screen executives, ad agencies and night clubs.

"It is not our intention to be either picayunish or prudish in our evaluation, but we are convinced that moral and social values have not been decayed as frequently as portrayed, and we trust that together we can find a better standard of values in the area of good taste," the paper explained in its correspondence.

There was a long list of subjects to be avoided, including nude figures, violence and sadism, double meanings, promotional use of the word "sin", suggestive dress or undress, suggestive use of narcotics and vulgar display of anatomy.

The Detroit News apparently is also starting to act in this direction and with a recent movie entitled, "Sin on the Beach," the word "sin" was removed and in small type was "For the title of this film call 000-0000."

Many an American parent has been jarred with the entertainment ads in dailies, which otherwise use excellent taste, remembering that the publication is read by all members of the family.

However, they wonder how it is that the owners and publishers can permit such sadism and sex to appear within the covers of their papers.

Apparently the Times in Los Angeles has had enough and it is doing something about the continually worsening situation. We'd like to see more papers join in the fight for good taste in entertainment advertising.

Beyond this, of course, we would hope that people producing the movies and stage plays would start to clean up their profession. In recent months several have spoken out against filth.

The turn towards decent entertainment must come from within the industry itself. As individuals we can help by writing editors and telling what we think of their entertainment pages. Remember, letters from readers started the action in California.

The new Fisher Body Plant overlooks the fields where celery once made a fortune for its growers.

HISTORY OF RAISIN TOWNSHIP

The Celery Farm

(Editor's note — At one time, celery was grown south of the city in rich muck lands, which are located north of the new Fisher Body plant. Miss Clara Waldron, local historian, tells about this crop in another of her current series on Raisin Township.)

THE CELERY FARM

It was some time during the 1880s that Raisin began to grow a new product — celery. Until then a swamp had covered a large area in the northeast section of the township, lying along what is now Ives Rd. and extending south almost to the new General Motors Plant and north across Russell Rd. into Tecumseh Township.

About 1880, a county ditch, known as Cook's Drain, was dug, carrying off the water and leaving a wide expanse of deep, black muck soil, which for nearly 40 years was to mean an important industry in the community.

Just when and by whom the first experimental planting was made is in question. LaVern Russell remembers that his father began with seed brought to him from England by a Mr. Haines. He had been visiting in his native country and recognized the similiarity between land used there to grow celery and the newly-drained muck soil.

This may have been the first culture here, but the largest and best known area was that along Ives Rd., where a Tecumseh dentist Dr. Stewart, promoted what came to be known as the Prairie Side Celery Co.

Here many acres came under intensive cultivation, with many employees, an elaborate irrigation system, washing and packing houses, a spur track from the D T and I railroad and a small settlement of homes for workers.

★

ANOTHER ENTERPRISE, called the Tecumseh Celery Co., operated a slightly smaller acreage on the south edge of the old swamp. Part of this area must now belong to General Motors.

A spur from the old Michigan and Ohio railroad brought refrigerator cars to the muck land of Mr. Russell in Tecumseh Township and other smaller growers in the area. The largest section was in Raisin, however, and "The Celery Farm" always refers to Prairie Side.

Celery was not a common vegetable in the middlewest at that time, but it must have caught on quickly for the expanding production found a ready market. Most of the local crop was shipped to St. Louis, at first in small lots by express and then by iced refrigerated cars.

Some smaller growers sold to local grocers or peddled it from house to house. What is now a year round commodity was then a seasonal delicacy and its growers prospered accordingly.

When conditions were favorable, the growers made money and the business expanded over the years. It was far from "velvet" however.

The soil required special fertilizers, seed had to be imported, then carefully nurtured in beds and the young plants had to be set out by hand.

Weeding, blanching — all celery was white at that time — harvesting, trimming, washing and wrapping, all were hand operations.

Many a Tecumseh boy earned his first money setting celery or weeding the long rows under a summer sun that turned the black soil into smothering heat.

Irrigation was another large expense item. It had to be carried on day and night during the growing season. At first the water was supplied by windmills and when the wind did not blow, the pumping was done by horsepower treadmills.

Later, steam engines were used and then the more efficient gasoline engine could be heard putt-putting away to keep the water flowing between the rows.

What beautiful, long, clean rows they were, fresh, pungent, and earthy. The smell they gave off of a summer evening as rest-dents drove out to the celery farm was one of the season's pleasures.

Visitors to the area were always taken there as part of their entertainment. Those straight lines of pale green foliage, extending endlessly against the velvety black soil, left an unforgettable picture in the minds of that generation.

★

AT THE HEIGHT of it prosperity, more than 100 carloads were shipped each season and their profits found their way into the economy of the community.

It was "celery money" that enabled Dr. Stewart to build the Chicago Blvd. house, now owned by Dr. Coak, a house much larger, more pretentious and elaborately decorated than in its present form.

Names associated with the industry include "Bert" Lowe, who was bookkeeper for the Prairie Side Co. for years and Ernest Daisher, who gave it a lifetime of unremitting toil and whose fortunes went down with the company.

Then almost overnight, there were no more profits. The growers struggled on a few years in a small way, but hand labor had become too high and too scarce. Competition with the all-year growing climate of California and Florida was well nigh impossible to meet and the super-markets with their demand for a year round supply direct from the grower eliminated both the wholesaler and the smaller grower.

The land is still there, much of it a desolate waste of weeds, undergrowth and small trees, a sad picture of forgotten prosperity, waiting to be reclaimed to usefulness.

What's Going on at BOYSVILLE

By MARTIN WHITAKER

Sunday the veteran students of Boysville, returning from a four-day semester break, were greeted by the sight of 15 new faces, those of the 15 enrollees for Boysville's second semester. Most are from the Archdiocese of Detroit, but others hail from Saginaw and Marquette.

After the usual 8:00 o'clock check-in, students, both old and new, proceeded to the gym where they viewed Elvis Presley's role in "It Happened at the World's Fair".

√

Most students found the semester break a relief from anxieties and frustrations. Not so for Boysville's Varsity Knights, as they were routed by Ida's Bluestreaks by a score of 65-50 January 29. Ida, whose only defeat was at the hands of Boysville earlier in the season, jumped to an early 13-9 first quarter lead. Again in the second quarter Ida outscored the Knights, 16-13. Halftime score favored Ida, 29-22.

In the third quarter Ida continued its scoring barrage, finding the hoop for 20 points as compared to the Knights' 9. Boysville's scoring efforts in the last quarter proved futile as they could muster only 19 points to Ida's 16.

Scoring honors went to Ron Klos and Jim Cowan with 21 and 14 respectively.

√

February 2 found the Knights fully recovered from their defeat to Ida, as they romped over Wayne St. Mary's in a non-league game by the score of 84-52. Coming into the game with Boysville, the Blue Knights of Wayne St. Mary boasted a 10-3 record, entitling them to second place in their own Detroit area league.

Their impressive record proved irrelevant, however, as Boysville quickly ran up a 14-0 lead. By the end of the first quarter, the Knights enjoyed a substantial 26-9 lead. During the second quarter the Knights appeared momentarily to falter, as St. Mary's outscored them 13-12. The halftime score favored Boysville, 38-22.

Scoring honors went to Ron Klos (River Raisin League scoring leader), Moe Jacobs, and Jim Cowan with 27, 14, and 13 points respectively.

√

The Knights again sampled the taste of defeat on February 5 as they fell to the Irish of Adrian Catholic Central by a score of 60-56 in a game that went into overtime.

Boysville got off to a poor start as the Irish leaped to a 16-12 first quarter lead. Boysville, however, was not to be discouraged, as they surprised the Irish in the second quarter with a 20-point onslaught and held the Irish to a meager nine. The score at halftime stood at 32-25 in favor of Boysville.

Boysville's spark seemed to be extinguished in the third quarter, as the Irish chalked up 13 more points and held the Knights to nine. The Irish again followed suit in the fourth quarter as they tallied 16 more points, thus tying the Knights 54-54 as the gun sounded. In the three minute overtime period the Irish managed to net six points and effectively stalled the ball and held Boysville to only two points.

Both teams had scored 19 field goals, but, unlike the Irish, Boysville failed to capitalize on the foul line. Ron Klos, Boysville's scoring artist, found the hoop for 25 points, while Moe Jacobs hit for 18.

√

With the new semester came two new members of the Boysville faculty. They are Brothers James Daniel Reisz, CSC, and Brother Raymond McLaughlin, CSC. Brother James will take the place of Brother Gerald Liston as the biology and general science instructor, and will prefect in the recreation halls. Brother Raymond has taken over the post of Sacristan, is assisting Brother Leonard in the Campus PX, and is prefecting study halls and recreation halls.

√

Friday night members of the Senior and Junior classes attended an informal dance in the Dining Hall following the Boysville-Adrian CC basketball game. Thirty girls from the Clinton and Tecumseh area attended. Special thanks are due to Father Casimir Lutomski of St. Joseph parish in the Irish Hills for his part in organizing the trip for the girls.

√

Report cards were distributed during the past week. The student body displayed a tremendous improvement. Two-thirds of the boys who had received defaults in one class or another at mid-quarter recovered and were able to pass. Because of this, Brother Jeffrey, CSC, principal, has granted a special reading privilege for the 5:15 p.m. study hall.

Those who made high honors were: David Levites, Joseph Oman and William Kostka.

Honors were made by: Ron Klos, Paul Scully, Ray Lemanski, Mike Frie, Jeff Gorney, Ed Johnson, Dan Maline, Joe Pawlus, Ben Thomas, Don Chalmers, Mike Bissonnette, Rick Currie, Paul DeWaelsche, Rolland Reich, Joe Rodriguez, Bob Schwanki, Joe Gordon, Mike Jantz, Don Lowe, and Steve Carroll.

√

Tuesday and Wednesday of this week Iowa Tests were administered. These concerned the skills, understanding and ability to use what the individual has learned thus far. The results of these tests will be used to plan the remainder of high school classes.

√

Last Saturday Brothers Philip Armstrong and Thomas Friel attended a workshop in liturgy and liturgical music at the Brothers of Holy Cross Midwest Province headquarters, Notre Dame, Ind. The purpose of the workshop was to correlate and unify community observance of the new liturgical changes which were inaugurated last November and which will be implemented on March 7.

PATTERSON SCHOOL PATTER

By SHERRIE HART

Reading, Writing and Arithmetic aren't the big problem at Patterson these days. The main issue is keeping the kids dry long enough to teach them. But never fear, Principal Rufus T. Gillam's here, and he's putting up a real mean battle. But, oh those hills and all that snow! They're just too much for us kids.

Institute Was Friday

All the teachers have to go to school. The teachers in Lenawee County attended the Teacher's Institute, Friday. It was held in Adrian High School. The speakers were James L. Borough and Judge Harold Kessinger. In the afternoon the speaker was Prof. Ralph Peterson.

Teachers Attend Class

Miss Zion, the reading consultant with Ginn Book Company, presented two demonstration reading classes for the first, second and third grade teachers recently.

The morning lesson was presented to the Ridgeway, West Branch and Patterson teachers in Mrs. Raymond Puffer's second grade room, at Patterson School.

The afternoon lesson was presented at Tecumseh Acres in Judy Sherwood's second grade room for the teachers from Herrick Park, Sutton, Tipton and Tecumseh Acres Schools. Mothers from these classes took over the classrooms during the demonstration period.

4th grade

The children in Mrs. Edgar Buttolph's room are making Valentine cats and mice. They made Valentine men and arranged them in a cave. They have a Valentine post office that they are going to have their Valentine boxes arranged around.

In math the boys and girls are studying average. In science they are studying air. In language they made health posters. They are studying Africa in social studies.

5th grade

Mrs. Russell Raymond's boys and girls are making patriotic shields. They also have pictures of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and William Henry Harrison whose birthdays are in the month of February. These pictures were brought by Elizabeth Lowe.

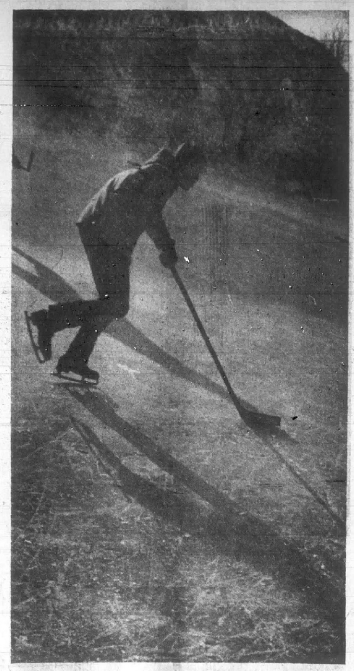
In social studies class pupils are doing a booklet on the Southern states. They are studying the atmosphere in science class. In language they are making book reports and have to read at least four books this semester. In reading they are working with dividing words into syllables and in math they are learning what radius is, and what a vertex is.

American History Student To Get $100 DAR Gift

One of the Tecumseh High School seniors who are students of American History will be awarded a $100 scholarship by the Abi-Evans Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The presentation will be in observance of DAR-sponsored American History Month as proclaimed by Tecumseh mayor, Harold E. Easton.

Members of the THS faculty will select the winner from among students of six history classes.



FANCY STICKMAN — Rusty Blanden showed some fancy stick-handling in recent teen hockey action at The Pit. The weatherman has cancelled all games this week, but may come through by the weekend. Rusty and his pals couldn't be happier if ice is available once more.

$4½ Billion Is Our Share

Michigan's taxpayers will be required to pay out approximately $4,526,390,000 in federal taxes as their share of the cost of the federal spending program of $99.7 billion proposed by President Johnson.

The Michigan State Chamber of Commerce released the estimate.

Harry R. Hall, executive vice president of the State Chamber said, "This estimate is based on the State Chamber's calculations that Michigan taxpayers bear 4.54% of all federal taxes."

In making this estimate, the State Chamber utilizes a formula developed by the Tax Foundation, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and the Council of State Chambers. This formula shows the actual proportionate share of the budget of each state more accurately, because a report of collections of federal taxes do not represent the federal tax burden in the respective states.

The State Chamber report shows that Michigan's share of the proposed federal budget is 3.8 times the amount of state taxes collected last year to finance all of Michigan's 1963-64 expenses. It is 6.5 times the 1964-65 State's General Fund, General Purpose budgetary appropriations. Based on 1963-64 state sales tax collections and estimated budget is equivalent to a sales tax of approximately 37 ed retail sales, Michigan's $4.5 billion share of the proposed fedcents per dollar.

UM Researcher To Direct Annual Science Fair

ANN ARBOR — Dr. A. Geoffrey Norman, University of Michigan vice president for research, will be director of the 1965 Seventh Annual Southeastern Michigan Science Fair.

Announcement of appointment of the director was made by the fair's executive committee

The 1965 Fair is scheduled April 9-11 in the U-M Intramural Sports Building in Ann Arbor. Junior and senior high school students in Lenawee, Monroe, Washtenaw, Livingston and Jackson counties will compete for scholarships and prizes valued at more than $1,000 in the fair.

A research biochemist and professor of botany, Dr. Norman has been director of the U-M Botanical Gardens since 1955. He joined the U-M faculty in 1952 to supervise the plant nutrition work of the Michigan Memorial-Phoenix Project.

HOW DOES LIFE GET SO TANGLED?

Interesting thing about a rope—it rarely becomes tangled when it's serving some useful purpose. It stretches firm and taut . . . reaching . . . holding.

But lay the rope aside . . . waiting without a purpose . . . and it becomes so tangled you can't even find the ends.

Life is like that! For some folks it seems an impossible tangle of conflicts, worries and disappointments. They haven't discovered how to devote their strand of years to a vital, constant purpose.

But for others life stretches firm and taut from birth to Eternity. The tangles disappear as men reach across time to hold certain the truths by which God would have us live.

Life without tangles . . . life with purpose . . . discover it in Church next Sunday!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

This is the second of a number of articles in which I would like to discuss the various aspects and problems of traffic safety.

At the rate of increase during the last two years — an increase each year of more than 200 lives lost in traffic over the year before — more than 14,000 people will be killed on our streets and highways over the next five years alone!

By 1969 we will be killing more than 3,200 people in traffic each year . . . injuries will skyrocket to over 200,000 each year.

To attack the problem effectively, we need documented solutions . . . we need informed, coordinated and cooperative action.

★

AS AN IMPORTANT step in evaluating Michigan's traffic needs, I appointed — during the past year — a special commission on traffic safety to study, in depth, the strengths and weaknesses of Michigan's traffic accident prevention efforts.

Two-hundred-and-nineteen key Michigan citizens and officials cooperatde to review every aspect of traffic safety in Michigan and to recommend needed administrative and legislative improvements and public action.

Eight commission study committees produced more than 100 recommendations. They studied Michigan's accident prevention efforts, not in generalities, but in specific details. They found that responsible officials lack much needed legislation, manpower, financial and public support to keep pace with the ever-mounting problem . . . and their recommendations can be summarized by one key word. That word is "Strengthen"!

★

WE MUST STRENGTHEN our current laws, the basic framework within which our officials charged with responsibility for traffic safety must operate.

We must strengthen budgets to provide necessary manpower and equipment to do the job.

We must strengthen our efforts in traffic law enforcement and accident records . . . in driver education, improvement and control . . . in highway engineering . . . in the safety condition of the vehicle . . . and in public information.

We must strengthen research programs to allow for more studies of how to manage more effectively our resources and activities and to develop better methods of accident prevention. We must study long-range solutions including the human factors in accident causation.

★

THE COMMISSION'S specific recommendations — representing the combined and cooperative thinking of citizens, responsible officials and special consultants — were presented to me in September. Since that time they have been further condensed and refined in the light of:

► Detailed study, comment and suggestions during eight regional Governor's Safety Conferences;

► Careful review and study by the Michigan State University Highway Traffic Safety Center and by leading officials and traffic consultants; and ► Forthcoming re-organization steps in state government required by Michigan's new Constitution.

Based on these factors, I will recommend that the bulk of the Special Commission's recommendations requiring legislative action be introduced during the present legislative session. Other recommendation requiring appropriations have appeared in my budget recommendations.

Additional SCOTS recommendations requiring legislative action have been deferred pending constitutional reorganization. These are mainly in areas relating to courts handling traffic cases.

★

AN ADEQUATE understanding of the traffic problem depends upon the efficiency of our accident records system. Discrepancies requiring attention include: additional accident information not now consistently reported, more uniform reporting and use of modern electronic data processing systems.

Based on these needs, I will support bills:

► To strengthen accident and violations reporting by including information not now consistently reported — such as non-fatal accidents, juvenile violations and no driver license violations — and by requiring the reporting to the Michigan State Police of property damage accidents involving $100 or more in damages.

► To provide appropriations to allow for modern electronic data processing systems to increase the value of accident records to law enforcement agencies, to courts and driver education specialists, to driver licensing and improvement officials, and to state, county and local engineering authorities.

Indians Quint Racks Up Nos. 11, 12

Milan Stopped by 71 - 51 Count

A big fourth quarter cracked the Tecumseh-Milan game wide open here Friday night with the Indians winning their eleventh straight game, 71-51.

The 20-point margin is deceiving as the Big Reds stayed close to the Indians for nearly three and a half periods.

Two Tecumseh players — Jim Lawson and Dave Tilton — nearly didn't play at all due to the flu bug. Both were running slight temperatures at game time but failed to let the bug shake their game.

Lawson, who played less than three quarters, hit for 10 points in the initial period and then added six more for a game total of 16.

Tilton turned in an excellent floor game, one of the best for any Tecumseh player this year, and scored seven points.

Milan gained a 15-14 lead at the end of the first quarter but fell behind in the second when Jeff Osburn tallied nine of Tecumseh's 15 points.

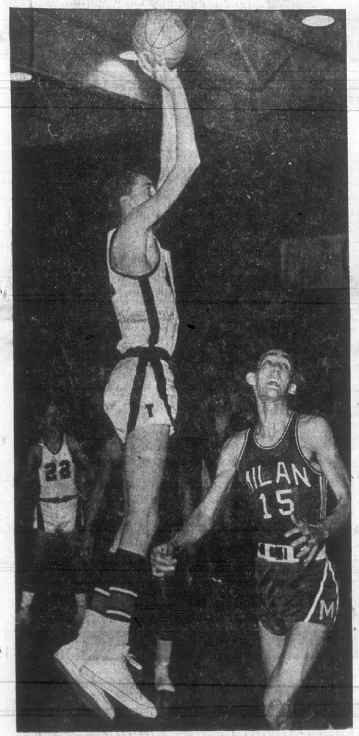
THE INDIANS led 32-26 at the half and then upped their lead to 46-37 at the end of three periods.

The Big Reds threatened slightly in the final quarter and collapsed. At one stretch, Tecumseh poured 22 points through the hoop while the visitors were collecting just four.

Center Gregg Allen came on strong in the second half to pace the Tecumseh scoring with 17 points. Gordon Gibson capitalized on Milan's collapse in the final period when he netted 10 points.

Accuracy from the free throw line helped to pave the way for the Tecumseh victory as the Indians hit on 23 of 34 attempts. Milan also hit well, making good on 19 of 26 attempts.

The rough and tumble game was marred by 43 fouls, 26 against the visitors.



TALLEST CAGER — Lanky 6'6" Don Hughes uses his height here to good advantage in getting off this shot against Milan. Hughes has subbed for both Terry Alcock and Gregg Allen this season and has been a big asset to the Indians. Dave Tilton (22) turned in a terrific game against Milan.

FEBRUARY 11, 1965

Hillsdale Falls, 65 - 58

By JIM LINCOLN

Tecumseh captured its second victory of the week — and 12th straight of the season — Saturday night with a 65-58 win at Hillsdale. The Indians, off their shooting from the floor, more than made it up at the free throw line where they hit an astounding 33 of 44 attempts.

The second game in two days may have contributed to the closeness of the score, as the Hornets were not an exceptional team as their 8-2 record had indicated.

Tecumseh ran up a 32-23 lead at the half and appeared on its way to an easy victory. However, Hillsdale poured through 25 points in the third quarter, hitting on practically everything thrown at the bucket.

★

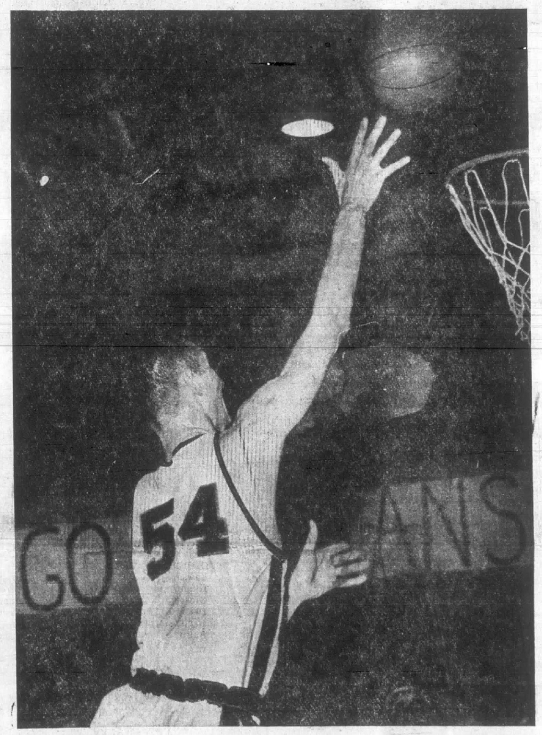
HILLSDALE went ahead midway through the period and at one time led by six points. Late in the third stanza, the Indians started closing the gap, scored four straight points and then continued the surge in the final period with a string of nine straight points — a total of 13 points while the Hornets were being held to none.

With less than a minute to go in the game, Tecumseh boasted an 11-point lead.

Jim Lawson and Terry Alcock paced the Indians with 21 and 19 points respectively. Both canned 11 of 14 free throw attempts.

Hillsdale couldn't stay away from foul trouble, and lost its entire first team via the foul route. Gregg Allen and Jeff Osburn fouled out for the Indians.

Officials called 30 fouls against the Hornets and 23 against Tecumseh.



TOP SCORER — Gregg Allen, 6'4" center, tosses one in here against Milan as the Indians scalped the Big Reds, 71-51. Allen is second to Jim Lawson in the scoring column for Tecumseh this season.

TO THE EDITORS:

We were given a subscription to the Tecumseh Herald for Christmas. It was the most welcome gift we received. We have read every issue from front to back.

We are really amused by the pictures and articles about the ice and snow and stalled cars.

Wish we could send you some California sunshine in exchange for the pleasure we're getting from reading the Herald.

We have just moved into our apartment. Could you please change our address on your records and send the paper to

TO THE EDITORS:

In your Jan. 21, 1965 issue of The Tecumseh Herald, you ran an article and picture of Lewis J. Lamm as manager of the new GM plant in Tecumseh.

We have a weekly publication and would like to run your article on Mr. Lamm. His parents live in Moweaqua and prior to his marriage this was his home address too.

We would appreciate your sending us the matte or the original picture if you still have it. We will be glad to return it to you when we are finished with it.

Thank you.

Very truly yours,

Fathers, Sons of Macon Have Annual Banquet

MACON — Totem poles, Indian drums and nut cups with tomahawk greeted the 96 Fathers and sons who met Saturday night in the Methodist church dining room. The programs were in the shape of a tepee.

Following the roast beef dinner, the guests adjourned to the sanctuary for the program. Dean Moore was toastmaster. The group sang "Faith Of Our Fathers". Douglas and Robert Haines sang two selections, accompanied by William Bigelow. "A Tribute to His Dad", was given by Mark Williams and "When Father Shook The Stove", by Charles Bigelow. The Irish Hills Quartet sang several numbers.

Rev. Corl gave the benediction. Gifts were presented to Clyde Greenfield Sr. of Clinton for being the oldest father with a son present; Jesse Poe and Kinsey Corl of Monroe, for coming the farthest distance and the Rev. Ronald Corl for having the youngest son present.

BEEF COW HERDS can be profitable if managed properly. Try to maintain a cow herd that will wean a 90% to 95% calf crop, with calves coming off their mother at 450 pounds or more. Calves should have the potential to grade Good to Choice when sold. It is also important to hold direct cash and non-cash costs below $100 per cow annually. Since calves are the profit-makers, it's important to keep close track of calf production costs.

PLAN FOR NARROW ROW CORN if you're ready to replace your machinery. This is especially true if you grow a large corn and soybean acreage, average around 120 bushels per acre and seed close to 18,000 to 20,000 plants per acre. Under these conditions rows planted at 28 to 30 inches will usually yield an extra 5 to 10 bushels per acre and will offset the additional investment over time.

HOG PRICES should trend higher before seeing same spring weakness. Latest government report indicated an 8% reduction from last year in farrowings during the June-November period. January slaughter was actually down 10% compared with a year earlier. Cold storage stocks have built up slower, too. It may be practical to carry hogs up to 240 pounds in areas where discounts are not excessive.

LIQUID MANURE HANDLING is made easier from storage pits when feeding finely-ground feed. Research has found that coarsely-ground feed causes solids to settle out making pumping more difficult.

STEVE CANYON By Milton Caniff

OUR "COLLEGE" MADE THE FUNNIES — How many readers of the popular comic strip, "Steve Canyon" happened to notice one of last week's panels, which related how Maumee U. scored "... the second big win over Tecumseh Tech." It surely brought a chuckle and gosh we didn't even know there was a college in town.

Republicans Name Nelson, Teets

Marvin Nelson and Harry Teets were selected as delegates to the Republican State Convention at the Lenawee County Convention Jan. 28 in Adrian.

Mrs. Harold Wilson and Mrs. Fay Whelan will be the alternates.

The state event will be held Feb. 19 and 20 at the Jack Tar Hotel in Lansing.

Senator Gilbert Bursley of Ann Arbor was the speaker when over 100 delegates gathered for the county session. He stressed the importance of youth in building and broadening the Republican Party.

He advocated the organization of a teen-age Republican group in every county in the state.

To emphasize his point, the Senator presented a trophy to be given annually to the teen-age Republican who gives the best oration in a properly judged contest.

Senator Bursley said, "I hope this goal can be achieved in 1965 and that the TARS oratorical champion can give his or her speech before the State GOP conventibn with coverage on television and radio."

He concluded his talk saying "My deep interest is in those who will attain the Moon and Mars during their maturity and who will govern with responsibility the America of tomorrow."

Street Workers Seek Allowance for Clothing Cost

A request for a clothing allowance for street department employees was turned over to City Manager Cal Zorn by Council recently.

A representative from the department made the request for time when employees work on the tar wagon.

Mr. Zorn said he would consider the request and discuss it with the department's employees.

Camp Sequoia Offers Winter Fun

Tecumseh land winter sports fans have not had to go far this year for their fun Camp Sequoia, a family recreation camp has offered, when the weather permitted, excellent skating, skiing, tobogganing and sliding.

The camp, operated by Bob and Judy Welke, is located on Gady Road between M-52 and Occidental Hwy. and is said to be the first camp in the United States to have its own snow machine.

Mr. and Mrs. Welke opened with a day camp program in 1955 and changed to residence camping in 1960. They hope to expand into a year-round recreation area on the 42-acre private lake site.

The camp is open under the lights Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings from 6 to 10 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday afternoons from 1 to 5 p.m. Groups may make reservations for Monday through Thursday evenings.

Mr. and Mrs. Welke have two young sports fans in the family, a son David, nine, and a daughter, Kimmy, four. Bob has a master's degree in camping and counseling and Judy has had several years experience working with young people.

INTERESTING FEEDER SHARING

Adversity makes strange bedfellows, misery loves company, or something. All sorts of birds are sharing the feeder these days, at least, when the weather is bad, we have this interesting dining together. Bird behavior during or immediately after a storm is peculiar unto itself and often produces its own particular type of watching.

It would be nice to think that difficult times move the birds to generosity, awakens them to the blessing of sharing. Unfortunately though, I am afraid that no such kind thoughts are prompted; one bird does not really share the feeder with another — he is merely so interested in filling himself up that he cannot be bothered or doesn't even notice his neighbor. Oh well, whatever the reason, it makes good looking for us.

★

THE THICK LAYER of ice left by the weekend storm and the frigid temperature which followed so closely kept our feeding stations, and incidentally our camera busy, busy, busy. One of the star boarders was the rough and ragged yellow bellied sapsucker. Suet, peanuts, sunflower seed and a nibble of scratch feed now and then seemed to be his reasons for regular visiting. Who could be more in contrast to this unkempt character than well-groomed, beautifully feathered Papa Cardinal? See what I mean about strange goings on?

Three long billed, upside-down birds truly surprised us by briefly sharing the feeder. Sometimes in the spring we are lucky enough to have a pair dine together but three at once — unheard of. Another extremely unlikely twosome concentrated at the suet one afternoon. A male nuthatch stood on the floor of the feeder and worked at the inside of the suet-cake while chiseling away at the outside was a perky black and white downey woodpecker.

These are the things which send our camera into a flurry of shutter snapping. After the files are running over with pictures of A blue jay, A nuthatch or A cardinal, one starts trying to avoid so much repetition and works for combinations. Just how successful our efforts are will only be known when those little yellow boxes of processed slides start arriving. I am rather afraid that many good shots I 'loused up' by either being so surprised that I couldn't hit the switch or waiting for the birds to get a bit closer, which of course they never did.

ONE PICTURE I know I didn't get, and probably never will present itself again, was a squirrel and a sleek little tufted titmouse. Mr. Longtail was busily eating corn and the very nervous titmouse kept sneaking seeds from the sunflower head. Even though the thievery was taking place at the squirrel's back, it was an extremely brave titmouse — more likely a very hungry one.

I have read accounts of bluejays, upon the discovery of a food bonanza, screaming for their companions to come join the party. Well, except in the summer time when the birds are very young, we seldom have more than one blue jay on the feeder at a time. They may be nearby but sharing the feed — no. I just hope my camera caught the trio — what a sight, the black ground was snowy and white, the sun shone brightly, the three big beautiful blue jays gobbled a midmorning snack. They ignored each other completely, it was fun seeing them pretending the others weren't there.

So it is that among other things, winter produces some interesting feeder sharing.

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

When 38-year-old Harold (Buck) Smith attended school back in Harlan, Ky., the days used to start with the students thanking God for being there.

"But times have changed," muses Buck, who operates a Gulf gasoline station on the west end and is a devout Missionary Baptist Church member.

As far as he is concerned, they have changed too radically and he thinks President Johnson should do something about it.

"Pretty soon someone will try to take the Pledge of Allegiance to our flag out of school, too. Then the flag," he adds.

Being the sort of a fellow who believes in tackling problems head on, Buck picked up his telephone the other day and told the operator:

"Could I please have the White House in Washington? I'd like to speak with Mr. George Reedy, President Johnson's press secretary."

Buck wasn't able to reach Mr. Reedy, but had a long chat with one of his assistants. She suggested that Mr. Smith put his thoughts in writing and send them along.

He did that two days later and here are some of the comments from his letter to Mr. Reedy:

"I am writing to you in regard the 1962 decision passed in the Supreme Court not allowing the Bible or prayer in our schools.

"I love my country as much as anyone in the world does and would give my life for it. Many of my friends already have and to think that those boys that died for our country and their children cannot thank God in school for what they have.

"I know that Church is the real place to worship, but we need God in our schools too. When we pledge allegiance to our flag in school, are we supposed to leave out the part about God?

"So please if you can find it in your heart, let's put prayer and the reading of the Bible back in school.

"I am trying to raise five children and I would like for them to be able to hear some reading from the Bible in school as well as church."

Buck says that he'd be happy to go to Washington, at his own expense, and state his feelings in person — with the President if at all possible.

This guy Harold Smith isn't a crank or a religious fanatic.

He's a happy-go-lucky chap who works 14 hours a day, five days a week, at his station and loves every minute of it.

Sundays he teaches two classes at the Tecumseh Missionary Baptist Church, which he helped to build with his own hands.

Buck has been a member of this Faith since childhood and when he came to Tecumseh in 1950 to get a job at Tecumseh Products Co., helped to found a local congregation.

There were 16 charter members, who met originally in the Pythian Hall. Their neat cement block church, erected 10 years ago, now holds a congregation of 120.

When the Supreme Court made its decision on prayers in public schools three years ago, Buck began to wonder about the effect. He has thought about it on and off ever since.

One night, about a month ago, he woke from a deep sleep, asking himself if something might be done about the situation. He was unable to get back to sleep.

That morning, he decided it was time to see if he couldn't do something and so made his call to Washington.

His letter is there now and Buck is awaiting some word from the White House.

"I'd like to sit down with the President and talk to him about it," Buck confided, as casually as if he were speaking of visiting with a neighbor down the block.

Tecumseh Square Dance Members To Have Party

The Tecumseh Square Dance Club will hold the February dance at the Tecumseh Products Union Hall Saturday, Feb. 20, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

DIRECT ACTION — When a fellow wants to express his ideas to Washington, a call to the White House is in order. That's the way Harold (Buck) Smith feels. Please see Long & Short column for details.

How About Sitting Bull Crescent?

Council temporarily delayed approving the plat for the Marsh Coulter subdivision off Occidental Rd. Monday night—because of the street names.

The local businessman had designated the streets be named Crescent Dr. and Southhaven Dr.

City officials are insisting that Indian names be used.

Possible names include Chickahominy, Chiricahua, Karankawa, Passamaquoddy, Timuquanan and about 1,400 others.

COUNCIL BUSY

Lift Station is Planned

A new lift station with a four-inch pressure line for sanitary sewage is planned at the edge of the city limits on N. Union St.

Cost of the lift station and pressure line is $15,700.

George E. Snyder Associates of Jackson completed the plans which will handle sewage for Paul's Trailer Court, Kerby Heights and an approximate six-acre section, just west of the street.

Cal Zorn, city manager, says the lift station and connecting main will handle about 200 homes. Sewer lines from the three areas to the lift station will be of the gravity type.

The city manager was instructed to set up a special assessment district by Council Monday night, and scheduled a public hearing on March 15.

If approved, work on the station and lines are expected to start this spring.

Candidates Number 8

Eight Tecumseh residents have filed for four seats on City Council. Deadline for filing was Monday.

Of the eight filed, three are incumbents: George McCombs, John Hamilton and Raymond Puffer.

Robert Bonner is not seeking re-election, after five years and two terms on the Council.

Other candidates are Herbert N. Barnes, Lawrence Mohr, Marvin J. Nelson, Douglas W. Osworth and John H. Robinson.

New Assessment for Sewer Only

Council ordered a special assessment district set up for constructing a sewer from S. Maumee, 450 feet east on Russell Rd. to an industrial site owned by William Mackey.

The action taken Monday night is a repeat of previous action, except the new special assesment is for sewer only.

At a previous session, Council rejected the special assessment district after Otto Beaubien protested that the costs were more than the value of his property.

Mr. Beaubien is the major property owner. Assessment is against property owners on the north side of Russell Rd., since the south side is in Raisin Township.

Attorney James Beardsley informed Council that it could assess for more than 25% of the property value. He had been asked to check this legality and informed that "home rule" cities, such as Tecumseh, have no limitations.

A public hearing for the new special assesment district was scheduled for March 15.

Baptists Buy Parsonage

The congregation of the First Baptist Church approved purchase of a new parsonage Sunday, acting favorably on a recommendation of the church's board.

The new home for Rev. and Mrs. B. O. Bashore is at 310 W. Pottawatamie St., the former home of the Charles Stevensons, who have moved to Arizona.

A parking lot will be built on the site now occupied by the present parsonage, which may be moved to another site. Church officials hope to have the parking area ready by this summer.

It will accommodate between 35 and 40 cars.

Mormon Banquet Speaker

"Living the Christian Life", will be the theme for the Sixth Annual Community Laymen's Banquet to be held during Brotherhood Week in the Youth House of the First Baptist Church.

Carl S. Hawkins, assiciate professor in the University of Michigan Law School will be the speaker in the Youth House of the First Baptist Church.

Prof. Hawkins, a native of Provo, Utah, served two years with the U. S. Air Force in Asia and the Pacific Theater in World War II. He is a graduate of Brigham Young University and Northwestern University.

Prof. Hawkins who served as second counselor to George Romney, then president of the Detroit Stake of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, was elevated to the post of first counselor to the new stake president when Mr. Romney became governor of Michigan.

General Chairman Clifford Knudson has set up the following committees to take charge of this year's event set for Thursday, Feb. 25, at 6:30 p.m.

Dr. George Burkhard and Orville Bishop, dinner and reception; Jim Meade, ticket sales; Maynard Lucas and Gibbs Barber, program, and Bob Ries, publicity.

Pat Meadows will be master of ceremonies.

Tickets are available from laymen in the participating churches. Men and youths of all ages are welcome to this Brotherhood Week event.

Prof. Carl S. Hawkins, first counselor of the Detroit Stake of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, will speak at the Laymen's Banquet here Thurs-

Reviewer Lauds Singing by Cast

(Editor's note — Herald guest reviewer Gretchen Brogan is a Toledo Blade staffer, formerly worked for the Minneapolis Star and Tribune, is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the State University of Iowa and once played in a band, directed by Meredith Willson, who wrote "The Music Man.")

By GRETCHEN BROGAN

Professor Harold Hill, the fabled, fast-talking salesman of Meredith Willson's hit musical, makes a visit to Tecumseh this week.

He is, of course, the leading character in the Tecumseh Players' production of "The Music Man" being given at the Odd Fellows Hall.

Performances continue through this weekend with a final show scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 27 in Dawson Auditorium in Adrian.

The story of the musical is that of Professor Hill's visit to the small town of River City, Iowa, to sell instruments and uniforms for a boys' band.

In order to complete his project it is necessary for him to convince a naive, but hardheaded populace and the town's pretty librarian that he is a music teacher as well as salesman.

Hill's "think" system of teaching music (no music involved) keeps him one step ahead of the law through most of the show, but his involvment with the music teacher brings his downfall at the end.

★

WILLIAM McANALLEN, the director of the Players' show, must have had difficulties with the cramped quarters in their theater, but if they did, it isn't evident in the results.

Both make fine use of the small space allotted them and numbers such as "Iowa Stubborn," "Wells Fargo Wagon" and "Shippopi," sung by the whole cast, are performed at a high professional level.

The show's main weakness was in the difficult leading role. Dr. Richard Hammel played Professor Hill with vigor and came up with creditable performances such as "Marian, the Librarian," but seemed unable to handle the fast-talking delivery needed for songs such as "Trouble," one of the big hits in the original musical.

Mary Ann Buzzard, who plays the female lead, appeared a bit stiff in the opening scenes, but relaxed later on and was in fine voice for her part. She was costumed charmingly throughout and did particularly well with "Till There Was You" and "Goodnight My Someone."

★

CASTING IN the other parts was good — and in some cases — exceptional.

It would be hard to imagine a better choice for the librarian's shy, lisping younger brother than young Jeff Gentry of Tecumseh.

He produced his lisp in fine fashion and made a touching picture throughout the show.

Tom Riordan as mayor of River City, and Judy Vanzo, as his sweet, simpering wife, turned in outstanding performances, as did Dan LaBumbard as Professor Hill's friend, Marcellus Washburn.

Credit for a good job in a small role goes to Peg Frownfelder, a Tecumseh resident, who sang solo parts in several of the women's choral numbers.

The younger members of the cast, including Carol Riordan, who played the mayor's daughter, and Ted Tiede, her boyfriend, performed adequately, if a bit self-consciously at time.

★

THE "FOUR DADS" barbershop quartet — David Woods, Gordon Comfort, Dr. Carlton Cook, and Gene Earling — sang and played their parts to perfection.

The band, composed primarily of high school students and directed by Miles Cowdrey, had its difficulties, but did a good job with a long and difficult assignments.

Jackie Pokorny was assistant director of the show. Duane Steele was technical director.

Board of Appeals Spot is Unfilled

An appointment to the Board of Appeals was tabled by Council until March 15.

A vacancy on the board exists since Arthur Schwartz moved to Cleveland.

Probable new member is Robert Bonner, present councilman, who is not seeking re-election.

Council Orders Condemnation Suit on Easement

Council authorized James Beardsley, city attorney, to proceed with condemnation proceedings to secure an easement on a small lot owned by Central Advertising.

The lot is adjacent to Evans Creek and just off W. Chicago Blvd., near Sunset Dr.

City officials have repeatedly attempted to secure an easement for the Evans Creek Interceptor Sewer, a project expected to be finished this spring.

Other easements, according to officials, have been approved, some verbally.

Parking in Free Stalls Is Limited

An ordinance to limit parking in free stalls in off-street parking lots to two hours was approved by Council Monday night.

It will be enforced by the police, starting March 3.

The new ordinance is aimed at merchants and their employees who park all day in the free parking stalls.

It's Taps for Timi, Miss LaPointe's Pet

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Timi West Branch is dead.

The little dog was beloved by some 700 Tecumseh youngsters who attended Miss Bertha LaPointe's second grade at West Branch School.

It was in December of 1954 that the small, part shepherd, part cocker dog was waiting on the porch of the school as the teacher arrived.

Cold, hungry and with his coat filled with burrs, the dog was taken in by youngsters and their teacher who warmed and fed him.

When they finally got all the burrs out of his bedraggled tail, it curled up and he was able to wag it appreciatively.

Those children are juniors this year at Tecumseh High School. For 10 years, the little dog that the children named has been with Miss LaPointe. He attended school every day for two consecutive years.

He was included in the guests at her retirement party held at Patterson School in 1956 and Valentine's Day found 16 dog and kitten cards in the mail for him.

It's no wonder that Tecumseh's dean of elementary teachers is lonely for the companion she and her students enjoyed so many years.

Miss LaPointe said, "At my retirement party, Ricky Brighton told the group that Timi was the only one in class who didn't whisper."

Miss Edith Ingersoll once called Timi, the "Little Angel Dog," which seemed to be the most appropriate name of all.

After 125 Years, Law Office Empty

One of the oldest — if not the oldest — law offices in the state of Michigan was vacated here last week.

The upstairs had been used for law offices for over 125 years, practically from the time the building was constructed.

Attorneys who have used the suit of rooms include Charles Burridge, son Walter Burridge, E. B. Wood, Fred Wood, partnerships of Wood and George Rathbun and Wood and Glenn Williams.

Mr. Williams used the offices before Mr. Zeigler moved here from Blissfield.

Mrs. Majel Holden has received one of the highest honors one may hope to achieve in this life. Friends have named a baby after her. The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Comfort who named their new daughter Majel Elaine. One of the Holden twins, Joyce, is happy also. She and the new baby share the same middle name.

Boy, oh Boy. The advantages of a lad with a Hollywood star for a sister are unlimited. One handsome young man is sporting a sweater recently worn by Vic Damone. It's 100 percent alpaca from Lemmermayer, Vienna. Made in Austria, no less. Woweeeeee.

"Wouldn't have missed it for anything," exclaimed Mrs. Elmer Eberhardt after seeing "Circus World" in Cinerama at the Valentine Theatre in Toledo with her hubby, who chimed in that the film is "Good family entertainment". Apparently the flick has everything, a big top going up in flames, runaway stagecoach down the Champs Elysees, circus ship capsizing, plus rich Spanish settings in color.

Purchasing Agents . . . optimism is based on four economic indicators, according to Dr. Dean Ammer, economics editor of Purchasing Magazine. He cited the rise in the stock market, business acceptance of plans for the Great Society, a rise in industrial production and negative indicators, such as durable goods orders and housing starts, becoming positive again. Dr. Ammer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ammer of Tecumseh.

General Motors announced that rear seat belts — as well as front — will be installed as standard equipment on all of its 1966 passenger cars.

Alcoholism, dope addiction and other social problems of youth and adults do exist in Tecumseh according to the Rev. Harold Speer, a member of the Tecumseh Ministerial Association. The Rev. David Wilkerson, author of the book "The Cross and the Switch-blade," will be here March 14th to tell how he handled these situations among the teen gangs in New York City.

BRIGHT LIGHTS OF PINBALL MACHINES GO OUT

Recreation Is Closed

In operation since last May, Tecumseh Recreation has been closed permanently by owner Clayton Greenwald.

Mr. Greenwald said that the pool table and pinball machines, which were all leased, will be picked up in the next two weeks.

The closing decision followed recent police action taken against the center's manager, James Coudron of Palmyra, when youths under 17 were found on the premises by police.

A state statute denies persons 16 and under from being in a place where there is a pool table.

Justice Ernie Oliver fined the manager $10.70 and costs of $4.30.

Curbs, Gutters Are Authorized

A public hearing for curb and gutter for seven different sections of Tecumseh was held Monday night by Council, which approved special assessment districts for each section.

The areas approved for scheduling were:

N. Evans St. — Shawnee to Burt St.

Vanetta St.

S. Van Buren St. — 100 and 200 blocks.

S. Evans St. — north of Russell Rd. to the railroad.

E. Patterson St. — Ottawa to Maumee St.

Burt St. — 100 block.

Adrian St. — Murray Dr. to Russell Rd.

Some of the work will start this spring, but completion is not planned for several years.

Alternate Named at Farmers' Meet

Alden Erlenbush of Onsted was appointed Recorder of Beef Production for the National Farmers Organization at a meeting held in the Blissfield High School Feb. 3.

Gene Frost of Palmyra was appointed as alternate. Mrs. George Brablee of Britton was named press correspondent.

Carolyn attended the Little Roundup at Red Mill, Ind. three years ago.

The girls have been in Scouting for nine and 10 years.

The favored scouts have undergone five outdoor weekend training sessions in December and January and will be further trained in particular skills geared to the Idaho Roundup.

Thirty-four countries will be represented in the 8,000 Senior Girl Scouts there this summer. The event is held once every three years.

Machines Worth $26,000 Added at Greenwalds

Automation has come to the shirt laundry business.

Greenwald Dry Cleaners and Laundry has installed $26,000 in machines, which will speed and streamline both the shirt aspect of the business and also clothes pressing.

Eight pieces of sleek equipment arrived this week and should be in operation by next, estimates Clayton Greenwald, the owner.

The shirt press costs $9,300 and will permit production to jump from 50 to 120 finished shirts in one hour.

A new washer, extractor and starcher will handle 40 shirts per hour, having them ready for the press setup.

An operator does cuffs and collar simultaneously on a piggyback unit, then drapes the shirt over a metal form. This rolls in between two giant metal "hands" which come together to press the body. The sleeves come next on another unit.

The operator than slips the shirt into a folding device and when it pops out, she encases the finished garment in a plastic sack.

A semi-automatic pants and skirt presser operates on a timed basis, steaming, ironing and drying garments in a matter of seconds.

Mr. Greenwald said that since moving four years ago to his west-end location, a new 50 x 120 feet building, his annual gross business has tripled to $90,000.

It's almost George's birthday and after that surely spring won't be far away. All us kids with the big heads and red noses will be glad. We hope some spring air and sunshine will put an end to all these colds.

Bill Pope saw robins, fifty of them, down at the creek this past week. That's surely a good sign.

Colds aren't the only thing that is "hacking" us lately. Measles are putting folks to bed too. Mrs. Ralph Helerman, Jr. fifth grade teacher at Herrick Park, has them and so does Mrs. Don Moffatt.

Folks are coming home from the southern states. That's a spring sign, too.

Mrs. Lynn Harris expects to arrive from San Bernadino, Calif. this weekend. She has been a houseguest of Dr. John L. Lynch.

Mrs. Veva Connor returned from Forney, Texas where she had been visiting her brother Fred Hendershot.

Mr. and Mrs. Duaine Service returned Thursday afternoon from Kanab, Utah where they were called last July to assist in caring for Miss Elsie Cameron who lives with Mr. ervice's sister, Miss Myrna Service. Miss Cameron is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kruger and son, Michael of Ft. Wayne, Ind. were in the city this weekend visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dinse.

Arthur Swiger of Coolville, O. is spending a month with his daughter, Mrs. Owen Smith.

Maria Kasno and Frances Higgins attended the Hair Style Show at the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel, Detroit Feb. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Carswell and family have moved into their new home on Murphy Hwy.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sisson and family of Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wallace of Ypsilanti were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bowen. While here they attended the production, "Music Man."

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Easton and family and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Eggleston and family attended the wedding of Janet Murphy in Uniontown, Pa. Linda Easton served as a bridesmaid in the wedding.

Club Meets Feb. 18

St. Elizabeth School Clippings

Eighth grade science students found that appearances can be very deceiving! With such simple equipment as a glass of water and a lead pencil, they made observations which enabled them to get some basic ideas about refraction. From the beginning, they found that they would have to be alert, as a scientist is, for even small details.

Looking at the pencil in the glass of water for the first time gave everyone a real thrill of surprise. The students tried to record all their observations by making sketches which showed the various changes in the appearance of the pencil when viewed through water. They found that refraction, or the bending of light rays as they pass from one media to another, caused the pencil at various times to look bent, broken, shorter or quite fat.

All agreed that this first-hand experience helped them to learn something in an enjoyable way about the nature of light.

BETTY BURKERT

The second graders, under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Carmen Alafita, are busy counting out correct change. They have opened a 'general store' in their classroom and during the arithmetic period the children can purchase paper apples, ducks, pears or anything else that one cares to imagine. Arithmetic is fun this way.

DAVID O'NEILL

St. Elizabeth students miss the wonderful student teachers who spent the first semester learning teaching techniques at St. Elizabeth School. The student teachers have returned to Siena Heights College where they will complete their final semester of studies before graduation in June.

CAROL RIORDAN

Spanish is a well-liked subject in all the grades. The eighth graders not only can say "buenos dias" with a genuine Spanish accent, but can tell the time and conjugate verbs. The seventh grade is working diligently at pronunciation and class reading from the text Rosita y Panchito. The fifth and sixth graders are enjoying matching colors, identifying objects and singing Spanish songs.

THE LANSING REPORT FROM senator GIL BURSLEY

Tax reform, or fiscal reform — whichever you call it — continues to be a priority issue in Lansing. To most people this means a state income tax, although complete fiscal reform would involve at least 20 statutes.

On the scale that Governors Romney, Swainson and Williams have proposed this would mean changes in laws covering over $300 million in state taxes.

Such legislation would require the most careful technical preparation as well as detailed homework by your legislators.

Ultimately fiscal reform would mean greater revenues to provide expanded state services for a growing population.

To date in this session, only a handful of relatively unimportant tax bills have been introduced, but I am assured that legislators are preparing major packages of fiscal reform bills in both the Senate and the Hous.

Their fate is problematical. Obviously it will take a great many Democratic votes to achieve anything fundamental since Democrats control the House 71-37 and the Senate 23-14.

★

COMPLICATING THE picture is the projected $100 million surplus in the state coffers this June 30. It is difficult to get citizens interested in fiscal reform when the state is so prosperous.

However, there are serious inadequacies in our tax structure and as Governor Romney points out "the time to repair the roof is before it rains."

Michigan's national image as a fiscally sound state is now well established by contrast with our bankrupt reputation of five years ago. We must at all costs avoid fiscal crises and the deflationary effect this has on jobs and employment in Michigan.

It might interest you to know that:

► Sales tax revenues in the first half of this fiscal year have increased 9%.

► Business activities tax receipts 10%.

► Cigarette tax collections 1¼% (in spite of the cancer scare).

► Gasoline tax receipts are up by 7%.

December sales tax collections from Lenawee County alone totalled $347,000.

★

MANY PERSONS have criticized Michigan's tax structure referring to the so-called nuisance taxes and implying that other states don't have these taxes.

Might I point out that 48 states have cigarette taxes and that in 23 the tax is as high, or higher, than in Michigan.

All states tax gasoline, but only five states have a lower gas tax than Michigan. Twenty-three states have both a personal income tax and a sales tax. Thirty-seven states have a corporation income tax.

Many states have combinations of state, county and city sales taxes and state, county and city income taxes.

Fiscal reform in Michigan would not involve a magic wand that would reduce the number of different taxes we pay. The objectives rather would be greater equity in our tax structure and a more flexible growth potential.

The new motel to be called "Harvey's House", is scheduled for completion in May.

Woods Marshal of Memorial Day

Council appointed Donald Woods to be marshal of the day for festivities planned here on Decoration Day.

Richard Beasley had been appointed at a previous meeting but declined the appointment.

Guests Attend 'The Music Man'

Recent guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Riordan were her mother, Mrs. E. J. Eberhart of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Riordan and family of Burningham. They attended the musical, "The Music Man," in which Thomas Riordan plays the role of Mayor Shinn.

Sharon K. Martin and Frank R. Creger were united in marriage by the Rev. Paul Brantingham in a candlelight ceremony Feb. 6 at the Tecumseh Friends Church. The couple is making their home at 506 W. Pottawatamie St.

Network of Electricity

There is a remarkable, but little-known organization, called "The Michigan Pool," which brightens the life of Michigan's people and helps guarantee the high standard of modern living they take for granted.

Consumers Power Co. and Detroit Edison Co. — two of the nation's leading electric power utilities — have welded their systems across 34,600 square miles in the Lower Peninsula to serve some eight million people.

In doing so, they demonstrate that independent cooperation produces multiple strength that is insurance against disaster, economy for the customers and bigger dividends for the shareholder owners.

These two utilities are the mainstays of the Michigan electric power pool, which also includes four municipal systems and two industrial generating plants.

★

THE CONSUMERS' system stretches across 27,000 square miles in 61 counties to reach 930,000 electric customers. Edison has 1,323,607 customers in 13 counties on the southeastern part of Michigan.

Each company has seven large generating plants with bigger and better ones on the way.

Consumers Power is also linked with the Upper Peninsula, and Edison has two interconnections with the Ontario Hydro-Electric System in Canada.

Rate reductions announced recently by Edison and Consumers show how the pool pays off for the customer.

Consumers recently provided some spectacular proof that a power pool can shrink disasters into the category of an inconvenience. It was an example etched in flames against a black night sky over the city of Marshall.

The quiet little city of 6,737 was shorn of all electric power when a fire in the municipal power plant — not a member of the pool, but served with supplemental power from Consumers — plunged the community into darkness.

It was 9:19 p.m., and a community hospital with 52 patients switched to its emergency generator that could hold out till morning.

But expert help was on the way, backed up by the power resources that had been building up for years to answer any emergency. Consumers' linemen restored partial power to the downtown section by 1:30 a.m.

By 7 a.m. everything was normal with the new source of power and the hospital could turn off the emergency generator. That was the Michigan Power Pool in action.

How did it all happen? Why was this reservoir of power immediately available to a stricken city? Why was this municipal ordeal that normally should have stopped progress for a week or more shortened to 10 hours?

The answer is the story of the Michigan Pool. It has been compared to a blanket insurance policy, guaranteeing reliable electric power.

It does not cost the beneficiary a cent in premiums.

Joined with Consumers and Edison in this state-wide protective system are the major municipal electric plants in Wyandotte, Lansing and Holland and the Public Lighting System of Detroit.

The Edison Sault Electric Company has been connected to Consumers by a cable across the Straits of Mackinac, and the big industrial plants of the Ford Motor Co. and Dow Chemical Corp. are active partners.

Edison also has two links with Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, Canada. One is near the Ambassador Bridge where cables stretch over the Detroit River from Detroit to Windsor.

The second is at Marysville where cables span the St. Clair River to Sarnia, Ontario. A third connection is planned.

WHAT DOES IT ALL ADD UP TO?

In the well-known city where this young fellow is growing up crime has shown a steady increase for more than a decade. And many of the convicted offenders aren't old enough to vote. Rough-looking "kids" loiter on the street corners with nothing to do. Smooth-looking "kids" flash by in cars with no place to go. The police patrol certain beats with dogs — humanity alone cannot cope with the situation.

But this young fellow must grow up nevertheless. And for him . . . for the community . . . for the nation . . . tomorrow depends on how he grows up!

It all adds up to the most crying need of our time: early, continuing, determined moral and religious instruction. It demands spiritual awareness in our homes. It requires resolute, sacrificial support of our churches.

In every city, village and hamlet an awakened nation is mustering its total spiritual resources . . . seeking God's help . . . and seeking yours . . .

Tecumseh Girls Play Excellent Basketball

Since 1962 the THS Girls Varsity basketball teams have won twenty-three games and have lost but three. The three losses were by a total of nine points. Tecumseh has scored a total of 1.025 points against 443 for their opponents.

The highest score was against Milan Jan. 23, 1964, when Tecumseh won 77-9.

The girls have won six straight this season and are looking for their first undefeated year.

The Junior Varsity team has won nineteen and lost six. Tecumseh scored 656 points to 327 for their opposition. They also have won six games this year.

★

THE VARSITY team defeated Napoleon for a second time Feb. 11 on the opponent's court with a score of 62 to 27.

Napoleon had the strongest defense but Tecumseh never let them have the lead.

Emily Manwaring dropped in 27 of Tecumseh's 62 points, Mary Jo Mensing gave victory a helping hand with 16 points.

Marsha Parrish and Linda Silverus tied for high score for Napoleon with eight points each.

Mary Jo and Emily tied for scoring honors Monday night when the Tecumseh GAA rolled over Hudson 59 to 23.

Each girl poured 20 in the basket. Tecumseh kept a tight zone making it difficult for Hudson gals to score.

Darlene Burton with 11 was high scorer for Hudson.

THE TECUMSEH Jayvees have been keeping pace with the varsity team. They defeated Napoleon 37 to 9 and Hudson 15 to 9.

Kathy Hall was high scorer in the Napoleon game with 18 points and Jackie Rentschler popped in eight points in the Hudson game for the lead.

Jan Kulik of Hudson helped Tecumseh by making a basket at Tecumseh's end of the court in the third quarter.

Gail Sanford was Hudson's high scorer with five points.

Tecumseh's next game is Thursday at St. Joseph's Academy, Adrian.

Jayvees Clip GI 61-48

Coach Jim Hoffman's Jayvees easily handled the Grosse Ile team Friday night, 64-48.

Four of the Indian starters tallied in the double-figure column with Scott Edwards pacing the attack with 17 points. Lee Hannibal collected 16, John Goodman, 15, and Dean Hebb 12.

Dave Kennel netted four points on one goal and three free throws.

Tecumseh routed its opponent in the first half with 30 points. GI scored only nine points in the initial quarter and only eight in the second.

Indians Win, Near Huron League Title

Tecumseh pushed its mark to 13-0 Friday night with an easy 67-57 victory over winless Grosse Ile, and clinched at least a tie for the Huron League crown.

The Indians' win, coupled with Blissfield's 68-67 loss to Airport, gives Tecumseh a full two games advantage with just two titts left in league play.

Friday's game at GI will not go down in the record books as one of Tecumseh's finest games. In fact, the Indians played poorly with numerous turnovers against a ragged opponent which shot amazingly well in the second half.

★

COACH VIC LAWSON's club played its best in the first quarter when the Indians rolled to an 18-11 lead. In the second period, Tecumseh slipped, mainly due to failure to score on free throws.

The Indians hit just five of 12 free throw attmpts in the second stanza — and only 15 of 28 for the entire game. GI hit five of six in the second quarter and 17 of 23 for the game.

After GI pulled to within one point of Tecumseh in the third quarter, the Indians then hustled to outscore their opponents 15 to 5 during the last four minutes.

The fourth period found Tecumseh leading by 16 points at one stage and completely in charge. Coach Lawson substituted frequently in the final minutes and made no effort to stretch Tecumseh's winning margin.

Gregg Allen, tallying 12 points in the second half, topped Tecumseh scorers with 20 points. Jeff Osburn, only consistent scorer for the Indians from the foul line with three out of four, collected 19 points.

Jets Loom as Threat Here Friday

Airport, one of the best shooting teams in the Huron League, challenges Tecumseh here Friday night in a crucial game for both teams.

An Indian victory over Airport gives Tecumseh the Huron League crown. An Airport win will move the Jets to within one game of the Indians, and make Tecumseh's tilt next week at Blissfield a must game.

Last month, Tecumseh edged Airport in a thriller on the lopsided Airport floor. The Jets, winners over Blissfield last week, have the ability to upset the Indians and force the title race right down to the wire. They're still in the race.

It's questionable that a large number of fans will follow the Jets here, but local fans should come early to assure themselves of a seat.

Tecumseh Moved Up to 2nd Spot

Tecumseh has moved back into second place in the state's AP poll for Class B basketball teams.

The undefeated Indians still trail River Rouge for the top spot in the ratings.

Tecumseh's unblemished mark is threatened here Friday night by a good Airport five. The regular season is wrapped up next week with a game at Blissfield Friday night and with Hillsdale here Saturday evening.

A Detroit newspaper poll still rates Tecumseh in the ninth position, although there are teams with one or two losses rated higher.

Redskins Beaten

CLINTON — The Redskins dropped their third Lakeland League game Tuesday night when they were defeated 55 to 46 by the Brooklyn High School five. The Skins have won eight league games. They meet Ann Arbor's U High Feb. 26 there.

Cancels Offer

City officials were notified last week that the School Board has cancelled its offer of $4,000 to help pay for a Tecumseh juvenile officer.

The cancellation practically ends hopes of employing such an officer this year.

Both the city and the school had argeed jointly to sponsor an officer, who would work out of the Tecumseh Police Department.

Several have been interviewed for the position and many applications received. Most wanted more money than the city and school were willing to pay.

"walks" right over bumps and trouble

Independent front suspension takes the "truck" out of truck ride. It smooths rough roads, protects truck, driver and cargo from excessive jolting. And on Chevrolet pickups it's a proved system with millions of miles of user experience behind it. Try it out on one of Chevrolet's great Fleetside or Stepside pickups. It's one of the big reasons that Chevrolet is first choice with pickup users from coast to coast.

Sand Creek Beats Tories in 72-58 Tilt

BRITTON — Friday night the Britton Tories once again attempted to triumph over the Sand Creek Aggies.

Although unsuccessful the Tories missed out on some very good chances to come through with a victory as both teams were as cold as the weather in the first quarter.

Britton could manage only 16 points in the entire half to Sand Creek's 38. However, a sizzling third quarter shot the Tories literally into the game for the first time.

The fourth quarter saw both teams even with 19 points each for the quarter. Walt Korican, who has been outscored by one of his teammates only once this year, was again high scorer with 21 points for the Tory attack. James Wiginton had 21 for the winners.

The Sand Creek reserve team won 49 to 24.

SENIORS AIM FOR $300

Subscription Drive Opens

BRITTON — Thirty-six Britton-Macon High School seniors opened a Tecumseh Herald subscription drive this week with hopes of pocketing more than $300 in commissions.

For each "new" home they can add to The Herald's mailing list, the Class of 1965 earns $1.25. "Renewals" are worth 50c.

Fayetta Hall is chairman of the drive, assisted by Walt Korican and Sharen Mann. Class advisors include Mrs. Richard Alexander, Paul Marks and Gary Lovett.

At a class meeting Tuesday, seniors studied the entire Britton-Macon School District, which covers nearly 70-square-miles and has been divided into segments with class members assigned to each, thus insuring complete sales coverage.

FAYETTA HALL

Cash earned in the campaign will go towards the annual trip to Washington, which will cost $2,900. The class already has $1,052 in its treasury, but also faces expenses of nearly $500 for caps and gowns and graduation flowers.

In addition to the regular commissions being paid by The Herald, the seniors also will earn a special $5 bonus for each block of 25 new subscriptions. The Star Sales of the Week, based on totals turned in each Monday for the preceding seven selling days, will be awarded a special $5 prize.

The campaign concludes Saturday, March 13.

Members of the class invite any person, who may have been missed and wants to sign up for The Herald, to call the school, 451-3581, and a senior will visit him.

Warns Against Communism

Gustava Bermudez, a refugee from Communist - dominated Cuba, was heard by 100 members and guests of St. Elizabeth Altar-Rosary Society recently.

The speaker was invited by Mrs. Ben McWilliams.

Mr. Bermudez is a graduate of the University of Havana, has a degree in engineering from the University of Detroit and is presently studying law at Toledo University.

He spoke with authority, having lived in free democratic Cuba in his youth and deducted in its finest schools, watched the spread of Communism.

Propagandists would have us believe that the underdeveloped countries are the ones who most readily accept the precepts of Communism, according to Mr. Bermudez.

"Cuba was not, by the standards of the world, an underdeveloped nation, her people having much the same scale of development and standard of living as the United States," said the speaker.

"Cuba was rated fourth in the world where the income went back to the workers."

★

"WHY THEN, was this form of government allowed to gain a hold in Cuba?" he inquired.

Answering his own question he said, "Castro, first, was converted because Communism built up his ego, made him feel more important and allowed him to bully and impose his will upon others. Many promises were made to gullible unsuspecting citizens, who when they allowed the Communists to infiltrate and spread, were engulfed in an unrelenting tide of tyranny.

"Once it gains a hold why is it so hard to shake? The Communist leaders imported from Moscow form committees whose job it is to watch the workers and people 24 hours a day.

"Any worker who is not always praising the Communist way and working to further it is put on the "black list," remarked Mr. Bermudez.

"Many of these are convicted of anti-governmental activities on trumped-up charges. They are not given a trial, but the committee decides their guilt or innocence and a sentence is given and carried out immediately.

"Court martial is no sentence, but a firing squad is the usual one.

"There is a constant change of guard personnel so that no two or three persons can form any kind of group that might possibly start an overthrow of the Communist Regime," he concluded.

Mr. Bermudez left Cuba after the Bay of Pigs invasion when he heard that there were 75,000 young Cubans in the United States who would like to go back to Cuba fighting.

Of the invasion he says the underground had no previous warning and had not been provided with arms with which to help the 1,500 in the invasion.

★

OF THE UNITED STATES, Mr. Bermudez is of the opinion that government is too lax in stopping groups who call themselves "Marxist-Leninist." The core of the Marxist-Lenin doctrine is overthrow of government by force.

"There are groups of this type operating quite openly in many colleges on the premise that we should have complete freedom of speech.

"The Communist Party is concerned with youth. After training according to Communist principles children will testify against their own parents.

"University students are beguiled by its so-called intellectual attraction, but violence erupts when theory is put into practice. Humanity is lost.

"Intelligent people are misled by half-truths and outright lies."

To combat Communism, Mr. Bermudez advocates study by adults, as well as youth, of Communism's basic principles so that in news media and other communications the fallacies may be recognized and therefore, not accepted, but fought.

Many pamphlets, books, etc., for instance, "Anatomy of a Smear" and "None Dare Call It Treason" by John A. Stormer were recommended.

Every person should become personally involved in furthering Christian principles in practice and stamping out the evil of Communism, he stated.

★

MRS. JOHN OSBURN, chairman of the Society's Penny Supper in January told that a profit of $151.76 was realized.

The annual spaghetti dinner is to be an event of March 24 with Mrs. Thomas Bruce and Mrs. Robert McCrate as co-chairmen.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Thomas Young, Mrs. Allan Barrett, Mrs. Joseph Forgacs, Mrs. David Shrader and Mrs. Joseph LeFevre.

Ag Students Join Hands

Vocational agriculture students in Tecumseh High School will join with Future Farmers of America members throughout the nation in activities to focus attention on the importance of agriculture during National FFA Week of Feb. 20-27.

Future Farmers annually choose the week of Washington's birthday to observe national FFA Week. The first president was one of the first farmers in the nation to practice contour planting, crop rotations, fertilization and other soil conservation and improvement methods.

Theme for this year's observance is "Agriculture—our American heritage". The youths will undertake a campaign to inform the public about the importance of the agricultural industry of America, the growing need for farming, and of the numerous and wide variety of opportunities that exist in the field of agriculture for young men who have a background of farm experience and training.

★

"WE HAVE such an abundance of food in America that people are taking farmers for granted, said Paul Burns, vocational agriculture teacher and FFA advisor.

"Actually farming is now and always has been our largest and most vital industry, and it is becoming increasingly important with our expanding population," he said.

Membership in the FFA is made up students of vocational agriculture in high school. The organization's activities are designed to help develop rural leadership and good citizenship, and to stimulate the students to better achievement in their studies and to work toward successful establishment in farming or other agricultural occupations.

Preacher of Slums

THE REV. MR. WILKINSON

Dave Wilkerson, author of "The Cross and the Switchblade", will speak in Tecumseh March 14 at the Tecumseh High School.

His appearance here is sponsored by the Tecumseh Ministerial Association.

The Rev. David Wilkerson was a small town Pennsylvania preacher who had never seen New York. Today his parish consists of the sidewalks of New York and the slums of the big cities across the country. His mission is to teen-age gangs wherever they are making trouble.

★

AS DIRECTOR of Teen Challenge, the slim, boyish-looking man of 32 has, since his arrival in New York in 1958, become well versed in the language of the street tough and the narcotics addict.

He preaches the Gospel in terms understood by young hoodlums and their "debs" and "dolls" — often mixing scripture and the jargon of the "junkie" in the same sentence.

It was in 1958 that Wilkerson first went to the city to try to help seven boys indicted for the murder of Michael Farmer, a crippled teen-ager, in a city park.

★

HE WAS TURNED away by authorities when he tried to see the boys but his entrance to the courtroom holding a Bible aloft led to his seizure by court attendants.

Within a few hours, pictures of Dave brandishing his Bible were in print in the city's newspapers and word spread to the teen underworld that it had a friend.

This experience and many more interesting facts about the work of this vital man of God are printed in his book.

The Tecumseh ministers have about 250 volumes in circulation here in the hope that it will be read by many before the Rev. Wilkerson arrives.

Program Planned

TIPTON — Helen Bendes, music teacher, will have charge of the program to be presented by the students for the Tipton PTA meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Mailman's Car Plunges into Lake

If valentines received by some Tecumseh Route 1 residents were even mushier than usual perhaps it is because the mailman's car was submerged Saturday.

The mailman, Mrs. Lyle Hayford of 103 Cairns Rd., left her automobile to have a receipt signed for mail delivered at the Robert Allen home at 10901 Wisner Hwy.

The unoccupied car rolled down an incline into a small private lake where it went through the ice.

Officers of the Clinton Post of the Michigan State Police investigated the accident.

Michigan Week 'Product of Year' Search Underway

The call is out to community groups throughout the state to help find Michigan's product of the year and Michigan's agricultural development of the year. Both honors are to be awarded during the 12th annual Michigan Week, May 16-22. The search will progress through county and regional contests to the state finals early in May.

Deadline for entries is April 12.

Wallace Machesney, heading the awards committee, has announced April 12 as the deadline for entries.

The product of the year must be a relatively new consumer product of significance, have proved to be successfully marketed and to have demonstrated employment potential to the community.

The agricultural development of the year must have similar qualifications.

Who will win the "Big One" at Milford?

You will.

Because the "Big One" is our annual Durability Run at our Milford Proving Ground—one of the toughest tests of a car that you can imagine.

It starts in early November at our 4,011-acre Michigan facility where we take some 40 to 50 brand-new production cars—all gassed up and ready to be tested as strenuously as we did their prototypes.

Behind the wheel are trained test drivers—part of the GM team of professionals who'll keep these cars going over a test course that combines many driving hazards: Up the "Hill Route" to see how they do over the hills you meet on those vacation trips. Then to the Belgian Blocks for pounding over jutting granite stones.

Next, to the circular track. And then sudden stops on our brake pads. On again, whirring over asphalt roads, on to concrete, then over gravel.

Through all the kinds of roads you're likely to meet as a driver, and then some you may never encounter.

Our Durability Run takes in other things, too: Close to twenty thousand brake applications for each car. Driving in reverse the equivalent of a 57-mile uphill trip.

Until the cars have added up a grand total of well over a million relentless miles.

Our drivers do all the things you normally do: Use the heater and defroster, keep the wipers going, play the radio hour after hour.

They even slam the doors and open and close the windows a definite number of times—to duplicate the way you'd use them.

All the while, of course, our drivers keep meticulous records for computing operating costs like gas, oil, tires and maintenance.

Next, every last one of the cars is taken apart, then spread out on long tables in the "Teardown Room." Now our engineers go to work and begin the real accounting—inspecting the quality of everything from fit to finish.

In all, over 6,000 people—from our divisions and from central staff engineering—go over the cars piece by piece. Evaluating their reliability now, as well as finding ways to improve the cars we'll build in the future.

That's why we say you will win the "Big One" at Milford. In a car that's been proved the long, hard, right way. The GM way. To make it not only worth more when you buy it. But likely to be worth more when you go to trade it in.

General Motors cars are proved all around.

All around the clock, all around the calendar, all around the country, all around the car.

Redskin Five Still Can Tie for Title

CLINTON — Redskin basketball coach, Richard Content, said Monday that Clinton still has a chance to tie for the Lakeland "C" lead — if the 'Skins can beat U-High Feb. 26 at Ann Arbor.

Clinton has a league record of 8-2 and U-High is 8-1.

Clinton is 10-4 over-all.

The starting Redskin line-up includes Dave Papsdorf, center, who was named to the All-State football team; Roger Mann, forward; John Basinger, and Bill Jedele, guards. Freshman Butch Hoelzer is starter at the other forward.

Mann and Basinger are team captains.

Other members of the team include Arnold Slusher, Hugh Miller, who is out with an injured ankle, Jerry Bellmore, Donald Hathaway and Dave Sebring.

Juniors, Phil Smith and Roger Proctor were moved up to the team from the junior varsity last week.

★

GRASS LAKE Warriors scalped the Redskins, 65-57, last Friday, thereby ending Clinton's hopes for the Lakeland "C" title.

The upset climaxed a week beset with trouble for Coach Content.

John Basinger, Clinton's high-scoring guard, returned to the line-up Friday after being out all week with flu.

Roger Mann, in the hospital all week for observation, was able to return to action Friday.

Hugh Miller, a starting guard earlier in the season, remains sidelined with an ankle injury.

Grass Lake pulled ahead, 44-32, in the first half.

Clinton crept up to a margin of three points after three quarters, but was unable to take the lead.

High scorers were Roger Mann with 14 points, Dave Papsdorf netting 13, John Basinger 12 and Butch Hoelzer 11.

Larry Kalmbach scored 18 points for Grass Lake.

"I'LL TAKE THAT" — Seems to be what Dave Papsdorf is saying as he pulled down a rebound in a recent win over Manchester. Teammate John Basinger peeks at action from background and Roger Mann (44) looks on anxiously from right.

'Curfew Needed,' Parents Told

CLINTON — Parents should have a curfew for their teenagers, Trooper Ronald Behrens told the members of the Parent Teachers' Association, Feb. 8.

Trooper Behrens, juvenile officer for the State Police post at Clinton, read a code for teenagers which had been adopted in Warrick, R. I., and suggested such united parental action could be useful in setting standards of youthful behavior in any community.

"Delinquency is not a police matter, but should concern everyone in the community," he said. "Like a disease, delinquency must be treated at the proper time or it may become incurable."

★

CHARLES NORAGON, commander of the Frederick E. Pieper Post, American Legion, and Mrs. Charles Voll, president of the American Legion Auxiliary made the presentation of gift flags to the school.

Twenty-two classroom flags and one large flag with a standard for use in the gymnasium were accepted by Superintendent Richard Wegner.

The school was also given another large flag to be used on the outside flagpole, a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Henry Treat in memory of their son, Charles Treat, who died last year while serving with the U. S. Army in Alaska.

Assisting with the flag presentation were: Mrs. Charles Voll, auxiliary president; Mrs. Lucile Colson, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Everett Philo, Americanism chairman; Henry Treat, American Legion adjutant and Mary Ann Treat.

★

MRS. JOHN STONER was elected secretary-treasurer at the business meeting.

Mr. Wegner announced that the high school gymnasium will be available some evenings for adult recreation. The first recreational meeting was set for Feb. 17 at the high school.

Cupcakes and coffee were served by Mrs. Arthur Gamboe and Mrs. Jack Shear.

Citizenship Topic of Clinton Meeting

CLINTON — State Senator Gilbert E. Bursley of Ann Arbor, in a speech at Clinton Feb. 10, pointed out the close relationship of state government to every village in Michigan.

The occasion was the joint dinner meeting of the Clinton Woman's Club and the Clinton Rotary Club. It was held in the United Church of Christ.

Senator Bursley participated in a panel discussion on the subject, "Citizenship in Clinton — What Does it Mean?" Representative Rollo Conlin, who was to have spoken, was unable to attend because of an eye operation.

★

SPEAKING of the demands of education on the state's resources, the senator said, "You in Clinton realize the need for education. You want your sons and daughters to receive the best education that you can afford.

"What we need is a close feeling of partnership between state government and the individuals of the community. We're going to have to work hard — together. Should it come down to higher taxes in order to keep apace of our educational demands, you'll comply — knowing that you are making sound investments in the future of our young people — your young people.

"State government," he concluded, "is what you make it."

★

VIVIAN POWELL, legislator for the Michigan Education Association, was moderator for the discussion. Speaking on the panel with Senator Bursley were Richard Adams, assistant executive secretary of the Michigan Education Association, in charge of governmental relations, and Richard Wegner, superintendent of the Clinton Community School.

Mr. Adams said that politics is the process by which society makes its decisions. "If you don't vote there are fewer people to make the decisions," he said. There is politics, in this sense, in every organization.

Mr. Wegner spoke of the school picture as changing so rapidly that the cost of an education is constantly increasing and that tax reform is needed to insure better education.

The panel answered questions from the audience concerning tax reform, support for education and reapportionment.

James Reynolds, president of the Clinton Rotary Club, conducted the business meeting of the club. He introduced Don Hoyt, the Junior Rotarian of the month.

The combined dinner meeting of the Woman's Club and Rotary Club was considered such an unqualified success that it may become an annual event, Mrs. Daniel Reilly, president of the Woman's Club, reported.

Eighty persons attended the dinner served at the United Church of Christ by the women of the church.

Board Sees New Lab Fixtures

CLINTON — Members of the Clinton Community Schools board of education were taken on an inspection tour when they met, Feb. 8.

The new biological science equipment in the remodeled science room includes lab tables, science display cabinets, a demonstration desk and sinks.

The improvements will permit the instructor to teach according to the new texts now being used.

The entire project cost approximately $4,0000 with half of the cost being reimbursed to the school district by the Federal Government and the National Defense Education Act.

Mention was made of the two engines presented to the school by Chrysler Corp. officials last week. They may be used for the automotive mechanics course being considered by the administration.

Superintendent Richard Wegner reported that the faculty had made curriculum suggestions for 1965-66. A citizens' committee will meet soon to give interested persons in the community a chance to make suggestion for curriculum changes.

Anyone interested in serving on this curriculum committee may call the superintendent's office.

Superintendents at Atlantic City

CLINTON — Superintendents Richard Wegner of Clinton and Leon Bodell of Erie-Mason Schools are spending the week in Atlantic City, N.J., attending the superintendents' convention.

Freshman Tournament Next Week

CLINTON — The second annual freshman basketball tournament will be held Feb. 23-24-25 and 27 in the Clinton High School gym.

Tecumseh, winner of the first tourney, will meet Summerfield next Tuesday at 6:15 p.m. If the Indians win, they'll face the winner of the Dexter-Manchester tilt, Feb. 25, at 8:15 p.m.

The championship game is scheduled for 8:15 p.m. Feb. 27.

Each school will play at least two games with a consolation bracket set up. If Tecumseh, one of the tourney's favorites, drops its first game, it will play next Thursday at 7 p.m.

Other teams in the tourney include Adrian CC, Hudson, Clinton and Saline. Both Saline and Adrian CC clubs are undefeated.

Summerfield, although not undefeated, has played reserve ball this season and may have some helpful experience.

Fred Oberlin, local cage official, says game officials will be assigned by the Tecumseh Official Association.

'Bells' Is Topic for Philatheans

CLINTON — Mrs. Linn Weaver chose the theme, "Bells", for the program she presented to the Philathea Class of the United Church of Christ last Thursday.

The old poem "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight" was read by Mrs. Elmer Johnson.

Mrs. Richard Denning was hostess for the afternoon meeting attended by fourteen members.

Dessert was served before the program by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Leon Van Deusen and Mrs. Fred Reiser.

Mrs. Clyde Greenfield, Sr., presented the devotions.

Mrs. Leon Van Deusen was the auctioneer for a white elephant and baked goods sale.

The class will meet March 11 at the church for an all-day sewing meeting. Members are to bring a sack lunch.

Vivian seeks excise tax repeal here Saturday

Congressman Weston E. Vivian (D), Michigan Second District, has submitted a Bill in the House of Representatives for the repeal of the excise tax on automobiles, auto parts and accessories.

The automobile excise tax was passed as an emergency war measure during both World War II and the Korean conflict to reduce the consumption of luxuries and to raise additional revenues during the war years.

In 1954 Congress reduced the excise taxes on refrigerators, appliances, jewelry, cameras and sporting goods.

The tax on automobiles has never been reduced.

90TH ANNIVERSARY — Mrs. Jeanie Satterlee, right, was honored by the members of the Monday Club Feb. 8 in observance of her 90th birthday anniversary which occurred the following day. Her sister, Mrs. Nina Heath, helps as Mrs. Satterlee serves the beautifully-decorated cake.

Mrs. Satterlee Celebrates

By DOROTHY GRIGG

Mrs. Jeanie Satterlee happily observed her 90th birthday anniversary, which occurred Feb. 9, with festivities that began the Sunday before.

Mrs. Satterlee's name is Jeanie, properly pronounced Jennie but her mother told her that she used the Scotch spelling as she found it in the family Bible.

The sprightly Tecumsehite was feted at a family dinner Sunday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Nina Heath, and Mr. and Mrs. Bobbie Robison and son, Jeff.

Monday Club members celebrated with Mrs. Satterlee the following day during their afternoon meeting and the fun continued right on through Wednesday afternoon when the birthday girl enjoyed an afternoon of bridge.

★

MRS. SATTERLEE was born Feb. 9, 1875 at 515 W. Kilbuck St. where Mrs. Heath lives now.

The home was built by the parents of the girls, the late Mr. and Mrs. Wilson McClure, in the summer preceding the birth of Jeanie. They moved in, in the fall.

Sometimes Mrs. Wilson would hold a lamp for her husband as he worked at his carpentry until late in the evening.

Mrs. Satterlee lived in the home until her marriage to Willis A. Satterlee when she went with him to Addison to operate a funeral home and furniture store.

After his death she sold the business in 1940 and returned to Tecumseh to be near her sister.

In January of 1944 she moved, during a blizzard, to her present home at 211½ E. Pottawatamie St.

★

THOUGH HER apartment is upstairs, she likes it because it is large and accommodates her many possessions:

Stairs are no problem for the "senior citizen" (she goes to their events too). She climbs them every day the weather permits her to go to Don's Beef Buffet for her evening meal.

She was baptized at the Presbyterian Church when small and attends the circle meetings there as well as the services. She is a life member of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Besides bridge, Mrs. Satterlee loves to dance and we are told that the Lawrence Welk hour often finds her soloing around her living room.

When questioned about her good health and longevity, Mrs. Satterlee laughed and remarked, "I live a clean life and don't eat too much fancy stuff, but more meat, potatoes, bread and butter.

TO THE EDITORS:

Concerning the article on the History of Raisin Township "The Celery Farm". An objection must be forthcoming as to the present day description of the former Prairie Side Celery Farm.

The farm may not look as good as when the doctor had it. However, the weeds are few, the undergrowth none, and the few trees supply shade for 40 head of high-quality Hereford cows and yearlings.

The fields are all in alfalfa, brome, and Reed Canarie grass.

High quality feeder calves are presently being produced here with the aid of artificial insemination using semen from some of the best bulls in the United States.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

THE GOOD GUYS AND THE BAD

Lest the title be misleading, this is not going to be a cops-and-robbers bit, nor are there any cowboys and Indians around. The closest we shall come to anything western is that the action takes place here at the west end of Logan Street.

The facts briefly stated are that a short while back two flocks of birds livened up the neighborhood.

One of them we liked, the other we didn't — the good guys were the lovely cedar waxwings, whereas horrid starlings were the bad guys.

Taking the nice things first, I am happy to report that we had three days of waxwing visits. It was a large troupe and most of their time was spent dining across the creek, drinking at or bathing in the few spots of open water and just sitting in the trees looking pretty. This, of course, is not a bit difficult — these are beautiful birds.

★

HANDSOME, SLEEK, smooth and soft are words which always pop into a discussion of cedar waxwings. Specifically, the birds are seven to eight inches long, have crests and wear black face-masks, smaller than those of the male cardinals.

The first impression one has of their color is a nice medium brown and a shockingly vivid yellow band at the end of a rather short tail.

A closer look shows a yellowish cast to the front and a silvery gray tint on the tail and lower back.

Friendly, sociable, polite and unassuming are also good descriptive words. Although, as mentioned before, the gang was large there was no quarreling or bickering.

They were considerate of each other — and wouldn't it be nice if the same could be said about the human gang.

I must admit, however, that several facets of their behavior were frustrating, charming but frustrating. Picking branches readily seen from my window, they spent much time posing prettily and, being friendly, five or six birds would sit side by each.

A beautiful picture, but oh, my, they were too far away for picture taking. We tried to alert Marshes to the waxwing invasion, but for three days it was the same thing.

Whenever the birds were around our neighbors were busy and the minute we felt they might be free the birds took off. Their up and down bouncy flight made these leavings look rather sassy — thank goodness birds cannot laugh out loud.

★

BY THE WAY, Jim Murray's syndicated column about yours truly has prompted a small flood of mail from bird-watchers all over the country.

A woman wrote from Oskaloosa, Iowa, and among other birds she told of enjoying cedar waxwings. They will visit her high bush cranberry the last of this month and probably stay until the bitter berries are all eaten.

But we must get on to the bad guys, the dirty and noisy starlings. Fortunately we are not plagued all of the time and when they do drop in, they are easily frightened away from the feeder.

However, a huge flock of starlings mobbing yard, trees and creek is an unpleasant sight. I try to console myself with the thought that they eat tons of harmful insects — somehow such reasoning is much easier when the birds are elsewhere.

By appearance and behavior, a starling flock is unpleasant. With short blunt tails, spindly legs, cruel looking, yellow bills, the birds are not attractive even though their winter plumage, in the proper light, is glossy black flecked with iridescent spots of purple and green.

They are greedy, quarrelsome, constantly bickering and fighting, aggressive toward other birds almost to the point of being a scourge. Needless to say, these are not our favorite birds.

So it is that the creek scene has been busy lately, we have had both the good guys and the bad.

Somehow — from someone — young Thomas Edison whose birthday we celebrate this week, received the inspiration and encouragement which led to the invention of the first successful light bulb — and the magic of electricity sprang forth to change the world.

Like Tom Edison, modern youth has an inquiring mind. It is the responsibility of persons "in the know" to enlighten and inspire these youngsters.

What's Going on at BOYSVILLE

By MARTIN WHITAKER

Friday, the Fighting Knights traveled to Petersburg in search of their fifth victory of the season. Their hopes were soon ouelled, as they were toopled to their ninth defeat, this tie at the hands of Summerfield High School's Bulldogs.

Summerfield took the initiative immediatelv as they sprang to an early lead, hammering at an unresponsive Knight defense. They held 26-12 first-quarter lead. In the second quarter the Knights made their thrust at Summerfield's 14-point margin by scoring 26 points. By halftime, Boysville trailed Summerfield by 10, 48-38.

After the halftime break, the Knights, newly aroused, began another forward surge and scored 20 points but their attempt proved almost futile as they were unable to contain the Bulldog offense. The Knights, however, did succeed in further narrowing Summerfield's margin, and the third quarter ended with Boysville still trailing 65-58.

Again in the fourth quarter the Knight Quints proved determined as they found the hoop for 22 points. By the last few seconds, Boysville had narrowed the margin to a single point, but time brought to an end what promised to be a dramatic close. The final score favored Summerfield 81-80.

Both teams scored 33 field goals, but the Knights failed to capitalize on six of their foul shot attempts. Boysville's scoring attack was led by senior guard Ron Klos with 30 points.

The Junior Knights suffered the same fate as their varsity counterparts, as they dropped their fourth loss of the season. Summerfield's J. V. erased a Junior Knight's first-quarter lead of 10-7 by rallying with a 20 point scoring barrage in the first half. The Junior Bulldogs went on to win 62-45.

The faculty of Ida High School proved as potent as its league-leading varsity as it defeated the Boysville faculty basketball team by a score of 66-42 in the annual classic in Boysville's gym Saturday night.

The "Elder Knights" proved to be in dire need of practice and training, as any an errant pass found its way into the clutches of the still-like quintet from Ida.

Boysville's scoring was headed by the two lay faculty members, Patrick Connors and Cleveland Hurst with 16 and 14 points respectively. Other faculty members who played were Brother Aloysius, Brother Philip, Brother Thomas, Brother Raymond, Brother James Greteman, and Brother James Reisz.

"Fill 'er up!" soon will be heard on the Boysville campus. The reason? A one-thousand gallon gasoline tank has been buried on the south side of the campus near the administration building. The final touches of cementing it in and installing the gas pump have not yet been completed. The tank, to be serviced by a local gasoline company, was installed with a view to economy.

A meeting of the Junior Class was held in the dining hall last Sunday night. Among the various topics discussed was the scheduling of a class trip to Detroit Saturday.

By DELAPHENE SHELTON

We had a pleasant weekend. No, we didn't get to use that new toboggan. It hasn't been on a snowy slope yet, but perhaps before winter finally disappears we will have our opportunity.

What we did do was spend some pleasant hours browsing through literature concerning our summer vacation. It is pleasant when the cold winds are howling around the house to consider the annual holidays far away from work and routine. This year Colorado will be our destination.

★

THAT STATE has long been a favorite with us. Our first trip out there was made in 1949 when we took our four youngsters out to see the Grand Canyon of the Colorado in Arizona. We liked the West so well that we've been back many times since.

We've found that spur of the moment weekend trips are fun, and we make them often, but for vacations we prefer to spend plenty of time on planning.

For one thing, anticipation is a great part of the excitement. Already we are receiving beautiful maps, brochures and suggestions from such interested groups as dude ranchers and chambers of commerce.

As gardeners drool over the spring seed catalogues we will spend long hours plotting our route, learning what attractions are located conveniently and what kind of weather we can expect.

★

WE WILL READ novels and non-fiction with the background of Colorado. We will talk with friends who have visited the part of the state in which we are interested at the moment.

We will study books and magazines telling us where we will find good rock and mineral specimens — we're confirmed rockhounds.

We will browse through brochures provided by the government telling all about the national forest camps and what we can expect to find at each one.

When we finally take off on our two-weeks' trip we will know we'll get our money's worth of pleasure and satisfaction.

And if some emergency prevents us from going? Well, think of all that fun we've already had!

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

"It makes it tough on a kid when he's playing for his old man."

That's the way Vic Lawson, basketball coach at Tecumseh High School, sums up the fact his 17-year-old son has had to earn over and over every moment of court time as an Indian cager.

Last winter, young Jim was a junior and regarded by most THS fans as one of the squad's best players. Yet his dad just wouldn't start the boy — apparently for fear people might think he was favoring his offspring.

However, before too much time passed in each game, the coach would usually get Jim into action — and the tide would often turn quickly in the Indians' favo..

Thanks greatly to Jim, the Tecumseh squad won district and regional titles in state tournament play last winter before falling in the quarter-finals to River Rouge, the team which went on to capture a fourth straight Class B championship.

Rouge currently rates No. 1 in the state and Tecumseh is No. 2.

This winter, the Old Man had no choice but to install Jim in the starting lineup and the results have been delightful.

Tecumseh is undefeated, posting a string of 14 straight victories.

The Indians go to Blissfield Friday and this could be a real dogfight. When the two clubs clashed in the holiday tournament in Adrian right after Christmas, Tecumseh won, 53-49, but trailed right up to the final minutes.

The regular schedule ends Saturday evening on the home court with Hillsdale as the opposition.

Although Jim Lawson is 5'11", he is the club's top scorer with a 15-per-game average and plays the front line, mainly because of his ability to drive the baseline and force his way in for layup shots.

A muscular 175-pounder, he gave up football last fall to make sure he'd be in top shape for the cage season. Many a promising basketball career has been cut short as the result of knees or ankles banged up on the gridiron.

Jim's a whirlwind on defense and he fires up his mates to the point that opponents this year have averaged but 51 points against Tecumseh, which is some sort of a low, based on the current trend to hit in the 70's and 80's, even among the preps.

Like many a kid before him, Jim started his basket shooting at a tender age. He used to come to practice with his dad and pop loose balls at an unused basket.

By about age nine, there was a hoop in the Lawson backyard and Jim was peppering away in earnest. Last summer he worked long hours, alone and with friends.

Fellows love to go at three-on-two and two-against-two with no referees around to hoot down a little overe-enthusiasm. This can make a real hard-nosed kid around the backboard.

★

THIS IS Coach Lawson's 13th season, his 10th in Tecumseh after two in Jonesville and one in Greenville, following graduation from Western Michigan University.

Flu, Measles Hit Hard

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

300 Students Absent from Tecumseh Class Rooms

Absenteeism in the Tecumseh schools was doubled last week due to colds, flu and measles.

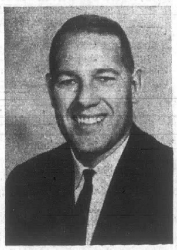
The local schools normally run about five percent absenteeism but sickness increased it to 10 percent, or about 300 students.

The high school had 126 out Friday and 109 Monday. Many elementary classes had eight and nine pupils out.

Teachers also were hit by the bug and one day last week 12 were absent from the classrooms. Substitutes were used for the elementary grades while high school teachers doubled up and took extra classes.

Supt. James McDowell reports attendance is now on the up-swing with more students and teachers back in classrooms Wednesday morning.

Several schools in Lenawee County were hit hard and some closed by the county health department.



Philip T. Bailey of Adrian will soon begin a survey to determine the requirements of a vocational education program to be instituted by the Lenawee County Board of Education. Story is on page 4.

Future Nurses Solicit Donors for Bloodmobile

Forty-nine Future Nurses of the Tecumseh High School Club are assisting in the campaign for blood donors for the visit of the American Red Cross Bloodmobile here March 3.

Dr. Robert Murray, chairman, has announced that surrounding towns will be included in the effort here Since the Red Cross has deemed it impractical to make a stop in each town.

Lester Proctor is the Clinton chairman and Carl Luegge will handle the Britton drive.

The goal has been set for 238 pints of blood.

The Bloodmobile will be at the Community Center from noon until 6 p.m. Wednesday, March 3.

The Future Nurses are making a canvass to try and get four donors each. The Junior Chamber of Commerce is working on the drive also.

Sentences Given 2 for Burglaries in Tecumsehland

Billy Joe Williams and Omer L. Vereeke, youths, who were caught by local police on a burglary spree here last month, were sentenced to Jackson prison Tuesday by Judge Rex Martin.

Vereeke was given four to 10 years, and Williams, two and a half to 10 years.

Both had been in prison before and Vereeke was on parole at the time Tecumseh police picked him up.

The pair was charged with breaking and entering at Wolf's Appliance.

Other places broken into included Hooton Gas Station, Osburn Bulk Tank, Purkey's Garage, Tecumseh Motors, Hayden Flour Mill, Beach's Bulk Tank, Rusty's Grill, Ruhl's Cities Service, Wilson Motors and Kuhlman Concrete.

Indians Hang Onto 2nd Spot

The Indians held onto second place in the state AP poll for Class B basketball teams this week.

Coach Vic Lawson's undefeated cagers have posted a 14-0 mark and meet Blissfield and Hillsdale this week in the final two games of the regular season.

It's Fun Being Candy Striper

Twenty-two junior and senior high school girls have been working since Dec. 1 as volunteers in Herrick Memorial Hospital. They are called Candy Stripers, a name appropriate because of the pretty cherry pink and white pinafores worn with white blouses and shoes.

The organization is connected with the American Hospital Association.

The girls volunteer their services and are selected for the group by the school faculty.

With the consent of the parents, the girls attend a training program at the hospital under the direction of Norma Moll, RN, director of nursing.

Mrs. James Robideau is chairman from the Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary for the volunteer service and Mrs. Carl Pedersen was the instructor.

★

AMONG THE duties of the candy stripers are assisting patients at meal time, helping them in and out of bed, passing and reading mail to patients, watering plants, combing hair, playing with children, caring for linen, passing water and making packs.

Mrs. Neville Hart said of the girls in a recent Auxiliary newsletter, "I congratulate these busy teen-agers who are so willing to give of themselves to assist with the work of the hospital."

New Cal's Opens

Early American decor with a rustic accent features the new Cal's Tog Shop, which is holding its grand opening this Friday and Saturday.

Nearly five months of extensive remodeling has completely changed the former Brandt store to a luxurious, ladies clothing shop.

Cal and Helen Damon, owners now entering their 11th year in business in downtown Tecumseh, acquired the Brandt building last September. Floor space is nearly twice that of the former tog shop.

The new shop boasts many features:

► Antique brick front and back with paned windows and doors.

► Shake shingle roof over rear entrance.

► Flagstone entries leading to fully carpeted interior.

► Old, weathered barn siding used on display fixtures for walls of dressing rooms, and for ceiling beams.

► Recessed lights and vents in new, lower ceiling.

► Walls of old brick, colonial print wallpaper and burlap coverings.

► Shake shingle roof over one long row of display racks.

★

THIS UNIQUE use of barn siding actually came from old farm buildings in this area. The siding, brick and open beams blends into a decor found largely in New England and Southern areas of the country.

Although there are some variations, the shop has been patterned after some of the finest clothing stores in the country.

This week's grand opening includes door prizes and some specially purchased sportswear at sale prices.

Architect for the remodeling was E. J. Mossing of Tipton. Benedict & Cheever were general contractors.

Sauk Trail Landmark Is Moved

By MAXINE CALHOUN

CLINTON — Moving the Kaiser house from its site on E. Michigan Ave. Tuesday is symbolic of the changing face of Clinton, which is predicted for the immediate future.

Built nearly 100 years ago, the home stood on the Sauk Trail, beside the historic Clinton Inn, which was moved to Greenfield Village in 1927.

The original single-story house was remodeled by George Kies around 1900. He added a second story and made other improvements.

Mr. Kies is believed to be the son of Clinton's first settler, Alpheus Kies.

The spacious grounds around the house were once beautifully landscaped. Flowers abounded when Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kaiser moved there in 1915, a year after their marriage.

★

FRED TAG, Mrs. Kaiser's father, purchased the home from Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Pardee for the young couple to live in. The Pardees then built a new home on the lot beside it.

Fred Kaiser, previously a traveling shoe salesman ,settled down in Clinton and, with his father-in-law, Fred Tag, operated the Tag and Kaiser Shoe Store until his retirement.

The couple raised three sons in the house;

► William, who lives in Clinton with his family and is employed at Tecumseh Products Co.

► Donald, who lives with his family and teaches in Pontiac.

► Wayne, who lives in Tecumseh with his family and is a principal in the Tecumseh school system.

★

THE HOUSE has now been purchased by Donald Meyers, a local contractor, who initiated the move to West Brown St. to make way for a new Clinton post office.

Mrs. Kaiser, 78, is now comfortably settled in her apartment at the home of her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. William Kaiser, on Jackson St.

She told us that she has no regrets about her decision to move from her old home, but has many fond memories of her life there.

★

WHILE THE Kaiser house was being inched from the lot, the foundation for the new post office building was being laid and will now proceed more rapidly.

The lease on the present post office quarters, which is owned by the Village of Clinton, will expire Feb. 28, 1965.

The village council has requested the Post Office Department to find new quarters. Since no suitable building was available, the new leased facility was approved.

The new 2,900-square-foot building is being built by the Northland Construction Co.

Emphasis now is being placed on color, both in sales and service. Many of the 65 sets on display at the new Lawson location are color.

Don't try it. It's a flop. This business of writing on an egg shell with alum and vinegar to produce an inside message on the egg when boiled. Marshall Wells relayed the idea to his listeners recently for youngsters reluctant to eat "hen fruit". A few days later, after half a night's effort, he told his audience that "this is like so many of Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman's programs".

Southern fried chicken yet. Probably not all 15 men from the General Motors plant working on the heating were offered this treat with their room, but one was. Mrs. Mel Wegner has had calls from about 25 offering rooms and 15 men have been placed, according to Mike Glazier, foreman at the plant. The responses came as the result of a plea in this column.

A resolution to raise the minimum driving age to 17 is being pushed by the Michigan Driver Education Association. The MDEA, whose members are high school driver education teachers, feel that 16-year-old drivers cannot be expected to cope with the complexities of present-day driving conditions.

All economic factors currently point to a fourth consecutive year of excellent sales in the automobile industry, a General Motors executive told 300 newsmen attending a Chicago luncheon. "The business climate is good and the economy is expanding as we move into 1965," K. E. Staley, vice president in charge of the Marketing Staff said. "Even the most conservative estimates indicate new car sales will total 7.8 million this year.

Some sports nut yelled good-naturedly at Tom Fagan, Tecumseh football coach, "If you hadn't lost to Jackson St. John's last fall, we'd be undefeated in varsity play this year." Coach Fagan's gridders dropped just that one, while Indian hoopsters are 14-0 to date.

A friend called to tell us there was one Indian title we missed — Muskewanaseptiana — suitable for use in naming a new street in town. Says it once was a settlement along the Great Sauk Trail, near Jonesville. Last week's story reported that some felt only Indian handles should be used as street titles.

For those who feel America's moral tone is way off the pace, there's poignant article on page two of the third section. It takes an entire page, but is excellent reading.

LONG & SHORT

He "retired" at the end of the 1960 campaign and decided to concentrate on duties as athletic director, plus instructing physical education and social studies classes.

But three years as a spectator proved too hard to take and when Doug Murdock, who had moved up from Jayvee coach to assume Vic's head mentor job, left in 1963, Coach Lawson happily returned to the wars.

His club produced a 15-5 record last winter.

He lost his biggest scoring gun, Jerry Hebb, now a regular at Hillsdale College, but found his returnees to be a well-balanced eager group. Ten of his current 13-man squad are seniors.

Teaming with Jim on the front line are Gregg Allen, 6'4" and Terry Alcock, 6'3½", the only junior in the starting lineup.

Guards are Jeff Osburn, a 5'10" playmaker who quarterbacked the football Indians to a 9-1 record last winter, and Dave Tilton, 5'8".

All are good scorers with Allen having a 14½-point average, Osburn, 11½; Alcock, 10 and Tilton 6.

Backing up the starters are 6'6" Don Hughes and Steve Derby, who although only 6'1" can "dunk" dog shots, both seniors, and Gordon Gibson, a 6'1" junior.

This winter Tecumseh plays in the Chelsea district affair with the host school, Saline, Ypsilanti-Lincoln, Dexter and Willow Run.

This is going to be a tough one to survive, but if the Indians do, somewhere along the trail they'll probably run head-on into those Rouge Panthers.

Radiator Stolen from Automobile on Products Lot

Two thefts from cars in the Tecumseh Products parking lot were investigated by the Tecumseh police Monday.

Gordon Goldsberry, 507 Cairns, working the 3 to 11 p.m. shift, discovered the radiator was stolen from his 1962 Ford.

Gene Goetz of Blissfield, working the same shift, lost all four hub caps from his 1964 Chevrolet.

Tires and other car accessories have been stolen in recent months while the owners were in the plant working.

Ford Man's Plan Earns Hefty Prize

When a fellow saves his employer $175,000 a year, some sort of reward should be in order.

How does a check for $6,000, plus a $4,000 luxury auto sound?

Well, that's what Ford Motor Co. gave Hugh Flippo, age 37, of Adrian, for his suggestion, which annually saves the firm that big dough.

He has worked in the alternating department at the Rawsonville plant for three years.

The alternator is a device being used in place of the generator. Hugh's idea has to do with checking them for clicking, knocking and roaring sounds.

★

HE TURNED in his suggestion in December of 1962 and on Tuesday, Feb. 2 he was asked to step into the office of the plant's assistant general manager.

It was then that Hugh learned he had been named a top winner in the Ford suggestion program — giving him a prize worth $10,000.

A part of the award included a full-power Mercury, which he could obtain from any authorized dealer. Mr. Flippo asked George Underwood, Jr., to handle the transaction.

Then, with a portion of the $6,000 check, he went right ahead and bought a Comet, so that the Flippos could be a two-car family in real style.

Prior to joining Ford at Rawsonville, Mr. Flippo was with Bridgeport Brass in Adrian.

Emphasis will be placed on prayer for Christians that they may be faithful in their relationship to God and effective in their witness for Christ.

The prayer booklet which will be used as a guide for services has been written by Rosalind Rinker, a well known writer and devotional speaker, and an author of several popular volumes.

The booklet, which contains devotional thoughts, responsive readings, and hymn selections, is prepared and issued by the National Association of Evangelicals, an organization representing 40 church denominations, which sponsor this world-wide observance.

Mrs. Brantingham invites the public to attend.

1,200 Expected at 'Music Man'

A full-house of 1,200 is expected to see "The Music Man" in Dawson Auditorium on the Adrian College campus Saturday evening.

This will be the ninth and final performance for the Tecumseh Players' rendering of the Meredith Willson musical.

It drew more than 1,280 persons in the 160-seat Odd Fellows Hall little theatre over the past two weeks, bringing in nearly $2,400 before expenses.

The Adrian showing, which is sponsored by the Tau Delta Sorority, will earn the Players another $600.

Tau Delta will contribute its profit on the show to the YMCA building project.

★

OTHER TIDBITS on "The Music Man."

One performance was delayed when Dan LaBumbard of Jackson, who played Marcellus, suffered car trouble and hoofed part of the way before being picked up by a fellow Player.

An empty seat earned $5.50. First a season-ticket holder, at $1.50, reserved the chair, then cancelled out. Next it was sold for the regular $2 price and again cancelled out. Sold a third time, the buyer paid, but never arrived.

Choreographers Mrs. Ted Pihl and Mrs. Roger Myers stole one scene when they came tripping on stage as charwomen to clean "the library" as Dr. Richard Hammel finished singing "Marian."

Although the show rated tops, the little theatre location got poor "reviews"; parking lousey, ventilation awful, backstage area too small.

Investments Studied

Mrs. Edward Bailey was hostess and assisted Mrs. Elmer Wilt in presenting the lesson for the Northeast Tecumseh Extension Study Group Tuesday evening.

The lesson was entitled "Family Securities and Investments" and emphasis was placed on the amount of money a family should have on hand.

Mrs. Marvin Johnson was elected secretary and treasurer to replace Mrs. Herbert Quigley who is moving with her family to the Clayton area.

Mrs. Ellsworth Robison conducted the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. George Dinius who is hospitalized.

Announcement of the postponement of the birthday party at Maple Lane Manor was made. The delay is due to the restriction of visitors.

The club is making a drive for clothing for Ypsilanti State Hospital.

Mrs. Raymond Bird gave a report on citizenship and members who have been on jury duty reported their interesting experiences.

Mrs. Bailey served cherry dessert to eight members and two guests, Mrs. Frank Csokasy and Mrs. William Sears.

"Peace can be obtained at least temporarily by any nation if it is prepared to yield its freedom. But peace at any price — peace with appeasement — peace which passes the dreadful finality to future generations — it is a peace of shame and sham which can end only in war or slavery."
— General Douglas MacArthur.

New Vocational Program Started by County Board

Philip T. Bailey of Adrian has been hired by the Lenawee County Board of Education to develop a program of vocational education.

Mr. Bailey has for nine years been associated with the adult education program in the Adrian Public Schools and has been a teacher of industrial arts and driver education.

Approval of the program, one of the first seven in the state, was granted Feb. 17 by the State Department of Education. Funds to finance the project will come in part from the state and federal governments.

In announcing the appointment Wednesday Milton C. Porter, county superintendent of schools, pointed out the program will be set up to provide vocational education opportunities for the estimated 50 per cent of Lenawee County students who do not intend to go to college.

★

"HIGH SCHOOL graduation in itself is just not enough in today's world," he said. "We must make vocational background a part of the educational program for the job-bound student.

"From the standpoint of Lenawee County, I feel our political and social survival may well depend to a great extent on an ability to provide adequate employment of our county youth.

"Although the employment problem is so big that it must be approached from all angles, vocational education can and must play a considerable part in providing a solution," he said.

"When we speak in terms of vocational education we are talking about many areas, among these being agriculture, trade and industrial, business education, homemaking and distributive education.

There is a big increase in the demand for people with skills and the present increase in the pace of technological advance including automation, requires that we give this problem our immediate attention."

★

THE PROGRAM, Mr. Porter said, would serve the needs of three groups:

► Adults — providing in-service training, job upgrading, updating and retraining.

► Students — preparation for vocations.

► Dropouts — assisting with pre-employment training.

"We hope to cooperate with business, industry, unions, the employment security office, local school districts including principal, counselors and teachers in particular, and the general public," Mr. Porter said.

Mr. Bailey's first step, in setting up the program, Mr. Porter said, will be to conduct a county vocational education survey "to determine where we have been and where we are and what directions we would move in the future."

★

MR. BAILEY graduated in 1950 from Adrian High School. He received his bachelor of science degree in 1954 from Western Michigan University and his master's degree in vocational education in 1961 from the University of Michigan.

He is a U.S. Army veteran and a member of the official board of the First Methodist Church, Adrian, a member of the board of directors of Junior Achievement, treasurer of the Adrian Lions Club, special consultant for industrial education at the Lenawee Youth Center, and member of several professional organizations.

He and Mrs. Bailey are parents of four children.

Beatnik Preacher Will Speak Here

The Beatnik preacher of Greenwich Village, N. Y., the Rev. David Wilkerson, will be in Tecumseh March 14 to speak at the Tecumseh High School.

The young minister has succeeded in dissolving several of the most ruthless gangs and has established a Teen Challenge headquarter in a 21-room Georgian mansion in a once prosperous section of Brooklyn.

Centers are being established in Chicago, Los Angeles and other big cities — wherever Teen Challenge is invited and there are public spirited citizens to help with finances.

In the winter of 1962, Teen Challenge opened a school on a Pennsylvania farm where boys just released from jail are being rehabilitated.

★

MOST OF the young people Wilkerson and his group work with are fighting the narcotics habit. Some have been able to resist glue sniffing, marijuana smoking and heroin addiction but have become involved in street gang violance.

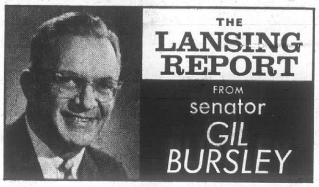
With the development of the Pennsylvania Center, where eventually 100 boys will be residence to work and study, the Brooklyn Center gradually will be turned into a school solely to rehabilitate girl gang members. At present both boys and girls are housed in Brooklyn.

★

THE INTERESTING events in the life of the young pastor are so numerous as told in his book, "The Cross and The Switchblade" that his brief visit here will be made more enjoyable for those attending the service if they have read the book.

A number of volumes have been made available through efforts of the Tecumseh Area Ministerial Association which is sponsoring the event.

The Rev. Harold Speer, association president, can provide extra copies.



THE LANSING REPORT FROM senator GIL BURSLEY

Legislative action, now that we are six weeks into the session, could appear disappointingly slow. This is the point where new legislators full of the "go-go-go" spirit become increasingly frustrated and critical of the parliamentary process.

But put in proper perspective, things aren't going too badly. Last Friday, for example, Governor Romney signed his first three new laws of 1965. A year ago it was mid-March when the same point was reached.

By last weekend 197 bills had been introduced into the House and 125 into the Senate. Its my guess that at least 1,000 more will be presented in coming weeks.

Last year, by comparison, 1,500 bills were considered by the Legislature and 290 eventually became law. Over the years the number of new laws each year seems consistently to fall into the 200-300 range.

All standing committees have now been organized, in both the House and the Senate, and are having daily meetings and public hearings.

★

LAST WEEK the Senate confirmed 31 appointments by Governor Romney to various state boards and commissions.

An important action was the election by the Legislature of a Legislative Auditor, who under the new Constitution replaces the Auditor General, formerly elected by the people.

Albert Lee, a Detroit certified public accountant was selected for the post.

The role of the Legislative Audit Commission relative to the new Auditor has yet to be defined. I am one of the five senators just named to the Audit Commission and I would think that we would be getting these questions resolved in the near future.

We will need legislation defining the powers (and salary) of the new Legislative Auditor, who incidentally was elected for an eight year term.

Last year I introduced legislation leading to the establishment the State Scholarship Fund. This program has Governor Romney's full backing. Last week I introduced bills which call for a tripling of this program.

IN ITS FIRST year 1,277 tuition scholarships were given Michigan high school graduates at the college of their choice in Michigan — public or private. Grants are for actual tuition or $800 whichever is the lesser figure.

Most state schools have a much lower tuition. Private colleges on the other hand are sometimes prohibitively expensive for the qualified high school graduate and one of our goals was to facilitate getting the private colleges into a position to accept more Michigan high school graduates.

This helps take care of the educational needs of the "war-baby" classes now graduating in great numbers from high schools. It takes some of the strain off tax-supported public institutions by indirectly assisting enrollment growth in the private colleges.

In the first year of the State Scholarship Program, 23 Lenawee County high school students won awards; 16 students from anywhere in Michigan who won awards chose Adrian College and three more Siena Heights College.

★

THIS YEAR we hope to continue this program for those students who started last year and to triple the number of new awards to something approaching 4,000 for the school year 1965-66.

We also hope to give certificates of recognition to meritorious students who aren't covered by cash award. The certificate system, in use in Illinois where "honorary awards" are presented, is of some value.

It gives the student a further recommendation if applying for admission to a school in another part of the country and even more important serves as a real credential to the student who wants to find a job and start earning a living.

Already this year there have been over 1,700 applicants for scholarships so the popularity and need for the program is well documented.

Cubs Have Blue and Gold Banquet

CLINTON — The Cub Scout Blue and Gold banquet was attended by 180 persons, Monday, Feb. 22, at the school cafeteria. Included were 48 Cubs and their families.

The flags were presented by Weblo den with William Shelley in charge.

The Rev. Donald Hescock of St. John's Episcopal Church, gave the invocation.

The tables were colorfully decorated with blue and gold placemats and napkins. They were centered with theme centerpieces made by the den mothers and the boys.

Guests introduced were Robert Rossman, a scout uniform representative from an Adrian store; Wayne Hulett, Clinton Rotory Club representative; Wayne Balliet, Scout commissioner; and Richard Wegner, school superintendent.

★

CUB SCOUT leaders for 1965 were introduced. They are:

Cubmaster — Lawrence Gunn

Assistant and Weblo leader — William Shelley

Treasurer — Gerald Manchester

Secretary — Kenneth Lathrup

Community chairman — Harlan Ruhl

Mike Gunn, Robert Dowling, Linn Hawkins and Bill Lickfelt, members of the Weblo den, recited the Gettysburg address.

The following awards were presented: James Christian, gold arrow; Eugene Lathrup, gold arrow; David Knight, wolf badge; Kevin Kirkland, bear badge, gold and silver arrows; Mitchell Watkins, bear badge; John Vincent, silver arrow; Tom Busch, silver arrow; Robert Merritt, wolf, gold and silver arrows; Gary Pappinger, silver arrow; and Paul Murphy, gold arrow.

★

MIKE GUNN and Robert Dowling, who were graduating from Cubs to Boy Scouts, were presented with their Weblo badges by Mr. Shelley.

Service pins were presented to Steve Aiuto, one year; Fred Morley and Robert Dowling, two years and Mike Gunn, three years.

Adults given service pins were Mr. Shelley and John Stoner, two years; Lawrence Gunn, three years; Mrs. Joseph Busch, four years, and Paul Hawkins, five years.

The program concluded with all present joining hands in a circle and rededicating themselves with the Cub Scout oath.

Adrian College Will Increase Faculty by 14

The hiring of 14 additional faculty members was approved last weekend by the board of trustees of Adrian College.

Other action included approval of the retirement of three staff members, approval of the construction of two women resident halls and the increasing of tuition by $90, bringing the annual tuition to $950.

Teachers retiring are Dr. James Spencer, chairman of the music department and a faculty member for 44 years; Bernard H. Crusinberry, chairman of the physics and astronomy department and Mary Teusink, associate professor of elementary education.

More Than 100 Brownie Scouts Mark 'Think Day'

Some 100 Brownie Scouts, mothers and leaders took part in "Brownie Thinking Day" Monday in the Presbyterian Church Fellowship Hall.

Mrs. Edwin Bunge explained the meaning of the day after Mrs. Carlyle Kehoe's troop had presented the American and Brownie Scout flags.

Troops led by Mrs. Jerry O'Brien and Mrs. Edgar Pistole sang and Mrs. Lynn Noble's troop presented a play, "The Brownie Story".

Mrs. James Gooding's troop led the girls in the singing of the Brownie Smile Song and the troop led by Mrs. Harry Withrow, Jr., retired the colors.

A collection of $11 was received to be used to help preserve the Scout National Homes.

A friendship circle and singing of "Day is Done" closed the ceremonies.

Charge False Statements Helped Get Aid Money

Yale L. Kerby of Morenci was elected 2nd Congressional Caucus Chairman Saturday at the Republican State Convention in Lansing.

He presided over Republican delegates from Wayne, Livingston, Washtenaw, Monroe and Lenawee Counties.

The 2nd Congressional District formulated a resolution condemning the recent expenditure by the Federal War on Poverty of $188,000 in Ypsilanti Township. The resolution stated that the money was procured by false statements in the application.

Dr. Wallace May, Republican Co-chairman, led the Lenawee group. Charles Figy of Morenci and Marvin Nelson of Tecumseh served as District Sergeant of Arms.

★

MIKE WATTS of Adrian was elected to the Republican State Central Committee by the Second District delegates.

Actor George Murphy addressed the convention as Keynote speaker. He stated that the present Viet Nam policy is weak, vacillating and has no direction.

He also said, "All the power of the United States should be brought to bear on this disgrace."

Governor George Romney and Lt. Governor "Bill" Milliken also addressed the Republicans throughout the state.

Mrs. Elly Peterson, in accepting her election to State Chairmanship, announced she would wage a fighting campaign to elect more Republicans on all levels of government.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley McConnell and Jane and Diann and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Munger and Michael of Tipton, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Woodbury and Michelle and Norman Grigg of Ypsilanti and Martha Hoisington of Adrian were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle M. Grigg and Marvin.

SERIES ON SCHOOLS

Emotions Mixed with Kindergarten

(Editor's note — The Herald is beginning a series of articles on educational opportunities offered in local schools. This first one starts appropriately with a peek into one of the sytem's kindergarten classes.)

Little Johnnie and Jane usually start off to kindergarten with mixed emotions.

Their parents sometimes view the situation in the same way. "What possible good," they may ask, "can come from all those 'show and tell' sessions?

"Why," they ask, "wouldn't the child do as well playing with the neighbor children, working with his color books and helping mother around the house?"

As a rule such parents change their attitudes as the passing weeks show their child becoming better co-ordinated, more sure of himself socially and more independent of parental support.

For, whatever disadvantages there may be to taking young children from their homes for several hours daily, experience has shown that kindergartners do profit and are more ready for the "advanced" work of the first grade than those youngsters who haven't had such an opportunity.

★

MRS. FRED W. FREEMAN, teacher at Herrick Park School pointed out recently, "Since the child's adult life will be spent in group situations it is vitally important that he learns to work co-operatively with others."

Mrs. Bill Powell, Patterson School kindergarten teacher, added, "The primary purpose of kindergarten is to provide group experiences that will stimulate their asking questions and solving problems.

"The teacher's first concern is the individual child. He must be liked and accepted and helped to find his place in the group."

"Easel painting may look easy to the adult," Mrs. Freeman said, "but controlling those untrained hand and arm muscles is serious business to the child."

This training of muscles and the development of hand-eye coordination are among the important contributions of kindergarten training. The rhythmic activities in which he joins with others promote his coordination also.

The "show and tell" time, Mrs. Freeman added, "encourages the child to present his ideas in a clear, organized sequential manner. He learns to enjoy speaking before groups."

THS IS THE WAY IT WAS — Mrs. Fred W. Freeman, kindergarten teacher at Herrick Park School, watches as Sharon Jones tells her classmates a "news happening". Sharon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen W. Jones, 3830 W. Monroe St., Tipton. Listening intently are, (right to left), Marlin Webb, Darlene Whelan, Becky Buell, Bradley Sharp (peeking from behind teacher), Sandra Hunt, Linda Smith, Beth Tuckerman, Cris Echelbarger, Randy Dierkens, David Bale, Gary Allen and Bobby LaFerriere.

New Library Books

These books are available at the Tecumseh Public Library:

THE HAND OF MARY CONSTABLE by that master story teller, Paul Gallico. Professor Constable's only daughter was dead, tragically dead of leukemia at the age of 10. And now, Constable, a world famous scientist, was convinced that she was in communication with him from beyond the grave.

TAKE HEED OF LOVING ME, a novel about John Donne, by Elizabeth Vining. This is a remarkable telling of a remarkable love story of the great poet John Donne ani Anne More, who defied her father and risked her inheritance to marry the man she loved. It is set amid the pageantry, the excitement, and the intrigue of Elizabethan and Jacobbean England.

EL SENOR PRESIDENTE by one who has been called the Faulkner of Latin America, Miguel Asturias. This is the story of a corrupt and dissolute Caribbean dictator, his henchmen and his victims.

WINTER OF MADNESS, a wild tale of love, war, mystery, intrigue, and some other improbable things, by David Walker. It may be joyfully read by seekers of relief from the very young without inhibitions, to octogenarians going slightly daft. "A small median group of intellectually disciplined and emotionally mature adults may simply be irritated by it. If so, they are to be pitied."

BY THE KING'S COMMAND by Sherley Seiffert. During the space of a single week in June 1773, the prosperious village of Los Adaes became a ghost town. Charles III of Spain ordered every soul there to move to the new capital, and reluctantly they obeyed. This is the story of their incredible journey.

A FEW PAINTED FEATHERS by Stephen Longstreet is a major novel about the American Revolution, this time treating the stalemated campaign in the South, as seen through the eyes of a large and colorful cast of characters.

THE NEXT FIFTY YEARS IN SPACE by Erik Bergaust. "Now that we have learned to float on the new ocean of space, it is worthwhile to look ahead and try and contemplate what is in store for mankind as we learn to sail on it to other worlds." With this arresting definition of the world's newest frontier, the author begins his fascinating, fact filled examination of this, the flowering of the missile and interplanetary age.

THEY SHALL NOT PASS by Hillel Black, a book that should be read by all parents, most educators and every student who wants to go to college. Each year over 100,000,000 standardized anil multiple choice tests are given to students. Starting with kindergarten I.Q.'s and continuing through the aptitude and achievement exams of senior high, each American child and adolescent is rated and sorted according to his or her scores on these tests. This book attempts to explain at each step of the way what these tests can do for educators and to your child.

MY SHADOW RAN FAST, an excellent portrayal of a very mixed-up and dangerous young man who discovered the true meaning of life while serving time in San Quentin.

P.S. I LISTENED TO YOUR HEART BEAT, letters to John Glenn, nearly a quarter of a million of them since his orbital flight Feb. 20, 1962.

DAVID'S HARP, a popular teratment of the music of Biblical times which also chronicles the history of the Jews through a record of their singular art.

After dinner, the group met in the sanctuary where Lester Munger acted as toastmaster. Group singing was led by Dean Cook. The toast to the fathers was given by Janis Wilkin and a response to the daughters was given by her father, Wallace Wilkin.

Here and There

By DELAPHENE SHELTON

"How can you afford to travel with your family?"

That question was often put to us when we were taking our four youngsters around the country.

Probably most of our mystified questioners were thinking in terms of travel bureau estimates of $20 a day per person.

Of course, back in 1949 we were not contemplating any $120 a day travel costs.

Instead we took a three-week trip through the Far West and spent only about $400. We've repeated our jaunts annually since with varying numbers of children and degrees of expenses.

How does one travel on a limited budget?

Probably the most important thing is to decide if one REALLY wants to travel and where one wants to go first.

After that the problem isn't too difficult.

★

THIS IS HOW we accomplished it. Although we no longer travel on an austerity budget we still utilize some of the tricks we learned then.

My husband regularly made some extra money, as men often do. This we definitely earmarked for our trip, sometimes designating it for explicit items.

"Today I paid for another mule trip into the canyon," he'd say," or "I earned enough today to buy that gasoline stove."

You see we REALLY wanted to go to the Grand Canyon.

We decided we had to eat no matter where we were and that if we did our own cooking as we went along our food shouldn't cost us much more than if we ate at home. And that is the way it worked out.

We bought a gasoline camp stove and a gallon thermos jug. We hunted up a good sturdy box in which we stored staple foods. In another box we put paper dishes, silver, cooking utensils, etc.

★

FRESH FOOD we bought along the way. Cereal, rolls and fruit comprised our breakfasts.

Sandwiches, potato chips and dessert made up our lunch and our suppers were hearty meals like those we enjoyed at home. Meals were prepared and eaten at roadside tables along the road. With the many convenient items now available meal preparation is even simpler.

We steered clear of candy and too many sweets. We carried celery, carrots and fruit to munch on as we drove along.

We took along a couple of sleeping bags and some extra pillows. On occasion when the management didn't object two of the youngsters used these when we stayed at motels. Such an arrangement made it possible for us to get along with a big room or unit with two double beds.

And we did a little shopping around for accommodations. We wanted nothing elaborate, but we insisted that our rooms and baths be immaculate and the beds comfortable. In the desert and plains states we wanted air conditioning.

★

OUR CAR was tuned up and put into perfect working order before we left and so we had no worries there.

That summer — the year our oldest son graduated from high school—we toured such interesting places as Mesa Verde National Monument in Colorado, the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, Arizona and Zion and Bryce National Parks and Salt Lake City, Utah.

We had the first of many wonderful vacations which broadened our horizons and enriched our memories.

PAMPAS GRASS THATCHES A ROOF OVER A ROADSIDE TABLE IN ARIZONA

Comfort Brick Started in 1874

Editor's note — This is the final article in a series by Historian Clara Waldron on Raisin Township's past.)

By CLARA WALDRON

Until the recent rather startling business developments, Raisin Township had had but little in the way of industry. To be sure, there were several sawmills at an early date, one located at Holloway, one at Raisin Center and another on Comfort Road.

Probably there were several others for it was then easier to produce lumber on the spot than to transport logs elsewhere.

As early as 1874 the "Union Cheese Factory" was in operation at Raisin Center, employing several people and doing a needed business for some years.

But the two largest and oldest enterprises were in the northeast section of the township — The Quaker Mill and the Comfort Brick Yard.

The former, which began with the above mentioned sawmill, was built in 1838 by Samuel Satterthwaite and Tilton Curtis.

In 1847, Mr. Satterthwaite, in partnership with Aaron Comfort, added the grist mill, which since both men were members of the Society of Friends was called understandably the "Quaker" Mill.

★

BOTH MILLS were powered by water, impounded in a natural basin above a loop in the river, where only a dam and a small amount of grading were needed to procure a good "head" of water.

In 1871, the sawmill burned, but for more than 60 years the stones of the grist mill ground feed and flour for the farmers

Then, about 1915, the mill was abandoned, later the dam was washed away by a spring flood, the pond floor grew up to trees and brush and one more of Raisin's enterprises was gone almost without trace.

The Comfort Brick Yard is a different story.

Almost as old as the mill, it is still a thriving business and still in the hands of the Comfort family, although the name has been changed to the Comfort Tile and Brick ard.

It began in a very small way in 1859 when Elwood Comfort, like many other settlers, used the clay at hand to make brick for his house, mixing, shaping and firing a few at a time, all by hand.

The house he made, by the way, is still the family home. This of a large area.

vein of clay was different from other deposits, producing white rather than red bricks and he began to sell to others.

★

IN 1869 Dr. M. A. Patterson of Tecumseh became a partner in the project and the company installed "up to date" machinery to the recorded value of $10,000.

Advertisements of that period show that the H. Brewer Foundry Co., predecessor to Tecumseh Products) was then making both steam engines and brick and tile machines, so it is more than probable that both power and equipment was secured locally.

Dr. Patterson remained with the company less than 10 years and in 1881, Elwood Comfort sold to his brother, William, grandfather of Ralph Comfort, the present owner.

The early business found a ready market.

Practically all the business blocks in Tecumseh were made of Comfort brick, as was the "Opera House", the Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist churches and the more pretentious homes of the period.

★

IN FACT, many of the rural houses might be said to be an almost direct translation of Raisin wheat into brick. Some time during the '80's the company began the manufacture of tile and for many years both brick and tile were produced, but changing agricultural and building practices gradually shifted the emphasis to the latter and now only tile is made.

Until about 30 years ago both brick and tile were air dried before firing, a long process under open sheds.

There are still those who remember the carefully spaced piles of brick and especially the sultry glow that lighted the evening sky when the roaring wood and coal fires were kindled in the arched spaces between.

Now, once the tiles are shoped and cut, they are dried in long tunnels, over slow heat and fired in one of the five circular kilns, 18,000 to a kiln.

The equivalent of 4,000,000 feet of four inch tile is produced each year. Most of it goes under the surface of farm land for drainage necessary for good production, but a sizeable amount is used for basement drainage of the many new homes being built and for septic tank systems.

There are not as many tile yards as in former years and, with improved roads, Comfort tile is sold over a radius of 60 miles.

★

FUNDAMENTALLY the process has remained the same over the years. The clay still has to be mixed, shaped, dried and fired to form the finished product.

Only the methods have change and been improved and the most recent and most radical of these changes has been the installation of natural gas heat for both drying and heating.

Comfort tile has played an important role in modern Raisin agriculture. Not all of the township's soil is "light". That southeast section, sometimes spoken of as "below the ridge", is part of the original bed of Lake Erie and is decidedly heavy. When many Raisin farmers were selling their agricultural birthright it was still swamp and still biding its time. That time came a comparatively short while ago when the "big ditch" and proper tiling made it possible to work the land, even in early spring.

Now farms in that area are some of the best in the state.

They have no more place in the picture of a "depressed agriculture" than the Comfort Brick and Tile Co. has in a 'departed prosperity".

The engagement of Joan Langham to Pfc. William O. Bishop of the U. S. Marine Corps is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Langham, 706 Outer Drive. Mr. and Mrs. Orville Bishop, 113 Maple St., are the parents of the groom-elect, a 1963 graduate of Tecumseh High School. Miss Langham is a member of the class of 1965. A June wedding is planned.

Golfers Offered Lesson Course

Don Moffatt announced that the second session of golf lessons will begin at the Community Center March 2 and 3.

Registrations may be made at the city hall any time prior to that. Lessons are given for a six weeks period for $5.

Classes are held each Tuesday and Wednesday evening from 7 to 8 and from 8 to 9 p.m. with "Ded" Eldredge, 75, the instructor.

Mr. Moffatt urges those who are interested, to register early to avail themselves of the opportunity of choosing the day and time they wish.

He also remarked that this is an unusual opportunity since many communities do not have a suitable facility for this type of recreation or an instructor like Mr. Eldredge.

OUR READERS WRITE

To the Editors:

I have a change of address so I took this time to inform you.

The Herald can really mean a lot to a guy in corpsmen school, or shall I say any guy in the service, period.

Keep up the good work, it has served to build my morale immensely.

Corpsman school will last 16 weeks when I will again inform you of my change of address. I graduated Feb. 3 from boot camp here in San Diego.

TO THE EDITORS:

On behalf of the official board and the people of the Tecumseh Assembly of God Church, we hereby express our thanks and appreciation for your services to us and the community.

We are pleased to be a part of a community where people are looked upon as individuals and recognized for the service they render.

We like the new "Church Page" and convey our thanks to you and its sponsors:

Yours for a better
Tecumseh,
Rev. H. E. Speer

TO THE EDITORS:

On behalf of the Women's League of Adrian College I want to say thank you for the publicity you gave us for the Columbus Boychoir.

It is always a pleasure to work with such cooperative people as I have found at The Herald office.

The appearance of "America's Singing Boys" was most successful, and we recognize the part newspapers play in making such an event a success.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. Ray Sommers

Monday Club Tours Hospital

Fourteen members of the Tecumseh Monday Club toured the Ypsilanti State Hospital Feb. 22. They visited three departments.

The visitors were especially impressed with the use being made of discarded articles from homes of area residents.

A store where patients may "go shopping" for used clothing is set up at no cost to patients. Displays of articles, including jewelry, make a happy experience for the people there.

In the arts and crafts area, members learned that most anything is useable. Even old window shades are painted and used for oil pantings or to make patterns. They are much longer lived than paper.

★

HIGHLIGHTING the tour was a visit to the chapel built in the form of a cross. One arm houses the Catholic congregation, the other Jewish and the foot of the cross, Prostestants.

Mrs. Truman Rentschler, president, recommends the trip to any individual or group. She mentioned that open house will be held there May 1-7.

Drama Day of the club will be observed March 8 at the Youth House of the First Baptist Church with Mrs. Perry Hayden directing the presentation of three plays by the members.

Psychologist Viewpoint Is Given

A recording made by Dr. Murray Banks, a noted psychologist, was presented for 35 members and guests of the Business and Professional Women Monday evening.

Program chairmen were Mrs. John Pobuda and Mary Pat McCann. The name of the recording which was well received is "Just in Case You Think You're Normal."

Dr. Banks, a much sought speaker, talked about the eight points of happiness.

During the business session members voted to send a boy to the American Legion Wolverine Boys State, to donate $10 to the March of Dimes and accepted Mrs. Helen Burkert to the membership.

★

PLANS WERE made for the annual trip. The group will attend the stage musical, "Pleasure and Palaces" starring Phyllis Newman March 22 at the Fisher Theater, Detroit.

Mrs. Robert King, Jr., president, said that money for reservations may be left at the Tecumseh Office Supply and with Ruth Wright at Wright's Drug Store by March 5.

Mrs. King appointed Mrs. George French, Mrs. Albert Todd and Mrs. Mel Wegner as a nominating committee to report at the April meeting for an election of officers.

Tables at the Pythian Hall were decorated in the patriotic theme for the dinner preceding the meeting.

Lyster League Elects Officers

Mrs. Gibbs Barber was elected president of the Lyster League at St. Peter's Episcopal Church Tuesday evening. Others elected are:

Vice President — Mrs. Stuart Niblack

Secretary — Mrs. Clarence Jennings

Treasurer — Mrs. Wilbur Andrews

A film, "Big Man on Campus" was shown by Mrs. Rev. Frank Hawthorne. A question and answer period followed.

The film was shown to the young people of the church and opens the question of cheating on campus. It ends allowing the viewer to draw his own conclusions.

SLIGHT ADVANTAGE — 6'4" Gregg Allen had little trouble dunking this two pointer in the third quarter against Airport. Tallest Jet on the floor at the time was five inches shorter.

Indians Cinch League Title

Fifty points in the second half rocketed Tecumseh to an 83-55 victory over Airport Friday night and to the Huron League championship.

The Indians walked off with the crown on a 9-0 mark with only one league game remaining. Tecumseh is 14-0 for the season with Blissfield and Hillsdale left on the schedule.

Friday's win over the Jets saw the Indians roll up their biggest score of the season. Three players — Jim Lawson, Jeff Osburn and Dave Tilton — tallied a total of 58 points, three more than the entire Airport team.

★

TILTON pumped in 12 of his 19 points in the first half, 10 in the first quarter. Most of his points came from 15 and 20 feet out.

Osburn popped several in from the top of the circle and also scored on some bunnies, after Tecumseh's defense had taken the ball away from the Jets. He netted 19 points.

High scorer for the game was Lawson with 20. The senior guard sparked the high scoring second half with 15 points.

Airport dropped completely out of contention in the third period and trailed 55-43 going into the final eight minutes. The Indians scored seven quick points in the fourth stanza and pushed their margin to 19 points.

Late in the fourth quarter, Tecumseh twice led by 30 points.

Late in the fourth quarter, Tecumseh twice led by 30 points, despite frequent substitution by Coach Vic Lawson.

★

TECUMSEH'S total points were the highest of the season. Play in general, however, was ragged and loose. Only in the third period did the Indians really shine, shooting and passing well, and on defense, forcing the Jets to take wild shots.

A first period injury to Tim Boisvenue, 6'3" Jet center, helped pave the way for Tecumseh's easy victory.

Boisvenue turned his ankle after driving the base line and flipping in his fourth goal of the quarter. He had nine points when hurt and was controlling the bankboards.

Tournament Will Begin Wednesday

Drawings for the District Tournament at Chelsea was switched from Tuesday to Feb. 25.

The first game is scheduled next Wednesday evening with the finals slated for the following Saturday night. Teams which draw byes and winners of the two games Wednesday also will play Friday.

A team which happens to draw a bye, they will play their first tourney game Friday, March 5.

Biggest threat to Tecumseh in the district is a fine Willow Run team, conquerors of River Rouge earlier in the season. The Flyers rely mainly on speed and last week clobbered Ypsilanti Lincoln.

Saline, Chelsea, Dexter, South Lyon, Willow Run, Ypsilanti-Lincoln and Tecumseh comprise the tourney teams.

Jayvees Win in 2nd Half Over Jets

A 15-point bulge in the second half carried the Tecumseh Jayvees to a 74-59 victory over Airport here Friday night.

The two teams, participants in a double-overtime affair at Airport, were locked-up 37-37 at the end of two quarters after Tecumseh rallied from a five-point deficit at the end of the intial period.

Four Tecumseh starters—Dean Hebb, John Goodman, Lee Hannibal and Scott Edwards — hit double figures in scoring with Hebb's 20 points tops.

The Indians edged ahead in the third period, largely on seven points by Hannibal. Hebb took over in the fourth quarter with 11 of the team's 20-point total.

Coach Jim Hoffman's cagers has a chance for revenge here Saturday night against Hillsdale, the only team to drop the Jayvees this season.

2 Games Left for Tecumseh

An omen of sorts may be lurking behind two successive defeats suffered by the Blissfield Royals, rivals of the Tecumseh Indians and main obstacle to be overcome by Tecumseh for an undefeated basketball season.

Tecumseh bumps up against Blissfield Friday night on the Royal's floor and the outcome is far from certain, despite two Indian victories earlier in the season.

Coach Vic Lawson's cagers edged Blissfield by three points in the ABHT Tournament and then by 14 here on the Tecumseh floor Jan. 22.

SINCE LOSING to the Indians here, the Royals have had tough sledding. Milan upset Blissfield last week at Milan, and Airport tripped them up by one point two weeks ago.

If Tecumseh slips by Blissfield, an undefeated season hangs on a game here Saturday night with Hillsdale.

The Indians should handle the Hornets, although reports back from that city do not rate Tecumseh too highly. Hillsdale gave a tired and slick Tecumseh five trouble on its floor. Two starters, Jim Lawson and Dave Tilton, were running temperatures but still played.

★

A HEALTHY Indian five out to record an undefeated season could trounce the Hillsdale team by 15 or 20 points. Much depends on how the Indians do at Blissfield and how they come out of that encounter.

Fans going to Blissfield should leave early — real early. When the Royals played here, the doors were closed over an hour before the varsity game started.

An early start is also recommended for Tecumseh's finale here Saturday night.

Title Hopes Dashed as Redskins Topple

CLINTON — Redskins' hopes were dashed for the Lakeland C title last week. Brooklyn upset the Redskins 55-46 in a game Feb. 16 at Brooklyn.

John Basinger was the high scorer for the Clinton team with 17 points.

University High School of Ann Arbor, the rival for the conference lead edged farther ahead Friday when it defeated Brooklyn.

Clinton's coach Dick Content said Monday, "Plagued by illness the last two games, we plan to be back to full strength for the game with U-High at Ann Arbor Friday."

This will be the last game of the season.

What's Going on at BOYSVILLE

By MARTIN WHITAKER

Time proved to be an important factor in Boysville's 81-79 defeat at the hnds of the Blue Knights of Wayne. St. Mary's dominated play throughout the first half. The halftime buzzer announced the Blue Knights leading by 10 points, 36-26.

The third quarter found St. Mary's playing control ball at a slow pace. But in the fourth quarter, an ignited Fighting Knights team came alive, as St. Mary's saw their lead dwindle to a mere three points, with only 43 seconds remaining.

Then, with only two seconds remaining, senior forward Rick Williams was fouled. Rick made the first shot. Coach Joe Fortunato ordered him to miss the next shot, relying on the strategy of getting the rebound and time for one last shot. The strategy failed, however, and the buzzer announced Boysville trailing with a final two-point deficit.

High scorers were Moe Jacobs, Jim Cowan, and Ron Klos with 27, 20, and 19 points respectively.

Last Friday night the Tories of Britton fell victim to Boysville's Fighting Knights by a score of 71-50. Both teams fought an even contest throughout most of the first quarter, with Boysville usually one step ahead of the Tories.

The Tories managed, however, to drop in a few quick points before the buzzer, entitling them to a first-quarter lead of 15-14. The second quarter saw the Knights unleash 21 points, compared to Britton's ten. Boysville held a ten-point half-time edge, 35-25.

The second half found the Knights still persistent in their attack, and they went on to win 71-50.

Moe Jacobs, high scorer for the game, found the hoop for 23 points, while senior guard Ron Klos hit for 21. Boysville now has a five-win, nine-loss record with only one game, the Sand Creek contest next Friday, remaining.

The Junior Knights of Boysville found little contention in the reserves of Britton as they routed them in a 69-32 onslaught. By halftime, the Junior Knights led by a score of 33-19. In the second half they demonstrated a feat nothing short of spectacular as they held the Tory reserves to four points while scoring 36.

Saturday, members of the Junior Class, under the direction of its moderator, Brother James Reese, CSC, traveled to Detroit for their first outing of the year. They left at 1:15 p.m. Upon arriving in Detroit, the boys spent an hour shopping. Then attended a movie, "None But The Brave," a Frank Sinatra production at the Michigan Theater.

The Juniors then went to Livonia where they dined on steak at the "House of Shis-ke-bab," operated by the mother of one of Boysville's students, Ed Burgess.

A vacation to break the routine of school life is on the agenda for March. Departure from the campus is scheduled for 3 p.m. on March 5. Check in will be at 8 p.m., March 7.

Boysville's social life was given a boost Sunday afternoon, when a dance, sponsored by the Student Council, was held in Boysville's dining hall. The informal record hop was attended by girls from St. Dominic's Parish in Clinton and from St. Joseph Shrine Parish in the Irish Hills.

Thanks to the generosity of their chaplain, the Rev. Francis Juras, the Boysville students have another audio-visual aid in the school, an overhead projector to be used particularly in the school's science department.

Moral Decay Is What Ruins a Nation

Tulsa Editor Wants Newspapers To Do Something About Situation in America

By JENKIN LLOYD JONES
Editor of The Tulsa Tribune

This, ladies and gentlemen, is to be a jeremiad.

I am about to inflict upon you an unrelieved, copper-bottomed, six-ply, all-wool, 25-minute howl of calamity about the present moral climate of America. And I am going to talk about our responsibilities therefor as the temporary custodians of America's press.

You may dismiss such fogeyism with a tolerant laugh. But the pathway of history is littered with the bones of dead states and fallen empires. Most of them rotted out before they were overwhelmed. And they were not, in most cases, promptly replaced by something better.

Nearly 1,000 years elapsed between the fall of Western Rome and the rise of the Renaissance, and in between we had the Dark Ages in which nearly all of man's institutions were inferior to those which had gone before. I don't want my children's children to pass through a couple of centuries of dialectic materialism before the sun comes up again.

It is sad to watch the beginnings of decay. It was sad to see an age of Pericles replaced by the drunken riots of Alcibiades, here was, indeed, just cause for gloom when the Roman mobs, flabby with free bread and bemused by free circuses, cheered for the unspeakable Nero and the crazy Caligula.

Not Low Walls

Alaric's Goths finally poured over the walls of Rome. But it was not that the walls were low. It was that Rome, itself, was low. The sensual life of Pompeii, the orgies on Lake Trasimene, the gradually weakened fibre of a once self-disciplined people — all these brought Rome down. She went down too early. She had much to teach the world.

And so, ladies and gentlemen, I look upon our own country and much that I see disturbs me. But we are a great people. We have a noble tradition. We have much to teach the world, and if America should go down soon it would be too early.

One thing is certain. We shall be given no centuries for a leisurely and comfortable decay. We have an enemy now —remorseless, crude, brutal, and cocky. However much the leaders of the Communist conspiracy may lie to their subjects about our motives ,about our conditions of prosperity, our policies and aims, one thing they believe themselves implicitly — and that is that we are in an advanced state of moral decline.

It is a dogma of current Communist faith that America is Sodom and Gomorrah, ready for the kill.

Do you know what scares me about the Communists?

It's not their political system, which is primitive and savage. It's not their economic system which works so badly that progress in a few directions is purchased at the price of progress in all the rest. It is their puritanism.

A Soft Fop

It does no good to comfort ourselves with the reflection that these are the products of endless brainwashings, of incessant propaganda, of deprivation by censorship and jamming of counter-information and contrary arguments. The confidence that they are morally superior is there.

You cant get very far into Russia before the naive questions of your Intourist guide reveal that she thinks she is talking to a soft fop who is ripe for the tumbrill and the guillotine. In the schoolyard the children rush up to show you, not their yoyos, but their scholarship medals. And when you offer them new Lincoln pennies as souvenirs they rip off their little Young Pioneer buttons and hand them to you, proud that they are not taking gifts, but are making a fair exchange.

The Russian stage is as austere as the Victorian stage. Russian literature may be corny, but it's clean, and it glorifies the Russian people and exudes optimism and promise. Russian art is stiffly representational, but the paintings and the sculpture strive to depict beauty and heroism — Russian beauty, of course, and Russian heroism.

And what of us?

They All Pass

Well, ladies and gentlemen, let's take them one at a time:

We are now at the end of the third decade of the national insanity known as "progressive education." This is the education where everybody passes, where the report cards are non-committal lest the failure be faced with the fact of his failure, where all move at a snail pace like a trans-Atlantic convoy so that the slowest need not be left behind, and all proceed toward adulthood in the lockstop of "togetherness."

With what results? At an age when European kids are studying the human capillary system and discussing the binomial theorem, our youngsters are raising pollywogs on the classroom windowsill and pretending to keep store. This is what is known as "learning by doing.' We have produced tens of thousands of high school graduates who move their lips as they read and cannot write a coherent paragraph. While our Russian contemporaries, who were supposed to be dedicated to the mass man, have been busy constructing a elite we have been engaged in the wholesale production of mediocrity. What a switch!

I wish you could have read all the letters I have received in the past few months from disgusted teachers who have tried to reintroduce principles of hard work and integrity in their classrooms over the opposition of the school hierarchies. It is high time that these Ph.D's pooh-bahs of John Deweyism stepped forward and permitted themselves to be graded. But no.

Wanted McGuffey

You recall that last fall the school board of the little township of Twin Lakes, Wisconsin, dissatisfied with modern primers ,announced that it was introducing reprints of 80-year-old McGuffey Readers. Maybe it was making a bad mistake. Maybe the new books and new teaching methods are far superior. Here was a fine chance to find out.

But did the Wisconsin State Board of Education offer a sporting challenge — a one-year test, for example, to see which was the better approach, theirs or McGuffey's? Not a bit of it. The State Board merely moved to deprive Twin Lakes of state aid, to the thunderous applause, I'm sorry to say, of the so-called "liberals."

When was the last time you, as editors, examined the curricula of your local schools? Are your students given the standardized Iowa and Stanford tests, and, if so, how did your schools rank compared to the national average? Do your kinds bring home meaningful report cards, or are parents just getting a lot of gobbledegook about adjustments and attitudes? When was the last time you asked to look at any senior English themes? When have you given a fine picture spread to your towns best scholars?

Neglect Art

Having generally neglected disciplines in education it was quite logical that we Americans should neglect disciplines in art. The great painters and sculptors of the past studied anatomy so diligently that many of them snatched bodies. And today, after many centuries, we stare at the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel or at the walls of the Reichsmuseum and marvel at their works.

But this self-discipline is of little concern to the modern non-objective painter. All he needs is pigment and press agent. He can stick bits of glass, old rags and quids of used chewing tobacco on a board and he is a social critic. He can drive a car back and forth in pools of paint and Life magazine will write him up.

Talent is for squares. What you need is vast effrontery. This is the kind of art that a painter with no ability can paint, and a teacher with no ability can teach. No wonder it's popular at the factory end. But the tiny minority of youngsters who might have the spark of a Titian or a Rembrandt within them stay unencouraged and unrecognized. And our museums are filled with splashes, cubes and blots being stared at by confused citizens who haven't the guts to admit they are confused.

Light Cross

But fakery in art is a light cross we bear. Much more serious is our collapse of moral standards and the blunting of our capacity for righteous indignation.

Our Puritan ancestors were preoccupied with sin. They were too preoccupied with it. They were hagridden and guilt-ridden and theirs was a repressed and neurotic society. But they had horsepower.

They wrested livings from the rocky land, built our earliest colleges, started our literature, caused our industrial revolution, and found time in between to fight the Indians, the French and the British, to bawl for abolition, woman suffrage and prison reform, and to experiment with graham crackers and bloomers. They were a tremendous people.

And for all their exaggerated attention to sin, their philosophy rested on a great granite rock. Man was the master of his soul. You didn't have to be bad. You could and should be better. And if you wanted to escape the eternal fires, you'd damned well better be.

In recent years all this has changed in America. We have decided that sin is largely imaginary. We are bemused with behaviorist psychology which holds that abstract things like insight, will and spirit are figments of the imagination. Man, says the behaviorist, is either a product of a happy combination of genes and chromosomes or an unhappy combination. He moves in an environment that will tend to make him good or that will tend to make him evil. He is just a chip tossed helplessly by forces beyond his control, and therefore not responsible.

Crime Rate Up

Well, the theory that misbehavior can be cured by pulling down tenements and erecting in their places elaborate public housing is not holding water. The crime rates continue to rise along with our outlays for social services.

We are far gone in fancy euphemy. There are no lazy bums any more — only "deprived persons." It is impolite to speak of thugs. They are "under-privileged.' Yet the swaggering, duck-tailed young men who boldly flaunt their gang symbols on their motorcycle jackets are far more blessed in creature comforts, opportunities for advancement, and freedom from drudgery than 90 per cent of the children of the world. We have sown the dragon's teeth of pseudo-scientific sentimentality ,and out of the ground has sprung the legion bearing switch-blade knives and bicycle chains.

Clearly something is missing. Could it be what the rest of the world's children have been given — the doctrine of individual responsibility?

Relief is gradually becoming an honorable career in America. It is a pretty fair life, if you have neither conscience nor pride. An angry old judge in Muskogee County, Oklahoma, upon his retirement last month, asserted that in his last docket 37 bastardy cases were filed for no other purpose than to qualify for the relief rolls, and that in most cases both the plaintiff and the defendant continued living together while awaiting the next arrival. Any effort to stop this racket brings an immediate threat that federal aid funds will be withdrawn.

The state will give a mother a bonus for her illegitimate children, and if she neglects them sufficiently she can save enough out of her ADC payments to keep herself and her boy friends in wine and gin. Nothing is your fault. And when the city fathers of Newburgh suggest that able-bodied welfare clients might sweep the streets the "liberal" editorialists arise as one man and denounce them for their medieval cruelty.

I don't know how long America can stand this erosion of principle. But if we wish to survive maybe we had better do something about the elaborate pretense that there is no difference between the genuinely-unfortunate and the mobs of releifers who gather to throw bottles everytime the cops try to make a legitimate arrest. The welfare state that taxes away the rewards for responsible behavior so that it can remove the age-old penalties for irresponsible behavior is building on a foundation of jelly.

Finally, there is the status of our entertainment and our literature.

Dirty Movies

Can anyone deny that movies are dirtier than ever? But they dont call it dirt. They call it "realism." Why do we let them fool us? Why do we nod owlishly when they tell us that filth is merely a daring art form, that licentiousness is really social comment? Isn't it plain that the financially-harrassed movie industry is putting gobs of sex in the darkened drive-ins in an effort to lure curious teenagers away from their TV sets?

Three weeks ago Bill Diehl, the righteously-angry entertainment editor of the St. Paul Dispatch, ran down the list of present and coming attractions, as follows:

Walk on the Wild Side. Set in a brothel.

A View From the Bridge. Incest.

The Mark. A strange young man trifles with little girls.

The Children's Hour. Two school teachers suspected of being Lesbians.

All Fall Down. A psychopathic attacker of females.

Cape Fear. A crazy rapist.

Lolita. A middle-aged man's affair with a 12-year-old.

The Chapman Report. The adventures of a nymphomaniac.

Just think! All this and popcorn, too!

In a speech a couple of months ago in Hartford, Connecticut, Mr. Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, asked the plaintive question: "Why, despite our unceasing efforts, does the film industry fail at times to have public confidence?"

Suggests Answer

Then he suggested an answer. The movie people apologize too much, he said. They should take pride in the fact that they have amended their production code. (Mr. Johnston apparently uses the term "amended" when he means a general tooth extraction.)

"What art form," asked Mr. Johnston, "has not had to keep up with the time to reflect contemporary society?"

Well, hooray for Mr. Johnston's contemporary society. Incestuous Americans. Perverted Americans. Degenerate Americans. Murderous Americans.

How many of these contemporary Americans do you know?

But perhaps the most intriguing part of Mr. Johnstons speech dealt with newspaper movie ads. It is ridiculous, he said, for parents to complain about bad influence by movies upon their children when all parents have to do is look closely at the ads.

"I have yet to run across a movie ad so subtle," said Mr. Johnston, "that a concerned parent would not know whether the film was suitable for his child."

Sets Record

Well, here is a semantical pole-vault that ought to set a world's record. For the suggestive, half-dressed figures locked in passionate embrace that have been decorating the theatre ads in our great moral dailies are now revealed as a public service, generously paid for by the movie moguls so that parents can be warned!

Last year our advertising manager and I got so tired of Hollywood's horizontal art that we decided to throw out the worst and set up some standards. We thought that this belated ukase of ours might cause some interruption in advertising some shows. But no. Within a couple of hours the exhibitors were down with much milder ads. How was this miracle accomplished?

It seems that exhibitors are supplied with several different ads for each movie. If the publishers are dumb enough to accept the most suggestive ones those are what they get. But, if publishers squawk, the cleaner ads are sent down. Isn't it time we all squawked?

I think it's time we gentlemen of the press quit giving Page 1 play to Liz and Eddie. I think it's time we asked our Broadway and Hollywood columnists if they can't find something decent and inspiring going on along their beats.

And the stage: Bawdiness has put on a dinner jacket. The old burlesque skits that you used to be able to see at the Old Howard and the Gayety for six bits are now on display in the most lavish Broadway revues at $8.80 a seat.

Hetrosexual Dirt

But perhaps we should be glad to settle for good old hetrosexual dirt. The April issue of Show Business, illustrated, quotes Dr. L. John Adkins, a New York psychotherapist, as saying that in his opinion at least 25 per cent of the persons presently connected with the American theater are confirmed homosexuals.

Even the normally strong-stomached drama critics are beginning to get mad. Howard Taubman, in a lead article in the drama section of the New York Times, recently wrote as follows:

"It is time to speak openly and candidly of the increasing incidence and influence of homosexuality on the New York stage. It is noticeable when a male designer dresses the girls in a musical to make them unappealing and disrobes the boys so that more male skin is visible than art or illusion requires. It is apparent in a vagrant bit of nasty dialog thrown into a show, or in a redundant touch like two mannish females walking across stage without a reason or a word of comment."

Last summer an American touring company presented one of Tennessee Williams' riper offerings to an audience in Rio de Janeiro. The audience hooted and walked out. And where did it walk to? Right across the street where a Russian ballet company was putting on a beautiful performance for the glory of Russia! How stupid can we get?

We are drowning our youngsters in violence, cynicism and sadism piped into the living room and even the nursery. Every Saturday evening in the Gunsmoke program Miss Kitty presides over her combination saloon and dance hall. Even the five-year-olds are beginning to wonder what's going on upstairs. The grandchildren of the kids who used to weep because The Little Match Girl froze to death now feel cheated if she isn't slugged, raped and thrown into a Bessemer converter.

And there's our literature. I presume we all have our invitations to become charter subscribers of Eros, the new quarterly magazine of erotica at $10 a copy. I got three invitations, so either the Addressograph was stuck or I'm considered a hot prospect.

Anyway, the publisher, Ralph Ginzburg, says this, and I quote:

"Eros has been born as a result of the recent series of court decisions that have realistically interpreted America's obscenity laws and that have given to this country a new breadth of freedom of expression."

And what are the dimensions of this "breadth of freedom"? Well, we are assured that Eros' first issue will include the memories of a stripper which, it says here, "is astonisheding for its matter-of-factness".

Frozen Ghosts

Isn't it splendid that Mr. Ginzburg stands with the frozen ghosts of Valley Forge as a fearless defender of his countrys freedom? Ten dollars, please!

The fast buck boys have succeeded in convincing our bumfuzzled judges that there is no difference between a peep show and a moral lecture. The old eye-poppers which tourists used to smuggle back from Paris under their dirty shirts are now clothed in judicial blessing. A Chicago judge has recently issued a blanket injunction against any one who might try to prevent the sale of Tropic of Cancer to children. Lady Chatterley's Lover and Ulysses are on the paperback shelves right next to the comic books. They can close the bookstalls on the Seine. It's all over at your corner drugstore where the kids hang out.

Don Maxwell of the Chicago Tribune last year asked his book department to quit advertising scatological literature by including it in the list of best sellers. The critics and the book publishers have denounced him for tampering with the facts. I would like to raise a somewhat larger question:

Who is tampering with the soul of America?

For nations do have souls. They have collective personalities. People who think well of themselves collectively exhibit élan and enthusiasm and morale. Where they loy-rate themselves as individuals they will not long remain the citizens of great nations.

Loaded Report

Dr. Celia Deschin, specialist in medical sociology at Adelphi college, in a recent article in This Week magazine, says it's time for a new kind of Kinsey Report. She asserts that the late Doctor Kinsey produced a report that was heavily loaded by exhibitionists and that did immense damage to America by peddling the impression that sexual self-discipline neither exists in this country nor is it desirable.

Generally, she says, those parents who are afraid to lay down the law have the most miserable children. Children, she points out, want honest direction and a set of sensible rules to live by. Where these are denied them on the fantastic theory that it's no longer scientific to say No, the kids often develop subconscious anxiety. Much juvenile delinquency springs from a deep hunger for rules. It is a masochistic effort to seek punishment. The child, says Doctor Deschin, abhors a world where everything goes.

Or, as my tough-minded old grandmother put it, "The youngster who doesn't know that there's a Lord in Israel bounces around in a limbo where there is no force of gravity. If you think he's happy you're crazy."

The time has come to dust off the rule book. The game is unplayable if you're allowed two strikes or six, if you can use a bat or a cannon, and if some days you can have three men on third and other days there isn't any third base at all. We have to stop trying to make up our own rules.

And that goes for all of us. It's time to quit seeking learning without effort and wages without work. It's time we got mad about payola. We should ask the Lord's forgiveness for our inflated expense accounts, and quit pretending that goonery is a human right.

Vibrant Nation

Ladies and gentlemen: do not let me overdraw the picture. This is still a great, powerful, vibrant, able, optimistic nation. Americans—our readers — do believe in themselves and in their country.

But there is rot, and there is blight, and there is cutting out and filling to be done if we, as the leaders of free men, are to survive the hammer blows which quite plainly are in store for us all.

We have reached the stomach-turning point. We have reached the point where we should re-examine the debilitating philosophy of permissiveness. Let this not be confused with the philosophy of liberty. The school system that permits our children to develop a quarter of their natural talents is not a champion of our liberties. The healthy man who chooses to loaf on unemployment compensation is not a defender of human freedom. The playwright who would degrade us, the author who would profit from pandering to the worst thats in us, are no friends of ours.

Sawdust Trail

It's time we hit the sawdust trail. It's time we revived the idea that there is such a thing as sin — just plain old willful sin. It is time we brought self-discipline back into style. And who has a greater responsibility at this hour than we — the gentlemen of the press.

So I suggest:

Let's look at our educational institutions at the local level, and if Johnny can't read by the time he's ready to get married let's find out why.

Lets look at the distribution of public largesse, and if, far from alleviating human misery, it is producing the sloth and irresponsibility that intensifies it, let's get it fixed.

Lets quit being bulldozed and bedazzled by self-appointed long-hairs. Let's have the guts to say that a book is dirt if that's what we think of it, or that a painting may be a daub if the judges unwittingly hang it upside down. And if some beatnik welds together a collection of rusty cogwheels and old corset stays and claims it's a greater sculpture than Michelangelo's "David' let's have the courage to say that it looks like junk and may well be.

Let's blow the whistle on plays that would bring blushes to an American Legion stag party. Let's not be awed by movie characters with barnyard morals even if some of them have been photographed climbing aboard the Presidential yacht. Let us pay more attention in our news columns to the decent people everywhere who are trying to do something for the good of others.

In short, let's cover up the cesspool and start planting some flowers.

Well, that's the jeremiad. I never dreamed I'd go around sounding like an advance man for Carry Nation. On some people I still think Bikinis look fine.

But I am fed up to here with the educationists and pseudo-social scientists who have underrated our potential as a people.

Medicine Men

I am fed up to here with the medicine men who try to pass off pretense for art and prurience for literature.

I am tired of seeing America debased in the eyes of foreigners.

And I am genuinely disturbed that to idealistic youth in many countries the fraud of Communism appears synonymous with morality, while we, the chief repository of real freedom, are regarded as being in the last stages of decay.

We can learn a lesson from history. Twice before our British cousins appeared to be heading into a collapse of principle, and twice they drew themselves back. The British court reached stage of corruption under the Stuarts.' But the people rebelled. And in the wild days of George IV and William IV it looked as though Britain were rotting out again. But the people banged through the reform laws, and under Victoria went on to the peak of their power.

In this hour of misbehavior, self-indulgence and self-doubt let this be the story of America. Unless I misread the signs a great number of our people are ready. Let there be a fresh breeze, a breeze of new pride, new idealism, new integrity.

And there, gentlemen, is where we come in.

We have typewriters.

We have presses.

We have a huge audience.

HOW ABOUT RAISING HELL!

Miss Steinhoff Talks to Women of Garden Club

Marvel Steinhoff, speaking on "My Week at Higgins Lake" delightfully entertained 25 members of the Tecumseh Garden Club and their guests Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Clifford Knudsen.

Miss Steinhoff discussed the quality of the land around Higgins Lake and how, through careful study, it is now a great potato country.

She brought out many points of interest obtained through the School of Conservation which is held each summer at Higgins Lake.

Mrs. Knudsen and her two assistant hostesses, Mrs. C. L. Feight and Mrs. Waldo Mohr, served refreshments.

BROTHERS CONDUCT MUSIC WORKSHOP — Forty Brothers of the Midwest Province of the Congregation of Holy Cross, including Brother Philip Armstrong of Boysville, met at Notre Dame, Ind., Feb. 6 for a workshop in liturgical music. Brother Daniel Cane, C.S.C., faculty member of St. Joseph's High School, South Bend, Ind., and instructor of music at the Brothers' novitate and house of studies, organized the workshop and was its chairman. The program included examination and evaluation of music of the new liturgy, discussion of the application of the new music within the province, and demonstration of the newly-available English transitions of the sung Mass and chants of the Office. Brother Philip is shown (right front) during the session.

DOLLAR and SENSE FARMING.

BUY FEEDER PIGS soon for summer sale. Forty-pound feeder pigs bought now will sell at around $19 in early July. After marketing costs, a 220-pound hog sold for $19 per cwt. would bring about $40. Figuring average feed costs at about $21 leaves a $19 break-even purchase price. During the seasonal peak expected in July or August, weekly average prices should top $20, higher for best quality hogs.

A SUPERCHARGER installed on your tractor will give you more horsepower for heavier loads and more speed on lighter work. However, engineers caution against increasing horsepower more than 10% to 15%. The blower can increase load on engine parts and final drives. Check with your dealer concerning whether your tractor has any characteristics which would make turbocharging unsatisfactory. Also determine if the turbocharger would affect the warranty on the tractor.

AUTOMATIC FEEDERS used for finishing beef cattle can contribute to increased feed efficiency compared with self-feeders. In a Nebraska experiment, steers fed with automatic feeding equipment consumed 6% less feed and gained 2.1% faster. They produced a pound of gain on 7.3% less feed than self-fed steers. Automatic feeders save on wasted feed and provide cattle with a continual supply of fresh feed.

STORAGE TANKS FOR LIQUID MANURE disposal save time and preserve nutrient value. Weigh these advantages against their high fixed cost before deciding. Typical total costs for an 18,000 gallon underground tank: Concrete tank, $1,000; agitator and pump $1,842; spreader, $900.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Nagging Question

Combined salaries paid by Tecumseh employers during the past year totaled $29,276,630. That's a pretty fair hunk of change.

We realize that a goodly portion of this goes to folks who reside in distant communities, some as far as 40 miles away. That means our business row can't expect to see those paychecks, except on infrequent occasions.

But how about the rest, that which is paid to folks who live in Tecumsehland? Do shop-keepers here come up with the lion's share of it?

No town is an island, a latter-day philosopher has reported — and he's correct.

With modern roads and cars what they are these days, a fellow living in Tecumseh or Clinton or Britton can hop into the family bus and be at Westgate in Toledo in less than an hour. Northland in Detroit is only 75 minutes away. Such shopping facilities have great appeal, both in choice of items, free parking and smart appearances of the shops.

So, when it comes down to hard facts, Tecumseh stores aren't lined up against one another — rather, as a body, they face off against business rows in Adrian, Toledo, Detroit, Ann Arbor and Jackson.

With new families moving into the area, as the wage earners take up positions with Stauffer Chemical and Fisher Body, the $100,000 question pops up: "Where will these folks shop?"

The answer we'd like to give would be, "Tecumseh".

It can be — but there are a list of "ifs". Wrapped together, they must come up. "It's fun to shop in Tecumseh, the stores are attractive, the clerks are helpful and there's a good selection of merchandise".

A lot of business folks have made sizable investments in recent years in these directions and more are coming. This should be a continuing and never-ending project.

No store owner or service businessman should tell himself, "I'm tops. My place is the greatest. Now I can sit back and coast."

Instead, there should be a nagging question: "What can I do this week to make my spot more appealing for my customers and potential customers?"

MARDA GENE DUNCAN'S

Thru My Window

A TOPSY-TURVY WINTER

The past few months have produced almost more than their share of oddities and taking an honored first place can be the weather. There has been a regular pendulum-type, swinging back and forth between winter and spring. Fog, rain, freezing rain, sleet snow and even a little bit of sunshine — one has not known from day to day just what to expect.

The ice went out of the creek far earlier than usual, February 8th to be exact and whereas the breakup is usually preceded by heavy rains, this year, you have guessed it, the downpour arrived after the ice was gone. And don't our usual temperature changes follow the pattern of warmer through the day and cooling off during the night?

Well, the beating rain which made our short-lived second ice storm was accompanied by freezing conditions until nightfall, then the temperature started rising. The next day was sunny and warm, but, even while basking in the mid-sixties, the weather forecast spoke of snow flurries coming.

★

EVEN THE BIRD watching is different, the poor birds are mixed up and don't know whether it is spring time or winter. For example, although not nearly the flock of several hundred nor even the fifty-bird one, we have had robins. In fact, we have had one since Jan. 12th. By the first weekend in the valentine month he had become a regular and my, how handsome. Big and fat he was all dolled up in a bright red vest and ready for spring courting.

Looking more at home when the north winds blow and snow flurries blanket the ground in white are the juncos. This year's flock is as large as we have ever had, some days the count goes as high as ten. These round visitors from the far north are a happy and most welcome addition to the cold weather scene.

They hop around on the ground dining on either the scratch feed which has been thrown out for them or that which the feedeaters knock off. Occasionally a junco ventures up to the feeding station, giving us a good look at his soft, smooth feathers. When flying away he fans his narrow tail and flashes its white outside feathers. A nice way of saying so long.

★

THE BIG MYSTERY of the year is where are the pert and bouncy chick-a-dees? Once in a great while one of the little fellows flits through the window picture, but this is nothing like the regular visits we have had in past winters. Cuddly birds, small with round heads, tiny pointed bills and quite long tails, chick-a-dees wear gay outfits of black, gray and white topped off with cocky black caps. We miss their daily visits to the feeder — suet and peanuts are always available but so far, few chick-a-dees have dined.

Another contingent of winter birds who is among the missing — evening grosbeaks. This is not too surprising however, they are noted for being erratic migrators. It is thought that their forages this far south are prompted by poor food supplies in the north and, of course, this not being a particularly hard season up there perhaps they have simply not been forced into visiting out 'neck of the woods'.

Actually, I am mad at the big yellow, black and white clowns anyway — they ignored us completely last year and we had reports from all over that they were around.

★

An early returnee who must rue his untimely arrival is the trim, sleek male cowbird. Or, could it be, that like the robins, some of the cowbird bunch wintered over up here? Whichever explanation is right, I agree with Helen that it is a great surprise to look out at a snow-covered feeding station and see a jet black bird with a bronze head munching breakfast. It is even more of a shock to look out and see three of the characters dining.

So it is that the calendar may say winter but through our window we have watched what can best be described as a most topsy-turvy winter.

Gardeners Study Floral Planning

Mrs. Carlton Cook presented a program on Landscape Design for 15 members and two guests of the Little Garden Club Feb. 16 at the home of the president, Mrs. Bill Clausen.

The program chairman, Mrs. Richard Hammel distributed the 1965 programs to members.

Plans were made to hold six, weekly flower arranging classes for club members at the Presbyterian Church.

These classes will be taught by Mrs. Carolyn Hutchinson of Monroe on Tuesday afternoons from 1 to 3 p.m. The first was held this week.

Mrs. Cook used color slides and diagrams to demonstrate the proper placement of plantings in relation to the home.

For the do-it-yourself landscaper, she pointed out that it is not possible to pick out a plan from a book, but that with careful thought and planning, an amateur can do his own landscaping.

Members were urged, when choosing, to consider how various plantings will look during all seasons and to consult with a nurseryman.

The next meeting is scheduled for March 16, with the guest speaker being Carol Strohmyer, a member of the Audubon Society.

But Few Adults Use Britton Library

By KAREN HARRIOTT

BRITTON — Mrs. Milburn Preston believes, "It's a shame that more adults don't use the Britton library. In the community of Britton, we have only about 20 steady adult readers."

Mrs. Preston, better known as Pat, has been librarian at the Britton Branch of the Lenawee County Library for five years.

At this time the library contains 4,500 books. Due to a recent government grant, it now receives 65 leading magazines.

In the reference department, new additions of the Compton's and World Book Encyclopedias, the Lincoln Library and an up-to-date set of the Readers' Guide are available for use.

Patrons may order through the library film-strips, slides and records on practically any subject. These are ideal for use by clubs, schools, churches and Sunday Schools.

Each summer since 1951, the library has sponsored a vacation reading program for children in grades three through eight. In the summer of 1964 a total of 56 children were enrolled in the "Magic Reading Club".

★

THIS YEAR marks the 20th anniversary of the Britton Branch of the Lenawee County Library.

Mrs. William Kuster began in 1946 as the first librarian. She was replaced in 1950 by Mrs. Fred Bryan.

Following Mrs. Bryan, Mrs. Charles Fairbanks served for five years and was replaced by the current librarian, Mrs. Preston, Dec. 1, 1959.

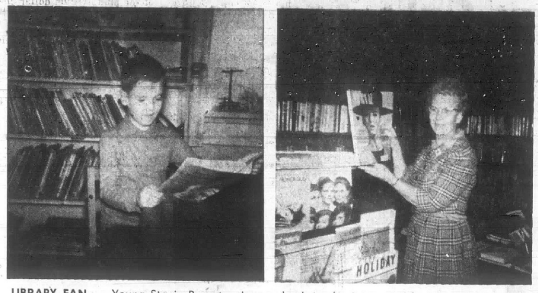
The library is located on the second floor of the town council rooms, above the Britton Fire Department on South Main Street.

The library is open on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 11:30 until 5 and on Saturdays from 1 until 4 p.m.

To borrow books from the library, residents simply stop in and sign an application form.

There is no charge and library cards are issued promptly. If the Britton Library does not have a book patrons want, they can be ordered from the county headquarters in Adrian or from the state headquarters in Lansing.

Adults are welcome to stop in and become acquainted and they are asked to encourage their children to use these facilities offered to them.



LIBRARY FAN — Young Stevie Bryant enjoys a book in the Britton Public Library. Mrs. Milburn Preston, librarian, shows one of the many magazines available to users of the library.

Pvt. Ronald L. Weyher has returned home from the Army Armor Center at Fort Knox, Ky., where he completed a radio operators course under the Reserve Enlistment Program. He enlisted in the National Guard May 1, 1964, received basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., where he qualified as a sharpshooter. Ron is the son of Mr. and Mrs. LaVern Weyher and graduated from Britton High School in 1960. Monday he resumed his duties with the State Highway Department at Standish.

Tories Lose to Boysville Five, 71-50

BRITTON — The Boysville Knights avenged a loss to the Tories earlier this year with a resounding 71-50 drubbing of the Britton quintet. The only period in which the Tories were close was at the end of the first stanza when the score stood 16-15 in Boysville's favor.

However, the Knights proved too much in rolling up their largest victory margin this year. Moe Jacobs had 22 points, followed by Ron Klos' 21 to lead the Knight's attack. While Britton's Walt Korican marked 17.

Following the game Coach Sam Hamilton of the Tories, said, "Well, I think I'll have to get the team thinking about the tournaments."

Asked what he thought of the games, he said, "They've a real good ball club and I really can't understand why they haven't a better record than they do. However, in the game they were really waiting for us, especially after we beat them the first time only two points."

Chevy II 100 2-Door Sedan

Chevy II

With aluminized exhausts that discourage corrosion ... Delcotron generators that encourage longer battery life ... brakes that adjust themselves ... rocker panels that flush themselves free of dirt and salt. Tight? They're downright miserly!

You're looking at the lowest priced sedan and station wagon that Chevrolet makes.

We make a point of this since they neither look nor act their price.

They're roomy. The sedan seats six. The wagon gives you a full nine feet from the back of the front seat to the tip of the lowered tailgate.

They're rugged. The unitized body is by Fisher. Up front, there's an independent suspension system and in the rear, Mono-Plate (you'll never hear a squeak) springs.

They're good looking. Clean. Functional. Foam-cushioned front seats, padded front armrests and color-keyed front seat belts are among many unexpected standard equipment features.

You can get an economical 4-cylinder engine in the sedan or in both cars, a 120-hp Hi-Thrift Six. It's fast to warm up, idles almost silently and is very, very easy on gas.

For even more power, there's a special Six you can order: the 230-cubic-inch Turbo-Thrift job.

As we said earlier, these are our lowest priced cars. But you'll never know just how economical they are until you own one.

Stauffer Starts Sales Plans

The challenge facing the Silicone Division of the Stauffer Chemical Co. was stressed by Amos R. Anderson, general manager, when sales and management personnel of the division met last week at the Sutton Rd. location and in Adrian.

At the first national sales meeting of the division, Mr. Anderson pointed out the firm is competing with three strong companies already in the field.

The research and development laboratories and the production facilities, located on Sutton Rd., Tecumseh, were toured Feb. 15.

Sales opportunities for silicone elastomers, fluids and resins, which Stauffer will start to make in a few months, were presented and discussed by geographical and market areas.

Plans and progress of other departments, as they will affect sales, were presented by G. Fleming, production manager, and by Dr. R. N. Chadha, manager of research and development.

*

DIVISION salesmen attending were Frank Janda, Chicago, mid-western representative; Andy Lamond, Philadelphia, eastern representative and Jack Galloway, Boston, New England representative.

Visiting members of the field engineering staff were Carl Bruns, Jack Whalen, Dan Copertino and George Viskne, all of Matawan, N. J.

Construction is continuing on the first of the production units of the multi-million dollar chemical complex started at the Sutton Rd. site last fall.

The research and development laboratory has already been activated.

The company is using the former Oro plant on Michigan St., Adrian, for initial production involving the manufacture of a silicone stretch tape.

Fellowship Looks at Racial Problem

TIPTON — Final plans for the Father - Daughter Banquet held last Saturday evening at the Community Church were made when members of the Women's Fellowship met Feb. 16 at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Munger.

Thirteen members and one guest were present. A sewing bee was planned to be held at 10 a.m., Feb. 25 at the church. Night gowns, hospital gowns and bibs will be made for patients at Maple Lane Manor.

The Biblical interpretation of the Christian attitude toward the racial problem was the theme for the devotions led by Mrs. Merrick Dibble.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Clarks Begin Remodeling of Building

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Clark, 5590 Raisin Center Hwy., have purchased the building formerly occupied by The General Telephone Company at 216 E. Chicago Blvd.

An extensive remodeling program is in progress there to accommodate a TV sales and service business on the lower floor and living quarters for the family upstairs.

A Driggs Dairy Farm, Inc., carrier for 15 years, Mr. Clark has operated a television service in his home for the past five years.

He services all makes of radios, hi-fi's, stereo and television sets and specializes in antenna and tower work.

Mr. Clark, 42, and his wife, Isabel, have six children, Albert John, 20, is an apprentice toolmaker at the Tecumseh Products Co. and attends Jackson Junior College night classes. Diane is Mrs. Dale McCarley, Green Hwy.; Brenda, nearly 16, is a sophomore and Linda, 14, a freshman at Tecumseh High School.

Charlene, 13, a seventh grade student at the Tecumseh Junior High School and Marsha Jane, 12, is in the sixth grade at Patterson.

The Clarks hope to move their family into the newly-remodeled living quarters about March 15 but the store won't be open until later.

Ceilings in the entire building have been lowered. All partitions have been torn out upstairs and four bedrooms, a living room, kitchen and bath are planned.

Knotty pine paneling will be used in the store and service rooms.

Back, Legs Twisted, He Takes Position at Goodwill

With his back and legs twisted and bent with muscular dystrophy, Jerry Stevens this week became the first handicapped employee to report for work in the new Goodwill Industries plant at 600 E. Beecher St. in Adrian.

Limited operations began last week in the renovated Stearns Manufacturing Co. plant and office building, purchased last fall by Goodwill Industries of Southeastern Michigan.

Jerry Stevens is a 20-year-old Palmyra youth who has overcome a severely crippling disease to become the small appliance repairman for Goodwill.

He got his high school and electronics education through correspondence courses at home and someday would like to open his own television and radio repair business.

★

THE NEW BUILDING makes possible continued expansion of the sheltered workshop program made famous by Goodwill Industries throughout the world.

All operations will be moved into the new building by March 1, Executive Director Claude Whitehead said.

They include clothing processing, shoe repair, spray painting, industrial contract services, furniture repair and appliance repair.

Employment is expected to be expanded to at least 110 handicapped people this year.

The retail sales room will remain at the 261 W. Maumee St. site indefinitely and will be expanded to cover the entire first floor.

Another store of 5,000 square feet will be added to the Beecher St. Plant in late Spring.

18,324 Work in County—Record High

Semi-annual employment count of 287 payrolls in Lenawee County — with eight or more employees — found 18,324 drawing paychecks.

This is the greatest number ever employed in Lenawee County.

Manufacturing with 92 plants accounted for 11,771 individuals, which is an increase of 960 more than the number employed one year ago.

Benefits paid unemployed workers by the Adrian office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission amounted to $51,910 during January, $8,000 less than in Jan. 1964, states Clifford J. Rice, Adrian Branch Manager.

Mark's Promise

At Christian Science services this Sunday, the Bible Lesson on "Christ Jesus" will include the promise recorded in Mark.

MRS. GEORGE WRIGHT ENJOYS MAKING DISCARDED BOTTLES INTO BEAUTIFUL AND USEFUL ARTICLES

Bottles Made into Ashtrays

Mrs. George Wright creates beauty from the most improbable ingredients.

Discarded bottles she has found, may be made into colorful, distinctive ashtrays through a process known as "glass draping".

In her workroom at 820 Outer Dr., Mrs. Wright selects colorful seltzer bottles, warm brown beer bottles or green medicine bottles.

They are laid in a special air-vented mold and then melted and fused in a kiln fired at temperatures of from 1,100 to 1,500 degrees. A short time later they are removed in the form of "different" ash trays or other useful articles.

Mrs. Wright has been a ceramists "bug" since 1960 when she accompanied a friend to an Ann Arbor ceramics class. "It really bit me," she said.

When she became serious about her new hobby, her family gave her the kiln. She uses it not only for the glass draping, but to fire ceramic pieces.

Always interested in enlarging upon her talents, she is studying china painting, that hobby in which Victorian ladies delighted and which is becoming more and more popular among modern day hobbyists.

'Family Strength'

The Progress Extension Study group met Feb. 22 at the home of Mrs. Les Fogelong, Jr. Nine members were present.

The group decided to assist at the Blood Bank March 3 in the Community Center.

Mrs. Melvin Purple presented the lesson on "Family Strength."

Mrs. Howard Kronberg assisted the hostess with refreshments.

10th Grade Level County Average

Ray Gillespie, director of the 4-H program in Lenawee County, was the speaker at the meeting Thursday evening of the Citizens for Good Government held in the Court House in Adrian.

Mr. Gillespie explained that the entire extension program, including home economics, agriculture, marketing and 4-H; is a cooperative program provided by the Department of Agriculture, Michigan State University and the local board of supervisors.

It is the responsibility of the staff in the office of the Court House to lay out the programming though many projects are uniformly carried out throughout the state.

Mr. Gillespie presented slides based on the last census taken in 1960 that showed the National Gross Product, from 1950 projected through 1970.

★

AMONG MANY facts shown:

1. More people are and will be employed in service than in production industries.
2. Need for unskilled labor and farmers was completely filled in 1960 for at least 10 years.
3. Only 5% of the population produces the nation's food.
4. Younger people are filling the executive positions.
5. Population of the U.S. will reach 209 million in 1970.

The 4-H director said the average education in Lenawee County is just over the 10th grade, that there is only enough food in Detroit for 1½ days at any one time.

School drop-out figures in Lenawee are below the national average, he added.

★

THE SLIDES suggested three answers to the problem of what to do about the lack of education among the populace, in view of the fact that the unskilled jobs have been filled.

They include:

1. Continue as we are.
2. Increase formal education, with campaign against drop-outs, five-year high school, community college and subsidized college education.
3. Vocational training in regular high school with fifth-year in high school, industrial education centers and on-the-job training.

KEN GARNO said that the next meetings of the Good Citizens will always be held on the second Thursday of each month at 8 p.m. in the Adrian Federal Savings and Loan Building in Adrian.

Coffee was served by Mrs. Robert Murray and committee.

Nursing Home Patients, Guests, Enjoy Tea Party

About 75 attended the tea Saturday at the Herrick Nursing Home. It was sponsored by the Herrick Memorial hospital auxiliary.

The Valentine theme was emphasized in the centerpiece of the serving table as well as in the cups, plates and napkins.

Mrs. Ted Rundell had charge of the table and Mrs. Jack Puffer, the refreshments.

Mrs. Dale Bowen was the chairman of the invitation committee.

A varied musical program was presented through the efforts of Mrs. James E. Danforth.

Vocal soloists Stephanie Brooks, Jamie Danforth, Linda Sinkey and Kittie McWilliams were accompanied by Mrs. Paul Brantingham.

Jamie McWilliams sang an original composition accompanying himself on the guitar.

The women's trio of the First Baptist Church, Mrs. Danforth, Mrs. Harold Green and Mrs. Lee Prettyman also sang.

Mrs. William Macbeth is in charge of scheduling programs for the nursing home and would welcome suggestions or talent. Programs are usually scheduled the early part of the week.

Another tea is planned for the Easter season.

Snow Drifts Bury Tecumsehland

Stores, Schools and Industries Closed by Worst Storm in 30 Years

Life moved back to near-normal for residents of Tecumsehland, who last week were cursing the blizzard and now are beginning to brag about the discomforts and inconveniences it brought.

Slightly distorted recollections are what make legends.

But the two-day blast last Thursday and Friday was a real zinger — the worst in 30 years.

Nearly 10¼" of snow fell, was whipped into mountainous drifts by winds which gusted up to 50 miles an hour.

Business firms, industries, schools and the public library closed as roads clogged with snow, imprisoning employees and students in their homes.

Road and street crews struggled to push back the drifts, with the stork in several instances racing the snow plows.

One person, a Tecumseh Products Co. third-shifter, was seriously injured when exposure to wind and snow resulted in frozen ears and fingers.

City crews, assisted by equipment and drivers from seven other sources, worked long hours clearing streets and roads — 30 hours at one stretch.

City Manager Cal Zorn said more than 1,000 loads of snow were taken to the city dump.

Two city trucks equipped with blades, a front-end loader and two trucks for hauling, were kept busy all day Thursday. Used also was a grader which had been loaned to the city for demonstration purposes.

"Since our own grader isn't working, I don't know what we would have done without the demonstrator," Mr. Zorn said. The big piece of equipment was operated continuously from 3 a.m. until about 3 p.m. Friday by Weston Haeussler, street superintendent.

Hired Thursday by Mr. Zorn to help alleviate the situation were equipment and operators from these firms:

► Hoyt Whelan Co., two tractors;

► Arthur Brady Sand and Gravel Co., two trucks;

► Kitty Kurtis Farm, one truck and one loader;

► Ayling-Cunningham Asphalt & Paving Co., a grader;

► Harold Richardson Sand and Gravel, truck.

► Hayden Flour Mills Inc., truck;

► Selders Excavating, a loader;

Many residents, among them George Ruhl, Tim Neil, Robert Sage and Leonard Lewis, helped clear drives and walks with small four-wheel vehicles equipped with snow plows.

Several city firemen, fearful they might not be able to reach the station through drifted streets in case of an emergency, spent Thursday night at the fire barn.

★

TECUMSEH PRODUCTS CO. closed operations at noon Thursday, as blizzard conditions made it necessary to send employes home before they were stranded in the shops.

The Products reopened Friday with only about half the force able to show up for work. Trucks were unable to reach the plant with supplies.

Robert Cunningham, 22, of Manitou Beach, a Products worker on the third shift, left the factory at 7 a.m. Thursday and because of the drifted roads drove by way of Addison to Manitou Beach where he arrived at about 1 p.m.

He stalled in a snowdrift at Manitou Beach Rd. and Rollin Hwy. and after a futile hour's effort to free the car, walked a mile and a half to Manitou Beach.

Suffering from exposure, he stopped for help at a residence, remaining while the family called the Lenawee County Sheriff's Department.

An Addison village snowplow and a Lenawee County road commission plow finally were able to clear a path so that a Hudson ambulance could reach Mr. Cunningham.

At 3:05 p.m. he was enroute to a Hudson hospital where he was treated for frozen fingers and ears.

Bruce Foundry Co. worked only two hours Thursday. Some 20 men were absent when the plant reopened Friday.

When only 50% of its employees showed up for work Thursday, the Faraday Division of the Gray Mfg. Co. closed about 11 a.m., The same number returned when work resumed at 10 a.m. Friday.

Faraday workers cleared a section of roof, which had collapsed under the weight of snow in a previous storm several years ago.

Meyers Aircraft Co. was closed all day Thursday and part of Friday when only a few employees showed up for work.

Rural mail deliveries were greatly curtailed because of the drifted roads. Only a fraction of regular mail trucks deliveries from other towns was able to reach the post office with incoming mail.

Little mail was delivered Thursday and Friday and by Saturday more than 25% of the roads were still impassable, Jack Metcalf, Tecumseh postmaster said.

Tecumseh Public School and St. Elizabeth reopened Monday after a two-day layoff.

Some of the roads over which school buses traveled were still open for one-lane traffic only.

PURKEY'S AAA wrecker service reported the 63 completed service calls from Thursday until Saturday equalled a record set in the snow storm Feb. 1, 1962.

Lee Purkey was unable to reach 15 stranded automobiles and reported its most difficult job was digging out the Culligan soft water truck, snowbound on Milwaukee Rd. Four hours were required for the job.

PLOWS WERE BUSY — Snow plows, from giant s to ones like this of the sidewalk variety, were busy throughout the area. Dean Linden of Blood Rd., was snapped as he cleared the walkway along W. Chicago Blvd. in front of the James Beardsley residence.

KIDS LOVED IT — With a two-day vacation and drifts of snow enough for an army, Tecumsehland youngsters had a ball last week, like Kevin Limes and Dale Stoner, who discovered a mound of white, nearly as high as the street sign post at Nokomis and Union.

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

During World War I, a real interesting chap named John Guthrie was a motorcycle courier with the British army in France for nearly four years.

Bouncing along on the muddy, pock-marked trails — sometimes laughingly called roads — John was really riding to Hades in a hand basket.

No one knew it better than he did.

But John Guthrie survived, thanks mainly, as he freely admits, by keeping his vehicle and himself well lubricated.

This helps point up the inventive nature of a guy now living in the tiny Ohio hamlet of New London. Sort of a characteristic of the self-made man, doing what must be done under trying conditions.

Apparently, his war-time experiences stood him in good stead for the life to come, which included some of the zaniest experiences known to man — like drilling for oil in what now is Saudi Arabia, deciding to become a Moslem and nearly making a pilgrimage to Mecca, wiring a raft of Ohio theatres for talkies in the Twenties.

Now, John is off on a new kick, as he pushes the calendar towards 70 years, but let's get into that a little later down the page.

For now, a reader might wonder about this jump from oil wells to theatre sound systems.

First off, there was a happy marriage to a lovely damsel in England and then migration to the States, with the Guthries landing in Cleveland.

Motion picture houses were getting set to play the first talkie and many exhibitors hadn't the slightest know-how on equipping their places for sound.

Enter John Guthrie and soon here was a man in demand.

Always a guy with a flare for fun and making a buck, John eyed the trend in entertainment and started buying up theatres, until he had a string through northern Ohio.

In the late Thirties he began to sell off his movie houses, after selecting one small town in his circuit for "retirement". He kept the one in New London, a town of about 3,000.

★

JOHN HEARD that an old home on the main drag was being sold by the sheriff for taxes and some fellow had made an offer of about $3,000. He came up with a counter-bid of $3,500 and got the place.

One of the big reasons John wanted this home was that its enormous living room, with giant fireplace along one wall, was just perfect for stereo. Only then

Some 200 persons are expected to hear Lt. Gov. William Milliken when he speaks at the Lenawee County Republican - Lincoln Day dinner here at 7 p.m., Wednesday in the First Baptist Church Youth House. Hosts will be the Tecumseh Republican Club with Hugh Walter, general chairman of the affair. Mr. Walter said reservations for the banquet will be accepted until Monday. Tickets are available at the Sunderland Insurance Co., Tecumseh Office Supply, The Tecumseh Herald, Lamb's Drug Store and Pickard Floral Shop.

Easton Will Trek to UP in Exchange

Tecumseh's mayor, Harold Easton will travel 415 miles when he exchanges offices May 18 with the president of the little town of Garden in Delta County, Upper Peninsula. The village on Big Bay DeNoc, an arm of Green Bay, has a population of 380 persons.

The exchange is part of the observance of Michigan Week, May 16-22, sponsored annually by the Greater Michigan Foundation.

The newly elected president of the village of Clinton, will go to Melvindale while the mayor of that Detroit suburb is a guest at Clinton.

There will be no Britton mayor exchange this year, the village having withdrawn its request to be paired in the annual drawing which took place Wednesday in the Lansing City Hall.

Britton exchanged executives one year with Detroit.

Dwight Helms of 801 S. Adrian St. has been named chairman of the Michigan Week observance in Tecumseh. Appointment was made by Richard Henemyer, Lenawee County chairman.

Mrs. Frank (Rena) Fitzpatrick will be chairman in Clinton, Mr. Henemyer said.

Stork Was Flying High

"Looks like every expectant mother in the area decided this is the appointed time."

The comment was made as a Herrick Memorial Hospital employee toted up the names of 10 mothers who gave birth during the storm-filled weekend. See list of births, page 4.

In some instances Michigan State Police were asked to provide an escort or to arrange for the plowing of drifted roads to permit distraught fathers to get their wives to the hospital.

Storm Encourages Rash of Accidents

Last week's snow storm played havoc with traffic and sent the number of accidents soaring.

Tecumseh police investigated 18, the state police one involving city patrol car.

Nine happened Thursday, the day residents woke to about 11 inches of drifted snow. Only one driver was cited.

Paul A. Lightfoot, 28, Adrian, was charged by the state police for violation of the basic speed law after he ran into the rear of a Tecumseh police car on W. Chicago Blvd.

The police, with red light flashing, were on their way to investigate another accident, just outside the city limits.

★

THE OTHER eight accidents Thursday involved:

Nelson P. Sweet, 20, Ives Rd., and Ronald A. Shanteau, 26, rural Monroe.

John Stephens, 64, 413 Center Dr., and Goldie G. Zarnoch, 42, 400 Center Dr.

Weldon Scott, 41, Britton, and Everett W. Baker, 49, Sand Creek.

Ruth L. Stuart, 57, 740 N. Union St., and Sion Bostwick, 54, Palmyra.

Audrey Belcher, 37, 1009 Murray Dr. and Dennis E. Linden, 18, 4600 Blood Rd.

Tecumseh Plays Friday in Chelsea District Tourney

Tecumseh will meet the winner of Wednesday night's Chelsea-Willow Run game at 8:30 Friday evening in the district tournament at Chelsea.

If the Indians win, they'll play in the championship game Saturday night.

Drawings for the regional will be held Monday with the first game scheduled for Tuesday night in the Eastern Michigan University field house at Ypsilanti.

Winners of district play at Dundee, Flat Rock, River Rouge, Chelsea and Jackson Parkside will compete in the regional tournament.

Fire Is Minor

The Tecumseh Fire Department was called to the home of Dorman R. Vescelius of 2371 E. Monroe St. Tuesday when a space heater became overheated. There was no damage.

Music Shop To Open Here

Flanders Music Co. will open a new shop later this month in the store formerly occupied by Cal's Tog Shop.

Bill and Betty Flanders, owners from Ann Arbor, have already started some remodeling and redecorating of the store.

The new music shop will carry Kimball pianos and organs, Magnavox TV, stereo and radio, sheet music, records

Mrs. Flanders, present assistant manager of the Wurlitzer Co. music shop in Ann Arbor, has approximately 15 years experience as a music teacher and will conduct lessons here on the piano, organ and other instruments.

She also has her own dance band and has played here in Tecumseh at the Christmas parties at the Products Union Hall.

Mr. Flanders has operated the Flanders Radio & TV Repair in Ann Arbor since 1947.

They have three children, a girl, 10, a son in junior high, and another son now attending Cleary College. The family will move to Tecumseh after school adjourns for the summer in June.

One of these days if you see Ted Todd, Tom Fagan, Fig Newton or the Rev. Julian Gresham striding proudly along Chicago Blvd., sporting bright red-and-white sashes about their waists, you'd better salute. These guys are Tecumseh's judo enthusiasts, who for several years have been taking lessons in Ann Arbor. A red-and-white belt is given to the top performers. Their teacher is a Japanese doctor of philosophy, who teaches at Michigan, and is regarded as one of the most skilled judo experts in the nation.

In Clara Waldron's story about Comfort Brick & Tile last week, we muffed the date the firm was created in our headline — the correct one is 1859.

Sales at Bruce Foundry increased by 22% during 1964 and it looks like another 10% jump for '65, reports Bill Bruce.

The mail did get through Thursday, despite the worst storm since 1934. Bob Hart made his rounds in Herrick Park, hugging close to the houses. When he finished, Bob found he had completed the run in 30 minutes less time than usual.

We didn't hear a single old timer say, "Sure, that was quite a snow fall, but I remember a storm much worse back in . . . ."

And now it can be told how the whole thing started. Those two Ford smoothies, Jim Finch in Tecumseh and George Underwood in Clinton, are staging the annual "White Sale" and both called for a nice blanket of snow to go with the promotion — but someone forgot to pull the "stop" button.

Take heart — spring may be coming! At least one citizen had spring in his heart, Wednesday, as he carried home a florist's bouquet with pussy willows bursting through the top of the package.

Rene Albaugh and Cindy Vanderpool are also eligible to change pants and cuddle little ones. Although not listed among the group of graduates of the baby sitting clinic in last week's issue, the girls are available to care for little people.

Hey, we had it all the time and didn't know it. The Tecumseh Public Library keeps a running file of the officers of clubs, church groups and organizations in and around the city. Jule Fosbender, librarian, said Monday that personnel at the library will welcome notices of changes. When queried about the much-needed service, Mrs. Fosbender blithely replied, "Well, nobody asked us."

"Dependable Garbage Service, Inc." lived up to its name Friday, said Martha Baldwin. Murphy Hwy., made impassable by a huge snowdrift didn't stop those boys. They drove cross-country through a field to perform their duties.

Snafu and general misunderstanding seemed to have created a real unhappy situation at the Adrian Elks, following Saturday's performance of "The Music Man", as far as about 35 people in the show were concerned. Invited there as guests, the Tecumseh folks left after more than an hour of sitting around, still hungry and thirsty — and real unhappy. Maybe the Elks will check into it.

Tecumseh residents, frightened by a jet plane buzzing the city Monday didn't think it very funny when a local flyer explained the lowered wheels with the comment, "the pilot was just saying 'hello.' "

Quoting from Judd Arnett's column in Monday's Free Press:

"The thought occurs that the decentralization of industry is serving as the third great revolutionary force of the century in determining the success or failure, the rise or decline, of rural America.

"Towns and small cities fortunate enough, or agile enough, to attract satellites of our major companies will make out very well in the years to come, barring a major recession. Tecumseh comes to mind — with a sizeable commitment from General Motors and industrial expansion in other directions, the future of this community seems assured.

"In contrast, those centers either unwilling or unable to bring off industrial development will continue to wither away as the farm population declines and the importance of agriculture as a political force wanes."

Jim Murray is scheduled to appear as a guest on the Art Linkletter show on TV Channel 11, at 2:30 p.m. Thursday, March 4.

Relatives here expect the interview will include some comments on Mr. Murray's recent book, "The Best of Jim Murray."

Mr. Murray, sports columnist for the Los Angeles, Calif., Times frequently visits Tecumseh.

"That will be fun!" exclaimed Mayor Harold Easton when he was informed Wednesday that Mayor Exchange Day would take him to Garden, 415 miles away in the Upper Peninsula.

Politics is the process by which society makes its decisions.

He who hesitates may not get a parking place at all.

The trick today is to get a job that doesn't pay enough for someone to invent a machine to do it.

1200 Visit Cal's New Tog Shop

Approximately 1,200 persons toured the new Cal's Tog Shop Friday and Saturday, during the store's grand opening.

Tecumseh and area folks who won door prizes were:

Mrs. Donald Young
Mrs. Richard Meyers
Helen Mangrum
Blanche Schafer
Ruth Whiting
Pamela Flint
Sherry Richardson
Marilyn Haaske
Karen Bruce
Kathy Carter
Mrs. Lewis Vershum
Mary Lou Sunderland
Mary Shrader
Mary Pat McCann
Mrs. Harry Hoffman
Dolly Robinson

Out of town winners were Gill Gardner and Mrs. Dale Anderson of Adrian; Mrs. Morris Hall, Onsted; Marjorie Ariss, Big Rapids; Dora Kelty, Bonnie Sharp and Mary Caruso, Blissfield; and Maria Olds, Milan.

Snowed-Out, Layman's Banquet Is Re-Scheduled

The Community Laymen's Banquet, postponed last Thursday by the storm, will be held Thursday, April 1 at 6:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Youth House.

General Chairman Clifford Knudson announced the new date following a meeting of the banquet planning committee Tuesday evening.

"Professor Carl S. Hawkins has accepted the new date and that tickets will continue to be available for sale from cooperating church laymen as long as space is available in the Youth House," Mr. Knudson added.

Ambrose Clay, Jr., Postpones Studies at Graduate School

Ambrose Clay, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Clay, 608 Murray Drive has taken a leave of absence from graduate studies at Columbia University, New York City.

He will be employed at Automatic Electric Laboratories, Inc., North Lake, Ill.

Mr. Clay received his BS degree from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1964.

Druggist Bill Wright discovered Friday he was literally under a knife of snow. The arrow-shaped oddity, formed by the 50-mile-an-hour wind stuck out from the back of his store nearly three feet.

Kitchen Opens with Breakfast for Holy Name

St. Elizabeth's new $58,000 kitchen will be used officially the first time Sunday, March 14.

Men of the Holy Name Society will cook a bacon-and-egg breakfast following their monthly Communion Sunday.

About 100 fathers and sons are expected to attend.

Ernie Oliver was named chairman for the affair by the new Holy Name Society president Bob Sage.

The gleaming, stainless steel kitchen was donated to the parish and will be used for a variety of events to be staged by the Church and hot lunches for school students.

Nobody but nobody ever got more out of his lines than our editor, Thomas Riordan, in his role as Mayor Shinn in "Music Man". (Stop it, stop it, don't scribble me out for I will have my say this once.)

We think he was tremendous in all his pompousness. In fact my young companion, while the laughter was still rolling, said, "He's the best, Mom." Probably his spouse in the show, played by Judy Vanzo, would have held her pose until next week if need be before meekly saying, "I think he means 'Peep'."

Not only the cast right down to the least little knickerbocker-ed boy is to be congratulated, but also those responsible for the colorful costuming, lighting, set designing and all the rest. They did a magnificent job of presenting much good looking and listening for play-goers.

√

John Surratt made his first visit to the hospital and barber shop Tuesday after his illness and he had lots of good news.

Phil Surratt and wife, Ann, have another baby girl, Susan, born Feb. 20 in Women's Hospital, University Medical Center, Ann Arbor.

And Mama worked the day she came home from the hospital!

Because of the deep snow, nurses had difficulty in getting to work, so being an RN and also a teacher in the school of nursing, Ann said, "Well, if you have an extra uniform, I will help."

She did, too, giving shots and doing lighter work, while caring for her new little girl before she and the baby were taken home.

√

Come on, readers. You have an opportunity to make a stand for the right. In last week's issue the editors printed a full page on moral decay. If you read it and liked it, won't you say so in writing? If you did not have a chance to read it in its entirety, give yourself a treat and do so.

√

HM2 Jerry Crunk and his wife, Janet, and daughter, Allison, are home in Tecumseh en route to a submarine base at Pearl Harbor. They came from New London, Conn., to visit at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Crunk and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Harris. Before going to Travis AFB, Calif., to pick up a flight for the islands, the Crunks will visit his relatives in Tennessee.

√

Mrs. Ward Perso was back on the mail route at 5 a.m. Tuesday morning. She had the cast removed from her right arm the day before and you can't keep a "good mail gal" down.

√

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Partridge were honored by their children Sunday in observance of their 58th wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Austin Partridge and Mr. and Mrs. Casey Partridge of Plymouth feted their parents at dinner at the new Leithauser restaurant in Saline. The Rev. and Mrs. Blair Bashore were also guests for dinner.

A son, Russell, called to wish his parents best wishes from California. Sunday afternoon the grandchildren and their families, including 12 great-grandchildren, met at the Partridge home on W. Chicago Blvd.

A son was born Feb. 27 to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Butler of Riverside, Calif. The Butlers are former Tecumseh residents.

Mr. and Mrs. William Butler of Tecumseh are the happy grandparents.

√

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Rebottaro entertained snowbound house guests last week. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Siri of Mishawaka, Ind., arrived Wednesday and planned to return home the next day but were unable to do so.

Mr. and Mrs. George Heeman, nee Sue Klappich, have moved to K-9 Pinegrove Terrace on the Eastern Michigan campus. Mrs. Heeman is taking classes in elementary education and her husband has accepted a position in the National Bank of Ypsilanti and will assume duties there Monday.

√

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Crawford, nee Brenda Heeman, and children, Gregory and Laura, will make their home in Sacramento, Calif. Mr. Crawford will be the manager of the E. and J. travel office there. He will arrange trips mostly for college groups. Mrs. Crawford and the children will leave Saturday by air to join her husband. They have been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Heeman.

√

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Greene were called to Tekonsha last Tuesday by the death of his father, Roy Greene, 78. Services were held there Friday. Earl's mother underwent major surgery Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Theron Rainsberger of Evans Lake announce the engagement of their daughter, Blythe Leigh, to David John Fox, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Fox of Clinton. Both are graduates of Clinton High School. Miss Rainsberger will graduate in June from Cleary College, Ypsilanti. Mr. Fox is employed by the Ford Motor Company at Rawsonville. The couple plan a June 26 wedding.

Players Get $1,036 Check

Everybody's happy over "The Music Man" performance in Adrian's Dawson auditorium Saturday evening, viewed by a packed-house of 1,200.

Tau Delta Sorority, which booked the show, realized a profit of $1,000, which will be applied to the group's YMCA building fund pledge.

The Players received a check for $1,036 as their share of the gross sales.

Audience reaction to the show, which involved almost 100 people both on and off stage, was excellent.

The Players have already been invited back by the sorority for a showing of their 1966 winter musical.

In the seven performances in Tecumseh's 180-seat Odd Fellows Hall, the Players drew 1,200, which represented sell-outs for every night.

This meant a total gross of $3,256 for the musical.

Expenses for director salary, costumes, advertising, programs, rent, piano, guest musicians for the Adrian performance and royalties topped $2,100.

This left an approximate $1,156 net from the show, but the Players face a $500 bill for the purchase of 100 folding chairs, which had to be obtained when the Odd Fellows sold theirs.

Such an outlay is actually a capital expenditure, to be prorated over the life of the chairs.

However, the expenditure must be met and will probably come out of "The Music Man" profit.

★

THIS WILL leave about $800 for the organization's building fund, which stood at $2,500 going into the most recent show.

The Players are already gearing up for their final offering of the year, "Solid Gold Cadillac," which will be cast in another week.

'Teen-Age Driving' Subject of Child Study Club Talk

Charles Gross will be the speaker at the Child Study Club meeting at 8:30 p.m. Monday at the home of Mrs. Fred Oberlin.

His subject will be "Teen-age Driving."

Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Richard Chatters and Mrs. Mendel Decker.

Churches Participate in World Day of Prayer

The World Day of Prayer, held annually the first Friday in Lent, will be observed here March 5 in the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church and in the Assembly of God Church.

Participating with the Gloria Dei congregation are the Presbyterian, Methodist, St. Peter's Episcopal and First Baptist Churches.

The Gloria Dei Lutheran Church service will be at 1:30 p.m.

World-wide in character, the program used in 125 countries throughout the world is basically the same.

The theme, "What Doth the Lord Require?" will be presented by the Rev. Laszlo Gero.

★

OTHERS PARTICIPATING in the service will be Mrs. Charles Gross, Mrs. William Macbeth, Mrs. Gero, Mrs. Ted Todd, Mrs. Walter Morden, Mrs. James Tonneberger, Mrs. Stanley Rentschler, Mrs. Roland Boyers, Mrs. William Rohweder, and Mrs. Kenneth Goldmann.

Mrs. James E. Danforth will be the soloist and Mrs. Frank Gray will be the organist.

The event is sponsored by United Church Women of the National Council of Churches.

★

THE THEME to be used in the 7:30 p.m. service in the Assembly of God Church will be "By Prayer . . . With Thanksgiving."

Churches participating are the Friends, Missionary Baptist, Tecumseh Church of the Nazarene, Church of God and the Grace Bible Church.

The booklet used has been prepared and issued for use throughout the world by the National Association of Evangelicals, an organization representing 40 church denominations.

Church members are extending an invitation to the public to attend both services.

JC Auxiliary Hold Session in City Hall

Mrs. Dean Sheldon and Mrs. David Schoonover were welcomed as guests by 15 members of the Tecumseh Jaycee Auxiliary Feb. 24 at the City Hall.

Mrs. Larry Cote, representative for Fabricare, gave an interesting talk to the group about how coin operated dry cleaning works.

Debbie Cote entertained members by pantomiming to the music of "Birds and Bees", "Bill Bailey" and "Hello, Dolly".

Mrs. James Rundell reported that she and Mrs. Stephen O. Kruger went to the Girls Training School to entertain the Badge Club.

Members are planning a bowling party with their husbands. No date has been set. Mrs. Ray Shelton is chairman.

Chairmen named were Mrs. Tom Morgan for the Easter tray favors for the hospital, Mrs. Dyke Helms for the Bloodmobile and Mrs. Charles Kapnick, Easter Seals.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Tom Morgan and Mrs. James Fielder.

LONG & SHORT

people had no idea what this was and felt one speaker on a radio or vic was just fine.

The Guthries went to work on their place and soon had it gleaming. Today they could get about $30,000 if they wanted to sell.

John installed one of the most unique home stereo set-ups imaginable. For speakers, he obtained some from defunct theatres, one, taller than a man, both placed in the living room.

Lucky for the neighbors, the place is almost sound-proof and the nearest home is about 50 yards away, because John and his charming wife, Marie, are Night People, and they love to have musicales about 1 a.m., a habit dating back to the days when they ran the theatre and were tied up until after midnight.

A musicale at the Guthrie home inspires. If there's a newcomer present he is asked to name a selection he might wish to hear from John's vast reservoir of tapes.

When the music begins, strict silence is in effect. Only the crackle of snapping timbers, burning in the fireplace is allowed.

As the final strains of the rendition die away, there are refreshments and a lively discussion of the arts, then more music.

Maybe the musicales helped foster John's newest undertaking — clay sculpturing of famous people's faces.

In any event, John is in this with his usual gusto and the results are surprisingly adroit.

Working with a touch of humor in his hands, John's rendition of Nikitus Rex" — the ex-Soviet premier — is amazing. John's Churchill and President Kennedy are superior.

Working with clay, John bakes the finished products in the kilns of the local tile yard. His efforts have been displayed in a variety of art shows, even one on Cape Cod, with excellent reports and ribbons following.

★

JOHN'S LATEST effort is of a chap named deGaulle. To date, it has simply been dubbed "Charlie".

He'd like a more fetching handle.

How about making a suggestion?

A picture of the work is shown here for your guidance.

PARK IN STREETS — Even when cars were able to get out and run, there were few places for them to park on city streets. This Chevy ended up about 10 feet from the curb, the same story happening almost everywhere.

Miss Jewell, Floyd Marhle Are Wed

The Rev. R. A. Mitchinson Saturday evening in Ridgeway Methodist Church performed the double ring ceremony which united Dorothy Jewell and Floyd E. Marhle in marriage.

A lighted arch of 35 candles centered the altar and huckleberry and smilax foliage were used to decorate the arch with stephanotis clusters outlining the foliage.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Alfred Jewell, Sr., 6135 Billmyer Hwy. and the late Mr. Jewell.

The groom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mahrle of Manchester.

As Roy Jewell of Washington, D.C. and William Every of Tipton seated the guests, Mrs. Harold Every played nuptial music on the organ. She also accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Warren Benham.

★

ON THE ARM of her uncle, Lawrence Ash, the bride approached the altar in a gown of organza and chiffon designed with fitted bodice, tapered sleeves and a neckline re-embroidered with seed pearls and sequins.

The full bouffant skirt was draped in front and accented at the back with handmade roses to which a chapel train was attached.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was secured to a crown of pearls and crystals. She carried a cascade of white roses centered with a detachable corsage with ribbon cascades threaded with white hyacinth florets.

MRS. FLOYD MARHLE

The bride's only jewelry was a gold locket centered with a diamond which had been given to her by her great grandmother, the late Mrs. Arthur [illegible].

★

MRS. WILLIAM EVERY was the matron of honor for her sister and the bridesmaids were Kathryn and Helene Jewell of St. Clair, also sisters of the bride.

The attendants' street length dresses were of blue brocade with scoop necklines, elbow length sleeves and bell skirts.

They wore short veils attached to pill box hats of blue brocade which matched their dresses.

They carried bouquets of yellow roses and Fuji chrysanthemums outlined with looped Admiral blue velvet ribbon.

Melvin Mahrle served as best man for his brother.

★

A RECEPTION was held in the social room of the church for 300 friends and relatives with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tarris of Adrian as hosts.

The bride is a graduate of the Tecumseh High School and is employed as a nurses aide at the Herrick Memorial Nursing Home.

The groom is a graduate of the Tecumseh High School and is engaged in farming.

Following a two week vacation in Florida the couple will make its home at 11645 E. Austin Rd., Manchester.

Barbara Houpt Marries Karl W. Kimerer

The Rev. C. E. Thornton of the Ann Arbor Church of the Nazarene solemnized the double ring rites uniting Barbara E. Houpt and Karl W. Kimerer in marriage Friday evening.

Two floor candelabra with arrangements of pink and white carnations were used with a small three-branched candelabra centering the altar. The couple lighted the three candles during the service.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bailey, 7023 Lenawee Rd. and Mr. and Mrs. Harley Kimerer, 9981 Smith Rd., all of Britton.

Sandra Bailey, cousin of the bride, of Ann Arbor was the organist.

★

THE BRIDE chose an egg shell silk taffeta gown fashioned with scooped neckline and bracelet length sleeves trimmed with seed pearls and Alencon lace.

The soft fullness of the skirt was held in place by a scissor bow at the back.

Her elbow length veil of imported illusion silk was fastened to a miniature Swedish crown accented with pearls.

Her pearl necklace was a gift of the groom.

She carried a lace covered Bible topped with a corsage of delicate pink throated white orchids.

Kathleen Bailey, sister of the bride, was her only attendant in a princess style floor length pink gown styled after the bride's.

She wore a wrist corsage of pink carnations and red roses shaped like a heart.

★

DE WITT KIMERER, brother of the groom, served as best man and Albert Bailey, Jr., brother of the bride, seated the guests.

About 130 guests attended the reception at the Tecumseh Community Center where three individual lighted tapers surrounded by pink and white carnations centered the bride's table.

A three tiered cake was made and served by Mrs. Harold Keasel of Manchester, sister of the groom. She was assisted by Mrs. Larry Robison of Chicago, sister of the bride.

Others assisting were Diane Kimerer, Pam Keasel and Mrs. DeWitt Kimerer, all of Manchester; Mrs. Paul Bailey, Diane Bailey and Judy McClue of Britton.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Bailey of Hudson served as hosts.

★

MRS. KIMERER is a 1960 graduate of Britton-Macon High School and was employed at the Stauffer Chemical Co., Anderson Division at Weston.

Her husband is a 1957 graduate of Britton-Macon High School and is employed at Rawsonville as a foreman in the Ford Motor Co.

He is also a farmer.

The couple left on a two-week honeymoon to Florida and will make its home on Milwaukee Rd., Britton, when they return.

Parents of the groom gave the rehearsal dinner Friday at noon in their home.

THANK YOU

For the wonderful reception you gave us and our new shop last week at the grand opening. You're always welcoe to come in and browse around, to either look at the new store or our lines of sportswear.

Girl Scouts Have Japanese Theme for Thinking Day

"Ko Mitch a wa!" "Good afternoon" in Japanese was the greeting of Mrs. Robert Laidlaw to the Junior Girl Scouts at their Thinking Day program Feb. 23 in the Baptist Youth House.

Mrs. Maurice Tuckey's troop carried out the flag ceremony and cadets led the singing.

Mrs. Harry West's troop led the recitation of the Girl Scout promise. Mrs. John Robinson's troop displayed dolls dressed in Girl Scout and Girl Guide uniforms from many nations.

A penny per year of age is contributed to the Juliette Lowe fund on Thinking Day. The containers for the collection were Japanese lanterns made by Mrs. Jack Curtis' troop.

There were over 90 Girl Scouts and their leaders to watch Mrs. Laidlaw's display of clothing and other items of interest from Japan.

Whelan Requests Rezoning of Tract by City Council

Faye Whelan of Hoyt Whelan Implement Co. requested Council to change its zoning on an undetermined tract of land behind his property at W. Chicago and Occidental Rd.

The area under question extends north along Occidental and then east, perhaps to Evans Creek.

Council agreed to study the request and set a public hearing date at the March 15 meeting.

Fairbanks Stars in Costume Movie 'Mark of Zorro'

DEARBORN — Douglas Fairbanks' first costume picture, "The Mark of Zorro," made in 1920, will be offered in the Famous Early Movie Series of Henry Ford Museum theater. Showings are at 2 and 4 p.m. Sunday.

"The Mark of Zorro" provided a new venture for its day in movie production. In it, Fairbanks deserted the urban Yankee roles he had played in earlier movies to plunge into an untried field — the costume picture. His success was immediate and it was for this and the similar films that followed that Fairbanks is best remembered today.

Outstanding silent and sound films of the past are included in the current Famous Early Movie Series at Henry Ford Museum. The Sunday afternoon performances are included in the regular admission charge to the Museum.

Hospital Auxiliary To Have Workers as Honor Guests

The Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary will honor all volunteer workers when it meets at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Robert Laidlaw is chairman of the program which will include a film portraying the varied duties carried out in a hospital by volunteers.

All members and volunteers including Candy Stripers with their mothers, are invited to attend.

Among projects undertaken by the Auxiliary was the sale of fruitcakes which realized a profit of $420.50.

"The Auxiliary has accomplished much and with continued cooperation is looking forward to even greater things in the future," Mrs. Donald Young, publicity chairman, said.

THE LANSING REPORT FROM senator GIL BURSLEY

The Legislature has an unusual number of controversial bills before it. Some of them have been defeated regularly in prior sessions but because of the 50 percent turnover in legislators this year, former voting patterns mean nothing and some of these proposals may pass.

What is your opinion on these subjects?

As your state senator I may be voting on some of these measures and I would like as much expression of opinion as possible from citizens in the Tecumseh area.

★

I WOULD appreciate it if you would take a few minutes to indicate your views on the following form, clip it and mail it to me at the State Senate, State Capitol, Lansing, Mich. I would appreciate also any additional remarks you may wish to make on a separate sheet.

DO YOU BELIEVE:

That the voting age should be lowered to 18?

That greyhound dog racing with pari-mutual betting should be allowed in Michigan?

That liquor should be sold on Sundays providing local communities vote to allow it?

That bounties paid for foxes and coyotes should be eliminated?

That Michigan drivers should be required to have their vehicles inspected annually for safety purposes?

That Michigan drivers should be required to carry compulsory liability insurance?

Permission Given for Construction in Indian Hills

Unless there are some unforeseen obstacles, construction of homes will start again soon in the Indian Hills Subdivision.

Council approved a special assessment plan Monday night for construction of a storm sewer, north from Russell Rd. to Blanchard St.

City officials had barred further construction until the sewer was approved.

Court Larnard, Detroit builder, plans to put up some models this spring with most of the houses similar to the ranches there now.

Exchange Student Tells Experiences

(Editor's Note: Leon Kanner, a senior at Britton High School, is a foreign exchange student from Uruguay. He is living in the home of the Franklin Fergus family.)

By LEON KANNER

At three o'clock on an agreeable Sunday afternoon at the beginning of summer in Uruguay, our airplane left from Montevideo.

We looked for the last time upon the city and the beaches that were soon lost in the horizon.

In 45 minutes we arrived in Buenos Aires at the airport of Aeroparque. A few minutes later we were on the bus that would take us to Aeropuerto Internacional de Ezeiza. There we were given a small snack and several hours to visit the airport. It was enormous but completely empty.

★

THE 20 OF US BOYS and girls divided into several groups and walked around the airport. At about 8:30 in the evening we went happily up the ramp of the airplane for it was now time to leave.

There were no sad goodbyes now, only the happy laughter of young people leaving towards the unknown.

In this part of the flight there was a lot of fun, jokes, and games. Also we now began to meet our neighbors. First we met a "Mediocino" (a man born in Mendoza, Argentina). He and his wife were going to Chicago. Near us there was a man who was talking all the time in English. He introduced himself as a man of Detroit who was returning to his home.

★

AFTER SOME hours of flight, a city could be seen. It was San Pablo. It was wonderful to observe the lights on both sides of the streets.

A little later we landed in the airport of this city. It was small and there were very few people. There we met a boy who told us (in the few words of English we could understand) that the following week he would take the same flight that we were taking.

Once more we were in the airplane and flying towards Rio de Janerio. Some read, some talked, and others rested.

"Your attention please. We are pleased to tell you that in a few moments we'll descend in "Aeroporto de Galeao" in the city of Rio de Janeiro. Thank you!"

These simple words announced our arival. In this airport there were about 20 more boys and girls waiting to join us.

Each one, like us, had a card with his name on it pinned to his coat. Thus we began to become friends.

★

NOW THE PLANE was silent. This was the longest part of the flight. Almost everyone slept. Only a few had their lights on for reading or writing to their parents.

At 7:30 in the morning we landed on the island of Trinidad in the City of the Port-of-Spain. This small but modern airport is named "Aeropuerto Internacional de Piarco". Here they gave us an abundant breakfast. It was the first place we visited where English was spoken. This presented a lot of problems to some of us.

Once again we were flying toward New York. We began to know each other better now. We talked and sang with people we had never seen before and would probably never see again.

This was the nicest part of our flight. The "Mediocino" with whom we talked before told us he was going with some other Argentinians to the University of Chicago to take a graduate course in economics. They would stay there for two years. He also sang with us and taught us some songs.

★

NEAR NEW YORK the airplane flew over a very big mass of clouds. They seemed to be a snowland. It was really wonderful.

When at last we were above the city of New York, we looked eagerly to see the skyscrapers. We saw hundreds of small houses that looked like little toys.

In the airport we were greeted with a nice "Welcome to the United States."

There we took the bus that would lead us through five states. We didn't have an opportunity to get bored because many different things were happening (from talking in mixed Spanish-English-Portuguese to running out of gas).

Our last stop was at Pittsburgh, Pa. After leaving there, we celebrated Uruguayan and Brazilian New Year's Eve while the bus was traveling. We sang with emotion our national anthems. For awhile each one of us thought of his relatives at home.

On the morning of the first of January, although we had to leave the bus, our trip actually began. A trip we will never forget.

The city of Ann Arbor welcomed us with the best gift of all: lots of snow!!

Council Refuses To Seek Change in Michigan Law

A resolution by Councilman John Hamilton to seek a change in the state law to permit teenagers younger than 17 to play pool in a commercial pool hall failed to pass Council Monday night.

Mr. Hamilton's feelings were that youngsters should have something to do, and that playing pool was better than letting them run the streets.

Council did not feel that it should initiate a resolution to the state legislature to alter the state law.

Methodists Begin Lenten Services With Communion

The Methodist Church opened its series of Lenten services with holy communion served at the Ash Wednesday service.

The Rev. Donald C. Porteous, pastor of the church, announced that this year's series will pursue the thought, "To Whom shall we go?"

"To Whom shall we go for forgiveness?" is the topic to be considered March 10. The service will begin at 7:15 p.m. in the church.

Sunday 10 a.m. meditations during Lent will be based on "Questions Pilate Asked," Mr. Porteous said.

Sunday's theme will be, "Have you no answer to make?"

Special rites will be held on Palm Sunday, Maundy Thursday, Good Friday and Easter Sunday. The Good Friday service will be a union service with other churches joining, Mr. Porteous said.

Parking Limitation Turned Down

A request to limit parking on S. Maumee St. was denied by Council Monday night after Cal Zorn, city manager, reported traffic does not warrant it.

Checks of traffic flow and number of accidents on the street were two reasons for denying the request.

The amount of traffic, according to the report, is not sufficient to limit the parking and no accidents have occurred since last summer.

Indians Bombed by Blissfield, Then Whip Hillsdale, 78-65

Tecumseh tasted defeat for the first time this season Friday night, but bounced back to trim a visiting Hillsdale five Saturday evening.

Blissfield, two-time victims of the Indians, played tremendous basketball in walloping Tecumseh, 98-75, before a large crowd of happy Royal fans.

Good teams come back and the Indians proved it to their followers by whipping Hillsdale, 78-65 — but even that game was not all joy due to an unfortunate incident just before the end of the game.

★

STATISTICS of the Blissfield game tell the story of the Indian rout. The Royals connected on 28 of 35 free throw attempts, for an 80% average, shot 55% from the floor and controlled the bankboards.

The Royals gained the lead for good midway through the second stanza after a nearly even battle in the initial quarter. With 26 seconds left in the half and leading 40-32, Blissfield connected on a field goal and three straight fouls to carry a 13-point advantage into the rest period.

Tecumseh had numerous opportunities to close the gap in the third period but simply could not hit, especially from the free throw line. The Indians hit just five of 12 attempts, and several misses were in one-and-one situations.

★

THE FOURTH quarter was just short of a nightmare as the Royals bombed the nets for 35 points on 10 goals and 15 free throws. It made little difference for Blissfield — starter or substitute — practically all shots stripped the nets.

Gregg Allen and Jim Lawson paced the Tecumseh attack with 24 and 21 points, respectively. Allen collected all but eight in the second half, and Lawson, who led Tecumseh to a 19-17 lead at the end of the first quarter with 11 points, had a rough time prying the lid off the bucket thereafter.

Jim Gibbons, 6'4" forward, topped all scorers with 25 points, while teammate Bob Anderson netted 21.

The loss killed Tecumseh's hopes for its first unbeaten season in 23 years. The club in 1942 finished the regular schedule without a blot, only to be bumped in the state tourney at Lansing.

★

HILLSDALE had high hopes in handing the Indians their second consecutive loss.

Although the Hornets once pulled to within three points in the second half, after trailing by 13 at halftime, they were outclassed over the long haul and the final outcome was apparent. If fouls had not plagued Tecumseh, the winning margin would have been bigger.

Lawson tallied 31 points in the game in the finest all-around many years. The 5'11" guard bewildered the visitors with his dribbling, passing and shooting, particularly in the first half when he scored 24 points.

He hit 14 of 19 shots from the floor for nearly 74% and three out of four fouls.

Fans never got the chance to give him the applause so deserving. With just over a minute to play, he was slammed into the gym wall, suffering a foot injury which may keep him out of further play this season.

Tecumseh's chances to make the long trek to East Lansing took a nose dive, unless the senior guard can play at full tilt.

Lawson Crippled for Tournament

Will Jim Lawson be able to play Friday night in the district basketball tournament?

This question is on every local fan's mind and the answer may not come until game time. The reason he may not play is well known.

Lawson, top Tecumseh scorer who netted 31 points here against Hillsdale Saturday night, was slammed against the west gym wall just after completing a driving lay-up shot. The Hillsdale player was immediately ejected from the game.

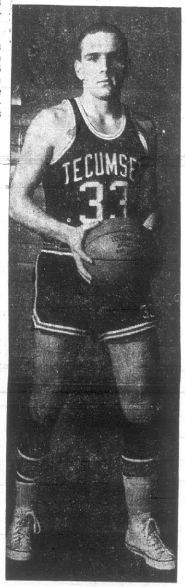
★

LAWSON seriously injured his right foot and ankle, although X-rays taken after the game showed no breaks nor bone chips. He was able to put some weight on the foot for the first time Tuesday afternoon but still was attending classes on crutches.

His chances to play at full speed are nil — and he might not be able to play at all.

Although Tecumseh boasts a strong, well-balanced club, with every starfer a far better than average eager, the Indians can not go long in tourney play without Lawson.

The Indians' chances to win Friday night — probably against Willow Run — were 50-50 until Lawson was injured. Tecumseh had high hopes of making the trip to East Lansing.



Senior Jim Lawson's prep career may have been cut short Saturday night when he sustained an injury to his right foot. Before leaving the Hillsdale game, he had hit for 31 points, an all-time high for the Tecumseh cager, and had put on one of the finest exhibitions of basketball ever by a Tecumseh cager.

Hillsdale Players Apparently Leave Manners at Home

Hillsdale and Tecumseh schools have always enjoyed friendly relations and they will probably continue to do so despite a couple of incidents Saturday night.

At least school officials hope so.

After a senseless incident on the basketball floor which injured a Tecumseh player, Hillsdale players ripped a shower from the wall in the gym shower room.

The bill is to be forwarded to Hillsdale, and its officials here Saturday night said repair costs would be paid for by Hillsdale.

Britton Loses to Summerfield in Dull Contest

BRITTON — The Britton Tories were on the losing side of a low-scoring 74-50 count Saturday night at the Britton gymnasium. The game was so dull that a few fans could be heard commenting that the sixth grade game at halftime provided a little more excitement.

At halftime the Summerfield Bulldogs were ahead by a comfortable 27 points. Britton, in the second half, could gain only a few points which fell far short.

The Tories' Jack Brown was high man with 15 points for Britton. Larry Henning played a fine defensive game.

Drifting Snow, Blizzard Makes Roads Impassable

CLINTON — Deep, drifting snow and blizzard winds kept many Clinton residents indoors Thursday and Friday.

Many factory and store employees were unable to reach their jobs.

Sgt. Carl Anderson of the Clinton State Police Post reported that US-12 was blocked for periods of up to two hours Thursday, both east and west of Clinton, with trucks and cars stuck on the road, hampering scraper trucks.

Other east and west roads, piled high with drifts, were impassable.

★

AMONG THE more frequent calls to the State Police were from several pregnant women who wondered if they could be taken to Herrick Hospital. As it turned out, two delivered Saturday with no incidents.

One worried dairy farmer on Willow Road, in Bridgewater Township, phoned police for emergency road scraper service to permit a bulk milk truck to reach him as he had already filled his tank and was busily filling the last of his milk cans.

A few minutes later a householder — farther up Willow Road — called police to request a scraper because his children were all out of milk.

Dallas Wallgenmauth of Petersburg, who drives a bulk milk truck for Cloverleaf Creamery of Toledo, reported that he was unable to reach several of his Bridgewater area dairy farmers for milk pickup Thursday or Friday.

One farmer had to dump about 600 gallons of milk before the truck could reach him.

Clinton Postmaster Robert Mohr reported that mail delivery in the rural areas was halted both Thursday and Friday.

When deliveries were resumed Saturday, Kehoe, Hack, Murphy, Billmeyer, Pennington and Service Rds. were still impassable.

Only one incoming mail truck reached Clinton on Thursday, Mr. Mohr said.

All school bus routes were open by Monday after being closed both Thursday and Friday.

Perhaps one benefit from the blizzard will result. The spread of measles and flu may have been halted by the cessation of all public gatherings in the area for a few days.

CLINTON'S ONLY wrecker, owned by Underwood Chevrolet-Pontiac, was in action at 4:30 a.m. Thursday, going until 10:30 p.m.

Underwood driver David Rafferty responded to nearly 60 calls that day, even helping break up a three-mile long traffic jam on US-12, east of Clinton, when he hauled out an auto which blocked all traffic.

John Underwood said that Friday was calmer with only about 40 calls!

Mr. Underwood had a small, four-wheel-drive vehicle available to taxi stranded motorists to their homes on a country road.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

A BLACK AND WHITE INVASION

Ida came back from lunch with the triumphant announcement that she had just seen a hairy woodpecker across the street. Wow! Strange how things happen — that very morning we had been talking about these birds, wondering where they were hiding themselves.

Never, even by stretching the truth to the utmost, could we say that the hairys were ever regulars, but usually, one or two drop in for an occasional visit. This year, however, their forages into the neighborhood have not even been worth mentioning. With Ida's "sighting" we at least knew there were still some left here in southern Michigan.

After sitting up, we were getting ready to enjoy an early afternoon sip of tea and arranging some reading material, when Ida happened to glance out the south window. Thank goodness she did, for there, hugging the trunk of the small maple tree by Prettyman's driveway, was a pretty hairy woodpecker.

She did not sport a bright red hat so we knew the visitor to be a lady. Anyway the gal clung to the side of the tree long enough for us to have an exceptionally good look and then, rather coyly, ducked around the tree trunk and out of sight. Imagine being teased by a woodpecker.

Suddenly, before our interest turned elsewhere, the bird flew. It was quickly out of my line of vision but Ida, rushing to the window, saw her light on one of Doctor's small elms. I immediately transferred my attention to the west window hoping the bird would tree-hop into view. Ho, ho — there, on one of the big crooked limbs of Doctor's beautiful old elm was Lady Hairy. I stuttered out the news to Ida but she surprised me by saying that her bird hadn't moved.

Well, two hairy woodpeckers — no, my goodness, there were three! A red-hatted male had joined my female. Something was obviously happening but before there was time to speculate as to what it was, all three birds flew to the creek bank.

Usually the first thing one notices about these birds is their exceptionally large bill — we were so over-awed though at having so many, so close and looking so big that little attention was paid to much else.

As we followed the birds to the limp pile of old leaves on the bank, I caught, out of the corner of my eye, a glimpse of black and white clinging to the wren-tree.

A word of explanation — calling the maple tree our wren tree is a habit which has proved hard to kick. Years ago there was a little wren house hanging from a lower branch and we enjoyed several sessions of wren rearings. However, the house has long since gone and even the limb had to be cut off when it became so large that it blocked our view of the creek, but somehow the name wren tree persists.

Getting back to matters at hand though, that was another woodpecker and how beautifully this one posed for us. In all of her 10-inch black and white beauty she stood statue-still while we marveled. Handsome birds these are. Whereas most of our other similarly colored woodpeckers are barred horizontally, the hairy's stripes run up and down.

Of course, stripes do not run around the birds' heads but, on their backs are three big beautiful vertical stripes, the outside ones being a satiny jet black and in the middle snowy white. The same spotless white fronts the birds; however, the white outside and black inside of their short stiff tails completely reverses the backs' patterns.

As the woodpeckers started working up the creek bank, we took one last count and just hear this — FIVE, that is a lot of hairy woodpeckers! The little downy woodpecker who dropped in for a suet snack a few minutes later looked quite small, believe me.

So it is that although their stay was a short one, it will be a long time before we forget the thrill and excitement of the black and white invasion.

What's Going on at BOYSVILLE

By MARTIN WHITAKER

The Fighting Knights of Boysville fell Feb. 23 to St. Theresa's of Detroit by a score of 77-73, in a contest termed as the Knights' most brilliant game of the season.

Hampered by a lack of height comparable to that of St. Theresa's, the Knights nevertheless played well. Both teams were evenly matched during the first quarter St. Theresa's led at the end of the first period 22-20. The second quarter followed the pattern of the first. Halftime still found St. Theresa's ahead, 40-37.

Again in the third quarter neither team could push into a substantial lead; Boysville, however, did manage to gain a one-point edge and led at the end of the period 53-52.

The first part of the fourth quarter was a repetition of the first three quarters, but the Pirates of St. Theresa's moved into the lead with a few minutes left to go and went on to win 77-73.

Throughout the game the Knights utilized a 4-1 zone defense and a fast break offense. Senior Ron Klos again proved to be the driving force behind the Boysville scoring attack as he found the hoop for 29 points. Moe Jacobs was valuable under the boards as a rebounder and also contributed 22 points.

The Boysville Fighting Knights dropped the last game of the season to Sand Creek's Aggies 64-54. The Aggies were usually on top during the first quarter, but a rally with less than two minutes remaining gave Boysville a 13-12 first period edge. Time brought to an end a threatening Aggie rally late in the first half, though they did manage to tie Boysville at the break 25-25.

In the third quarter the Aggies outscored the Knights and took a four-point lead. Sand Creek dominated play in the fourth quarter as they found the hoop for twenty points as compared to Boysville's fourteen.

Senior guard Ron Klos was again high scorer with 22 points, followed by Moe Jacobs with 14.

Thus Boysville's basketball season ended with an unenviable 5-12 record. In only two or three games did the opposition take complete control and hold the Knights far from any chance of victory. In six of the 12 defeats at least, Boysville was coming strong from behind in the final quarter.

One of the purposes of Boysville is to look after the spiritual welfare of its students as well as their physical, intellectual, and social needs. A Day of Recollection was held on campus Feb. 25. The short retreat started the night before with a conference and time for confessions. Classes were dropped to make way for further conferences and for recollection time.

Silence was observed throughout the day except for three short recreation periods. The Day ended Friday morning with Mass and the administering of the Papal Blessing to those who made the retreat.

The retreat was preached by the Rev. Fr. Thomas McNally, CSC of Notre Dame, editor of the Catholic Boy and Catholic Miss magazines.

Model cars seem to be the rage on the Boysville campus. Why? Mr. Malis of the AMT Model Division in Troy, made available nearly two hundred model cars to Boysville.

As a result, a model car contest is being sponsored. Judging will be March 15. The first three prizes are $15, $10, and $5. With such incentive, many boys are working diligently to complete a novel, yet acceptable, customized model.

Richard Elwin Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton F. Moore of Macon has been promoted to Airman First Class. He is stationed at the Luke Air Force Base, Phoenix, Ariz.. '65 CHEVROLET
These great performers are the lowest priced models at our One-Stop Shopping Center

Top to bottom: Chevy II 100, Corvair 500, Chevelle 300, Chevrolet Biscayne. All 2-door models.
Each of these beauties is the lowest priced in its line. But the ride doesn't show it. Or the interior. Or the performance.
That luxurious Biscayne is as roomy as many expensive cars, has color-keyed interiors, plush vinyls, fine fabrics, full deep-twist carpeting.
Chevelle, America's favorite intermediate-size car, has clean new styling, wide doors, roomy, tasteful interiors and Chevrolet easy-care features.
Chevy II got a lot smarter for '65—but stayed sensible! Still family-size, easy to handle, economical, and the lowest priced Chevrolet you can buy.
Or get a sporty rear-engine hardtop in a Corvair Sport Coupe or Sport Sedan for fun in the months ahead.
Chevrolet, Chevelle and Chevy II are available with the Turbo-Thrift Six for fuel economy, quick warmups, quiet idling. It's light, efficient, smooth and spirited.
Corvair's air-cooled rear-mounted Turbo-Air Six delivers the best balance and traction for this size car.
So be practical. Only you will know. Because it sure won't show!

Here and There

By DELAPHENE SHELTON

So you've decided to take a vacation trip. The next move is to determine where to go. Several factors enter into making such a decision.

Probably the length of the vacation period will be the most important consideration with money available and interest of family members following closely.

One of the biggest mistakes made by tourists — particularly those with smaller children — is to try to do too much in too little time.

There's little pleasure in spending two weeks continually on the move — it's too exhausting and unrewarding.

Let's say you have a yen to see the ocean. Don't try on your annual "two weeks with pay" to make a trip to the Pacific, unless you are willing to spend a disproportionate amount of time behind the wheel.

Better to go to the East Coast, which can be reached easily in a day and a half.

★

WANT TO SEE the mountains? An eight-hour drive will take you into Pennsylvania's Alleghenies and it takes only a day or so to reach the Smokies.

A trip around Lake Superior will take you into some rugged country and the fine highway is still new enough that the route isn't too commercialized.

Our family, of course, finds the Far West a wonderful vacationland and if one chooses to leave home on a Friday evening and drive on the expressways a couple of days he can be in the Rocky Mountains by Monday. Of course, one misses a lot of interesting things en route.

This might be a good time to ask, "how does one keep children interested on a vacation trip?" Could there be anything more annoying and frustrating than spending money to take children on a vacation and have them engrossed most of the trip in reading the comics?

This is where a little forethought and anticipation pays off.

★

FRIENDS WITH children 12 and 10 years old, expected to visit relatives at St. Charles, Mo., before going on to Santa Fe and Taos, N. M.

They spent a bit of time in the library and brought home books dealing with the areas they were visiting. When they arrived at St. Charles they knew what an important part that city had played in the early history of the mid-west and they were prepared to enjoy the conversation of their elderly relatives whose home overlooked the Missouri River.

The children and their parents wrote notes, inserted them in bottles and set them afloat at the confluence of the Missouri and the Mississippi. By the time they reached home weeks later there were letters awaiting them from children who had found the messages along the riverbank well downstream.

When they reached Santa Fe they saw not only a bustling city, but they were aware of the exciting things which happened there early in the 19th century.

The parents had sent to the Bureau of Indian Affairs of the Department of the Interior for literature consisting of attractive maps, brochures and pages of pictures.

★

THESE HAD been mounted above the kitchen table and the family had spent hours learning about the Indians, their communal life and their history.

Because of this extensive background of information they found the Taos Pueblo fascinating and the Kit Carson home and museum a wonderful place to browse.

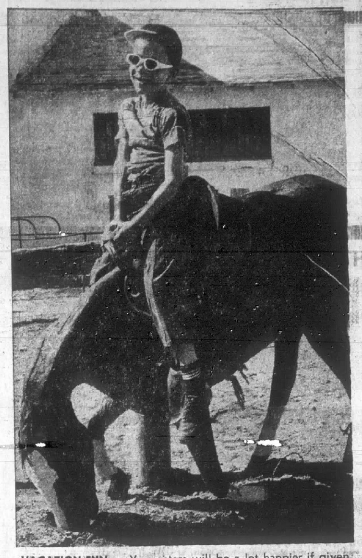
Because they took eager, educated minds with them, they found the whole experience rewarding.

Even the long trip across the prairies can be engrossing, if one knows something of the hardships once experienced by the pioneers traveling in their slow prairie schooner trains. The ruts made by the Santa Fe Trail pioneers are still visible at points between Dodge City and Cimarron, Kansas!

★

GIVE THE children something exciting to look forward to. Wichita's Cowtown, Old Dodge City with its Boot Hill and Long Branch Saloon, and Tombstone with the Birdcage Theatre and The Corral are names and places familiar to all child TV watchers and even Dad will find these interesting places to visit.

Traveling with the kids is more fun than traveling alone. They won't let you miss a thing!



VACATION FUN — Youngsters will be a lot happier if given an opportunity on a trip to work off excess energy. Wise parents will keep clear, usually, of roadside souvenir joints where even adults shell out good money for sleezy junk they wouldn't look at twice in the five-and-dime store.

News from the Tecumseh Library

A COVENANT WITH DEATH, a novel of murder, love and self-discovery by Stephen Becker.

FULL FATHOM FIVE by John S. Carter has that quality common to all great fiction, the creation of time as a physical reality into which the reader enters.

ALL ABOUT GERANIUMS by Peggie Schulz; all the "how to's" for endless varieties, old and new, their culture and care. 137 illustrations in black and white.

THE FLAMMARION BOOK OF ASTRONOMY; the great modern classic by the famous astronomer Flammarion and his successors; a complete and authoratative treasury of astronomical history and knowledge for the general reader, from the basic laws of the universe to the beginnings of man's adventure in space.

MARKINGS: Dag Hammarskjold left behind the manuscript of this book to be published after his death. It is a remarkable record of the spiritual life of a man whose public image was universally known and admired; a record that reveals the extent of his commitment to the way of the cross. Hammarskjold himself described the manuscript as a "sort of white book concerning my negotiations of myself with God."

CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION by Pearl Buck. A great writer and distinguished authority on the subject of adoption has written a comprehensive book with complete information on this subject of major importance — the fatherless and unwanted children. Where will they go? Who will love them? She discusses in detail the difficulties of the adopting parents before and after adoption, and the problems of the adopted children as they grow.

Nancy Corl Becomes Mrs. Bigelow

Nancy Jean Corl of Monroe became the bride of William Charles Bigelow in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Laszlo Gero in the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Kinsey Corl of Monroe and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bigelow of Macon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown fashioned of satin peau de soie with an Alencon lace bodice, long tapered sleeves and an "A" shaped skirt which fell from a banded empire waistline.

A detachable overskirt provided a traditional effect and was enhanced by rosettes and a bow and sash of peau de soie at the back.

An open cluster of orange blossoms held her fingertip veil of French illusion in place.

She carried a crescent arrangement of white glamellias centered with a detachable corsage.

★

SOLOISTS were the Rev. Ronald Corl, brother of the bride, and William Knabusch, Jr.

Mrs. Ronald Corl was the matron of honor and the brides-maids were June Corl, sister of the bride, and Rebekah Bigelow, the groom's sister.

Mary Beth Bigelow, also a sister of the groom, was the junior bridesmaid.

All were gowned in floor-length dresses of aqua mist satin peau de soie with gently belled skirts controlled by unpressed pleats. Watteau trains were secured to wide Dior bows at the back necklines.

They wore pill boxes of matching fabric enhanced with fresh Elegance carnations.

Their bouquets were Elegance carnations centered with pink glamellias edged with ivy designed as lover's knots.

★

THE GROOM asked his father to serve as his best man. The groomsmen were Robert Bigelow, brother of the groom, and James Lietzke.

Ushers were A. Wayne Anderson and John Galaher.

A reception for 300 was held at the Tecumseh Grange Hall with Judy Schlink, Marcia Frincke and Janice Shackel assisting.

Donna Hoppert and Jan Hochradel cut the wedding cake.

The bride is a graduate of Monroe High School and attended Valparaiso University in Valparaiso, Ind.

The groom is a graduate of Britton-Macon High School, attended Michigan State University and spent two years in the U. S. Navy. He is presently employed at the Tecumseh Products Co.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Readers React To Article

When a newspaper article says something pointed, it will be read, no matter how long.

Such was the case with last week's story by Jenkin Lloyd Jones, editor of The Tulsa Tribune, regarding moral decay in America. Not only was it read, but the story provoked comments.

People around Tecumseh are just as concerned as Mr. Jones. They worry at what the entertainment industry is doing to ruin the minds and souls of Americans.

They worry about the "swaggering, duck-tailed young men who boldly flaunt their gang symbols on their motorcycle jackets".

They're concerned over the type of books and magazines being flaunted before the public.

Mr. Jones points out, "It's time to hit the sawdust trail. It's time we revive the idea that there is such a thing as sin — just plain old willful sin. It is time we brought self-discipline back into style."

The Tulsa editor tells fellow members of the newspaper industry:

"So I suggest:

"Let's look at our educational institutions at the local level, and if Johnny can't read by the time he's ready to get married let's find out why.

"Let's look at the distribution of public largesse, and, if far from alleviating human misery, it is producing the sloth and irresponsibility that intensifies it, let's get it fixed.

"Let's quit being bulldozed and bedazzled by self-appointed long-hairs. Let's have the guts to say that a book is dirt if that's what we think of it, or that a painting may be a daub if the judges unwittingly hang it upside down. And if some beatnik welds together a collection of rusty cogwheels and old corset stays and claims it's a greater sculpture than Michelangelo's 'David' let's have the courage to say that it looks like junk and may well be.

"Let's blow the whistle on plays that would bring blushes to an American Legion stag party. Let's not be awed by movie characters with barnyard morals even if some of them have been photographed climbing aboard the Presidential yacht. Let's pay more attention in our news columns to the decent people everywhere who are trying to do something for the good of others.

"In short, let's cover up the cesspool and start planting some flowers."

The Herald has long been concerned about the entertainment industry, particularly the choice of subject matter for films and live shows.

We noted in past editorials that a clean-up must come from within the industry itself. When a fellow of the stature of Dick VanDyke speaks out against smut in shows, there can be hope that eventually a new tack will be set.

It's interesting to note also that Julie Andrews has been nominated for top actress of the year, based on her role in "Mary Poppins" production by Walt Disney, whose studio is noted for its high-grade, family entertainment.

All of us have a stake in America's future. Whenever an opportunity arises to help battle to preserve the strong moral fibers of our nation, we should step forward and be counted.

The letters from Mrs. Don Purkey and Mrs. Earl Scott next to this editorial are perfect examples of what can be done.

As Mr. Jones notes,

"Unless I misread the signs, a great number of our people are ready. Let there be a fresh breeze, a breeze of new pride, new idealism, new integrity."

OUR READERS WRITE

TO THE EDITORS:

I certainly agree with Jenkin Lloyd Jones' editorial and I'm glad someone finally has felt a need to bring before the public the apathy of our nation.

It is a tragic thing that very few have the courage anymore to stand by their beliefs and principles instead of conforming to everything the majority push on us.

I have been concerned about movies and the advertisements regarding them for a long time — but to refrain from allowing my family to watch these burlesque shows and to refrain from seeing them myself is only a drop in the bucket to stopping the movie industry.

Thank heaven there is someone who cares enough to bring this to the attention of all of us with such force.

Sincerely,
Bonnie (Mrs. Don) Purkey

TO THE EDITORS:

I don't know how many readers of The Tecumseh Herald took the time and effort to read clear through the reprint of the editorial by Jenkin Lloyd Jones, "Moral Decay is What Ruins a Nation" in last week's paper, but those who did, found it very true, I'm sure, and so well written.

I want to thank The Tecumseh Herald for printing it. We are favored by having editors who are up on their toes, and are printing such good material.

It should be reprinted in every newspaper in America, and every American should read it.

Yours truly,
Mrs. Earl E. Scott

Terrific, Fantastic Job

"Terrific job. Fantastic. Working all over town. Going all night."

City officials were showered with cheers and compliments as well as snow during last week's record blizzard.

Graders, dump trucks, scoops and every piece of equipment available went into the fray as city crews struggled to get streets open and keep traffic moving.

Winds and snow continued all Thursday, making it nearly impossible to do the job, but somehow the city crews — aided by a host of volunteers and contract crews — kept one jump ahead of the storm.

By sundown, things were settling down and the work was more fruitful as cleared roads stayed clear.

Last week's storm was the kind we see once in about 30 or 40 years — thank goodness — and a community can't justify the battery of equipment needed to cope with anything of this magnitude.

So when a zinger of this nature hits, it takes a major campaign and dedicated troops to battle the thing to a standstill.

Our community had just that last week and we're darn proud.

The Story of a Prescription

In Tecumseh, there are four drug stores, all licensed by the Michigan Board of Pharmacy to issue prescriptions as ordered by physicians.

Each of the four must meet complete specifications as set down by strict Federal and state laws. There are no compromises in any aspect of purity and the handling of drugs — right down to the common aspirin.

What this means to you is that you can always be certain when your doctor orders specific medication for you, his wishes will be followed to the letter at all four of Tecumseh's drug stores.

If you were to have the same prescription filled at each of the four Tecumseh drug stores, you would end up with four bottles of exactly the same drugs. United States and Michigan regulations insure this.

Before a drug store is allowed to open its doors, stringent regulations must be met from A to Z. None stays in operation if these are violated.

It's just that simple.

City Can Obtain $130,000 Grant

By JIM LINCOLN

Tecumseh property owners will vote April 5 on a $560,000 general obligation bond issue to expand Tecumseh's wastewater plant.

The electorate, in effect, will be voting also for a $130,000 Federal grant for the project and lower taxes.

Tecumseh would qualify for Federal aid if the bond issue is passed. If defeated, the community will not accrue the required number of Federal points to warrant the Federal grant.

The point system is complicated, but the Federal government grants are based on a city's current indebtedness and factors relative to conservation, pollution and public water supply for downstream communities.

Blissfield and Dundee depend on the River Raisin for their water.

State health authorities have demanded that Tecumseh increase the present capacity of the wastewater plant. The expansion will be made, regardless of the April 5 vote.

If voters turn the issue down, the courts can order the project in — and at a higher probable cost to the taxpayer than if the issue had been approved at the polls.

If approved, the taxpayers' share would amount to about 9/10ths of a mill. If defeated, it will cost the property owner about 1.4 mills.

"Ifs" are many regarding the bond issue, and there are several factors which could reduce the 9/10ths of a mill. These would include construction costs, which have been estimated high; a lower interest rate, which also has ben rated high; and greater usage by Tecumseh's Fisher Body Plant.

GM has agreed to pay for 82,000 gallons per day, whether this amount is used or not. If usage is greater, the charge for the extra amount will be applied against the bonds.

City officials are now concerned about the number of voters who cast their ballots against all bond issues.

Failure to understand this issue could cost them more tax money, while thinking a "no" vote will save them money.

A "yes" vote and approval of the bond issue, plus the Federal grant, which does not have to be repaid, will lessen the taxes bound to be tacked on the annual bills.

ABOUT TWO WEEKS TO GO — Tecumseh's new post office, located across from city hall, should be finished in about two weeks, estimates Clayton Opificius of Detroit, who is in charge of the work gang from Leyman Construction Co. The new layout features a trio of lobbies across the front, with this shot looking from the middle one, where the counter will be located. The other two will contain postal boxes.

Long and Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Who could have guessed the death of Brace Beemer would stir such a flurry of nostalgic utterings?

Brace was radio's famous Lone Ranger.

By a quirk of fate, he made a pseudo comeback only last month with some special Chrysler commercials for radio.

A raft of newspaper stories and radio comments covered Mr. Beemer's career as the Masked Man following his death last week.

They spin the memory back to those days of "the Golden West" with the Ranger, his faithful steed, Silver, and Tonto, the Ranger's Man Friday.

A few days before his fatal heart attack, Brace was interviewed by J. P. McCarthy on his WJR afternoon show. The Ranger was asked why he thought his program gained such popularity.

The answer was direct and to the point, going something like this: The program was a bit of early Americana, appealing to people of all ages. The pioneer spirit of the rancher battling the elements, outlaws and savages found quick sympathy with citizens all over the United States.

★

THAT WAS the era of the exciting and entertaining radio shows. It seems to me, hearing those fabulous voices and visualizing the action in one's mind was far more exciting then viewing many modern-day television programs.

"The Green Hornet" was another oldie that held the radio fans spellbound.

Like the Ranger, it was a Detroit-originated show and by a strange twist of fate, the actor who played the Hornet lived on Linwood Ave., directly across from the Hally School playground.

It contained a baseball field, which the kids dubbed Hally Stadium. Almost every summer morning, the gang was doing battle there.

Along about 10 a.m. most days, the radio star would pull out of 85 Seek Scholarships

Some 85 Tecumseh High School juniors will be taking the 1965 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test here Saturday. The examination will begin at 8:30 a.m. in the Tecumseh High School study hall and will continue for three hours.

The test is the first step in the 11th annual competition for four-year scholarships provided by the National Merit Scholarship Corp. and by sponsoring corporations, foundations, colleges, associations, unions, trusts and individuals.

★

THE TEST SCORES of students will be reported to their schools before May 15. They are used by counselors in many high schools to help students make decisions about college attendance and fields of study. Many who do not expect to win a scholarship take the test in order to learn more about their individual strengths and weaknesses in the areas measured by the test.

More than 14,000 semifinalists, the highest scorers in each state, will be named early next fall. These will be asked to take a second examination and the winners of scholarships will be selected from the finalist group on the basis of school records and recommendations, test scores, extra curricular activities, leadership ability, and accomplishments outside the classroom.

The stipends are based on financial need. The minimum award is $100 and the maximum, $1,500.

The number of scholarships awarded in any year depends upon the extent of sponsor participation. In 1964, 1652 Merit Scholarships were awarded. At present there are 4880 Merit Scholars attending 485 colleges throughout the country.

Many students who places as semifinalists or receive Letters of Commendations find financial assistance through the college of their choice on the strength of these scores.

Wrong Address Delays Firemen's Arrival at Blaze

Firemen lost 10 to 15 minutes in getting to a fire at the Jimmy Hurst residence, 704 S. Pearl St. Monday morning due to an improper address given them.

The fire was discovered by Marie Ramirez who asked Catarena R. Perez to call the Fire Department.

The telephone operator understood the address to be Burk St. which sounded enough like Burt St. to send the firemen flying out there.

Another call, this time to the police station by Perez, was relayed to the firemen.

It was thought that the fire started from a cigarette left burning, and accidentally dropped into a davenport.

The property is owned by James Fielder. Damage was estimated at about $1,000.

Meeting Planned

The next meeting of the Lenten study group sponsored by Circle 2 of the Presbyterian Womens' Association will be held at 9:15 a.m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Joseph Galazzi on Red Mill Dr.

Chapters 3 and 4 of the study book will be given by Mrs. John Hamilton and Mrs. Merwin Blanden.

Watershed Plan Jolted

There was bad news for the huge River Raisin Watershed Project last week.

The reclamation plan has been rejected by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Arlo Benzman, Watershed planning party leader for the Soil Conservation Service, broke the news to officials last Thursday at the Community Center.

The project had been turned down by the Federal government because flood water control, storage and damage areas do not meet specifications required under Public Law 566.

He cited the area just north of Sutton Rd. as an example.

Construction costs there for a dam were estimated at $575,000. The basin for water storage was not sufficient, under the statute, including storage for run-off water.

★

MR. BENZMAN reported four problems accounting for the rejection:

► Lack of flood water storage at the structures.

► Distance of flood water damage areas from construction sites.

► Limited crop land area that is flooded.

► Flood water increment not economically justified.

Harold Easton, Tecumseh mayor and president of the River Raisin Watershed Association, says Mr. Benzman encouraged the association to apply for a Federal grant through the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

This grant, unlike that under Public Law 566, would be for 100% of all costs. According to officials, 566 would be up to 80% of expenditures.

Such an application would be made for main stream channel improvements and containment of water during dry spells and for possible community water supply source.

A different type of dam would be constructed just north of Sutton Rd. and would back up water nearly to Blood Rd. It would cover approximately 485 acres and could be used for recreation.

★

OFFICIALS PLAN to apply through Army Engineers and may seek help from a new state department, the Bunreau of Outdoors Recreation. A grant from the bureau, however, would be considerably less than 100%.

About 40 attended the meeting at the Community Center, with representation from Manchester, Brooklyn, Ann Arbor, Jackson, Adrian, Blissfield, Monroe and Tecumseh.

William Hetrick received 145 votes in his bid for reelection as president. A write-in vote was cast for Mrs. Charles Fairbanks.

All candidates were members of the Progressive Party and were unopposed but several persons received write-in votes.

Elected were:

With the exception of Mr. Banks, all candidates were incumbents.

Efforts to pass a similar liquor option several years ago failed, Mrs. Auten said Tuesday.

This year's attempt was begun by Frank Dennison, proprietor of the Denny's Tavern, she added.

Preacher to Beatniks Scheduled

"Is God a pauper? Does He really own the cattle on a thousand hills? — Are His children beggars — His ministers poor — His missionaries helpless dependents? Does God get glory from an image of poverty, weakness, lack of funds, support to do an efficient work?"

These are the questions that the Rev. David Wilkerson wrote in his diary at 1:30 a.m. Jan. 3, 1964.

After much meditation he answered his own queries writing—"No, a thousand times no. My God is big. I am going to ask him for one million dollars in 1965. This is the amount needed to do the work He has outlined for us. If any doubt my faith, I shall remind them that this is just one fourth the price of one jet airplane — that ought to shut the mouths of all doubting Thomases."

REV. DAVID WILKERSON

This dynamic speaker from the slum mission fields of the nation will be the speaker at the Tecumseh High School gymnasium March 14.

His appearance here is sponsored by the Tecumseh Ministerial Association.

7 Teachers Resigning Positions

Seven of 124 teachers in the Tecumseh schools returned unsigned contracts, indicating they are leaving the local system.

High school instructors to resign are Timothy Bortels and Judy Schroyer.

The Junior High is losing Mrs. Barbara Gillanders.

Five in the elementary are Forrest Geary, Mrs. Keith Swain, Mrs. Thomas Riordan, Miss Doris Heckert and Mrs. Carol Rice.

High school positions open for next year will be shop, English, math, social studies and business education. In the Junior High, a woman physical education instructor is needed.

Grade teachers are needed for boys' physical education, two in the fifth, and one each in the third and first grades.

Nazarenes To Build Sanctuary

The Rev. Herbert Nation of Ann Arbor, pastor for the past three years of the Church of the Nazarene, has been recalled for another four years.

A unanimous decision to invite the Rev. Nation to return was reached at a pastoral recall meeting Sunday night in the church. Dr. E. W. Martin, district superintendent of the Eastern Michigan District presided.

The congregation has grown by 15 members since the minister came to the home mission church. It is now self-supporting, has a membership of 44 persons and a growing congregation is planning a building program with construction of a new church sanctuary scheduled to start this spring.

The present building will be made into a parsonage, following plans made when it was built.

Architects of the Case Construction Company, Inc. of Flint are drawing plans for the new sanctuary. The plans, to be submitted soon to the church building committee, will, if approved, be considered by the congregation. Tentative plans call for an eight-sided building with the sanctuary in the center. It would seat 250 persons Mr. Nation said.

Michigan Is Leader in Driver Ed

Michigan is outstanding in its driver education program with 100% of all school systems participating.

Michigan also boasts 100% of all training instructors having teaching certificate in the secondary level of Michigan Public School.

Charles Gross, driver education instructor in Tecumseh, made these statements before 20 members of the Child Study Club Monday evening.

"Other requirements for instructor," continued Mr. Gross, "are having a valid operator's license and a satisfactory driving record."

"An instructor must also have two semester hours of college credit in Driver's Education or complete an accredited state program course," he said.

★

ASSISTING Mr. Gross in presenting the program for the club members, was H. M. Gonser, another Tecumseh instructor, who spoke of the legal and financial basis for the driver training program.

Michigan's Driver Education Law, passed Nov. 10, 1955, provides that the Superintendent of Public Instruction may use $20,000 of the special Driver Education Fund for the administration of a driver education program and to local school districts for this training program.

Mr. Gross selected sons and daughters of members to serve as a panel of Teen-Age Drivers, all recent "graduates" of the course.

Jim Oberlin introduced Carson House III, Linda Gilbert, Jana Barron, Diane Ries, Bob Titley, Dawn Kruse, Margie Parrett and Dexter Bailey.

Each spoke briefly on a specific phase of the course, followed with a question-and-answer period.

Mrs. Ben Gillies was the program leader for the evening.

★

DURING THE business session, President Mrs. Orrie Gilbert appointed Mrs. Al Merz, Mrs. LeRoy Titley and Mrs. Carson House, Jr. as nominating committee to present a slate of officers for election in April.

Mrs. Gilbert announced that a state officer of the Child Study Clubs of Michigan will speak at the April meeting in the home of Mrs. William Adams.

Delegates will attend the spring planning meeting April 24 at Michigan Center.

Mrs. M. R. Blanden, a past president, was a guest for the evening.

Mrs. Fred Oberlin was hostess for the evening assisted by Mrs. Richard Chalters and Mrs. Mendel Decker. They served refreshments in keeping with St. Patrick's day.

Children's favors were furnished by Mrs. Stanley Kruse, Mrs. Merz, Mrs. Donald Parrett and Mrs. Ben Ross.

The Rev. David Wilkerson will speak at the Teen Life Crusade Rally at Dawson Auditorium in Adrian Saturday evening. Sunday evening, the "Gangland Preacher" will be at the Tecumseh High School at 8 p.m. to tell Tecumsehites of his experiences in New York City.

An electronic computer at the Department of Commerce's Bureau of Census extracted retail trade data about Lenawee County from tabulations of the 1963 Census of Business, inserted the figures in a news story for The Herald, then typed out the yarn at eye-blinking speed. In this same manner it addressed stories to each one of 16,000 news outlets in the nation's 3,000 counties.

Anyone solved the "Who Dun It?" in the Tecumseh Products Co. valve plate room yet? Several men there have been observing 30 years employment with the company by treating their fellow workers to coffee and doughnuts. Leon (Shorty) Gurtzweiler ordered refreshments for 40 or more last week and when he went to pay the bill, it had already been paid.

This is the time to be in the automobile business. George and Louis Underwood hopped down to Florida Monday to close out a few deals.

Does 704 Burt St. sound like 704 S. Pearl St? Firemen are trying to unravel this one. A call for a house fire came Monday morning to 704 Burt, only when this couldn't be found, the smoke eater learned it was 704 S. Pearl — with the trucks about 15 minutes late to the site of the real blaze. Moral: when you phone for the firemen, try to stay calm and speak clearly.

Those two snow-blizzard days a week ago hit Tecumseh Products' employees where it hurts—in the pocketbook. Payroll for that week dipped $101,000 off the normal total.

One darn thing after another. What do you do when you can't buy staples for your stapler? Which way to leap — shall I buy a whole carton and hope the machine lasts through 12,000 or shall I buy a new stapler? Decisions, decisions.

A little courtesy early in the morning starts the day in a happy mood for Teecumseh Products Workers. Bless those gals and guys who turn the corner or move out of the line of traffic when unloading passengers for the first shift.

Did you know that newspapers are not forwarded when you move? They are returned to the sender with a charge for postage. So please, notify us when you are moving to keep the paper coming.

He'd grin and flag a swing of the arm, leaving us greatly impressed that a honest-to-goodness celebrity was in our midst, if only for a few fleeting seconds.

Naturally, Hornet episodes took on extra importance to the Hally Stadium crowd.

Schedules of teen agers growing up in the Radio Era conformed greatly to the various programs.

In the early Thirties, the line-up of shows stretched out long and delightful including such old favorites as "Amos and Andy," "Molly Goldberg," "Jack Armstrong."

The housewives had a string of soap operas, that wove back and forth, never reaching any conclusion, but keeping the gals glued to their sets.

Who can forget "Stella Dallas," "Our Gal Sunday," "Ma Perkins?"

ONE AFTERNOON, along about 1932, a neighbor lady dropped in at our place to exclaim over a wonderful new singer, whom my mother absolutely must listen to that night.

Sure enough, Mom was front and center at our Atwater Kent, drinking in every lilting throb of the fellow's voice.

That was the first time I learned there was a guy named Rudy Vallee.

CLINTON, MICHIGAN

Monroe Joins Tecumseh and Metropolitan Detroit

. . . with the opening this week of a fourth pharmacy in the Ken-Ray Drug chain which already has stores in Hazel Park, Berkley and Tecumseh.

Pharmacist Max Rosa is shown in the prescription department of our Monroe store, which is located in the new Village Medical Center on Cole Rd., between Mercy and Memorial Hospitals. Ken-Ray is one of Michigan's fastest-growing drug chains and presently is negotiating for leases in several southwestern Michigan communities. Ken-Ray's success is based on three factors — Quality, Service, Value. No store can give you more value than Ken-Ray at such a low price.

Adrian People Praise Players

Some lavish praise came to the cast of "The Music Man" for the recent sell-out performance in Adrian.

Mrs. Mary L. Smith, president of Tau Delta Sorority which sponsored the Tecumseh Players' musical, said:

"Needless to say, we are thrilled with the financial returns, but, in addition, to that, we are proud to have sponsored such a fine evening's worth of entertainment for the people of Adrian and Lenawee County! The entire cast and stage crew was "at their peak."

Being a "retired grease paint addict" myself I can well imagine their thrill at playing to such a packed responsive house!

"We went $850 above our $1,300 goal which means that each group benefits by an additional $429.50 bringing our total gross to $1,029.50 for the Players and $1129.50 for Tau Delta.

"Tau Delta voted unanimously Tuesday night to do a repeat venture with you next year.

"The members of the sorority do want to apologize for not providing some sort of reception for the cast after the show. We have learned a lot from experience this year and next year we will try hard to correct this year's errors and oversights. Next year there will be an "after-the-show" reception.

★

ALLAN C. GRAYBIEL, president of the Adrian Chamber of Commerce, noted:

"The presentation of 'The Music Man' at Dawson Auditorium was one of the finest cooperative cultural projects that has taken place in our area for quite some time.

"The planning, directing and acting of professional excellence' by your entire group deserves the sincere congratulations of all of the citizens of our communities.

"An unusually large cast of all ages of Tecumseh citizens superbly performing before a capacity crowd of primarily Adrian citizens was most inspirational. Lenawee County's YMCA can be assured with this type of community spirit.

"Our only regret is that the play cannot be repeated at this fine facility until every citizen of our county has had an opportunity to enjoy this magnificent performance.

★

ADRIAN CHAMBER General Manager Charles E. Wise added in a third communication:

"Being a newcomer to this area, I am particularly heartened to note this cooperative effort by both Tecumseh and Adrian. Your efforts created an outstanding production.

"In my opinion your spirit, enthusiasm and adaptation were excellent.

"Adrian in turn supplied what I felt was a very appreciative and large audience, one that entered wholeheartedly into the spirit of 'The Music Man'."
